ZENO WALL

Zeno Wall has been described as "one of the Giants in North Carolina Baptist life," and in almost every possible way he filled the part. His radiant personality, commanding physique, resonant speaking voice, longevity, spiritual vision and love for people combined to enable him to actually and symbolically to "stand head and shoulders" above many of his peers. Always Zeno Wall maintained a genuine concern and regard for people which found expression through his "pastor's heart" toward them.

He was born August 20, 1882, near Mooresboro in Rutherford County. His parents were Sidney Wall and Jane Robinson Wall. He received his secondary education in the local schools from which he went to Mars Hill College and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. In 1917, Mississippi College at Clinton honored him with a Doctor of Divinity degree.

He married Ada Kate Ramsey of Marshall, North Carolina, in May, 1911, and they had five children: Zeon, Jr., of Myrtle Beach, South Carolina; Mrs. J. Ollie Harris of Kings Mountain, North Carolina; Yates of Columbia, South Carolina; Woodrow of Newnan, Georgia; and Mrs. Walter Fanning of Ridgewood, New Jersey. Mrs. Wall preceded him in death by 8 years, March 11, 1959.

In the spring of 1906 he preached his first sermon and was ordained July 8, 1908, by the Cliffside Baptist Church. His first pastorate was at the Marshall Baptist Church, Marshall, North Carolina. From 1911 to 1922 he served in Mississippi, where he was pastor at Mt. Olive, Columbia, and Clinton, the latter being the home of Mississippi College, with which he was closely associated during this period. He returned to North Carolina in 1922 as pastor of the First Baptist Church, Goldsboro, before going to Shelby on October 1, 1925, where he was to serve for 23 years as pastor of the First Baptist Church.

During his ministry, the Shelby Church grew from 600 members to 2,600 members, and he realized three noteworthy objectives he set before the church at the beginning of his ministry: first, the erection and equipment of an adequate church building with 1,000 Sunday School members; second, a great revival for Shelby (Dr. George W. Truett led it and 217 people joined the First Baptist Church); and four-year status for Gardner-Webb College, which the College Trustees voted to request of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention the day before he died.

As a denominational servant he had few equals. He served without pay as President of Gardner-Webb from 1930 to 1932. He was President of the State Convention for four successive terms—1933-1936. For 2½ years (1948-1950) he was General Superintendent of the Baptist Children's Homes at Thomasville, after having been a trustee and chairman of the board for many years. He also was a trustee of the North Carolina Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem, and preached the Convention Sermon in 1927 in Durham.

His influence extended beyond his community and his denomination into the halls of government as he led the inaugural prayers for two of North Carolina's governors, O. Max Gardner and Clyde R. Hoey, both from Shelby.

His influence and example are being carried on by 54 ministers and layworkers who went out from the Shelby church. Four of these became College Presidents: E. Eugene Poston, President of Gardner-Webb College; Hoyt Blackwell, the former President of Mars Hill College; Arthur Gillespie, President of a Seminary and School in China; and the late Andy Tate, the former President of William Carey College in Mississippi.

Following his retirement, he served numerous churches as interim pastor. His most notable work was a five-year pastorate at the Elizabeth Baptist Church in Shelby after his 70th birthday. He led the church in constructing a beautiful $250,000 building following a disastrous fire. During his entire ministry he baptized more than 5,000 persons and officiated at thousands of weddings and funerals.

He was the author of three books: Heartening Messages, Verities of the Gospel, and A Day for God-Called Men.

Some have characterized him in this way: "Dr. Wall loved people with a genuine compassion. He was a fearless preacher, diligent Bible student, a dedicated pastor, and a constant soul-winner. He was a heroic man, a man of vision, and a strong man of God. He was a living sermon." With all this, much more could be said about this humble and great man, yet his greatness rests not in men's opinions of him, but in what he was under God. It seems certain that "a great man has fallen in North Carolina" and we shall not soon see another like him.

J. R. CANTRELL

J. R. CANTRELL

J. R. Cantrell was born April 24, 1888, in Cherokee County, South Carolina. He graduated from Boiling Springs High School (later Boiling Springs Junior College, now Gardner-Webb College), in 1919. Evidently his decision to enter high school at the age of twenty-seven was influenced by his surrender to the call to preach. He had been licensed to preach by the Stateline Baptist Church in 1915.

In 1920, Cantrell "sold his farm and horses" and, against the advice of his many friends, entered Wake Forest College. This part of his story, that of an ordained minister entering college with a family to support, and that during the pre-depression days, is an old and familiar one. During these days at Wake Forest he served as student pastor of the Hillsboro Baptist Church. After graduation he remained as pastor at Hillsboro until 1928.

In 1928, he went with the North Carolina Baptist State Convention as an evangelist. In 1931, he returned to the pastorate to serve the Newton Baptist Church (1931-1937), and Calvary Baptist Church, Morganton (1937-39).

In 1939, while the threat of a second war hung heavy over this country, Cantrell left the pastorate to lead the Boiling Springs Junior College as President(1939-43). The remainder of his active ministry was spent as pastor of two churches near his home in Boiling Springs; Poplar Springs Baptist Church (1941-50), and Lattimore Baptist Church (1949-61). Four years later, on Feb. 23, 1965, his wife, Lettie Henderson Cantrell, died. Some two years later, June 25, 1967, J. R. Cantrell died. He had been in ill health since a stroke suffered in 1963.

He is survived by two sons, Cleatus H. Cantrell, Asheville, and Dr. John W. Cantrell, Orlando, Fla., and one daughter, Mrs. A. G. Harmon of Boiling Springs. A second daughter, Letha, was killed in a plane crash in 1949. In addition, there are several grandchildren.

Cantrell's ministry was one of strong guidance, and vigorous inner development of the various phases of church organization, especially B.Y.P.U. He "became its champion wherever he went." He served as President of the B.Y.P.U. Convention of the Newton district of the South Fork Association for several years.

While he was never involved in what would be considered a "ministry of notoriety," Cantrell was another "Joshua of the hour" for every church he served. He led people and challenged them to grow.

He demonstrated his interest in Christian Education, and his ability as an administrator during his years as President of Boiling Springs Junior College. He led that institution from a point of financial bankruptcy and certain death to the point where it was ready to apply for accreditation. Today, twenty-five years after his retirement as President, Gardner-Webb is one of our strongest junior colleges. Plans are for it to become a senior college by 1970. In recognition of his contribution to the college and the people of North Carolina, Gardner-Webb conferred an honorary Doctor's Degree in 1963.

Dr. Cantrell retired in May, 1961, at the age of seventy-three. In spite of his age upon entering the ministry, thirty-one, he had served his Lord and North Carolina Baptists for forty-two years. Few others have served longer, more capably, or more faithfully.

FLOY HAVNAER CROUCH

Dedicated Christian! Devoted companion! Wise mother! Friend of youth! Any one or all of these phrases can be used to describe the life of Floy Havnaer Crouch.

She was born in Hickory, North Carolina, January 8, 1908, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Gay Havnaer. She was educated in the public school system and attended Hickory High School. Later she attended Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary along with her husband.

When she was eighteen years of age, Floy Havnaer married W. Perry Crouch, who was then living in Hickory. Together they answered God's call to the Christian ministry. Together they served usefully as pastor and pastor's wife in Hollis, Oklahoma; at Calvary Church, Morganton, North Carolina; at the First Baptist Church, Fayetteville, North Carolina; and at the First Baptist Church, Asheville, North Carolina. In her capacity as pastor's wife, Floy Crouch served actively in Woman's Missionary Union; found her place in Sunday School, particularly with young people; and found an active place in Baptist Training Union work. She was Superintendent of the Young Adult Sunday School Department in Asheville for approximately twenty years. She was used in North Carolina and other states as an Approved Sunday School Worker. On many occasions she served as a leader in Family Life Conferences at Ridgecrest, in local churches and at various state assemblies over the south. She found a place of usefulness on the State Woman's Missionary Union Executive Board in North Carolina.

During two periods of their joint ministry, she stood with her husband in denominational capacities in the state of North Carolina. When her husband served as Secretary of Christian Education in the churches, she frequently traveled with him to his engagements over the state. When he became the Executive Secretary of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention, she immediately found her place by his side in his statewide ministry.

Her influence as a parent continues to be felt in the lives of her children. One son, Rev. Henry Crouch, is a minister. Another son, Dr. Robert Crouch, is a respected surgeon in Asheville, North Carolina. A third son, Daniel C. Crouch, is making a contribution as a Christian businessman in Asheville. A foster daughter, Mrs. Allen Patterson of Asheville is a useful housewife and active church leader.

Zest, exuberance, and abundant life are terms that seem naturally to refer to her. Like some bubbling spring she overflowed and transformed arid life around her until it, too, began to bloom.

One could not know Floy Crouch without a deeper understanding of the meaning of "fun." In her the word lost any of the superficiality that men try to read into it. She knew how to make "fun" and "life" synonymous.

At a time when many parents and adults lost their ability to communicate with and influence youth, she was on speaking terms with them. She did not lower her own standards to accommodate them, nor was she so "goody goody pious" as to repulse them. Youth found it easy to accept her because she so understandingly identified with them. Hundreds of young people found it easy to think straight about life because they had found her.

Those who witnessed her courage and maturity during her last illness were blessed by her simple trust in God. She was human enough to grow weary in physical suffering. She was Christ-like enough to think of others in her suffering. She even sought to protect her family and friends from the unpleasantness of her own personal anguish. In doing so she magnified her faith in the triumphant, risen Lord. Her departure took place on Nov. 22, 1967.

ISAAC GARFIELD GREER

ISAAC GARFIELD GREER

Isaac Garfield Greer was born in Watauga County, North Carolina, in 1881. He received his education in the elementary school at Zionville and the high school at Boone. He attended the University of North Carolina from which he was graduated with the B.A. Degree in 1910. He later engaged in a period of graduate study at Columbia University and in 1942 Wake Forest University honored him by conferring upon him the degree Doctor of Laws Education, culture and the fine arts always held a large place in the life of Dr. Greer. Following his graduation from the University of North Carolina, he returned to the mountains and to the people whom he loved to devote the next twenty-five years of his life. He taught in the public schools of Watauga County from 1908 to 1910 and at Appalachian State University from 1910 to 1932. Seldom has a teacher been more profoundly loved and appreciated by his students. In addition to subject matter taught, he had the unusual ability of sharing a wholesome philosophy of life.

In 1928 Dr. Greer was elected to the Board of Trustees of the Baptist Children's Homes of North Carolina, an agency which was to receive an increasing portion of his time and interest. Following the death of Dr. M. L. Kesler in 1932, Dr. Greer was the unanimous choice of the Trustees to become General Superintendent of the Homes, a position which he held with distinction until 1948.

The impact of his courageous and pioneering leadership was soon felt beyond the borders of North Carolina. He added significant strength to the Child Welfare League of America and to the Children's Bureau of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington. The Southeastern Child Care Association, the North Carolina Conference for Social Service, and the Group Child Care Project of the School of Social Work of the University of North Carolina are the outgrowth of his vision and work.

People in all walks of life held "Ike" Greer in high esteem. His personal integrity, his enlightened concern for the wellbeing of others, his ability to stimulate and guide the intellectual and spiritual growth of his students, his depth of sympathetic understanding of the needs of children and their families, his capacity for constructive counsel, his excellence of performance in many fields of endeavor made him a much beloved and trusted leader. He had the art of making people feel comfortable in his presence, regardless of condition, status or circumstance in life. Consequently, he became confidant to statesmen, musicians, executives, educators, ministers, doctors, lawyers, social workers, and to the rank and file of people who made their way to his door.

As Dr. Greer approached denominational retirement age, he resigned as General Superintendent of the Children's Homes and returned to his Alma Mater to become Executive Vice-President of the North Carolina Business Foundation of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, a position which he held until 1954. The associations which this position afforded further served to strengthen and enhance his varied interests in life. During this period several years of leadership were provided the Children's Homes as Chairman of the Board of Trustees and later as promotional consultant. At the time of his death he was serving as Chairman of the Board of Directors of the North Carolina Baptist Foundation.

He possessed a wonderful zest for living. He was able to transmit his enthusiasm for life to his audiences from platforms and pulpits across the nation. His ability as a public speaker and pulpiteer was hardly surpassed in his generation. His use of humor, pathos, personal experiences and simple human interest stories held his audiences captive. He had an appropriate word for every occasion.

Honors and recognitions which came to Dr. Greer during a long and fruitful life are far too numerous to list here. The following are simply suggestive: President of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, first President of the Allied Church League (now the Christian Action League) for 17 years, President of the Good Health Association of North Carolina, President of the North Carolina Folk Lore Society, President of the Southern Appalachian Historical Association which produces "Horn in the West." Even in retirement he remained active in his church, denomination, civic and social organizations. Named in his honor were buildings at Appalachian State University and the Baptist Children's Homes of North Carolina at Thomasville; the Greer Home Campus of the Baptist Children's Homes of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is also a memorial to him.

The North Carolina Conference for Social Service in 1959 presented him with an award for outstanding service.

No man could accomplish so successfully and joyously what this man did without the loyal love and devotion of a good wife. In 1916 Dr. Greer was married to Willie Spainhour of Morganton who graced his home until her death in 1959. Her beautiful Christian spirit complemented all that he did. Two sons were born to this union, I. G. Greer, Jr., an officer in the United States Air Force, Colorado Springs, Colorado, and Joseph P. Greer, Administrator of Children's Memorial Hospital, Chicago, Illinois. In 1963 he was married to the former Hattie S. O'Briant of Rocky Mount. Their life together was brief, but happy and meaningful both to them and to their numerous friends.

Isaac Garfield Greer leaves an immortal heritage in the fields of education, history, child care, music, government, counseling and in Christian citizenship.

CONSTITUTION

PREAMBLE

For the declaration of its fundamental purposes and the permanent guidance and control of its activities, the body does adopt the following as its Constitution, to wit:

ARTICLE I. Name

The name of this body is the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

ARTICLE II. Purposes

The object of this Convention shall be to promote missions, evangelism, education, social services, the distribution of the Bible and sound religious literature, and to co-operate with the work of the Southern Baptist Convention.

ARTICLE III. Authority

While independent and sovereign in its own sphere, the Convention does not claim and will never attempt to exercise any authority over any other Baptist body, whether church, auxiliary organization, association, or Convention.

ARTICLE IV. Composition

The Convention shall be composed of

(1) Two messengers from each co-operating church, and one additional messenger from each church for every hundred members or major fraction thereof, beyond the first one hundred members; provided, that no church shall be entitled to more than ten messengers. No one shall be a messenger who is not a member of a church co-operating with the Convention, and messengers must be duly elected by their churches; a co-operating church shall be one that supports any object of the Convention and which is in friendly cooperation with this Convention and sympathetic with its purpose and work; and (2) The officers of the Convention, the members of the General Board, the editor of the Biblical Recorder, and the President of the Woman's Missionary Union.

ARTICLE V. Meetings

The Convention shall convene annually on Monday after the second Sunday in November at 7:00 p.m. In case of emergency the General Board is empowered to change the time or place of meeting, cancel the sessions of the Convention, or call a special meeting by a vote of two-thirds of the members present when the vote is taken.

ARTICLE VI. Officers

The officers of the Convention shall be a President, a First Vice-President, a Second Vice-President, a Recording Secretary, a General

Secretary-Treasurer, three Trustees, and a Parliamentarian. The terms of the President, the Vice-President and the Parliamentarian shall commence at the conclusion of the annual session at which they are elected and continue until the close of the next annual session of the Convention. The President and Vice-Presidents may not be elected for more than two consecutive terms. The election of all officers subject to annual election shall be on the afternoon of the first full day of the annual Convention, but the elections may be completed, if necessary, on the morning of the second full day. A vacancy in any of the above-mentioned offices, except that of President, occurring between sessions of the Convention may be filled by the General Board; such vacancies in the presidency shall be filled by the Vice-Presidents succeeding to the office in order of their rank.

a. In case of a vacancy in the office of General Secretary-Treasurer, the General Board shall nominate a man to the Convention to fill this office.

b. Opportunity shall be given to receive additional nominations from the floor of the Convention.

c. The man receiving the majority of votes cast shall be declared elected. Upon election, the General Secretary-Treasurer shall hold office for an indefinite period, with retirement at age 65, his term of service ending on December 31 of the calendar year in which he reaches age 65.

d. In case the position of General Secretary-Treasurer becomes vacant between sessions of the Convention, the General Board, upon the recommendation of its Executive Committee, shall name an acting General Secretary-Treasurer to serve until the next regular session of the Convention.

The General Secretary-Treasurer is the chief executive officer of the General Board, the chief administrative and program officer of the General Board staff, the chief budget officer of the General Board staff, the chief professional adviser of the General Board and its committees, the secretary and treasurer of the General Board and the Convention, and one of the denomination's spiritual leaders, providing statewide guidance and inspiration.

The General Secretary-Treasurer and the President of the Convention shall serve ex-officio without voting on all committees and aid by furnishing information, printed materials and needed guidance for the work of the committees.

ARTICLE VII. Trustees of the Convention

The Convention shall have three trustees who shall serve for one year and shall hold title to the property of the Convention and convey and use the same as directed by the Convention, its General Board or Executive Committee. They shall execute obligations only in behalf of and as ordered by the Convention. They shall have the powers granted to trustees of religious societies by the laws of the State of North Carolina, but subject always to the limitations imposed by this Constitution and by action of the Convention, its General Board or Executive Committee. They shall require the Treasurer of the Convention to give suitable bond, with corporate security and in adequate amount as determined by the General Board, and they shall cause such bonds to be safely kept. Failure on the part of the Treasurer to maintain such a bond in force for as long a period as ten days shall authorize the Trustees to remove him from office. The Trustees shall make full, detailed reports to the annual sessions of the Convention and at other times if requested by the General Board. They shall safely keep the seal of the Convention and affix it only as authorized by the Convention, its General Board or Executive Committee. The seal shall be circular in form and shall bear the words:

"Trustees of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, Incorporated 1893.

SEAL."

The Trustees shall keep full minutes of all their meetings and preserve the same in permanent forms. They shall elect their own Chairman and Secretary. Any vacancy occurring in their membership between sessions of the Convention shall be filled by the General Board.

ARTICLE VIII. The General Board

A. Membership

1. One member shall be elected from the area of each District Association; one additional member from each District Association with a membership of 20,000 to 40,000; and one additional member from any District Association with a membership of more than 40,000; ten members to be elected at large, one from each region of the state, these ten to be nominated by the convention nominating committee; with a limit of one member from any church and three members from any association.

2. The President and First and Second Vice-Presidents of the Convention shall be ex-officio voting members of the General Board and its Executive Committee. These members, selected by virtue of their Convention offices, shall not be used in determining the number of members from a District Association or church.

3. The General Secretary-Treasurer, the Recording Secretary, the State Woman's Missionary Union President, and the State Brotherhood President shall be ex-officio non voting members.

4. Members of the Executive Committee of the Southern Baptist Convention, from the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina who are not then serving as elected members of the General Board shall be non-voting, ex-officio members of the General Board.

5. No one who is employed by any institution or agency of the convention, whether the salary be total or supplemental, shall be eligible for membership on the General Board except as an ex-officio member.

6. In the event a member moves from the area of an association from which he was elected to another in the state, his membership shall be terminated on December 31.

7. Any vacancy on the General Board occurring between annual sessions of the Convention may be filled by action of the Executive Committee. Those elected shall serve through the remainder of the calendar year. The Convention shall at its next regular annual session fill the vacancy for the unexpired term.

B. Election

1. The Nominating Committee, as directed by the By-Laws of the Convention and in keeping with Baptist policies and practices, shall present to the annual session a slate of nominees for election, and after opportunity for further nominations from the floor is given, the members shall be elected by the Convention in session.

2. Board members shall be elected for a term of four years with, as nearly as may be possible, one-fourth of the membership being elected at each annual session, provided, however, that any such board member who shall have been elected to fill a vacancy of less than two years, shall be eligible to be re-elected to a full term of his own.

C. Powers and Functions

Except as specifically limited by the constitution, the General Board shall have the power to act for the Convention in the interim between sessions, and shall have general supervision of all agencies and institutions fostered and supported by the Convention.

ARTICLE IX. Institutions and Agencies of the Convention

A. Trustees and directors of the Convention's Agencies and Institutions.

The charter of every institution owned or supported in whole or in part by the Convention shall contain the following provisions:

1. The Baptist State Convention of North Carolina shall elect the trustees and directors of said corporation for terms of four years, except that the Directors of the Baptist Foundation shall be elected for terms of five years. At the first election by the Convention one-fourth of the board of trustees or directors shall be elected to serve for one year, one-fourth for two years, one-fourth for three years, and the remaining one-fourth for four years. At each subsequent regular annual session of the Convention one-fourth of the Board of Trustees or Directors of said corporation shall be elected by the Convention to succeed the members of said Board retiring.

2. The trustees and directors shall be responsible to the Convention for the operation of its institutions in accordance with Baptist principles; report of work done and undertaken shall be made annually to the Convention; any change in the charter of any institution which would affect, alter or change the purpose of the institution or the relationship of the institution or its board of trustees to the Convention shall have the prior approval of the Convention. No change of policy shall be made without securing the prior approval of the Convention or its General Board; no program shall be inaugurated which might involve the Convention directly or indirectly in a debt, without securing the prior approval of the Convention.

3. The members of the Board of Trustees or Directors of said corporation shall be residents of the State of North Carolina and members of churches co-operating with the Convention.

4. Removal of a member of a Board of Trustees or Directors.

If for any reason a member of a Board shall cease to be a member of a church co-operating with the Convention or shall remove his residence from the State, his membership on any Board shall be thereby terminated. Any vacancy on a Board shall be filled by the remaining members until the next regular annual session of the Convention, and the Convention shall at its next regular annual session fill the vacancy for the unexpired term. The Board of Trustees or Directors of said corporation by affirmative vote of three-fourths of the entire membership given in regular annual meeting or in a special meeting called for the purpose, shall have the power to remove from office any trustee or director of such corporation for cause considered sufficient by such Board, but only after reasonable notice to such trustee or director and opportunity to be heard by the Board. The Convention shall have the right to remove any trustee or director for cause considered sufficient by the Convention, but only after reasonable notice to such trustee or director, and opportunity for him to be heard by the Convention. Notice of such contemplated action and hearing by the Convention may be given by the Executive Committee of the General Board of the Convention.

5. The trustees or directors of the institutions and agencies of the Convention shall be elected by the Convention after receiving nominations from the Convention's Nominating Committee or from the floor. The trustees and directors of all institutions owned and supported by the Convention shall make an annual report to the above committee of all vacancies to be filled.

B. Baptist Foundation

The Baptist Foundation shall be operated by fifteen directors who shall serve for five-year terms. One-fifth of the directors shall be elected annually by the Convention. The purposes of the Foundation shall be to receive, hold and administer donations of money and property which charitable-minded persons may leave to it from time to time.

C. Council on Christian Higher Education

1. The Council shall be composed of the members of the General Board comprising the Christian Higher Education Committee, together with the President, Dean, and chairman of the trustees of each of the colleges receiving funds from the Convention, and as ex-officio members: the General Secretary-Treasurer of the Baptist State Convention, the President of the Convention, the President of the General Board, and the President of the WMU. The chairman of the General Board's committee on Christian Higher Education shall be president of the Council; and the Director of the Division of Christian Higher Education of the General Board shall serve as secretary of the Council. The duties and powers of the Council shall be fixed by the By-Laws of the Convention.

2. Representatives on the Council from the colleges will not have voting power in the allocation of funds. No member of the Council who occupies a salaried position with the Convention or its institutions or its auxiliary shall have a vote on appropriations that may be made to the institutions; and all appropriations agreed upon shall be subject to the approval of the General Board.

D. Council on Christian Social Services

1. The Council shall be composed of the members of the Christian Social Services Committee of the General Board; the administrators of the North Carolina Baptist Children's Homes, the North Carolina Homes, Incorporated, and the North Carolina Baptist Hospital; the presidents of the Boards of Trustees of these institutions; the General Secretary-Treasurer of the Convention, the President of the General Board and the President of the Woman's Missionary Union. The Chairman of the General Board's Committee on Christian Social Services shall be President of the Council, and the Director of the Division of Christian Social Services of the General Board, when chosen, shall serve as secretary of the Council. The duties and powers of the Council shall be fixed by the By-Laws of the Convention.

2. Representatives on the Council from the institutions will not have voting power in the allocation of funds. No member of the Council who occupies a salaried position with the Convention or its institutions or its auxiliary shall have a vote on appropriations that may be made to the institutions; and all appropriations agreed upon shall be subject to the approval of the General Board.

ARTICLE X. Concerning Debts

All borrowing by the Convention for its own use, or for its institutions or agencies, or borrowings by any institution or agency of the Convention, the payment of which would require an extension of time beyond the close of the subsequent fiscal year, shall be authorized only on the following terms and condition:

A. The General Board shall have authority to borrow money in anticipation of current revenue, provided that any unpaid balance of such borrowing at the end of the current fiscal year shall be provided for in and made a part of the budget for the subsequent fiscal year.

B. No institution or agency of the Convention shall encumber its property or change its status with respect to the Convention without authority from the Convention. Institutions and agencies of the Convention, subject to the approval of the General Board, shall have authority to borrow money in anticipation of current revenue, provided that any unpaid balance of such borrowing at the end of the current fiscal year shall be provided for in and made a part of the budget for the subsequent current year.

C. Any and all resolutions which propose the borrowing of money shall set forth all pertinent facts and a definite schedule for repayment. Such requests shall be sent to the Executive Committee or General Board by October 1 of each year for recommendation to the Convention. These recommendations shall be included in the General Board's report and subject to the rules concerning the adoption of this report.

(1) Notice of any and all contemplated borrowings shall appear in the Biblical Recorder in three separate issues in advance of the meeting of the Convention during which it is proposed that action be taken.

(2) Any and all resolutions which propose the borrowing of money shall set forth all pertinent facts and definite schedule for repayment. Such requests shall be sent to the Executive Committee or General Board by October 1 of each year for recommendation to the Convention. These recommendations shall be included in the General Board's report and subject to the rules concerning the adoption of this report.

ARTICLE XI. Miscellaneous

A. The Convention's fiscal year shall close on December 31.

B. The members of the boards of trustees and directors of the institutions and agencies of the convention shall be distributed as widely as practicable. The term of office of a trustee who has not resigned, died, become disqualified, or been removed shall not expire until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified.

No individual shall serve on any board, institution, or agency, who is at the same time holding membership on any other board, institution, or agency. Not more than three members of any board of any institution or agency supported wholly or in part by the Convention shall be members of the same church.

C. Individuals, churches and associations, or others desiring the assistance and co-operation of the Baptists of the Convention in any work not already fostered by the Convention shall present such project to the agency under which it should be properly placed. If the agency fails or refuses to approve it, it may be presented to the Convention under miscellaneous business or as a special order.

D. Neither the Convention, nor any institution or agency, owned or supported in whole or in part by the Convention, shall accept or receive, directly or indirectly, any gift, grant, or aid from the Federal or State governments or any governmental agency, except for definite and full services rendered by the institution or agency and by and with the approval of the Convention or its General Board.

ARTICLE XII. Woman's Missionary Union

The Woman's Missionary Union of North Carolina is recognized as an auxiliary of this Convention whose accomplishments and potentialities in good works are appreciated as being of immeasurable power to our Christian cause.

ARTICLE XIII. Amendments

This Constitution may be changed or amended on the second full day of any annual session of the Convention by a two-thirds vote of the registered messengers present when the vote is taken, provided that notice of any and all amendments to the Constitution shall appear in the Biblical Recorder in two separate issues in advance of the meeting of the Convention in which the proposed action is to be taken.

ARTICLE XIV. Validate

The adoption of this new Constitution shall not invalidate any action validly taken by or in behalf of the Convention or any of its institutions or agencies prior to the date this new Constitution becomes effective.

BYLAWS

The work of the Convention shall be governed by the following bylaws:

ARTICLE I. Duties of Officers of the Convention

A. The president shall preside over the deliberations of the Convention and discharge such other duties as are imposed upon him by the Convention or as are incumbent on the presiding officer of a deliberative body. He shall in advance of the meeting of the Convention and with the assistance of the Vice-Presidents appoint a Committee on Enrollment consisting of nine members and a Committee on Committees consisting of fifteen members. He may appoint other committees when so directed by the body. He shall also serve ex-officio as a voting member of the General Board and its Executive Committee. He shall also serve as an ex-officio non-voting member of all Convention committees.

B. The Vice-Presidents

1. In the event of the death of the President or his incapacity to serve the Vice-Presidents shall succeed him in the order of their rank; and so succeeding shall have and discharge the duties incumbent upon the President.

2. They shall assist the President in naming those Convention

Committees for which he is responsible and shall serve ex-officio as voting members of the General Board and its Executive Committee.

C. The Recording Secretary

The Recording Secretary shall record and preserve the proceedings of the Convention and shall prepare the copy for printing.

D. The General Secretary-Treasurer

1. The General Secretary of the Convention shall promote the whole program of the Convention, including Missions, Evangelism, Higher Education and Social Service, and may serve as adviser to all the institutions, agencies and committees of the Convention. He shall work under the direction of and be subject to the authority of the General Board; and shall have administrative supervision of such work as shall be assigned to him by the Convention or its General Board.

2. In carrying out the responsibilities of each and all these functions, the General Secretary-Treasurer shall:

a. Co-ordinate and evaluate General Board programs with the help of the General Board and its Executive Committee;

b. Advise and otherwise assist the General Board, the Convention and their committees and subcommittees, including the provision of direct staff help in planning meetings, preparing agenda, presenting analyses, facts, and recommendations;

c. Plan, co-ordinate and supervise the entire budgetary process (formulation, authorization and administration) under the direction of the Executive Committee and, where appropriate, the Convention;

d. Assume responsibility for the administration, co-ordination and direction of General Board staff, including the recommendations of all divisions and department heads, organization of professional staff, development of professional staff position descriptions, and preparation of personnel policies;

e. Encourage staff members to make their fullest contribution to the work of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina;

f. Work on a co-operating basis with the heads of all Boards and agencies of the Convention;

g. Promote participation in and support for all North Carolina Baptist and Southern Baptist Convention programs and represent the General Board, as appropriate, to the denomination and the public.

3. As Treasurer he shall receive all funds sent him for the objects of the Conventions, and make acknowledgment of the same in the manner as the General Board may determine for the faithful performance of his duties. He shall sign all checks which shall be countersigned by the Business Manager and Comptroller; and both of these officers shall be bonded in such amount as shall be determined by the General Board. He shall forward at least once a month all contributions to their destinations. He shall make an annual report of his receipts and disbursements which shall be published in the minutes of the Convention, and upon retiring from his office, he shall deliver to his successor all money, papers, books and other property belonging thereto.

4. As General Secretary he shall supervise the work of administrative assistants.

E. The Parliamentarian

The Parliamentarian shall advise and assist the Presiding Officer of the Convention with respect to all matters involving proper parliamentary procedure. The Rules of Order for the Convention shall be those laid down in Robert's "Rules of Order," but in cases where the meaning may not be clear the President shall exercise his discretion, subject to appeal to the Convention.

ARTICLE II. Duties of Committees

Membership on Convention committees shall not bar one from serving as a member of the General Board, or as a director of any agency of the Convention, or as a trustee of any institution of the Convention.

Vacancies occurring in committees between sessions of the Convention shall be filled through appointment of the Convention President.

Nothing contained in reports to the Convention shall be construed as an action of the Convention except the recommendations which are definitely listed and adopted by the Convention.

The committees of the Convention shall be divided into four categories:

A. Those appointed by the President and Vice-Presidents in advance of the meeting of the Convention.

1. The Committee on Enrollment consisting of nine members whose duties it shall be to provide registration cards for messengers and visitors and have them in a suitable place several hours before the meeting of the Convention. This committee shall make a report to the assembled messengers upon the call of the President, and shall serve as a committee on credentials.

2. The Committee on Committees whose duty it shall be to nominate for election by the Convention the committees listed under sections B and C below, and such other committees as may be assigned to it. At least a fair proportion of the members nominated to all committees of the Convention shall come from the rural and urban churches, and no one shall be nominated to serve on more than one committee at the same time.

B. Those to report at the session of the Convention by which they are elected.

1. A Committee on Resolutions consisting of fifteen members.

It shall be composed of at least five members from the General Board with at least two of the five from the Executive Committee of the Board.

All resolutions presented to the Convention shall be referred to the Committee on Resolutions, except that by a two-thirds vote of the messengers present on the first or second day of the Convention, the rules may be suspended and a resolution be taken up for immediate consideration.

C. Those to report at the next regular session of the Convention.

1. The Committee on Nominations, consisting of fifteen members, five of whom shall rotate off each year. Their term of office shall begin with the adjournment of the Convention at which they are elected and shall terminate upon adjournment of the Convention at which their successors are elected. No member shall be eligible to succeed himself after serving three consecutive years. The committee shall nominate a fair proportion of members from rural and urban churches to the various boards of all agencies and institutions.

a. It shall have its first meeting not later than July 1 of each calendar year and shall meet again at least once prior to the meeting of the Convention.

b. The Committee shall through its chairman, or other members upon request, invite each agency and institution of the Convention to submit to the Committee in advance of its mid-summer meeting the names of two individuals for each vacancy to occur on their boards, and request that biographical data accompany each name.

The Committee shall request of associational executive committees that the associations submit the names of at least two lay persons and two ministers for each General Board vacancy to occur at the end of the year, and request that biographical data shall accompany each name. These shall be submitted to the Committee before its mid-summer meeting.

The Committee shall, through the Biblical Recorder, invite individual Baptists to submit the names of individuals who would be worthy of consideration for positions on the various boards of institutions and agencies and on the General Board, and request that biographical data accompany each suggested name.

When the Committee meets to do its work it shall give careful consideration to those who have been recommended from the various sources indicated above, but will be free to follow its own best judgment in making nominations to the Convention for the boards of the agencies, institutions and the General Board.

c. It shall publish its full report in the Biblical Recorder at least one week prior to the meeting of the Convention.

2. The Committee on Convention Arrangements, consisting of nine. This committee shall be responsible:

a. for the program for the Annual Meeting.

b. for all other matters in connection with the annual meeting not provided for in the Constitution and Bylaws.

3. Committee on Local Arrangements consisting of nine. This committee shall be responsible for:

a. supervising all arrangements with the local auditorium including the securing of typewriters, telephones, furniture and needed equipment for the session of the Annual Meeting;

b. working with Convention staff, Program Committee and Enrollment Committee of the Convention in arranging for display booths, platform, sound system and other arrangements necessary for session of the Convention.

4. The Christian Life Committee consisting of fifteen members, five of whom shall rotate off each year. A member who has served a full three-year term shall not be eligible to succeed himself.

a. The committee shall study social problems and developments, shall keep our Baptist constituency informed in this area, shall formulate statements and programs designed to promote personal righteousness and social justice, and shall report to the Baptist State Convention in annual session.

b. The committee shall co-operate and work in close relationship with the Christian Life Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention.

5. The Christian Action Committee, consisting of nine members, three of whom shall rotate off each year. A member having served a full three-year term shall not be eligible to succeed himself.

a. This committee shall be responsible to study such problems as alcohol, gambling, narcotics, etc., and shall through written reports and by other appropriate means keep our Baptist people informed in these areas.

b. The committee shall represent the Baptist State Convention on the Christian Action League and shall co-operate with the League in its efforts to combat social evils.

6. Committee on Memorials consisting of five. This committee shall prepare a report for the annual, including a list of deceased ministers and outstanding lay leaders of the Convention who have passed away during the current year, and call attention to the names of these persons during the annual session of the Convention. In addition, this committee may recommend to the Convention a deceased person or persons to whom the annual of the Convention may be dedicated.

7. The Historical Committee, consisting of twelve members, four of whom shall rotate off each year. A member having served a full three-year term shall not be eligible to succeed himself.

This committee shall recommend appropriate measures for the preservation of Baptist history. It shall seek to preserve the minutes and records of all Baptist bodies, churches, associations, and conventions, historical manuscripts, printed materials, including correspondence, and museum objects. It shall encourage the writing and publication of high-standard histories of individuals, churches, associations, and conventions. It shall recommend what historic sites, including buildings, should be properly marked and preserved when these are related to Baptist history. It shall work in close collaboration with the historical researcher employed jointly by the Baptist State Convention and Wake Forest College, who works directly with the Baptist Collection in the Wake Forest College Library. The committee shall report annually to the Baptist State Convention and shall co-operate with the Historical Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention.

8. The Committee on Public Affairs, consisting of nine, three of whom shall rotate off each year. A member having served a full three-year term shall not be eligible to succeed himself.

a. It shall be the duty of this committee to study developments in the area of Church-State relations, to be alert to developments within the state and nation which violate or compromise the historic Baptist position of a free church in a free state. It shall attend conferences and seminars where these matters are being studied and discussed. It shall report annually to the Baptist State Convention and otherwise keep our people informed in this area.

b. It shall work closely with the Baptist Joint Committee, P.O.A.U. and any other groups it deems advisable in the discharge of its responsibilities.

9. The Committee on Place and Preacher consisting of nine members. This committee shall recommend the preacher for the next annual session of the Convention and be responsible for recommending to the Convention a place of meeting for at least two years in advance; and should consider proper accommodations and the size of the auditorium which is available.

10. The Committee on Trustee Orientation, consisting of nine members, three of whom shall rotate off each year. Their term of office shall begin at the adjournment of the Convention at which they are elected and shall terminate upon the adjournment of the Convention at which their successors are elected. No member shall be eligible to succeed himself after serving three consecutive years or one full term.

a. The committee shall be responsible for planning and promoting an annual orientation program for trustees and directors of Convention institutions and agencies.

b. The committee shall prepare a brief manual of instruction for use by trustees and directors of Convention institutions and agencies, and shall, as occasion requires, revise this manual.

11. The Publicity Committee, consisting of six members. Due to the peculiar character of this committee, members may be elected to succeed themselves as often as seems desirable.

It shall be the duty of this commitee to plan for proper news coverage of all sessions of the Baptist State Convention, to act as liaison group between the Convention and the press, to formulate and release news items growing out of the sessions of the State Convention, and in general to seek to promote good relations between the denomination and the public press.

D. Special Convention Committees.

When a special committee is called for, the Resolutions Committee shall study the situation to see if there is a committee or group already in existence which could appropriately attend to the matter proposed, and, if there is such a group, it shall, upon recommendation of the Resolutions Committee and vote of the Convention, be referred to them, otherwise the Resolutions Committee may recommend that a special committee be set up by the Convention.

ARTICLE III. Eligibility for Membership on the General Board and on Boards of Trustees and Directors of Agencies and Institutions of the Convention

Members of the General Board and Trustees and Directors of any agency or institution of the Convention shall be members of churches co-operating with the Convention.

The term of office shall begin on January 1, following the meeting of the Convention at which members were elected; and shall end on December 31 following the Convention at which their successors were elected, unless sooner terminated.

In no case shall a member of any board serve a continuous term of more than four years, except the directors of North Carolina Baptist Foundation, in which case the continuous term shall not exceed five years, provided, however, that any such board member who shall have been elected to fill a vacancy of less than two years, shall be eligible to be re-elected to a full term of his own.

A member of a board of any institution or agency of the Convention having completed a full term of office shall not be eligible for re-election to membership on the same board until the lapse of one year, but shall be eligible for immediate election to membership on the board of any other institution or agency of the Convention.

ARTICLE IV. The General Board

A. Powers and Duties of the General Board

1. The General Board shall have charge and control of all work of the Convention, including missions, evangelism, higher education, beneficences, and all other general activities, in the interim between sessions of the Convention, except those activities committed specifically by charter to the Boards of Trustees of its institutions and agencies. It shall have the power to act for the Convention in the interim between sessions of the Convention; and any action taken during the interim shall be binding on the Convention and reported fully to the Convention at its next session. It shall make and approve all appropriations. It shall have no power to contravene any action of the Convention nor to launch any new institutions. It may provide for the expansion of any phase of work which its income and resources may make possible. It shall have the responsibility of bringing to the Convention for its consideration recommendations concerning any phase of the work that is being done or that should be undertaken in order that the Convention may have an over-all picture of the total program of North Carolina Missionary Baptists.

2. The General Board shall make a report to the Convention of its activities during the year, including the work done by the divisions of Missions, Christian Higher Education, and Beneficences and all other general activities. The Board shall have its report printed and ready for distribution at the first session of the Convention, including reports from Education Institutions, Hospitals, Children's Homes, Homes for the Aging, Baptist Foundation, Christian Higher Education Council, Social Services Council, and all other agencies of the Convention.

3. Allocation of funds. The General Board shall recommend to the Convention the budget allocations of Cooperative Program undesignated gifts for each object of the Convention, and the amount or percentage of Cooperative Program funds to be allocated to Southern Baptist Convention causes.

4. Audit. The General Board shall employ a certified public accountant each year to make a complete audit of the books and accounts of the treasurer and comptroller, and it shall employ or cause to be employed a certified public accountant, or accountants, to make annual audits of all institutions of the Convention.

A copy of the annual audit of the General Board and of each institution receiving funds from the Convention shall be presented to the General Secretary-Treasurer of the Convention; the audit of the General Board and a summary of the other audits shall be presented to the Recording Secretary not later than thirty days after the close of the fiscal year for inclusion in the Annual of the Convention and, in the discretion of the General Board, in the Biblical Recorder.

The Executive Committee of the General Board and the General Secretary-Treasurer shall have the authority to provide the forms which will indicate what items should appear in said summary.

B. The Organization of the General Board

1. Meetings. The General Board shall meet on Tuesday and Wednesday following the third Sunday of January, and on Tuesday and Wednesday following the second Sundays of July and of October of each year, and in cases of emergency at the call of the General Secretary-Treasurer and the President of the Board or by request from a majority of the General Board members.

2. Officers. At the January meeting of the Board the following officers shall be elected and they shall serve until their successors are elected and qualified: a President, a Vice-President, and a Recording Secretary. At the same time the Board shall fill vacancies and elect needed new employees and shall fix the compensation of its secretaries and other employees, and all salaried officers of the Convention.

3. At the January meeting of the Board the Convention program of Missions, Evangelism, Christian Higher Education and Social Services shall be organized and promoted under the following six divisions, and the Executive Committee:

a. Stewardship Promotion

   (2) Correlation and Instruction
   (3) Christian Emphasis and Church-School Relations

f. Christian Social Services
   (1) N. C. Baptist Hospitals, Inc.
   (2) N. C. Baptist Homes, Inc.
   (3) Baptist Children's Homes of N. C., Inc.

g. Executive Committee

These divisions, numbered a to f inclusive, shall be administered and promoted under committees composed of members of the General Board. The General Secretary and Executive Committee shall decide the size of each committee (a through f) to be determined by the needs involved.

These committees shall meet for organizational purposes at the January meeting of the General Board and at other times upon the call of the Committee Chairman, Division Director or General Secretary at each regular session of the Board, and, if necessary, at other times upon the call of the Division Director or Committee Chairman, or both.

4. Description of Committee Functions.

a. Committee on Stewardship Promotion.

(1) Function: To work with the Director of the Division in promoting the total program of Stewardship Promotion and Program services.

(2) Duties and responsibilities of the Director of the Division:

(a) He shall be responsible to the General Secretary for the overall performance of all departments and activities of the Division.

(b) He shall study ways and means of promoting every phase of the Baptist program. In particular he shall promote the stewardship programs of the Southern Baptist Convention, church budgets, stewardship revivals, the Cooperative Program, and all special offerings sponsored by the State Convention.

(c) He shall conduct regular staff meetings for the personnel of this Division.

(d) He shall present to the General Secretary-Treasurer and the Budget Committee the budget needs of the Division.

(e) He shall work with and supervise the work of the following:

Departments and Committees
Town and Country Seminary Extension
City and Metropolitan Interracial Cooperation
Deaf Work
Special Missions
(1) Military Ministry
(2) Cherokee Indian Work
(3) Burnt Swamp Field Work
Fruitland Bible Institute

b. Committee on Missions.

(1) Function: To work with the Director of the Division in promoting the total program of mission activities in North Carolina.

(2) Duties and responsibilities of the Director of the Division.

(a) He shall be responsible to the General Secretary for the over-all performance of all departments and activities of the Division.

(b) He shall work with the Committee on Missions in promoting a vigorous program of mission activities in North Carolina, and shall hold staff meetings in an effort to correlate the work wherever possible.

(c) He shall participate in rallies and conferences in order to inform and inspire the leaders and encourage the people in the churches to support the total program, and shall plan and conduct Schools for Pastors and Schools of Missions.

(d) He shall present to the General Secretary-Treasurer and the Budget Committee the budget needs of the Division.

(e) He shall work with and supervise the work of the following Departmental Secretaries: Department of Church Development, Department of Interracial Co-operation, Department of Ministry to the Deaf.

(f) He shall work with the director and have general supervision of Fruitland Bible Institute.

(g) In particular, he shall promote the following activities: aid for Missionary Pastors; a study and survey of situations where missions and eventually churches should be established; recommendations concerning the purchase of lots or loans for buildings; a ministry in the correctional institutions of the state, and to other groups; co-operation with and advisor to Associational Missionaries.

c. Committee on Evangelism

(1) Function: To work with the Director of the Division in promoting the total program of Evangelism among Baptists in North Carolina.

(2) Duties and Responsibilities of the Director of the Division.

(a) He shall be responsible to the General Secretary for the over-all performance of all activities of the Division, and he shall work closely with the General Secretary in the effort to place Evangelism in the forefront of the total Convention program.

(b) In co-operation with all divisions and departments of the Convention he shall study ways and means of getting and maintaining the spirit and practice of evangelism (witnessing unto Christ) in every phase of the total Baptist program in North Carolina.

(c) Work with the Committee on Evangelism of the General Board in promoting a vigorous program of evangelism in North Carolina.

(d) He shall present to the General Secretary and the Budget Committee the budget needs of the Division.

(e) He shall promote the Southern Baptist Program of Evangelism in co-operation with the boards and agencies of the Southern Baptist Convention.

d. Committee on Church Programs.

(1) Function: To work with the Director of this Division in providing the churches with trained educational leadership for the total church membership. Such a program will involve co-operation with the Sunday School Board and other Boards and agencies of the Southern Baptist Convention.

(2) Duties and responsibilities of the Director of this Division.

(a) He shall be responsible to the General Secretary-Treasurer and the General Board for the over-all performance of all Departments and activities of the Division.

(b) Work with the Committee on Church Programs of the General Board in studying the needs of the local church. Through the various departments of his Division, seek to guide in providing programs, literature, and leadership to help meet these needs. This will involve church community surveys and research in church programs, conferences with pastors and church leaders and co-operation with the various departments and facilities of the Sunday School Board and the various mission boards.

(c) Hold regular staff meetings of the department heads and all personnel in the various departments of the Division of Church Programs; correlate the work of church programs in such a way as to strengthen the local church; work with the department heads to prevent overlapping in meetings or emphases; and help create a spirit of team work as each department seeks to do its part in the total development of the local church.

(d) Meet in conference with the various department secretaries to develop a recommended budget for the Division. This recommended budget would then be studied by the General Secretary-Treasurer and presented by him to the Budget Committee for consideration.

(e) Participate in various district and state programs to help inform the people concerning the work of his Division and to help promote the entire Cooperative Program of Baptists.

(f) He shall work with and supervise the work of the following Departmental Secretaries: Department of Sunday Schools, Department of Training Unions, Department of Student Work, Department of Brotherhood, Department of Church Music, Department of Building Planning, Department of Assembly and Camps, and Department of Statistics and Survey.

e. Committee on Christian Higher Education.

(1) Function: To work with the Director of this Division in order to provide an effective program for the several Baptist colleges, without in any way hindering the independent operation of any one of them.

(2) Duties and responsibilities of the Director of this Division.

(a) He shall serve as Secretary of the Council on Christian Higher Education.

(b) He shall be responsible to the Council on Christian Higher Education, to the General Secretary-Treasurer, and to the General Board, and shall work in co-operation with all Divisions and Departments of the General Board in an effort to secure full support for the Convention's program of higher education.

(c) He shall, in co-operation with the Business Manager and Comptroller of the General Board, work towards promoting a uniform method of bookkeeping for all the colleges in an effort to understand and interpret all their budget needs.

(d) He shall work towards correlating the programs of the several educational institutions and securing their co-operation, and shall formulate plans for promoting an interest in and support of Christian Higher Education.

f. Committee on Christian Social Services.

(1) Function: To work with the Director of this Division in order to provide a well-integrated program for Children's Homes, Homes for Aging and the Hospital, without in any way hindering the independent operation of each.

(2) It shall be the prerogative of this committee to discuss the annual budget needs of each of the three social service institutions with the General Secretary-Treasurer and the Budget Committee of the General Board.

(3) Duties and responsibilities of the Director of the Division.

He shall be responsible to the Council on Christian Social Services, to the General Secretary-Treasurer, and to the General Board, and shall co-operate with all the Divisions and Departments in order to create a better understanding of all the problems involved in providing for the needs of these benevolent institutions.

g. The Executive Committee

(1) Function: To serve in a dual capacity as the General Board ad interim deciding on routine and emergency matters between sessions of the General Board, and as a survey and policy committee, reviewing, correlating and recommending policies and programs to the General Board. It will initiate and recommend matters concerning business management, budget and finance and approve the employment of all personnel.

(2) The Committee shall be composed of the President of the General Board, the vice-president of the General Board, the President of the Convention, the first vice-president of the Convention, the second vice-president of the Convention, the chairman of the six major committees, and five members at large from the General Board.

The Executive Committee as constituted the year previous shall remain intact until the January meeting of the General Board at which the Executive Committee will be re-constituted.

(3) The Executive Committee shall have three sub-committees to facilitate its work:

(a) Business Management (composed of five members of the Executive Committee) to work with the Business Manager-Comptroller and General Secretary-Treasurer on all routine matters of business in connection with the division of business management. Matters affecting policies, new personnel or new expenditures shall be referred to entire Executive Committee.

(b) Budget and Finance Committee (composed of six members of the Executive Committee) to handle program budget and finance matters and study, formulate and recommend general budget allocations. Final recommendation of budget will come from the full Executive Committee. Since the Executive Committee represents every division of the work of the General Board and all of the institutions and agencies, it is the proper committee to recommend budgets each year.

(c) Denominational Co-operation Committee, composed of the president, first and second vice-presidents of the Convention, to meet at such times as conditions warrant. They shall consider the work of the agencies and institutions of the state and Southern Baptist Conventions and recommend any policies that will improve co-operation with these agencies and institutions and Woman's Missionary Union.

(4) Meetings of the Executive Committee shall be held as follows:

(a) Regular meetings at least once per quarter.

(b) Once each year, not later than September, the full Executive Committee shall invite secretaries, department heads and heads of all agencies and institutions of the Convention to present written evaluations of their needs and requests for the next fiscal year. Following this meeting, the Executive Committee shall prepare a budget to be presented to the General Board at the pre-Convention session of the General Board. Any changes caused by Convention action, or later needs may be made at the January meeting of the General Board.

(c) The Executive Committee shall meet in special meeting on call of the General Secretary-Treasurer or the President of the General Board or both.

(5) The President of the General Board shall serve as chairman of the Executive Committee and ex officio member of its sub-committees.

(6) The Executive Committee shall direct the work of the Business Manager and Comptroller and of the Director of Public Relations, whose duties shall be as follows:

(a) Business Manager and Comptroller

1. Serve as the principal assistant to the General Secretary-

Treasurer on all business activities of the General Board and its staff.

2. Supervise and direct all of the bookkeeping and accounting in connection with the Convention treasury and the work of the General Board.

3. In co-operation with the General Secretary-Treasurer execute the financial instructions of the General Board regarding the appropriations of all funds received by the Convention.

4. Supervise the work of the building superintendent, switchboard operator and receptionist, mail clerk, print shop workers and maids and janitors.

5. Prepare and circulate manuals of administrative policies, procedures and practices to all General Board employees and supervise personnel activities such as length of vacation, sick leave, salaries, and expenses.

6. Prepare periodic financial reports of Convention receipts and expenditures for use of General Secretary-Treasurer, General Board and staff members and heads of institutions and agencies. Present financial reports to each regular meeting of the General Board and the annual meeting of the Baptist State Convention.

7. Be responsible for proper auditing of Convention financial records and for presenting such reports to the Convention and its General Board.

8. Assist the departments of the General Board staff in developing effective and economical procedures for the conduct of their work.

9. Establish and administer procedures to be used by staff members in making purchases of office supplies and equipment.

10. Make himself available to help any agency or institution of the Convention, at its request, to adopt better bookkeeping practices and work toward promoting a uniform method of bookkeeping for all agencies and institutions of the convention.

(b) Director of Public Relations

1. He shall serve as an assistant to the General Secretary-Treasurer in all matters involving public relations.

2. He shall work in close co-operation with every Division and Department of the Board in the production of printed materials, including promotional literature.

3. He shall represent the General Secretary-Treasurer in attendance upon denominational meetings and others, and shall work in close co-operation with the heads of all institutions and agencies.

4. He shall develop and maintain a close liaison with newspapers, church papers, radio and TV stations and other news channels; and shall be responsible for the release of all publicity in connection with the Convention's annual meeting and the work of the General Board.

ARTICLE V. The Council on Christian Higher Education

A. Duties. The duties of the Council shall be as follows:

1. It shall devise ways and means for the proper correlation of the work and programs in the several educational institutions supported by the Convention.

2. It shall study the needs of the institutions and their ability to meet these needs, and upon the basis of its findings shall recommend to the General Board allocations to the institutions of such funds as may be made available by the Convention or the General Board for Christian Higher Education.

3. It shall examine the budget requests made by each institution and present them to the General Secretary-Treasurer.

4. It shall formulate and promote plans for increasing the interest in and the support of these institutions and shall make reports in detail to the General Board upon all its work and findings.

B. Secretary

The Council on Christian Higher Education in co-operation with the General Secretary-Treasurer of the Convention shall nominate and the General Board shall elect an Executive Secretary.

C. Meetings.

The Council shall meet at the call of the Chairman at least three times during the Convention year; it may meet in special session at the call of the Chairman and Secretary, or any five members.

ARTICLE VI. The Council on Christian Social Services

A. Duties: The duties of the Council shall be to consider problems common to all of the institutions, and keep the needs of these institutions before the General Board and the Baptist people of North Carolina. The Council shall examine the budget requests made by each of the institutions and present them with recommendations to the General Secretary-Treasurer.

B. Secretary

When the Council feels that it has made sufficient progress to warrant a full-time Director of Christian Social Services, in co-operation with the General Secretary-Treasurer of the Convention, it shall nominate, and the General Board shall elect a Director, who shall serve as Secretary of the Division.

C. Meetings.

The Council shall meet at the call of the Chairman at least twice during the Convention year. It may meet in special session at the call of the Chairman and Secretary, or any five members.

ARTICLE VII. Amendments to Bylaws

These Bylaws may be changed or amended by a majority vote of the messengers present either the first full day or the second full day of the Annual Convention

PROCEEDINGS

Convention Theme: "Doing Together What We Cannot Do Apart"

MONDAY EVENING—NOVEMBER 13, 1967

1. The 137th annual session of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina assembled in the City Auditorium of Asheville on the evening of Monday, November 13, 1967, with President Carl E. Bates, Charlotte, in the chair. Preceding the calling of the body to order, as the messengers gathered, R. Willis Abernathy, Minister of Music, Marion, played several numbers on the Allen Organ, loaned as a courtesy of the Ward Piano Company, Asheville.

2. Joseph O. Stroud, Secretary Department of Church Music of the Convention, led the congregation in the singing of the hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," which was followed by prayer by J. R. Everett, Rocky Mount.

3. Cecil Sherman, Asheville, Chairman Committee on Arrangements, moved that the messengers now registered and those that would be registered constitute this session of the Convention. Carried.

4. Cecil Sherman then moved that the official program, with suggested changes, be adopted. This was so ordered.

Other members of the Arrangement Committee are Russell Cherry, Rocky Mount; Mack Goss, Hendersonville; A. B. Bumgarner, Spindale; Elmer West, Mars Hill; Mrs. Gordon Maddrey, Raleigh; Mrs. G. H. Johnston, Charlotte; Coy C. Privette, Kannapolis; and W. J. Furr, Chadbourn.

5. New pastors were welcomed to the state by the president, and these came to the platform to give their names and places of service.

6. Bates called J. Boyce Brooks, First Vice-President, Boone, to come to the stand to preside. Brooks recognized Mrs. Bates and then called attention to the President's Message, to be delivered after the special music.

7. The Mars Hill College choir, under the direction of Robert Ricks, sang: "O Clap Your Hands" (Thomas Cousins), "I Hear a Voice A-Prayin'" (Houston Bright), and "Ezekiel Saw the Wheel" (Spiritual).

8. In his Message, President Bates called attention to the dedicated fellowship of believers in Christ in North Carolina and the distribution of resources by the churches, but he expressed concern that the churches were not meeting their potential in baptisms, contributions, and an increase in number. He referred to the present as "a rebellious generation" and singled out three areas of special concern. (1) The need of understanding the specific mission of the church in our time. While we are on a mission to help cure the social ills, "the greatest lack of any man," he declared, "is his lack of salvation." (2) With reference to changes in a changing world, Bates expressed the conviction that organizations should be willing to accept them except when they affected basic beliefs. (3) The need for the best educated and most dedicated persons to serve as leaders and prove their faithful stewardship.

9. Joseph O. Stroud led in the singing of "I Love to Tell the Story."

10. The Mars Hill Choir sang again, presenting these numbers: "Bright Canaan" (Robert Shaw) and "Amazing Grace" (arr. by Shaw-Parker).

11. Howard E. Butt, Jr., executive vice-president of a chain of grocery stores, Corpus Christi, Texas, founder of the Board of Christian Men, and active layman in Southern Baptist circles, was presented by the President. Butt called attention to his vision of the total mobilization of the church, with every member a minister of God, all refreshingly different, but all reminding of the lordship of Christ. Each one is to be represented not so much by what he does as by how he does things for Christ. In speaking of the status quo, the speaker declared that the church had lost much of its relevance, that God intended it to be "a colony of heaven here on earth now." Life is an adventure of faith, and for the Christian, witnessing is not optional, nor mandatory, but inevitable.

12. The benediction for the first session was pronounced by E. Gordon Conklin, Kinston.

TUESDAY MORNING—NOVEMBER 14, 1967

13. Following an organ meditation by Willis Abernathy,

14. Joseph Stroud presented Charles Gatwood, assistant in the Department of Music, who led the Convention choir in the number, "Let Us Arise and Sing." Afterwards the congregation joined in singing "Holy, Holy, Holy." Clarence Cranford, pastor Calvary Baptist Church, Washington, D. C., was presented to lead the convention in the first of five devotional messages. Using the story of Philip directed by the Holy Spirit into the desert to meet the Ethiopian, he applied it to the place of the church in today's world, suggesting: (1) Go where the people are; (2) Identify with them; (3) Share with them what you have; and (4) Send them on their way rejoicing in a new hope in Jesus Christ.

15. Gilmer Cross, president of the General Board, was introduced. He announced that Mrs. Perry Crouch, who for two years had bravely lived with a malignancy, was back in an Asheville hospital, gravely ill, and moved that the convention send her flowers as a token of love and its prayers. Ordered.

16. Cross, in behalf of the General Board, then asked representatives wishing to borrow money, to come to the platform.

17. Cross then called attention to several actions of the General Board and asked Leon Spencer, Comptroller, for the report of the Business Manager. Spencer pointed out the receipts and expenditures of the year and indicated a projection for the remaining weeks of 1967. He stated that all special offerings were sent each month to the specified object.

REPORT OF GENERAL BOARD

I. FOREWORD

The year of 1967 has not shown the same rate of increase in our gifts to Baptist causes as was true in 1964, 1965 and 1966. During these years we recorded a total increase of 23.36 in gifts through the Cooperative Program. This year our gifts have reflected the uncertain business activity that seems to have been nation-wide. The rising cost of living, the war in Vietnam, the riots in our cities, the automobile strike and similar economic problems are all reflected in our gifts of this year. It is my hope that we will end the year three to four percent ahead of last year.

In July, the General Board again expressed their belief that the Cooperative Program is the lifeline of all of our work, and by unanimous vote, decided to write the pastors of our churches, urging them to lead their churches to adopt at least a ten percent increase in their gifts through the Cooperative Program for 1968.

During the year, Dr. Herman Ihley resigned as Sunday School Secretary to go to Interracial work in Kentucky, and Miss Katy Ruth Grayson joined the staff of Hayes Barton Baptist Church. However, we have been able to secure some very fine individuals for our work. These include Dr. Claude White, Secretary of our Sunday School Department, Rev. Davis Bowen, and Rev. Maurice Cooper, both associates in the Training Union Department. We believe we have a very excellent staff to guide in the work of North Carolina Baptists.

During the year, Dr. Ralph Scales came to the Presidency of Wake Forest University and Dr. Norman Wiggins assumed the Presidency of Campbell College. All of our colleges are in enlargement programs, and all are trying hard to maintain top-level educational institutions in the face of rapidly increasing costs and new academic requirements. They deserve your interest and concern.

Our Social Service Institutions are also in enlargement programs. You can read about them in their reports. I believe Baptists can be proud of our Hospital, our Children's Homes and our Homes for the Aging. They are alert to new methods, and they are demonstrating their desire to serve our Baptist cause and the people of our state.

We are now completing a pictorial story of North Carolina Baptists. It has been an attempt to show in pictures, and in easy reading, the many phases of our North Carolina, Southwide and Worldwide activities supported through our Cooperative Program and the special gifts of our people. Two free copies will be sent to each church, one to the pastor and one to the superintendent of Sunday School.

It is hoped that these will be made available to other church leaders. Additional copies may be secured from the Book Store at $1.50 per copy.

Our minds now turn to the Crusade of the Americas as the best possible channel for spiritual renewal in our churches and a new effort to witness to non-Christians about our Christ. Please read the report of the Committee of 27 and listen to their presentation Wednesday night of the Convention.

I continue to be grateful for the privilege of working with our Baptist people in North Carolina, with a wonderful staff, and with the leaders and trustees of our institutions. We have the churches, the institutions and the denominational framework for a great forward movement for our Lord. There are some pessimists who say it is too late for such an advance. They say our churches have lost their spiritual life. I do not belong to this group. I believe there are many thousands of people in our churches who are sincere, genuine Christians who want to follow Christ. Let us make 1968 a year of renewal and spiritual revival.

W. PERRY CROUCH
General Secretary-Treasurer
North Carolina Baptist State Convention

II. GENERAL BOARD REPORT AND RECOMMENDATIONS

GILMER CROSS

Having been elected President of the General Board and its Executive Committee at the January meeting, 1967, it has been a privilege to work with this fine group of Baptist leaders and our excellent staff.

In the December, 1966, meeting of the Executive Committee, our General Secretary-Treasurer made a full report concerning a bequest of the estate of Miss Rachel E. Hatch. This report indicated that in addition to approximately $50,000 in cash and bonds, the estate comprised approximately 1,440 acres of farm and timber land in Duplin County. At the 1966 session in Winston-Salem, the Convention granted the General Board permission to borrow $250,000 to construct an auditorium at our summer assembly at Caswell. We soon realized this would not be a sufficient amount to build and equip this auditorium. The Executive Committee recommended to the January meeting of the General Board that the Hatch Estate be appraised and sold under the best possible plan, and the money be used to help construct the auditorium. They also recommended, in keeping with the generous bequest of Miss Hatch, that the auditorium be named the "Rachel E. Hatch Memorial Auditorium." The General Board approved this recommendation and the auditorium is now under construction. The final sale of the farm and timber land will probably be completed the latter part of this year and the full amount reported to you at a later date. The dedication of the auditorium at Caswell will be held in connection with the July 17, 1968 meeting of the General Board.

In December, representatives from the various institutions and individuals from the staff recommended the publication of a Pictorial Story of North Carolina Baptists. This was to be an eighty page book, carefully edited, and bound in an attractive form that would help our people understand the total work of Baptists in North Carolina and around the world. An editing committee composed of Mr. Ottis Hagler, chairman, Mr. Ben Fisher, Mr. Jimmy Morriss, Mr. Marse Grant and Mr. Bob Walker have worked hard on this publication. A copy will be mailed to each pastor and each Sunday School Superintendent. The various institutions and agencies will send copies to their trustees and directors. The institutions and agencies have shared in the expense of the book. Additional copies will be available in the Baptist Book Store at $1.50 per copy. We commend the committee for an excellent publication that we believe will promote all of the work of Baptists in North Carolina.

During the January meeting of the Executive Committee, Sam O'Neal was advanced to the place as Secretary of the Training Union Department, succeeding James Morgan, deceased.

At the January meeting of the General Board, separate meetings of the various committees were held to elect chairmen. These chairmen, along with five members-at-large and the president and two vice presidents of the Convention formed the Executive Committee for the year 1967. The Executive Committee as elected is as follows: Gilmer Cross, President General Board; John Lawrence, First Vice-President, General Board; Carl E. Bates, President, Baptist State Convention; Boyce Brooks, First Vice-President, Baptist State Convention; Randolph Gregory, Second Vice-President, Baptist State Convention; Bill Snyder, Chairman, Stewardship Committee; James Potter, Chairman, Missions Committee; Henry Morgan, Chairman, Church Programs Committee; Robert Simms, Chairman, Christian Higher Education; Howard Holly, Chairman, Social Services Committee; James L. Pharr, Chairman, Evangelism Committee; Francis Chesson, Member-at-large; Lois Edinger, Member-at-large; Troy Hamrick, Member-at-large; Edison Hill, Member-at-large; E. J. Prevatte, Member-at-large.

During the January, 1967, General Board meeting, Mr. Leon Spencer, our Comptroller, announced that the total mission gifts for 1966, including those sent to the Raleigh office and those sent directly to the institutions were $9,248,414.30, an increase of $637,-002.16 over 1965.

Rev. Tom Womble, in behalf of the First Baptist Church of Bladenboro, presented a check for $8,500 to purchase a specially built trailer to be used in the trailer park areas near Jacksonville. This is one of the fastest growing military areas in our country. The trailer was received in the late spring and was put in use for a new chapel ministry during the summer of 1967. This gift is already proving to be a real blessing in our mission program.

After careful consideration the Missions Committee recommended the following appropriations: $26,400 for aid on church lots in metropolitan areas, involving 25 different locations; $13,060 for church lots in ten different locations in rural areas; $74,220 as aid to 53 associations in securing and maintaining a superintendent of missions in their respective association; $79,200 as aid to pastors' salaries in strategic locations; $4,500 for chaplains in training schools, hospitals and prisons; and $6,300 for pastoral aid to pioneer churches in North Dakota. These items were approved by the General Board.

At the February meeting of the Executive Committee, Dr. Herman Ihley presented his resignation as Secretary of the Sunday School Department to accept Interracial work with the Kentucky State Baptist Convention. Dr. Ihley has been an excellent worker with our Convention for 10 years, and his resignation was accepted with regret.

The Reverend Davis Bowen was elected as an associate in the Training Union Department to become effective April 15, 1967. Mr. Bowen has been on the job for several months and is doing an excellent work.

Mr. Monroe M. Ashley presented his resignation as Baptist Student Chaplain at UNC at Greensboro to accept employment at the Baptist Sunday School Board at Nashville, Tennessee. The resignation was accepted with regret.

Last year we secured additional land and a dwelling house near the campus at East Carolina College as a location for a much needed Baptist Student Center. After careful plans and bids on the center, the Student Department was authorized to secure a local contractor and proceed on a cost plus basis. The cost of renovation and new construction is estimated to be about $95,000 plus cost of the land which was $50,000. The Executive Committee also authorized the sale of the old building and the use of the money to furnish the new center. The old center has now been sold for $14,000 and the new center completed. It is an excellent locality for our Baptist work near this fast growing university at Greenville.

In the April meeting of the Executive Committee we received the resignation of the Reverend Colon L. Godwin as Student Chaplain at West Carolina College to accept work with the Federal Extension Service of the United States Department of Agriculture in South Vietnam. The resignation was accepted with regret.

The Reverend Joe Clontz of Charlotte was elected to serve as Student Chaplain at Western Carolina College. Mr. Clontz grew up in the Pritchard Memorial Baptist Church of Charlotte and is a graduate of Wake Forest College and Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary. He has been on the job since June 1, 1967.

The Executive Committee approved the request of the Student Department to transfer Mr. Dwight Fickling from the Student Center in Greenville to the Student work at UNC in Greensboro. They also approved a year of leave of absence for Robert Hyatt, Baptist Chaplain at Duke University, to accept a Danforth Grant for graduate study in religion. Mr. James Y. Greene, former missionary to Korea, was appointed to serve during Mr. Hyatt's absence from Duke.

In the May meeting of the Executive Committee, the Director of the Division of Missions and the General Secretary recommended the election of Dr. Claude White of Richmond, Virginia as Secretary of our Sunday School Department. Dr. White is a native of Elizabeth City and has attended Campbell College and West Texas State Teachers College. He is a graduate of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary with the Master of Religious Education and Doctor of Religious Education degrees. For the past several years he has been an associate in the Sunday School Department of the Virginia Convention. He was unanimously elected and has been at work since June 15.

The Executive Committee also elected Mr. Randall Mishoe as Baptist Chaplain for East Carolina College. Mr. Mishoe is a graduate of Clemson University and Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary. He has served in the U. S. Army and he and Mrs. Mishoe served as host and hostess for one year in the Baptist Center of North Carolina State University at Raleigh. He was elected and has been on the job since mid summer.

The Executive Committee opened bids for the auditorium for our North Carolina Assembly at Caswell and after discussion and negotiation with the contractor, awarded the contract to J. W. Cook and Sons of Whiteville for $317,917.00. The auditorium is to be finished by June 1, 1968. The above price does not include the price of pews, a sound system, pulpit furniture, an organ and chairs for class rooms. These will be determined after the sale of the Hatch property has been completed.

In June of this year a budget committee was appointed to begin preparation of a budget for 1968. This committee worked many long hours in the preparation of a proposed budget. This budget was presented first to the Executive Committee for its consideration and approval. It was then presented to the General Board for discussion and was approved. We now present it to you as one of our recommendations.

During the year there has been the usual number of resignations and additions to the staff. A full list is included in this report for your information.

Mr. Paul Kesterson, Associate in the Sunday School Department, to Secretary of Religious Education, with the District of Columbia Baptist Convention.

Transferred

Mr. Albert Lamm, area missionary in North Dakota.

Dwight L. Fickling, from Greenville to Greensboro, chaplain.

Leave of Absence

Robert P. Hyatt, chaplain at Duke University, replaced by Jim Greene.

At the July meeting of the Executive Committee we received the resignation of Mr. James Cansler, Chaplain of the Baptist Student Center at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill for the past several years. Mr. Cansler has accepted the place as Assistant Dean of Students at the University. After expressions of appreciation for his work for many years, his resignation was accepted with regret.

Upon recommendation of the State Student Secretary, William Smith, and Dr. Nathan Brooks, Director of the Division of Church Programs, the Reverend Jack Halsell, III, was elected Chaplain of the work at Chapel Hill. Mr. Halsell graduated with the B.S. degree from M.I.T. and the B.D. degree from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He has recently served as pastor of the Temple Baptist Church of Champagne, Illinois. He was elected and has been on the field since August 15, 1967.

At the July meeting of the General Board, Dr. W. R. Wagoner, President of North Carolina Baptist Children's Homes, appeared before the group and asked for permission to change their charter to bring it up to date. A recommendation concerning this matter is included in our recommendations at the end of this report. Mr. Wagoner also announced plans to open a Children's Home in the area west of Asheville in the near future.

The General Board approved a recommendation from the Executive Committee to separate the Brotherhood Department from Camp CaRAway and to make Camp CaRAway a separate department in the Division of Church Programs with B. W. Jackson as Director. Royal Ambassador work would still be featured in the summer time, but the facilities would be made available to other departments and local churches for camps and retreats during the rest of the year. This was approved, and an associate was approved for the Brotherhood Department to help with the Brotherhood program and Royal Ambassador work throughout the state.

Woman's Missionary Union requested the privilege of building a permanent camp for girls on approximately 150 acres of our land at Camp CaRAway. This would be a lease agreement with the title remaining in the name of the Convention. Woman's Missionary Union would build and equip and operate the camp. The request was granted.

Woman's Missionary Union then requested the privilege of borrowing $250,000 to construct the camp. After conferences with bankers, it seemed that the best plan would be for the Convention to join in executing the loan along with Woman's Missionary Union, since the Convention maintains title to the property. The General Board recommends this procedure and this is embodied in one of our recommendations to you today.

The Executive Committee received a request from Convention President, Carl Bates, for authority to appoint a Convention Committee of 27 to study and recommend to the Annual Session of the Convention in November ways and means by which our Convention could cooperate with the Crusade of the Americas. The Executive Committee approved the request that a Committee of 27 be appointed, composed of nine laymen, nine pastors and nine Convention Staff members. Later a group of high school and college young people were added to the number studying this proposal. The Committee will make their report to the Convention Wednesday evening.

During the year the Executive Committee considered various missions items concerning pastoral aid, mission loans and other items referred to it by the Missions Committee and the General Board.

A recommendation that we join the pastors and churches of Region Ten in some help for the George W. Truett Mission Camp was discussed and approved. Larry Bryson was elected camp director for the summer and work was done in preparing some recreational area at the camp. As a result of increased interest in the Camp, they reported the largest attendance in the camp's history. We are now negotiating a new agreement with the churches of the area that will allow the General Board to join them in a long range development of a youth camp for not more than 100 per week at the Truett property.

The Executive Committee also took note of the fact that this year marks the 100th anniversary of the birth of Dr. George W. Truett in the beautiful hill country of Western North Carolina. A committee from the First Baptist Church of Asheville is working with the Executive Committee in refurnishing the Truett home place, and we extend an invitation to friends throughout our Southern Baptist Convention to visit Dr. Truett's birthplace. It is located near Hayesville, North Carolina.

Several of our colleges have requested the privilege of borrowing money for construction of needed buildings. The Executive Committee and the General Board has considered each request carefully, and have approved the requests for your consideration. These requests will be listed in our recommendations that will follow in this report. Our General Board recognized that the Convention can do very little in helping the colleges secure capital funds for building purposes. However, the colleges are doing a good job of securing funds for this purpose and we believe the Convention should approve these requests for loans.

At a recent meeting of the Executive Committee we received the good news that a completely outfitted bus was being presented to the Student Department of Duke to help them more effectively to carry on their tutoring service among the boys and girls of Durham.

This is an indication of the high evaluation the community puts on the service of the young people in this field.

The Executive Committee, in September, received the resignation of the Reverend Larry Bryson as director of the Cherokee Mission work with an understanding that he was resigning as pastor of the Cherokee Baptist Church effective September 3, to accept work with the Brotherhood Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention. His resignation was accepted with regret. At the same meeting the Executive Committee accepted the resignation of Miss Katy Ruth Grayson, an associate in the Training Union Department, to accept the work as Director of Religious Education at Hayes Barton Baptist Church. The resignation was accepted, with appreciation for her splendid service during the past seven years. During this meeting the Executive Committee voted to transfer the Reverend Albert Lamm to the Military Areas of North Carolina. During the past five years, Mr. Lamm has been serving as our representative in the North Dakota area.

Our General Secretary-Treasurer and the Executive Committee has worked very closely with the former General Secretary-Treasurer, Dr. M. A. Huggins, in the final preparation of our North Carolina Baptist History, which is now off the press and ready for your purchase. The sale price has been set at $5.00 which is less than the cost of publishing, but it is believed that every pastor and every church library should have a copy. As an incentive to hasten orders for this history, the Executive Committee has authorized the Convention staff to offer all advance copies, including those secured at the Convention, at an introductory price of $4.00. Later orders will be billed through the Baptist Book Store at $5.00 per copy. We want to commend Dr. Huggins for this excellent work of history that has required most of his best efforts since his retirement as Executive Secretary of our Convention. We also want to thank Mrs. Huggins for her untiring help to her husband, and Dr. Norfleet Gardner for his many hours of guidance, proof-reading and counsel to Dr. Huggins. We commend this history to our people and urge all pastors and messengers to this Convention to help us in the distribution of the history among our people.

We believe 1967 has been a good year for our Baptist work. Although the increase in the Cooperative Program has not been as great as in the three previous years, the spirit of our people has been on the positive side. We believe our churches are beginning to survey their needs, adjust their emphases, and make long range plans for advance. In this spirit we present the following recommendations:

Recommendations From the General Board To the Baptist State Convention

A. Budget

We recommend that the budget be adopted as printed on pages 12-17 of the book of Advance Reports with the understanding that the division of percentages be as follows:

Colleges—25.60 percent
Social Service Institutions—11.60 percent
Southwide Objects—33.34 percent
State Missions—29.46 percent

Any Cooperative Program overage of the budget will be divided as follows:

Colleges—26 percent
Social Service Institutions—26 percent
Southwide Objects—33.34 percent
State Missions—14.66 percent

B. Charter Changes

(1) Campbell College

We recommend that the request of Campbell College to change their charter to increase the number of trustees from 28 to 36, in keeping with the resolution on pages 18-19 of your book of advance reports, be adopted.

(2) Children's Homes

We recommend that the request of Children's Homes to change their charter, in keeping with the resolution as found on page 19 of the book of advance reports, be adopted.

(3) Meredith College

We recommend that the request of Meredith College to change their charter to increase the number of trustees from 28 to 36, in keeping with the resolution on page 20 of the book of advance reports, be adopted.

C. Requests to Borrow Money

(1) Baptist Hospital

We recommend that the request of the Baptist Hospital to borrow $1,250,000 as indicated in the resolution, the details of which are contained on pages 20-21 of the book of advance reports, be adopted.

(2) Baptist State Convention

We recommend that the request of the Baptist State Convention to borrow up to $200,000 for building purposes on the Fruitland Bible Institute Campus, be adopted as printed on pages 21-22 of the book of advance reports.

(3) Campbell College

We recommend that the request of Campbell College to borrow $225,000 in keeping with the resolution found on pages 22-23 of the book of advance reports, be adopted.

(4) Chowan College

We recommend that the request of Chowan College to borrow $1,000,000, in keeping with the resolution as found on pages 23-24 of the book of advance reports, be adopted.

(5) Mars Hill College

We recommend that the request of Mars Hill College to borrow $2,000,000, in keeping with the resolution as found on pages 24-25 of the book of advance reports, be adopted.

(6) Meredith College

We recommend that the request of Meredith College to borrow $1,950,000, in keeping with the resolution as found on pages 25-26 of the book of advance reports, be adopted.

(7) North Carolina Woman's Missionary Union

We recommend that the request of North Carolina Woman's Missionary Union to borrow money to construct a State WMU Camp, in keeping with the resolution appearing in the book of advance reports, page 26, be approved and we further recommend that the officers of the Convention be authorized to join in the execution of this note since the title of the property will remain in the name of the Convention.

D. Constitutional Changes

We recommend that the Constitutional and By-laws changes, as they now appear in the book of advance reports on pages 26-32, be adopted.

E. Travel Reimbursement For General Board Members and Convention Committees

The General Board recommends to the Baptist State Convention beginning January 1, 1968, that Convention committees and members of the General Board receive compensation for mileage for official Convention business on the following basis: 8c per mile for one person in the car and 10c for 2 or more persons in the car.

A. PROPOSED COOPERATIVE PROGRAM BUDGET FOR 1968

Upon the recommendation of the Budget Committee, the Executive Committee, and the General Board we now present to you for your consideration the proposed budget for 1968.

From anticipated income of $6,500,000 through the Cooperative Program we recommend that 33.34 percent be allocated to the Southern Baptist Convention, 25.60 percent to Christian Higher Education, 11.60 percent to Christian Social Services (Hospital, Children's Homes, and Homes for Aging), and 29.46 percent to State Missions (General Board Programs).

An overall goal of $6,750,000 is proposed and from the income in excess of the base budget of $6,500,000 we recommend the following allocation of funds: 33.34 percent to the Southern Convention, 26 percent to Christian Higher Education, 26 percent to Christian Social Services, and 14.66 percent to State Missions (General Board Programs).

B. CHARTER CHANGES

ARTICLES OF AMENDMENT TO THE CHARTER OF CAMPBELL COLLEGE, INC

The undersigned non-profit corporation, for the purpose of amending its articles of incorporation, and in accordance with the provision of Section 55A-36 of the North Carolina Non-Profit Corporation Act, hereby sets forth:

I

The name of the corporation is Campbell College, Incorporated.

II

At a regularly convened meeting of the trustees of the Corporation held on the 26th day of May, A.D. 1967, the following amendment to the Articles of Incorporation was adopted:

Whereas, from its founding to the present time, Campbell College has rendered outstanding service to the State and Nation, and

Whereas, in 1966, Campbell College was admitted to the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools as a fully accredited senior college, and

Whereas, in 1967, the student enrollment at Campbell College was in excess of 2,100, and

Whereas, as a result of the outstanding achievements of Campbell College and the rapid growth of its student body, it seems fitting that the size of the Board of Trustees be increased:

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, by the Board of Trustees of the corporation that the second sentence of Article 8, subsection (b), be changed to read as follows:

"The membership of the Board of Trustees shall be thirty-six (36) in number, serving terms of four (4) years beginning on January 1 following their election by the Baptist State Convention and shall serve until their successors have been duly elected and qualified."

III

There are no members of the corporation having voting rights. The above amendment received the affirmative vote of a majority of the directors in office.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, the corporation has caused this document to be executed in its name by its President and Secretary this ..... day of ....., A.D. 1967.

BAPTIST CHILDREN'S HOMES OF NORTH CAROLINA, INC.

Resolution

Resolved that the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees of Baptist Children's Homes of North Carolina, Inc., hereby adopts the following amendments to the Charter (or Articles of Incorporation) and recommend that the same may be approved by the General Board of the North Carolina State Baptist Convention at its next meeting:

1. That the Baptist Children's Homes of North Carolina, Inc. (herein referred to as the "Corporation" or the "Homes") shall have power and authority to receive, hold, and acquire, by purchase, gift, bequest, devise, lease, exchange or in any other manner, real property, personal property and any property of any kind and wherever located, and in any total amount or value; to receive gifts or bequests of cash or real or personal property which may have special designated purposes and, when accepted, to carry out and fulfill the same; and to sue and to be sued, to defend, to contract and be contracted with, and, further, to have all of the rights and powers as granted by any of the laws of the State of North Carolina, including specifically but without limitation, section 55A-15 of the North Carolina General Statutes providing general powers for Non-Profit Corporations.

2. That the Board of Trustees shall have authority to adopt, alter, amend, or repeal the by-laws.

3. That the Corporation's purposes shall include: providing a home, care, custody and training for children who are in need of the same; for the Homes to be authorized to acquire or to hold custody of children and to care for them; and to use the resources of the Baptist Children's Homes, including counselling and other means, to help persons who are parents, grandparents or relatives of children or other persons or agencies who may have custody of, or have an interest in, children, in the establishment or in the rebuilding of a home, or of a family, or in extending such help to such persons in any other appropriate ways.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF MEREDITH COLLEGE:

1. That the Charter of Meredith College (Chapter 132, Private Laws of North Carolina 1891, as amended by various acts of the General Assembly of North Carolina and by action taken pursuant to statute by the Board of Trustees) is hereby amended further by rewriting Article 5 of the said Charter to read as follows:

"5. This corporation shall be managed and controlled in accordance with law by a Board of Directors (hereinafter referred to as the Board of Trustees), the members of which shall be designated trustees and shall be elected by the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina (hereinafter sometimes referred to as the Convention). The Board of Trustees shall consist of twenty-eight members who shall be divided into four classes consisting of seven trustees in each class until January 1, 1968. The Board of Trustees shall consist of thirty (30) members, effective January 1, 1968; thirty-two (32) members, effective January 1, 1969; thirty-four (34) members, effective January 1, 1970; and thirty-six (36) members, effective January 1, 1971. As the Board of Trustees becomes thus enlarged, the classes of trustees respectively shall be enlarged to nine trustees in a class. The persons heretofore duly elected as Trustees of Meredith College by the Convention at its regular annual sessions held in the years 1963, 1964, 1965 and 1966 (and the persons duly elected to fill vacancies) shall be and continue to be members of the Board of Trustees of this corporation for the remainder of the terms for which they were elected respectively and until their respective successors shall have been elected and qualified. At each annual session of the Convention, beginning with the 1967 session, nine trustees shall be elected by the Convention for terms of four years each (commencing January first, next thereafter) and until their respective successors shall have been elected and qualified."

2. That this resolution shall become effective upon approval of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina or its General Board, in which event the proper officers of Meredith College are authorized and directed to execute and file in the office of the Secretary of State of North Carolina a Certificate of Amendment embodying the aforesaid changes in the Charter of Meredith College.

C. REQUESTS TO BORROW

NORTH CAROLINA BAPTIST HOSPITAL, INC. PARAMEDICAL SCHOOL BUILDING

Whereas, Construction of a new Paramedical School of approximately 55,000 square feet has been approved by the Board of Trustees of the North Carolina Baptist Hospitals, Inc. in order to expand educational facilities for Nurses, Technicians and other health personnel, and

Whereas, The North Carolina Baptist Hospitals, Inc. is conducting a campaign to raise $1,760,000 for this purpose, and

Whereas, There is a serious nationwide shortage of paramedical personnel and this facility will permit an increase in students of the eleven present paramedical schools from 300 students to 600 students and contribute to the relief of this situation, and

Whereas, It may be necessary for the Trustees of North Carolina Baptist Hospitals, Inc. to borrow some part of the total cost in order to expedite construction,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, By the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina in session in the City of Asheville, North Carolina on November 13-15, 1967:

1. That the Trustees of North Carolina Baptist Hospitals, Inc. be empowered to borrow $1,250,000 to finance in part and expedite the construction of this new building.

2. That this loan to be repaid from pledges, grants, and gifts made to the Hospital for this building, and from general income available to the Hospital.

3. That the Trustees of the North Carolina Baptist Hospitals,

Inc. be authorized, empowered, and directed to execute or cause to be executed in the name of the Hospital a note, or notes, or bonds evidencing the indebtedness authorized by these resolutions.

4. That the indebtedness incurred by the Trustees of the North Carolina Baptist Hospitals, Inc. by reason of these resolutions shall not be deemed to be or held to be or construed to be an indebtedness of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

FRUITLAND

Whereas, the General Board has been studying and seeking to upgrade the work of Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute for the past several years, and

Whereas, the work at Fruitland has provided excellent training for men who have not had college or seminary training and,

Whereas, a great need has developed for a library and administration building as a part of the needed space at Fruitland, and

Whereas, about $65,000 has already been received by the treasurer of the Convention for the purpose of building such a building,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina in session at Asheville, North Carolina, November 13-15, 1967:

1. That the General Board of the Baptist State Convention be empowered to borrow up to $250,000 to finance the construction of this building,

2. That the loan be repaid from 20 percent of the State Missions Offerings each year until the loan is retired,

3. That the loan be secured on the best possible terms, not to exceed 8 years in length.

CAMPBELL COLLEGE

Whereas, on the recommendation of the Campbell College Board of Trustees, the North Carolina Baptist State Convention in session on November 16-17, 1965, in Charlotte, North Carolina, authorized Campbell College, Incorporated, to borrow the sum of $1,000,000 to pay the development cost of the following:

"A. To construct one (1) dormitory to house approximately 200 men, and to include dining facilities for a total of 350 students, estimated to cost approximately $600,000.

B. To construct one (1) dormitory to house approximately 100 women, estimated to cost $300,000.

C. To construct sixteen (16) three-bedroom apartments for faculty-student accommodations, estimated to cost $200,000," and

Whereas, construction cost increased approximately 20 percent between the date of the approval of the $1,000,000 loan resolution by the North Carolina Baptist State Convention on November 16-17, 1965, and the approval by the Federal Housing and Urban Development of a supplemental $1,000,000 bond issue for Campbell College, Incorporated, on July 1, 1966, and

Whereas, Campbell College, Incorporated, after the opening of the construction bids, found itself in the position of needing funds in excess of the $1,000,000 authorized and that amount which the College could furnish from its own resources, and

Whereas, Campbell College, Incorporated, because of the excess cost, found it necessary to delete from the project the sixteen (16) three-bedroom apartments for faculty-student accommodations originally estimated to cost $200,000 until authority to borrow the necessary additional amount needed could be secured from the North Carolina Baptist State Convention, and

Whereas, Campbell College, Incorporated, still finds itself in acute need of the sixteen (16) additional apartments designed to accommodate faculty-married-student families, and

Whereas, Campbell College, Incorporated, has in its possession completed, approved architectural plans for the construction of the sixteen (16) three-bedroom apartments, and has extended sewer and water facilities to the proposed building site, and has completed all preliminary grading and fill work necessary to begin construction of the sixteen (16) three-bedroom apartments, and

Whereas, the Board of Trustees of Campbell College, Incorporated, is convinced that the rental fees from the sixteen (16) three-bedroom apartments, together with previously-pledged revenues in the Campbell College Housing and Dining System bond issues revenue accounts, will be sufficient to liquidate an additional, supplemental loan needed, not in excess of the principal sum of $225,000, and

Whereas, Campbell College, Incorporated, has demonstrated its ability during the past fifteen years to profit, financially and otherwise, from the addition of such facilities, and has consistently during this time produced over-all balanced budgets annually, and

Whereas, the Board of Trustees of Campbell College, Incorporated, finds it necessary and advisable to borrow an additional sum of $225,000 in order to successfully complete the construction of all the buildings authorized by the North Carolina Baptist State Convention for Campbell College, Incorporated, in their resolution approved in regular session on November 16-17, 1965, in Charlotte, North Carolina.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the North Carolina Baptist State Convention in session November 13-15, 1967, in Asheville, North Carolina:

1. That the trustees of Campbell College, Incorporated, be authorized to borrow up to $225,000 to be used all or in part for the construction of sixteen (16) three-bedroom apartments, as described and heretofore listed;

2. That the sum actually borrowed, together with the interest thereon, shall be repaid over a period not to exceed fifty years, said payments of principal and interest to be paid in annual installments;

3. That the proper officers of Campbell College, Incorporated, be and are hereby authorized and empowered to execute, or cause to be executed, in the name of Campbell College, Incorporated, and on its behalf, a mortgage upon the lands upon which these housing facilities are to be located, together with the approaches thereto, provided, however, that such mortgage shall not in any way encumber any other property owned by Campbell College, Incorporated;

4. That no part of any indebtedness which may be incurred by Campbell College, Incorporated, under the authority of this resolution shall in any respect be deemed or held to be the indebtedness or obligation of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention, nor shall the General Board of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention assume any responsibility whatever for the repayment of such loan or any interest thereon.

CHOWAN COLLEGE

Whereas, the Board of Trustees of Chowan College finds it advisable and necessary, in order for such institution better to carry on its work to serve a student body of approximately 1,200-1,500 students, to borrow the sum of ONE MILLION DOLLARS ($1,000,000.00) to be used for the purpose of constructing a new dormitory for men for said college, and,

Whereas, it is the opinion of the said Board of Trustees that it will have funds coming to it for capital purposes which will be sufficient to liquidate said loan over a period not in excess of 35 years.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Trustees of Chowan College:

1. That the proper officers of Chowan College are hereby authorized and instructed to borrow the sum of $1,000,000.00 for the purpose of enabling Chowan College to erect a new dormitory for approximately 300 men; that at the proper time for the closing of the loan, the proper officers of Chowan College, or its Board of Trustees, be and they are hereby authorized to execute a note or bond with interest and upon such terms as may be designated, secured by a first deed of trust or mortgage on the said dormitory for men and the lands upon which same is located.

2. That the sums actually borrowed, together with the interest thereon, shall be repaid over a period not in excess of 35 years, the payment of principal and interest to be made in annual, quarterly or monthly installments.

3. That the proper officers of Chowan College be and they are hereby authorized and empowered to execute, or cause to be executed, in the name of said college, a note or notes and/or bond or bonds evidencing an indebtedness incurred under the authority of this Resolution and also to execute or cause to be executed, in the name of said college, a mortgage or mortgages and/or deed of trust or deeds of trust upon the lands on which said new dormitory for men shall be erected, together with the approaches thereto, provided, however, that such mortgage or deed of trust shall not in any way encumber any other property owned by Chowan College.

4. That no part of the indebtedness which may be incurred by Chowan College under the authority of this Resolution shall in any respect be deemed or held to be an indebtedness or obligation of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, and neither the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina nor its General Board shall assume any responsibility whatever for the repayment of such loan or any interest thereon.

5. That the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina at its next regular session be requested to authorize Chowan College to borrow not in excess of the sum above mentioned upon the terms and for the purposes herein set out.

RESOLUTION FOR THE GENERAL BOARD OF THE BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION OF NORTH CAROLINA

In Re: Borrowing Money by Mars Hill College

Whereas, on December 7, 1965, the Board of Trustees of Mars Hill College approved a policy of long-term financing for capital improvements, with the first phase of this development being the Blackwell Administration - Classroom Building which will reasonably cost for construction, furnishings, and landscaping, the sum of two million dollars, and

Whereas, the Board of Trustees of Mars Hill College has devised a plan to borrow an amount of money not to exceed two million dollars at the lowest possible rate of interest to be repaid over a period of thirty years,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED BY THE GENERAL BOARD OF THE BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION OF NORTH CAROLINA in session in Raleigh, North Carolina, on the 17th day of January, 1967:

1. That the Board of Trustees of Mars Hill College be empowered to borrow an amount, the principal sum not to exceed two million dollars, this sum, together with interest, to be repaid over a period of thirty years.

2. That the college be authorized to execute in its name a note or notes evidencing the indebtedness authorized by this resolution.

3. That the indebtedness incurred by Mars Hill College by reason of this resolution shall not be deemed or held to be in any respect as an indebtedness or obligation of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

Adopted by the Board of Trustees in regular session in Mars Hill, North Carolina on the thirteenth day of December, 1966.

Resolution for The General Board of The Baptist State Convention of North Carolina

In Re: Borrowing by Meredith College

Whereas, on February 28, 1967 the Board of Trustees of Meredith College approved a policy of long-term financing for capital improvements, with the first phase of this program being an urgently needed library building which will cost for construction and furnishings approximately one million dollars, of which $750,000 is to be borrowed; a physical education facility costing $800,000; a student center building costing $800,000; and a dormitory costing $500,000, for which three facilities $1,200,000 is to be borrowed, making a composite total of $1,950,000; and

Whereas, the Board of Trustees of Meredith College has developed a plan to borrow this amount of money at the lowest possible rate of interest to be repaid over a period of from three to forty years.

Now therefore be it resolved by The General Board of The Baptist State Convention of North Carolina in session in Boiling Springs, North Carolina, on the 11th day of July, 1967, that we recommend to the Baptist State Convention in annual session in Asheville, November 14 and 15, 1967:

1. That the Board of Trustees of Meredith College be empowered to borrow an amount, the principal sum not to exceed one million nine hundred and fifty thousand dollars, this sum, together with interests, to be repaid over a period of from three to forty years.

2. That the college be authorized to execute in its name a note or notes evidencing the indebtedness authorized by this resolution.

3. That the indebtedness incurred by Meredith College by reason of this resolution shall not be deemed or held to be in any respect as an indebtedness or obligation of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

Adopted by the Board of Trustees in regular session in Raleigh, North Carolina on the 28th day of February 1967.

CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGES
(Correction from incorrect printing in Annual)

ARTICLE X. CONCERNING DEBTS

C.

Introduction was omitted in printing of 1966 Annual.

Should Read:

"All borrowing by the Convention for its own use, or for its institutions or agencies, or borrowings by any institution or agency of the Convention, the payment of which would require an extension of time beyond the close of the subsequent fiscal year, shall be authorized only on the following terms and condition:

ARTICLE X. CONCERNING DEBTS

C. (1) Same as printed.

ARTICLE X. CONCERNING DEBTS

C. (2) As published in 1965 and 1966 Annual:

Any and all resolutions which propose the borrowing of money shall set forth all pertinent facts and a definite schedule for repayment. They shall be considered by the Committee on Resolutions, or by a special committee, and shall be voted on by the Convention on two separate days while the Convention is in session; and on each day they must receive the votes of at least three-fifths of the messengers present when the vote is taken, and such vote shall be recorded in the minutes of the Convention.

C. (2) Should read as adopted in 1965:

Any and all resolutions which propose the borrowing of money shall set forth all pertinent facts and definite schedule for repayment. Such requests shall be sent to the Executive Committee or General Board by October 1 of each year for recommendation to the Convention. These recommendations shall be included in the General Board's report and subject to the rules concerning the adoption of this report.

(These changes were voted in 1965, but because of clerical error were not included in the 1966 Annual. This information may be found on page 173 of the 1965 Annual #77. Section C, as voted, is found on page 71 of the 1965 Annual.)

CONVENTION DEBT

The balance due on the debt of $400,000 incurred to purchase a site for a Student Center at the University of North Carolina and to construct Student Centers at North Carolina State University and at Western Carolina College, is now $255,000.

The loan was obtained from the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company at an interest rate of 5½ percent with payments scheduled quarterly as follows:

1967 (4th instalment)	$ 20,000
1968	105,000
1969	130,000	$255,000
First Baptist Church, Boone, N. C. (Leasehold Acquisition Costs Incurred for Student Center at Appalachian State University to be amortized by December 31, 1975)		$165,136
Total Indebtedness as of October 1, 1967		$420,136

III. PROGRAMS OF WORK

A. DIVISION OF BUSINESS MANAGEMENT (See page 437)

B. DIVISION OF MISSIONS

HOWARD J. FORD, Director

The past months have been months of adjustment, getting better acquainted with North Carolina Baptists, and sharing in work that is highly interesting. This first year of my work has been made easier because of the loyalty and help of a dedicated staff. The General Secretary of the Convention has given invaluable help to the division in helping us meet some of the problems and challenges that came our way.

The interrelatedness of all our mission work—associational, state, home and foreign—has been a main emphasis. We are attempting to build a total concept of the redemptive mission of the church. We accept the responsibility of being a part of this total mission.

The work of the Division of Missions is being planned and coordinated with this concept in mind. Various departments of the division and special ministries within the division will give account of their work in the following pages.

1. Schools of Missions

The Division of Missions has the responsibility of promoting Schools of Missions in the local associations. It is necessary to coordinate these Schools with the local association, the State Convention, the Home Mission Board, and the Foreign Mission Board. Dates for schools must be arranged many months ahead of the desired schedule. From October, 1966, through September, 1967, we have had seven weeks of Schools of Missions in the following six associations: Neuse, Anson, Rowan, West Chowan (two weeks), Yadkin and Haywood. There were 145 churches participating in these schools. 133 Missionaries (State, Home, and Foreign) were used; 322 mission classes were held; there was a total attendance of 68,872 and a daily average attendance of 10,963.

2. Associational Missions

Associational Missions is a basic part of our total mission program. We now have sixty-six associational missionaries in sixty-six associations. Several of these are on an interim or part-time basis, however. Fifty-three associations are working in a cooperative financial arrangement with the Convention. The Convention has invested approximately $68,000 in this area of work this year.

We have lost the following associational missionaries during the year: Lynn Powers, Ashe-Alleghany; Carl English, Cullom; Alvin Walker, South Fork; Robert Lathan, Tar River; Paul Breedlove, Tennessee River; and Claude H. Hamby, Union. We deeply regret this loss. It is good to have the following new missionaries: Burnt Swamp, Rev. Tony Brewington; Columbus, J. William Ross; Green River, I. V. Couch; Pee Dee, Hoyle Langford; Montgomery, Philip Hutchinson; New Found, Bill Gillespie; South Fork, James B. McQueere; Pilot Mountain, S. Lawrence Childs, Jr. (Associate); and Yadkin, J. C. Shore.

3. Church Loan Fund

The Convention has a small loan fund established for the benefit of small churches or missions that do not have the strength to obtain a commercial loan. Twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) was placed in the budget for this purpose this year.

4. Supt. of Area Mission's Report (North Dakota) Sept. 1, 1966-Aug. 31, 1967

Sept. 15 marks the end of five wonderful years in pioneer missions for Mrs. Lamm and me. In the spring of 1962 we were challenged by the Home Mission Board and the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina to plant our lives here in North Dakota to serve as Area Missionary. We accepted the challenge and came with much enthusiasm and anticipation knowing that it would not be an easy task. However, the victories won for Christ have been worth all the heartaches and difficulties we have encountered.

These five years have given us a new dimension in world missions. Our future ministry will be largely influenced by the experiences we have had here. Our attitudes and concepts concerning other religious and denominational groups have been altered quite a bit, and we feel that this has made us stronger in the faith. The various types of ministries promoted by the Home Mission Board and the Colorado Convention have helped us gain this new insight and dimension in missions.

The growth of our Southern Baptist Witness in North Dakota has not been all we wanted it to be, but it has been somewhat steady and encouraging. The needs are great and demands are being made which we cannot meet as yet, but hope is not gone either. We are often encouraged by those who write and tell us that they are praying for the work here, and sometimes a check or money order for the needs is enclosed. The Missions' Dept. of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina has given pastoral supplement to several of our pastors who could not have stayed otherwise. This too has been most encouraging.

Pastors and others who have come here to minister have encouraged the people to give to needs beyond our own borders when their salaries have not been adequate in many instances, and the response has been gratifying. We need to re-evaluate the salary situation in the light of rising living expenses and difficulty in getting pastors to come to this field.

Progress is slow and seems to be rather small, but take a look at the growth over the past five years. We have seen the work grow from 7 Churches to 12* and membership from nearly 800 to about 1,600. Cooperative Program giving has grown from $4,718.00 to more than $12,000.00 during this period. The total mission giving has increased from $8,157.00 to more than $21,000.00. We have two Church-type missions at present, and we look forward to starting two more in the near future. However, serious thought and study must be given to a couple of our Churches and the two missions we now have or growth and progress will be greatly retarded. Remember the saying: "Together we stand—Divided we fall."

The following activities reveal part of my ministry for the past year: I traveled 50,000 miles, served in two Schools of Missions, one week in Mississippi and two weeks in North Carolina, made 200 visits to Churches and missions, delivered 77 sermons and addresses, made 117 religious and soul-winning visits, assisted summer missionaries in surveying for new work, attended Colorado, North

* The Church at Hallock, Minn., affiliated with the Minn. Fellowship as of Sept. 1, thus leaving 11 Churches and 2 missions in North Dakota.

Carolina, and the Southern Baptist Conventions. I also attended and participated in Home Mission week at Ridgecrest, plus several other meetings in connection with my work as Supt. of Missions.

I regret to announce that my work in North Dakota will end as of Sept. 30, having resigned on August 29. We have given five of the best years of our ministry here, and had wanted to remain longer, but the Lord seems to have opened and shown us another door where we can continue our ministry for Him. We do not claim to have finished the tasks we undertook at the outset, but we have tried very hard to make our ministry worthwhile. We have made many friends here in this area who will always have a big place in our hearts.

We look for and pray for the time when the work of Southern Baptists will become self-supporting in North Dakota. We do covet your prayers for us and the new field of service in North Carolina to which we shall be going in a few days.

ALBERT S. LAMM

5. Institutional Ministries

a. McCAIN TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM

REV. C. R. EDWARDS, Baptist Visitor

There is a tendency on the part of the patients at McCain to feel that they are forsaken because many are many miles from home which makes it difficult for their families, friends and pastor to visit them. Thus, my ministry to them serves to give them a moral and spiritual uplift.

I visit them once and sometimes twice per week, spending as much time as I think necessary to fulfill my mission. My service with them consists of Bible reading, prayer and counsel as the occasion demands.

The patients, again, wish that I express to the Baptist State Convention their sincere appreciation for their love and concern.

a. PRISON UNIT—McCAIN SANATORIUM

MICHAEL T. RAY, Baptist Visitor

During the past year the number of tubercular patients have decreased and the facilities, once used for patients with tuberculosis only, are now being used for patients from over-crowded prison units throughout North Carolina.

Each Sunday morning there is Sunday School for all who can attend in a room set aside for that purpose. The Sunday School is taught by a layman from Aberdeen, N. C. This period of Bible Study is followed by a Worship Service conducted by your Baptist Visitor. Following the Worship Service he visits patients in the wards that are bed-ridden, often counselling with those who need the friendliness of someone he feels he can trust. It is the sharing of God's Love, through Jesus Christ, that several men have come to know and trust their lives to the Lord. Just recently two men have started studying a Bible Course and other men have indicated a desire to do so.

Have you ever witnessed to a man who has been behind prison bars for 25 years and hear him say, "Well, if Jesus Christ can forgive my sins and can make me into the kind of man God wants me to be, then I will believe and trust Him as my true Lord?" Do you believe this ministry is worthwhile? I do! Let's pray that God's Spirit will speak to the hearts of other men.

b. Odom Prison Farm

Dalphon J. Thompson, Visiting Representative

The nature of prison work is rapidly changing. In the first place the North Carolina prisons are no longer called prisons, but correctional institutions. The idea is to correct the inmates rather than merely punishing them. Secondly, Odom prison has changed from a "close security" prison to a correctional institution for youth offenders. Therefore, there will be a different type of person at Odom in the future. The change is taking place now. This will demand a different type of ministry. These young men will need help that will enable them to be capable of entering back into society soon. This will demand more from the spiritual area. We Baptists must meet their spiritual demands and never lose sight of the importance of the person.

There are approximately 300 inmates at Odom. Between ten and twenty voluntarily attend the weekly Sunday school service at 8:45 a.m. Hardly a Sunday goes by that an inmate does not want to talk about something that is bothering him. I am glad to serve here and this is a very important ministry. Baptists of North Carolina can be glad they have a part in this work with the inmates in our correctional institutions.

c. Samarcand Manor Industrial and Vocational School for Girls

Ernest Poston, Baptist Chaplain

Over three hundred teen-age girls now reside at Samarcand Manor. A Christian witness is provided for these girls through Sunday afternoon chapel services and through personal counseling and guidance by four chaplains.

Your Baptist chaplain leads the chapel service every third Sunday and one day a week is available to give spiritual counsel to those girls who request it. In the past year there have been a number of professions of faith in Christ and some of the girls have been baptized.

In recent months our associational missionaries throughout the state have been asked to help locate girls released from the school who have been baptized and to encourage them to unite by letter with a church in their home community.

Let us pray that our Christian witness may continue to share with these girls the knowledge of the forgiving love of our Lord and that many may be led to a personal commitment of their lives to Him.

d. LEONARD TRAINING SCHOOL

REV. RICHARD HOPKINS, Baptist Visitor and Counselor

How would you describe red to a person who was born blind? Many of the boys we work with come from backgrounds devoid of the experience of love. To say to one of these that somebody loves him is to speak to him in a foreign language. Your ministry here is to give the boys unconditional acceptance. This is so strange to some that it takes months of patient listening to allow the boy to learn, by trying, that someone cares just because he is there.

We sit in our comfortable middle class world and often find it difficult to imagine that there is such a spiritual desert in some of the "families" of our state.

The convention is to be congratulation for the concern it has shown for this problem.

"When I was in prison you visited me."

e. MORRISON TRAINING SCHOOL, HOFFMAN, N. C.

MICHAEL T. RAY, Baptist Chaplain

After the Morning Worship Service and the invitation had been given sixteen boys left the auditorium and gathered in a room set aside for counselling. Later another boy spoke to the Associate Superintendent of Morrison asking if he could speak with the chaplain. When asked "what is on your mind," the boy said, "Chaplain, I'm a Christian but my twin brother is not. I pray for him and try to show him what is right, but sometimes he does not listen. I've come to you to ask you to pray for him and to show him Jesus Christ."

How much concern do I have for my brother? How much concern do YOU have for your brother? And how much concern do we as Baptists have for the 360 boys at Morrison Training School? Some of you may say "These boys are not my concern . . . they are the responsibility of the State of North Carolina," but praise God, there are boys and staff members at Morrison who know that they are the concern of many Baptists of North Carolina who help support the Christian at the School. Throughout this year many boys at Morrison Training School have found the Friend and Saviour because of YOUR loving care and concern.

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

6. Report of the Department of Interracial Cooperation

CORBIN L. COOPER, Secretary

"I can never really begin to tell all that this summer has meant to me, for how can you communicate the joy you feel when you realize that you had a part in winning 41 boys and girls to Christ?

And how do you explain what it means when you find you love as brothers in Christ people you had always feared? Words fail me, but I will say this, I would not exchange this summer for anything in the world."

This is the final paragraph of a letter written by one of the first two white college students who have ever served for a summer in the Department of Interracial Cooperation. But the summer of 1967 also held other successful efforts such as 42 Vacation Bible Schools enrolling over 3,600 boys and girls. In the Asheville area there were seven standard schools held in our General Baptist churches.

Another new undertaking for 1967 was a series of four Human Relations Conferences held in May in Wilmington, Fayetteville, Rocky Mount, and Statesville. The enrollment and participation were encouraging.

Also, in May we regretted to receive the resignation of the Reverend James Barber, teacher-missionary in Fayetteville. Mr. Barber accepted the pastorate of two churches in Chadbourn and Whiteville.

The Department supported efforts to begin an annual week of interracial fellowship and Christian study in August at Chowan College. It, too, proved successful and will be repeated next year. A similar week of fellowship at Mars Hill College in July had the usual good results.

Again this year a goodly number of the General Baptist State Convention participated in the summer camps and assemblies operated by the Baptist State Convention. It is hoped that these facilities will be used increasingly in the future.

The convention year reached a climax in August as the General Baptist State Convention held its centennial celebration and voted unanimously to enter the Crusade of the Americas. The vote included the acceptance of an invitation for the two conventions to jointly plan and sponsor a conference on evangelism to be held in Greensboro in 1969.

The year has been most encouraging but concludes with much work yet to be done. It is our prayer that the dedicated Christians in our Baptist churches throughout North Carolina will continue to work tirelessly for the time when all of God's people might sit down together and plan and work to fulfill the purpose of God in the world.

The following statistical summary of the seven (7) full-time workers and twelve part-time employees reveals something of the nature and extent of the work done through the department.

Institutes 61; Enrollment 3,615; Ministers Enrolled 203
Extension Classes 40; Enrollment 1,635; Ministers Enrolled 123

7. Department of Deaf Missions

JERRY F. POTTER, Missionary
NEAL L. PEYTON, Associate

In terms of overall Southern Baptist History the work among the deaf is a comparatively recently opened field. Educators saw the needs of the deaf people in their field long before the churches realized that they also represented a mission field. The ministry of the Deaf Ministry Department can be considered a pioneer field even now. New methods and means are constantly being tried—some to become a part of the deaf ministry and some to be discarded.

For the first time in the history of the deaf work a complete manual is available detailing steps to be taken to start a ministry for the deaf in a local church. The manual is composed of methods that have been tried in many areas by many missionaries to the deaf. It will be very valuable to churches which now have a ministry to the deaf in evaluating and upgrading the present programs. It will be available to any church desiring it through the Department of Deaf Ministry.

The first annual Interpreter's Conference was held this year at Camp CaRAway. The purpose of this conference is to discuss problems peculiar to this type of work; discuss methods for improving the work, and to allow these "lay-missionaries" to get to know each other.

Sign language classes are still being taught in the Seminary at Wake Forest, over television, and in several churches. The television program for the deaf, "Light Unto My Path" is being shown on sixteen stations in eight states and these stations reach into a number of other states.

Both missionaries regularly visit two of the three schools for the deaf. Our summer camp for the deaf is especially designed to reach this age group.

In the main, the activities of your two missionaries to the deaf could be summed up under these headings: preaching, teaching, visiting, interpreting (revivals, special meetings, etc.), counselling, and training.

We are deeply indebted to the Baptists of N. C. for making this ministry possible.

8. City and Metropolitan Missions Department

ERNEST C. UPCHURCH, Secretary

The objective of the City and Metropolitan Missions Department is to work with and assist associations, churches and special committees and/or agencies or groups in studying mission opportunities, analyzing trends, developing growth studies, discovering new cooperative adventures and coordinating urban mission interest in these areas.

The department's work is divided into three programs, namely:

I. THE PROGRAM OF URBAN CHURCH AND ASSOCIATIONAL MISSIONS

This program is designed to minister to city and metropolitan areas:

City areas have been defined as places with a population of 2,500 and up.

Metropolitan areas have been defined as places of an integrated economic and social unit with a recognized large population nucleus. Metropolitan areas usually cover an entire county that has a "parent-city" with a 50,000 population.

Illustration — Raleigh is a parent-city with 50,000+ population. Hence, Raleigh plus Wake County form a metropolitan area.

The following counties, at the time of this writing, are located in metropolitan districts: Alamance, Buncombe, Cabarrus, Cumberland, Davidson, Durham, Forsyth, Gaston, Guilford, Mecklenburg, New Hanover, Orange, Onslow and several borderline counties that space prohibits naming now.

The program of general urban ministries consists of:

—Research and study to determine mission needs and seeking ways and means of meeting these needs.

Church extension ministries have been utilized by 29 associations and 84 churches during this year. Our convention's Mission Committee of the General Board has approved $51,948 for pastoral salary assistance. Another $26,400 was approved for the purchase of lots for new churches, relocation of churches and expansion of church work. Many of these new missions and churches have been assisted by the secretary in providing suggested techniques and procedures in the development of their work.

Institutional ministries in urban areas are evaluated and ways and means are sought for providing a spiritual ministry in cooperation with the institution.

II. THE PROGRAM OF CHRISTIAN SOCIAL MINISTRIES

This program is not limited to city and metropolitan geographical areas but is on a state-wide basis as need arises. The ministries in this program are as follows:

The Baptist Center ministry which include:

a. Mission Centers
b. Good Will Centers
c. Week-day activities
d. Rescue Missions
e. Foster Homes for care of the needy.

The City and Metropolitan Missions Department cooperates with the Christian Social Ministries Department of the Home Mission Board and the association in providing two cooperative ministries of this nature in our state, namely:

The Patterson Avenue Mission Center, Winston-Salem, North Carolina. This center is a cooperative endeavor of this department, the Home Mission Board, the Pilot Mountain Baptist Association and the First Baptist Church, of Winston-Salem. The week-day director's position is vacant at this writing. The center has a pastor, separately supported, in addition to the week-day program. Also, this center has been the base of operation of a student project of community ministry in cooperation with the Wake Forest University student director.

The Dan Valley Baptist Center, Eden, North Carolina, is a cooperative ministry of the state and Home Mission Board and the Dan Valley Association. The Reverend and Mrs. Marvin Southard are directors of the center. Mr. Southard is the pastor and coordinator of the work. Mrs. Southard is the director of the week-day activities of the center. The center has had one of its most progressive years of work under the leadership of this dedicated and competent couple.

The ministry of Juvenile Rehabilitation is designed to stimulate concern for youth and families to the end that the associations and churches will provide appropriate ministries for them, such as:

1. Create an awareness of youth and family needs.
2. Enlist church-community action and sponsorship of youth.
3. Cooperate with community agencies for youth development.

Referrals for this work may come from the courts, schools, police, home or some other agency in the community. If the youth is in need of a sponsor, his case is carefully studied and a sponsor is selected preferably from the church nearest the home of the youth. A redemptive relationship is established with the youth. At the same time the sponsor may also minister to the needs of his family.

The state and Home Mission Board in cooperation with the Pilot Mountain Association and the School of Pastoral Care of the Baptist Hospital sponsors an associational Juvenile Rehabilitation project in Winston-Salem. The Reverend Maurice Briggs is serving as the associational director of this ministry. During the past year Mr. Briggs assisted 47 boys and girls in this area. Also he has spoken in many churches and sought to train many volunteers in the work. Mr. Briggs has given competent and dedicated leadership to this ministry.

The department has sought to render a follow-up ministry on releases from youth correctional centers by notifying associational missionaries and pastors of the areas of the release of these people. It has been requested that these local people follow up this information with a personal visit and enlistment. Many have reportedly responded to these requests.

The department's ministry of adult rehabilitation is designed to stimulate concern and provide help for adults, such as:

1. Alcoholics
2. Drug Addicts
3. Ex-prisoners and their families

The department's ministry in literacy is designed to lead churches and/or associations to provide adult education. This ministry is promoted in cooperation with the Home Mission Board's guidelines. Its primary objective is Christian adult education.

The migrant ministry seeks to lead churches and/or associations to sponsor:

1. Special group ministries
2. Migrant ministries such as week-day and Sunday programs.
3. Human welfare when needed.

Approximately 20,000 farm labor migrants passed through North Carolina during 1966. The greater number of these were in sections east of Raleigh, however, there was a great concentration in the northern and western counties of the state. Many of our associations and churches are finding great opportunities to render a Christian service ministry to these people. In turn these migrants have greater appreciation for the churches and its people.

The department also co-ordinates relief programs as deemed necessary by the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina if and when the need arises in our state.

Our most successful state-wide Christian Social Ministries conference this year was held at Durham. This conference was co-operatively supported by the Christian Social Ministries Department of the Home Mission Board.

III. The Program of Work Related to Non-Evangelicals.

This phase of our work is not limited by geographical areas. The promotion is to be state-wide in churches and/or associations. These ministries are directed toward people of the non-Christian world religions and to all non-evangelicals. Our state has approximately 8,600 Jews and 55,000 Catholics in our midst plus numerous other non-evangelical groups. The ministry provides:

a. Study and research on non-evangelicals.
b. Gather basic information needed in designing programs for use by churches and/or associations.
c. Develop suggested techniques for use by church and/or associations in work related to non-evangelicals.
d. Provide information for churches and/or associations on non-evangelicals through such materials as tracts, pamphlets, publications, news releases, direct mail, etc.
e. Provide conferences, clinics, workshops, seminars and long range planning projects.

A state-wide conference in cooperation with Southeastern Seminary and the Home Mission Board is planned at the Seminary in Wake Forest for November 6-8, 1967.

The department secretary acknowledges with grateful appreciation to Dr. W. Perry Crouch, General-Secretary-Treasurer and Dr. Howard Ford, Director of the Division of Missions for the privilege of participating in the month long study in the Seminar on Urban Studies, June 12 through July 7, 1967, in Washington, D. C. The secretary also expresses thanks for the privilege of being a part of the program personnel of the Religious Liberty Conference on Church and State in Human Welfare, Washington, D. C., October 4-6, 1967.

The field staff members of the department have done exceptionally well in their work this year. Thanks to each of you for a job well done. Especially do I thank the office secretary, Mrs. Dora Pasour, for her faithful services.

We convey our thanks to the Baptists of North Carolina for the privilege of serving in the City and Metropolitan Missions Department. To God be the glory for the work done in 1966-67.

9. Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute

E. GARY HARTHCOCK, Director
ALEX L. BOOTH, JR., Dean

Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute is indebted to God through many people for the blessings that have come during the period since our last State Convention. This report is essentially the recounting of these God-given blessings.

On April 21, 1967, this three-year school for Adult Christian Education completed its twenty-first school year as it graduated thirty-five seniors. Dr. Carl Bates, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Charlotte, North Carolina, delivered the Baccalaureate Sermon at an impressive graduation service held in the beautiful sanctuary of First Baptist Church, Hendersonville. This service marked a significant first. The first two Negroes to graduate from Fruitland received their diplomas. Dr. O. L. Sherril, Secretary of the General Baptist Convention of North Carolina, was on hand to present diplomas to the Rev. W. M. Adams of Winston-Salem and the Rev. H. L. Ferguson of Asheville.

Due to countless hardships among the students, the enrolment during any one week of school is subject to variation. On the average, one hundred fifty students are enrolled, more than half of whom commute daily from their homes, the others living in the dormitory. The school operated last year on a semester basis with two sixteen-week semesters. This year, 1967-68, the school shifted to the quarter system with three twelve-week quarters in the school year, leaving one quarter for the summer camp program. For a diploma, the curriculum consists of six two-hour courses for eight quarters, a total of ninety-six quarter hours.

We have been particularly pleased with the caliber of teachers that have committed themselves to teaching in the Institute. There are twelve faculty members, each well qualified in his field. A great number of inquiries and applications are being received from still other well-qualified persons who are interested in teaching at Fruitland.

Physical improvements continue to be made. As the limited funds permit, the dormitory rooms and class rooms are being upgraded with better lighting, better teaching facilities and a more attractive appearance. The long-needed administration building is coming closer to reality through the generous giving of North Carolina Baptists. This building will contain, in addition to administrative offices, an adequate library, conference rooms, Book Store, student lounge, and a sundries store.

In a ministry of the type at Fruitland the student himself is the focal point in interest as well as plans. In closing this report, we should acquaint the reader with a few brief facts about the students.

1. The average age is 33. There is a steady flow of young men as well as older men who find college doors closed to them. Of course, those who are able, young and old, are encouraged to go on to higher education.

2. The strain of working on a forty-hour-per-week job and attending Fruitland at the same time is a telling factor on many of our students. The curriculum has been revised to enable students who take a partial load of class hours, to enter school at the beginning of any quarter, or otherwise to work at a speed in accordance with their physical limitations.

3. Effort is constantly being made to magnify the God-given call to these men for a ministry in the context of their ability.

10. Town and Country and Seminary Extension Department

ROY J. SMITH, Secretary

The Town and Country and Seminary Extension Department was created by action of the General Board to begin January 1, 1967. This department works with churches in rural areas and towns with population up to 2,500. State wide ministries include Weeks of Study and Fellowship, Mountain and Resort Missions, and the promotion of Seminary Extension.

The Rural-Urban Department of the Home Mission Board and the Seminary Extension Department of the Southern Baptist Convention participate in the ministry of this department.

Mrs. Nan Jones, formerly employed by Wake County Hospital System, came as office secretary January 1, 1967.

SEMINARY EXTENSION

Nine hundred thirty-nine students were enrolled in 50 Seminary Extension Centers in 1967. Centers in 57 Associations are organized for the coming year.

Seminary Extension is designed for pastors, church leaders, and church members who are interested in enriching their spiritual lives through the discipline of in depth study and training.

Financial assistance in the form of scholarships and teachers' honoraria are provided where needed.

PASTORAL AID—LOT AID

Forty-eight churches and missions in 28 Associations received pastoral aid during 1967. Sixteen of these mission pastors are students and eight are serving fields of two or more churches. One pastor in the Chowan Association serves a field of five churches.

Ten churches in nine Associations received aid on the purchase of church lots. These mission grants ranged from $600.00 to $2,500.00.

In the allocation of pastoral aid and lot aid, priority is given to churches joining together in a field of work, student pastors, and churches with unusual missionary opportunities.

WEEKS OF CHRISTIAN STUDY AND FELLOWSHIP

The annual Week of Christian Study and Fellowship at Mars Hill College had an enrollment of 515 ministers, wives, and children. For the first time in recent years a similar week was scheduled for Chowan College. One hundred thirty people were in attendance.

These weeks make it possible for pastors and their families to come aside for spiritual, intellectual, and physical renewal. A balanced program of worship, study, and recreation is provided for ministers, their wives, and children, Nursery through Junior age.

Meals are the only cost to those attending. The College and the Baptist State Convention provide lodging facilities and the program.

RESORT MISSIONS

The Baptist State Convention participated in three Resort Mission ministries this year.

1. Kitty Hawk — This is a co-operative ministry jointly sponsored by the Baptist State Convention, the Chowan Baptist Association, and the Dare County Ministerial Association. Reverend J. W. Costner, Rutherfordton, served as Chapel minister during the summer. Seven hundred seventy-five people from 15 states attended the Chapel Sunday School and worship services.

Four nights each week worship services, utilizing Christian films, were conducted on the beach. Engaged in these services were 2,805 persons.

2. Lake Norman — Reverend Arthur Herron served as summer missionary at Lake Norman. His major responsibility was an intensive survey to determine needs and possible approaches toward a resort ministry. The four Associations involved in the Lake Norman area are projecting plans for a resort ministry in co-operation with the Baptist State Convention.

3. Atlantic Beach — A preliminary survey conducted this summer revealed nine campsites and trailer parks with no Christian ministry. The Baptist State Convention, the Atlantic Baptist Association, the First Baptist Church, Swansboro, and the First Baptist Church, Morehead City are developing a comprehensive ministry for this area.

Plans for the next year include ministries at Ocean Isle, Holdens

Beach, state and national parks, and a specialized ministry to the students employed in these areas.

TRUETT CAMP

The 1967 season was one of expansion and growth for the George W. Truett Memorial Camp. Improved facilities, a more comprehensive program, and an expanded staff under the leadership of Reverend Walter Middleton, Camp Director, resulted in a greatly increased attendance.

The Camp Committee borrowed $1,000.00 with a similar amount given on a matching basis by the Baptist State Convention. These funds were used to provide expanded and improved physical facilities. This work was directed by the Building and Grounds Committee, Reverend Robert L. Clegg, Chairman, and included: a ball field, a nine-hole carpet golf course, ping pong tables, shuffleboards, basketball court, volley ball, badminton, and the grading and graveling of the road leading to the camp. A mission minded group of young people from the University Baptist Church, Chapel Hill, spent a week working at the camp.

The Truett Camp Committee is asking all churches in Region 10 to contribute at least $35.00 annually for a period of four years to be used for the improvement of facilities and grounds. A long range plan of development is being prepared by the Truett Camp Committee in co-operation with the Baptist State Convention.

Attendance at Truett Camp this year included 223 campers during RA and GA Weeks, 62 Sunbeams at Day Camp, and 72 young people for week-end retreats. There were 36 professions of faith and 20 church related vocational commitments.

The Home Mission Board provided Home Missionaries for each week of camp and the State Brotherhood Department provided counselors for the RA Weeks.

11. Cherokee Indian Ministry

LARRY BRYSON (Former Director)

The Cherokee Indian Ministry is a cooperative ministry of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina and the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. Our ministry at Cherokee has enjoyed continued growth in its relationship with the Indian churches and we are very happy that all of the churches have shown new interest and growth.

The most pressing need in our seventeen Indian churches at the present is qualified men to serve as pastors. For the first time in many years there are not enough Indian pastors to serve the churches; however, one can be pleased with the excellent leadership given to the churches by the laymen. This pastor situation needs to be a matter of prayer and concern for all of us.

The Child Care Program continues to meet a most pressing need. Miss Ione Johns, Director since August 1, is giving to the program progressive leadership. A very bright future is expected under her capable leadership.

There are days ahead in which we need to evaluate our program. With the opening of another Child Care Center by the Community Action Program, and with the opening of a nine-month kindergarten program in the schools, a new evaluation is needed. Children receive Christian guidance and love in our Center that would never be offered them anywhere else. Pray for Miss Johns and her Child Care staff.

12. Military Ministries

J. NED BEATTY, Secretary

The Military Ministries is a ministry of the Division of Missions, Baptist State Convention of North Carolina and the Chaplains' Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention's Home Mission Board. The work is closely coordinated with the Military Chaplaincy, Superintendents of Missions of the local associations, and the local churches and Pastors as we seek together to provide a more effective ministry to the military and their dependents. This ministry, therefore, includes a great variety of services to be rendered and activities in which to be engaged.

Among the military dependents are many wives of distant lands who have brought with them foreign backgrounds and religions. One of these which we often encounter is the modern Buddhist movement, Sokagakkai. Last fall, we made a rather intensive study of this movement in North Carolina and presented programs in our churches concerning this and the Japanese ministry in which we are engaged.

A real highlight of the year's activities was our Statewide Japanese Fellowship which was held on February 17 at the Brookwood Church in Jacksonville. Some 150 Japanese wives, their husbands and children along with workers and invited guests attended from the Fayetteville-Fort Bragg area, the Havelock-Cherry Point area, and the Jacksonville-Camp Lejeune area. Reverend Worth Grant, missionary to Japan, was our guest speaker.

During the year, our Japanese ministry has been expanded by beginning new classes at the Midville Church, Jacksonville and the First Baptist Church, Havelock.

A Language Missions Conference was held on August 31, 1967 in Fayetteville. Each of the four associations in military areas of the state was well represented along with Dr. Howard Ford, our Division Director and Dr. L. D. Wood of the Home Mission Board's Language Missions Department. Here, we shared together our common interest in this phase of our ministry, ideas and programs which have been helpful, and suggestions for the future that we believe was beneficial to each person present and I trust to the winning of many foreign-born military wives, husbands, and children.

In January, 1967 the First Baptist Church of Bladenboro, the Reverend Thomas C. Womble, Pastor, presented to the Baptist State Convention a 12' by 57' relocatable chapel to be used in military ministries. The chapel was custom built, furnished, and set up in the Pelletier Mobile Home Park, Jacksonville, North Carolina. The ministry was begun there on May 14 with formal dedicatory services being held on June 25, 1967. The dedicatory message was brought by the Reverend Gilmer Cross, President of the Convention's General Board and Pastor of the First Baptist Church, Goldsboro. Special guests included Dr. Willis A. Brown, Associate Director, Military Ministries, Division of Chaplaincy, Home Mission Board; Major General and Mrs. J. O. Butcher, Commanding General Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune; Colonel and Mrs. James T. McDaniel, Commanding Officer Marine Corps Air Facility, New River; Reverend Thomas C. Womble and members of the First Baptist Church, Bladenboro; military Chaplains and local Pastors. During the summer months, a vigorous program of week-day activities was also provided with summer workers, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry McDaniel, being provided by the Convention.

It was our joy and privilege to have Dr. Howard Ford, our new Director, Division of Missions to visit with us in each of our four major military areas during the month of February. We held conferences in each area with the Chaplains and Pastors and called on the Commanding General at Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point and the Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune.

During the past year, a ministry to the Coast Guardsmen at Fort Macon was begun, with services being held by the Reverend Jack Weaver, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, Morehead City.

In the military areas of North Carolina, we find a ripe mission field. As we have ministered in our churches this year, the Lord has blessed our labors with 81 professions of faith and 58 additions to the churches by letter. God is not only sending us out to the peoples of the world but through the military, He brings the peoples of the world to us. We are grateful to North Carolina Baptists for the opportunity of ministering to these persons in the name of our Lord.

C. DIVISION OF EVANGELISM

JULIAN S. HOPKINS, Director
WILLIAM C. LAMB, Associate

During the past year the emphasis of the Division of Evangelism has involved associational clinics and conferences, the State-wide Conference on Evangelism, and plans relative to the Crusade of the Americas. Even though the Southern Baptist Convention had a slight loss in number of baptisms, it is encouraging to point out that North Carolina had a net gain in number of baptisms with a total of 27,815 persons reached.

SOUL-WINNING COMMITMENT DAY

Much ground work has been done in 1967 for Soul-Winning Commitment Day in January of 1968. This will be the first major event in the activities of the Crusade of the Americas which is scheduled to begin January 1, 1968.

An effort has been made to challenge every church to make a most serious and prayerful effort to get at least ten percent of the resident church members committed and trained for personal witnessing, making regular and direct approaches to unsaved people. The workers in the Division of Evangelism believe the churches must experience a real break-through in personal witnessing if we move with God in the Crusade.

STATE-WIDE CONFERENCE ON EVANGELISM

"Truth—To Set Men Free" was the theme of the State-wide Conference on Evangelism which convened in War Memorial Auditorium, Greensboro, February 6-8, 1967. Another record in attendance was set with 2,166 registered persons plus several hundred visitors for the evening sessions. An all night prayer meeting was held in the chapel of Immanuel Church and prayer periods were designated for each association. The response was excellent. It was evident that the Holy Spirit worked through the speakers to stir the hearts and minds of pastors and laymen to a deeper commitment to Christ. It has been reported that some churches experienced a genuine revival because of the renewed spirit of their pastors.

The speakers for this Conference were:

Allison, Gray — Associate Director, Division of Evangelism, Home Mission Board, Atlanta, Georgia
Bates, Carl E.—President, Baptist State Convention; Pastor, First Baptist Church, Charlotte
Havner, Vance—Evangelist, Greensboro
Lopes, Rubens—President, Brazilian Baptist Convention, Brazil
McClain, Joseph T.—Pastor, First Baptist Church, Shelby
Nelson, Stanley A.—Pastor, Ridge Road Baptist Church, Raleigh
Olford, Stephen F.—Pastor, Calvary Baptist Church, New York City
Owens, M. O.—Pastor, Parkwood Baptist Church, Gastonia
Peacock, H. Earl—Missionary to Brazil, Interpreter
Reeves, Harold P.—Regional Representative, Radio and Television Commission to Asia, Fort Worth, Texas

WORLD CONGRESS ON EVANGELISM

At the invitation of Dr. Billy Graham and Dr. Carl Henry and with the approval of Dr. Perry Crouch and the Executive Committee, Rev. William C. Lamb, Associate Director of the Division of Evangelism, attended the World Congress on Evangelism in West Berlin, Germany, on October 24-November 4, 1966. This World Congress was the most cosmopolitan conference on evangelism that has ever convened with 1,270 representatives from all denominations of 100 nations of the world. At this congress there was a tremendous depth of spiritual unity and genuine fellowship manifested among Christians from around the whole world.

Even though there were different concepts of specific facets of theology among the delegates, there was general agreement that all unsaved individuals need to have a real encounter with the living God through a personal experience of genuine faith in Jesus Christ and become disciplined servants possessing a willingness to do God's will through His church.

During the days of the congress the population of the world had a net gain of 1,764,216 persons. In the light of these figures all Christian groups recognized the imperative need of sharing their methods of evangelism in order that a more effective work in total evangelism might be accomplished throughout the world.

Associational Clinics

Evangelism clinics were conducted in most of the associations in early spring or fall of 1967. The Chairmen of Evangelism and the Superintendents of Missions shared in the planning and promotion of these clinics. The Director and Associate Director of the Division of Evangelism assisted in as many clinics as possible. During the next few months it is hoped that detailed plans of the Crusade of the Americas will be shared in every association.

Crusade of the Americas

The Crusade of the Americas is a Christian movement of God involving a joint effort of Baptist bodies in North, South, and Central America. The primary emphasis is upon the local church. God's will in this challenging opportunity was not made known first of all to or through any of the great Baptist bodies in North America. The idea was born in the mission fields of South America where the Baptists are experiencing a great revival. Dr. Rubens Lopes of Brazil made the first public proposal for a Crusade of the Americas at the meeting of the Baptist World Alliance in Miami in 1965. Also, the challenge was brought to Southern Baptists at the Convention in Dallas in 1965 where it was enthusiastically received. The following Baptist bodies across the Western Hemisphere have since responded to the challenge so that now 20 million Baptists are in the movement: Baptist General Conference, General Association of General Baptists, National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc., North American Baptist General Conference, and Seventh-day Baptist General Conference. Other groups of Baptists are interested but have not voted as yet to participate.

At the State-wide Conference on Evangelism, February 1967, over 2,000 pastors and laymen gathered in Greensboro for three days in an intense spirit of prayer and seeking to know God's will. Dr. Lopes challenged the group with the open door of opportunity God has offered in the Crusade. Following the Conference, interest in the Crusade of the Americas in North Carolina rapidly began to increase.

Soon after the Conference in Greensboro, Dr. W. Perry Crouch, General Secretary-Treasurer of the Baptist State Convention, led in getting the Committee of 27 authorized by the Executive Committee of the General Board. The function of the Committee is to study prayerfully the needs in North Carolina and to suggest objectives and plans for the Crusade to the Convention in Asheville this year. The Committee is also to suggest ways and means for getting all agencies of the Convention involved in helping the churches in the Crusade. Dr. Carl Bates, President of the Convention, appointed the Committee of 27 consisting of nine lay-people, nine pastors, and nine Convention staff.

The Committee of 27 has prepared a booklet of guidelines for the churches which will be submitted for approval by the Baptist State Convention on November 15, 1967. The Crusade of the Americas in North Carolina will involve a three year emphasis — 1968-1970. The Division of Evangelism in co-operation with other Convention Departments and Divisions and all S. B. C. agencies will lead in the promotion of the Crusade.

The purpose of the Crusade of the Americas in North Carolina is threefold:

1. To challenge every Christian to review and renew his commitment to Jesus Christ in the light of the Scriptures and to pray for a true revival.
2. To confront non-Christians with the truth of the gospel of Christ so that they can come into the fellowship and service of God.
3. To begin a special and serious effort to help every church member continue in spiritual growth and in involvement in the total Christian life.

FIVE YEAR SPIRITUAL GROWTH . . . A CONTINUING EMPHASIS

WILLIAM C. LAMB, Director

Churches are continuing to request Spiritual Growth materials. Since there are no time limits, churches may begin to participate in the Spiritual Growth emphasis at any time. Free literature is now available from the Baptist State Convention.

The Five Year Spiritual Growth is not in conflict or in competition with any other Southern Baptist Convention plan or program. After studying carefully the local church needs, the church leaders will determine church-wide goals or objectives in certain areas. Each church can decide on as few or as many church-wide goals as it desires and then can choose to use any Southern Baptist Convention correlated plan or program which will be the most effective in helping to reach a particular goal for a specific year in the light of a local church need. The three year emphasis of the Crusade of the Americas is interwoven with the concept of the Spiritual Growth program because it involves objectives in evangelism, stewardship, and missions.

The Five Year Spiritual Growth is not just another program, but it is an emphasis on long-range planning involving a projection of church-wide objectives in certain areas of church work for specific years. It is a correlated emphasis including all church members, organizations, committees, and activities of a Baptist church. A church-wide objective should never become an end in itself, but rather should always be a means toward the ultimate objective of a genuine New Testament church. The primary motivation of all church work involving objectives must be Christ-like love.

Consider these three meaningful challenges offered by the Spiritual Growth emphasis: (1) Magnify the church as a whole and not any program or organization solely or exclusively. (2) Place proper emphasis upon meeting the spiritual needs of the individual Christian rather than trying to fit every Christian into an organizational mold, pattern, or routine. To accomplish this, we must teach and preach that the will of God is never static, stagnant, or the same for any individual Christian or for any church over the years. (3) In each area of church work for the Lord, accept the constant challenge to create new, workable methods under the guidance of the Holy Spirit that will be relevant and beneficial to North Carolina Baptists and Southern Baptists.

The Church Program Guidebook, the long-range planning seminars sponsored by the Church Administration Department of the Sunday School Board, and the newly created position of coordinator of cooperative promotion planning in the Education Division of the Sunday School Board enhance the fact that the concept of the Five Year Spiritual Growth will be a continuing emphasis.

D. DIVISION OF CHURCH PROGRAMS

NATHAN C. BROOKS, JR., Director

Major Personnel Changes have occurred. Rev. Sam O'Neal, an Associate, became the Training Union Director in January. Dr. Herman Ihley, Sunday School Secretary, resigned effective at the end of February to head the Department of Interracial Cooperation in Kentucky. Dr. Claude White, an Associate in the Sunday School Department in Virginia, became the new Sunday School leader on June fifteenth. Rev. Bill Jackson, an Associate in the Brotherhood Department, has been named by the Executive Committee to serve as Director of the Department of Camps and Retreats, effective January 1, 1968. Mrs. Mildred Vick became "the pool secretary" in the Division, October first. Her services will be available on an assigned basis to different Departments within the Division. Other changes are reflected in the reports of the Department Directors.

Identification of the Different Programs assigned to the Division indicates a responsibility for the following: Sunday School Promotion, Vacation Bible School Promotion, Weekday Bible Study Promotion, Training Union Promotion, Brotherhood Promotion, Woman's Missionary Union Cooperation, Church Music Promotion, Student Work, Audio-visual Education Service, Church Administration Service, Family Ministry, Church Building Planning, Church Library Service, Church Recreation Service, Statistics and Survey, Vocational Guidance, Mentally Retarded Ministry, Assembly Operation, and Camps and Retreats.

Ten Departments of Work channel the services of the employed personnel to local church, associational and institutional ministries. The departments are: Sunday School, Training Union, Brotherhood, Woman's Missionary Union, Church Music, Church Planning, Statistics and Survey, Student, Camps and Retreats, and the North Carolina Baptist Assembly.

Monthly Staff Meetings of personnel in the Division are held during the first week of each month. While much remains to be accomplished, these meetings have resulted in improved coordination and correlation of the work. An indication of the "team spirit" being developed may be found in the request to the Convention that Woman's Missionary Union be authorized to build a camp on a portion of the CaRAway property, and in the inclusion of the report of this auxiliary to the Convention along with the other reports of the Departments in the Division.

Evaluation, Experimentation and Personnel Development continue to be major emphases of the Division.

Two Building Programs have been underway that have had attention from the Division Director: The Student Center at Greenville, and the Auditorium at the North Carolina Baptist Assembly. The dedication of the Auditorium is scheduled for 11:00 a.m., July 17, 1968, during the second Training Union Week there.

A Look at the Future brings dreams of improved physical facilities at Fruitland Baptist Camp and at Camp CaRAway. An abbreviated golf course and a swimming pool will enable the North Carolina Baptist Assembly to prove more meaningful.

The Objective of the Division is to assist individuals, churches, associations and institutions in their effort to bring God and man together through Jesus Christ.

The Departments in this Division report as follows:

1. Sunday School Department

CLAUDE W. WHITE, Secretary

The resignation of Dr. Herman Ihley as Secretary of the Sunday School Department became effective on March 1, 1967. The new Secretary assumed the position on June 15, 1967. Consequently, the activities of the department presented here do not give a complete picture. However, this report will reflect the major emphases of the year.

PERSONNEL

The Department staff presently consists of Claude W. White, Secretary, and two associates, Mrs. Myra S. Motley and Miss Hilda Mayo. Mrs. Motley leads in the work of the Vacation Bible School and is the consultant in Junior and Intermediate work and Weekday Bible Study. Miss Mayo is consultant in Elementary work, Church Library and in the ministry to the mentally retarded. Mrs. Charles Chason is the office secretary and Miss Pat Moore the assistant office secretary.

The ministry of the department is greatly enlarged by the help of 20 qualified special workers as follows: Extension: Mrs. R. E. Agnew, Mrs. C. R. Hinton; Cradle Roll: Mrs. Claude W. White; Nursery: Mrs. John Moore, Mrs. J. C. Price, Mrs. William Spradlin, Mrs. Harold Strickland, Mrs. Harold West; Beginner: Mrs. Oliver Davis, Mrs. O. J. Hagler, Mrs. John Privott, Mrs. Lester White; Primary: Mrs. Jack Clark, Mrs. J. H. Mauney, Mrs. E. L. Spivey; Junior: Mrs. Dan Bates, Mrs. John Glenn; Intermediate: Mrs. E. W. Holmes, Mrs. H. Phillip King, Mrs. E. S. Morgan.

Activities of the Department

The Sunday School Department is committed to helping the churches of North Carolina to fulfill their mission as New Testament churches. The assigned tasks are: teach the Biblical revelation, lead in reaching all prospects for the church, and lead all church members to worship, witness, learn and minister daily. The entire staff of the State Sunday School Department is dedicated to these tasks.

In its effort to fulfill the responsibility delegated to it, the Sunday School Department works with the association in planning and conducting director-led and pastor-led enlargement campaigns, central training schools, Bible teaching clinics, age group workshops and clinics and Vacation Bible School clinics. Help is also provided for the local church when possible and practical. This help is most often given through age group clinics, particularly as an aid to the church upon entering a new building or when the organization is enlarged. Assistance is also provided in the form of church library conferences, kindergarten workshops and a limited number of teaching improvement clinics.

The activities of the staff of the department may be reflected in this partial listing of projects sponsored during the year 1966-67:

1 Bible Conference Week, North Carolina Baptist Assembly, Southport
1 State-wide Bible Teaching Clinic, Charlotte
1 State Vacation Bible School Clinic
1 State Church Library Convention
1 Training Clinic for Summer Vacation Bible School Workers
4 Associational Director-led Enlargement Campaigns

1 Associational Pastor-led Enlargement Campaign
5 Associational meetings in preparation for enlargement campaigns to be held during 1967-68
8 Area-wide Associational Officers' Training Clinics
5 Spiritual Growth Workshops
3 Associational Central Training Schools
6 Associational Age Group Workshops
2 Associational Visitation Clinics
2 Associational Kindergarten Conferences
1 Associational Elementary Workshop
1 Associational Church Library Workshop
28 Associational Vacation Bible School Clinics
2 Negro Vacation Bible School Clinics
1 Vacation Bible School conference for student body at Fruitland

In addition to these activities through the association and state, the department assisted in enlargement or teaching improvement projects in 10 local churches. Elementary conferences were held in 10 churches and kindergarten conferences were held in 3 churches.

Staff members have attended seminars at the Sunday School Board in Nashville for associational workers, workers with the mentally retarded, workers with youth, and kindergarten workers. The staff was represented at the two Sunday School leadership weeks and the Church Library Conference at Ridgecrest, and the associational missionaries' conference at Fruitland.

The numerous personal conferences, telephone consultations and other assistance cannot be included in a written report.

The Vacation Bible School is a part of the ministry of the Sunday School. During the past year statistics were gathered to show 3,136 schools. Of this number 2,931 were church schools; 177 mission; and 88 Negro schools. Enrolment figures show 301,684; professions of faith 5,760; and mission offerings of $60,624.

The State Clinic for the purpose of training associational leadership was held at Wingate College January 9-11, 1967. Sixty-seven associations plus three from the General Convention, were represented by 348 persons. Dual conferences were offered for the second year. Sibley C. Burnett, of the Sunday School Board, along with Miss Neta Stewart, Miss Elsie Rives, and Mr. Glynn Hill joined the N. C. Sunday School Department staff in conducting the conferences. Other leaders were: Dr. J. Ivyloy Bishop, Plainview, Texas; W. J. Cox, Dallas, Texas; Mrs. J. H. Mauney, Wilmington; Miss Shirley Robertson, Richmond, Virginia; Mrs. J. D. Sapp, Oklahoma; Mrs. Alvis Strickland, Donelson, Tennessee; Mrs. Lester D. White, Gastonia; Mr. Charles Gatwood, Raleigh; Mr. Ray Childers, Brevard; Mr. Corbin Cooper, Raleigh and Dr. Nathan C. Brooks, Jr., Raleigh.

The Sunday School Department assisted 16 associations in providing summer student workers during June, July and August. These 22 workers were trained at Gardner-Webb College along with others working with the Department of Interracial Work. Dr.

Julian Pipkin, Atlanta, Georgia, assisted the Department with the training session. The 22 workers served in 121 churches.

The State Clinic for 1968 is scheduled for the dates of January 8-10 at Wingate College.

LOOKING AHEAD TO 1967-68

1. Enlargement. Because of the multitude of people in the state who are not enroled in Bible study, the department will use every possible means to encourage the churches to emphasize enlargement. Several associational enlargement campaigns are already on the calendar. It is hoped to increase this number. The staff will promote associational one-day growth workshops. There is a goal of 40 such workshops during the year. Several of these are already scheduled. The Church Growth Plan with its emphasis upon reaching adults as a means of reaching other members of the family will continue to be a major tool for enlargement.

2. The Sunday School Achievement Guide. This will be a year of experimentation with the Achievement Guide which will soon replace the Standard of Excellence. This instrument is, in every sense of the word, a guide based upon the need in the local church. Every opportunity will be used to interpret the Guide to associational and local church leadership.

3. Training. The class time required to earn study course credit has been lowered to 6 hours. This should result in more training courses being offered on associational and local church level. The Sunday School Department will seek to lead every church to offer courses in leadership training during the years.

4. Improvement of teaching. The department will seek to aid churches in lifting the level of teaching in the Sunday School. This will be done through association-wide teaching clinics and special help to some of the local churches where possible. Sunday School enrolment and attendance will be increased in proportion to the increase of the number of qualified teachers in the classes on Sunday morning.

5. Crusade of the Americas. The Sunday School will play a vital role in the Crusade of the Americas. The Sunday School Department will give complete cooperation in this project and gladly accept the assignments made to it. The area conventions in 1968 will place major emphasis on the Crusade. These conventions will be held as follows:

September 9 Scott's Creek Baptist Church, Sylva
September 10 Lower Creek Baptist Church, Lenoir
September 11 Green Street Baptist Church, High Point
September 12 Snyder Memorial Baptist Church, Fayetteville
September 13 Memorial Baptist Church, Williamston

The Sunday School Department will join hands with the Division of Evangelism in the Crusade of the Americas Rally in Durham on September 24, 1968.

6. Mission Sunday School work. Several men who are students at Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute have already been enlisted to conduct enlargement campaigns and training schools in a number of churches in June of 1968. In this way, at least 25 churches which may not have previously participated in this type of project will be reached and challenged to lift the level of Sunday School work.

The staff vacancies in the Sunday School Department will be filled as quickly as possible. There is every reason to expect that the year will be marked with advances in every area of the Sunday School program.

2. Training Union Department

SAM H. O'NEAL, Secretary

The training program of a church continues to be one of the greatest challenges facing Southern Baptists. This unfolding ministry has been assigned to the Training Union Department and now offers new hope for Southern Baptists in the field of religious education.

The task of interpreting this ministry to the churches continues to be one of the foremost jobs for the Training Union Department. This interpretation is done through the curriculum materials, special periodicals, supplementary learning materials, free helps, and other means of communication.

Each pastor and staff member should study carefully the materials related to the Training Ministry of the church in order to keep abreast with this vital phase of the total church program.

The Training Union Department staff stands ready to assist every church possible in developing its membership. The Training Union ministry can be the "in-reach" ministry for every local Baptist church.

PERSONNEL

This has been the year of change for personnel in the Training Union Department. The field staff consists of the Secretary and three associates: Rev. K. Maurice Cooper, Director of Associational Promotion, and works with the Department Secretary in the area of Adult Work and General Administration; Rev. Davis Bowen, Director of Young People's Work and Consultant in Church Recreation and Vocational Guidance; Miss Doris Morgan, Director of Nursery-Beginner-Primary Work and Consultant in the area of Church Drama. The Department's very fine and capable office staff consists of Miss Kaye Frances Currin, Office Secretary, and Mrs. Mary Conn, Assistant Office Secretary.

The Department is minus one field staff associate at the present time. During the year this department experienced the loss of Miss Katy Ruth Grayson, who had served as Director of Junior and Intermediate Work for approximately seven years.

Approved workers are: Mrs. Smoot Baker, Lancaster, South Carolina, General Administration and Age-Group Work; Mrs. I. V.

Couch, Rutherfordton, North Carolina, Young People's Work; Mrs. Davis Bowen, Raleigh, North Carolina, Intermediate Work; Mrs. J. R. Everett, Rocky Mount, North Carolina, Junior and Intermediate Work; Mrs. Walter Nash, Signal Mountain, Tennessee, Elementary Work; Mrs. Sam H. O'Neal, Garner, North Carolina, Elementary Work.

1967 Activities

The past year has proved to be one of the busiest years in recent times. Many churches and associations have requested assistance in interpreting the ministry of Christian training. This has been most gratifying.

The on-going program included:

1. Ten Regional Convention Planning Meetings.
2. Ten Regional Conventions.
3. Eight new Training Union Concept Manual Interpretation Clinics.
4. Four weeks of state assemblies—three at North Carolina Baptist Assembly, Southport, and one at Fruitland.
5. Annual Training Union Youth Convention.
6. Annual Briefing Meeting for Associational Directors.
7. Eight Area Training Meetings for Associational Officers.
8. Numerous Associational Leadership Schools, Church Enlargement Campaigns, and Associational Enlargement Campaigns.

Statistically Speaking

The summer program consisted of four assembly weeks with record attendance: North Carolina Baptist Assembly—2,284; Fruitland—149; Ridgecrest—600. A total of 3,033 people, 257 churches, and 61 associations were represented.

Regional Conventions enrolled 2,527 people from 68 associations and 331 churches.

Registration at the Youth Convention in Boone was 898 from 107 churches and 42 associations.

"M" Night attendance for 1966 was 25,589 from 1,496 churches with 1,192 pastors and 1,032 Training Union Directors in attendance.

Future Plans

The year 1968 is already shaping up as a very busy year for the Training Union ministry. Plans include:

1. Church Recreation Leadership Workshop, Greensboro, North Carolina, January 26-27.
2. Youth Convention, Forest Hills Baptist Church, Raleigh, North Carolina, April 26-28.
3. Special group of enlisted students to work with churches next summer in starting new training programs in local churches.
4. Special Youth Klesis Conference, North Carolina Baptist Assembly, August 12-17.

5. Four Pastors' Training Seminars, September 30, October 1, October 7, October 8.
6. Special conferences at the assembly for Associational Officers, Church Recreation, Church Drama, and a conference for workers with the mentally retarded.

The above will be some additions to the regular on-going program.

Finally, the great need continues to be to enhance the ministry of (1) New Member Orientation, (2) Church Member Training, and (3) Church Leader Training.

3. Department of Student Work

WILLIAM C. SMITH, JR., Secretary

I. MINISTRY ON CAMPUS

The Baptist Student Union on college campuses is multi-faceted and develops distinguishing characteristics in each setting which mark it as a creative unit capable of adapting to specialized needs. This being so, the particular organizational expression will vary; however, all groups operate with a basic philosophy which undergirds student work in North Carolina.

Worship and study, service and fellowship are elements of the sustained on-campus ministry of the BSU. These over-all emphases issue in such specifics as Bible study, worship periods, mission study and involvement, forums, discussions, retreats, focus weeks, personal evangelism, service opportunities and recreation. Personal counselling is an integral part of the on-campus ministry.

Baptist Student Centers are a significant means for enlisting, involving, and ministering to students. Buildings are designed and constructed for the specific purpose of student ministry and are well used at Duke, UNC-Greensboro, N. C. State University, Western Carolina University, and Appalachian State University. The recently purchased and renovated building at UNC-Chapel Hill is furthering the ministry there significantly. The new building at East Carolina University will be finished and dedicated within the next several months.

II. MINISTRY ON THE STATE LEVEL

1. The new year was begun with the annual Director's Seminar, which is a source of information, stimulation, and revitalization for the campus ministers. The meeting originated in Raleigh simultaneously with the January meeting of the General Board and was continued at a conference center in Black Mountain. Special speakers and guests who addressed the group were: Dr. Claude U. Broach, Pastor, St. John's Baptist Church, Charlotte; Dr. Nathan C. Brooks, Jr., Director, Division of Church Programs, N. C. Baptist State Convention; Mr. James Daniel of the Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville, Tennessee; and Mr. Howard Rees, Baptist Chaplain for the University of Maryland and the Washington, D. C. area.

2. The Third Seminar on Christian Social Concerns was held in

New York City, January 25-29, with forty-two people participating. The meeting was under the joint sponsorship of the Baptist Student Department of North Carolina and the Christian Life Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The purpose of this seminar is to promote a greater awareness and concern in regard to existing social problems and to broaden the scope of understanding of the nature of the world in which the Christian message is proclaimed.

Highlights of the trip included visits to the United Nations, the Council for Christian Social Concerns at the United Church of Christ, the Commission on Religion and Race at the Interchurch Center, Union Theological Seminary, Teen Challenge, and the East Harlem Protestant Parish. Unusual opportunity for insight into the city and its problems came through a pre-arranged session with representatives of the New York City Police Force, a visit to the Police Academy and a tour around Manhattan via Police Launch.

3. The spring Campus Visitation Tour, March 12-17, featured Mr. Charles A. Webster, a Baptist minister, who is Director of the College Program, Southeastern Region, American Friends Service Committee. Mr. Robert M. Phillips, Eastern Area Director, coordinated the nine campus tour during which Mr. Webster spoke on "Christianity and Extremism." Approximately 2,000 students heard and discussed this issue as a result of four chapel addresses, seven group discussions and one classroom lecture.

4. The fall Campus Visitation Tour will use the specific theme of "Summer Opportunities." Dr. William C. Smith, Jr., State Secretary, Mr. Robert M. Phillips, Eastern Area Director, and Mr. James Y. Greene, Interim Baptist Chaplain at Duke University, will lead discussions on The LISTEN Team, The Apostoloi, and The Baptist Youth Corps, respectively. This approach will give students a "headstart" in planning a meaningful summer.

5. The Leadership Training Conference was held at College Park Baptist Church in Greensboro, April 14-16, with 332 people in attendance. The theme, "God and Man in the City," was developed by Mr. James D. Shelton, a former BSU President at Duke University, who is currently serving as the Assistant Director of the Metropolitan Urban Service Training Facility in New York City. Other points of interest during the meeting were the Folk Service of Worship, the Coffee House Service of Worship, the Workshop Sessions for new officers, the election and installation of State BSU Officers for 1967-68, and the closing communion service at the Baptist Student Center, UNC-Greensboro.

The BSU Officers for 1967-68 are: President, Paul Wiggins, Appalachian State University; Vice-President, David Smith, Mars Hill College; Secretary, Jean Gurganus, East Carolina University. The positions of Music Director and Publications Editor were elected by the Executive Committee. David Moore, UNC-Chapel Hill, will head the area of music, and Mrs. Kathy Booth Stewart, Meredith College, will head the publications.

A unique and special feature of the 1967 Leadership Conference was the fact that it was held at a time and place which permitted participation in the State Christian Convocation. The theme, "God and Man in the City," was continued through addresses by Dr. Anna Arnold Hedgeman, Coordinator of Special Events, Commission on Religion and Race, National Council of Churches, New York; Dr. Franklin Littell, President of Iowa Wesleyan College, Mt. Pleasant, Iowa; and Dr. Howard Moody, Pastor, Judson Memorial Church, Greenwich Village, New York City.

6. The Summer Service Program had a three-pronged emphasis in 1967:

a. The LISTEN (L-ove I-mpels S-acrifice T-oward E-very N-eed) Program concentrated its effort at the Patterson Avenue Mission in Winston-Salem with a total of sixteen students and leaders participating during the summer. Living in the area gave the students a very special relationship to the community at large. This empathetic participation in the life of the people allowed an extraordinarily relevant approach to issues during Vacation Bible School classes, the day-care hours, the excursions and all the formal and informal encounters which ensued. (It is reported that produce is still being used from the experimental garden planted by the students and neighborhood children.) On other deeper levels, the "carry-over" from such a full and essentially unlimited involvement as was given here is inestimable.

b. The APOSTOLOI is the name which designates a group of students sent forth to "help provide student leadership in a week of special emphasis in churches in the hope that persons will be challenged by the Christian faith . . . to live as mature disciples of Christ in today's world." There were two four-member teams during the summer of 1967 and each team was prepared to present two dramas, Christ In The Concrete City and In White America. In addition to working in twenty-two churches and giving nine special dramatic performances, the teams spent two weeks in a Community Service Project in Frogmore, South Carolina.

c. The Baptist Youth Corps consisted of seventeen young people who were assigned to churches requesting a worker for the summer months. The young people served in many capacities, having had their abilities and interests matched with the specified need of the churches in which they served. Mr. James Y. Greene, Interim Baptist Chaplain at Duke University, served as coordinator for this group. The climax of the program was the Senior High Conference at the North Carolina Baptist Assembly. Each church having a summer worker participated in the week by sending a delegation of senior-high young people who had been prepared for the experience by involvement at the local level. The theme for the meeting was, "What Can You Believe?" Mr. Grady Nutt, Director of Alumni Affairs and Assistant to the President, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Kentucky, and Mrs. C. C. Warren, Charlotte, were featured guest speakers. In addition, there were twenty-six discussion leaders and special assistants on hand.

College Preparation Week, a special orientation week for college freshmen, was incorporated into the Senior High Conference. The theme for this phase of the program was "Go From Your Father's House" and was ably discussed by Mr. Edgar D. Christman, Assistant Chaplain at Wake Forest University.

7. The State Officers' Retreat was held at Camp CaRAway, August 20-25, and was attended by approximately seventy-five people. Plans were made for the coming school year by the local campus presidents, elected state officers, chaplains and departmental staff members. The guest lecturer for the week was Reverend William Cusack, Counselor, Alcoholics Rehabilitation Center, Florence, South Carolina.

8. The Thirty-Eighth Baptist Student Convention met November 3-5 at the First Baptist Church and Meredith College in Raleigh. The theme of the meeting was "Unto the Least of These." Students were led to see ways and means for effective personal ministry, both on and off campus, through lectures and discussion groups. Featured speaker was Dr. Jack Noffsinger, Pastor of the Knollwood Baptist Church in Winston-Salem. The worship leader was the Reverend R. A. L. Walker, formerly Director of Religious Activities at Meredith College, presently a graduate student in Harvard Divinity School.

9. The Eleventh International Student Conference sponsored annually by the Woman's Missionary Union of North Carolina, the Baptist Student Department of the Southern Baptist Convention and the Baptist Student Department of North Carolina, continues to grow in effectiveness and meaning.

The 1967 Conference will be held at Chowan College, Murfreesboro, North Carolina, during the Thanksgiving Holidays, November 22-26.

Dr. C. C. Thomas, Professor of Philosophy at Fayetteville State Teachers' College, will lead the discussions. A native of India, Dr. Thomas holds degrees from Madras University, Asbury Theological Seminary and Iowa State University, and has done post-graduate study at Cambridge University, Cambridge, England.

Approximately one-fourth of the group will consist of selected American students. Having the opportunity to communicate with such an outstanding company of individuals is an exceptional experience and the occasion should be prayerfully remembered by North Carolina Baptists.

11. The Publications Committee of the State Officers' Council plans to continue the procedure initiated last year whereby it will issue an informational periodical, The BSU-ness, at appropriate intervals during the school year. The Reveille will be published twice during the year as a journal of Christian concern featuring creative student writing, art and photography.

12. The State BSU Basketball Tournament is a function which was initiated by students in 1966 and has become a point of enthusiastic participation on many campuses. First Baptist Church, Marion, was the host church for the 1967 tournament which was held March 31 and April 1.

III. Other Activities and Emphasis

Student Week at Ridgecrest and Glorieta, On-To-College Emphasis, and Student Night at Christmas are activities sponsored jointly with the Student Department of the Baptist Sunday School Board, the Student Department of North Carolina, and local churches. Missions Conferences are sponsored jointly with the Foreign Mission Board and the seminaries.

IV. Personnel

The Department of Student Work is grateful for the following people who help carry on the ministry to Baptist students in North Carolina for the school year 1967-68: Reverend James Z. Alexander, Shaw University; Reverend William M. Bell, Jr., A & T State University; Reverend Alton Y. Buzbee, Campbell; Reverend F. Joseph Clontz, Jr., Western Carolina University, replacing Reverend Colon L. Godwin who has gone to Vietnam with A.I.D.; Reverend Herbert H. Eaton, North Carolina College, replacing Mr. John Chappell; Reverend Edgar D. Christman, Wake Forest University; Mr. Thomas Faulkenberry, Wingate (part-time); Reverend Dwight R. Fickling, UNC-Greensboro, replacing Reverend Monroe M. Ashley who has gone as a Management Consultant with the Baptist Sunday School Board in Nashville; Reverend James Y. Greene (Interim), Duke University, serving while Reverend Robert M. Hyatt is on a leave of absence for graduate study at Duke University; Mr. Henry William Greer, Appalachian State University; Reverend John R. Halsell, III, UNC-Chapel Hill, replacing Reverend James O. Cansler who became Dean of Men at UNC-Chapel Hill; Mr. Thomas F. Holland, Gardner-Webb (part-time); Reverend Robert A. Melvin, Mars Hill (part-time); Mr. J. Randall Mishoe, East Carolina University, replacing Reverend Dwight R. Fickling who transferred to UNC-Greensboro; Reverend Charles B. Parker, Jr., Meredith, replacing Reverend R. A. L. Walker who resigned to do graduate work at Harvard Divinity School; Reverend Leroy P. Richardson, Jr., North Carolina State University; Dr. R. Hargus Taylor, Chowan; Reverend Charles Francis Wilson (part-time), N. C. Baptist Hospital, replacing Reverend Lowell F. Sodemon who is now connected with the Home Mission Board; Reverend Quentin M. Perreault, Western Area Director; Reverend Robert M. Phillips, Eastern Area Director; Mrs. R. A. Prichard, Office Associate (part-time); Mrs. L. D. Holt, Office Secretary.

4. Church Music Department

JOSEPH O. STROUD, Secretary

In many ways the Church Music Department has had its most successful year. With the coming of Mr. Charles Gatwood as Associate January 1, 1967, the department has been able to fill many more engagements in the churches and associations. His first year of service in the department has been characterized by a deep sense of cooperation and enthusiasm for the work. The program of associational work is beginning to take shape and is proving to be a bigger help to the churches. It is now being emphasized that the associational program of work is designed to help the churches. This is its sole purpose and function. A more simplified organization of officers is being promoted and all the projects based on church needs.

Miss Joan Puckett, the efficient Office Secretary, is continuing to do a most effective job in running the office while Mr. Stroud and Mr. Gatwood fill an increasing number of engagements throughout the state.

The three weeks of music study at the North Carolina Baptist Assembly and Fruitland Camp were the best attended in the history of the department. The Youth Music Week, Junior Music Camp, and the Church Music Leadership Conference had quality programs of work and were attended by 1,829 persons from almost every section of the state. The entire year has been a busy one with:

Associational and Regional Music Schools
Conferences on Worship and Hymn Singing Choral Reading Clinics
Associational Officer Training
Music Work with Other Departments of the Convention Assisting Churches in Calling Ministers of Music
Music in Revivals
Pamphlet Ministry
Summer Assemblies
Choir Festivals

The Church Music Department is a ministry of the Division of Church Programs. Its objective is to assist the churches and associations in establishing, conducting, enlarging, and improving the music program in the churches. It is at the disposal of every church affiliated with the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

5. Church Building Planning Department

RICHARD D. SMITH, Secretary

Churches in the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina are building. They are taking time to plan what they need — what they need now, and what they anticipate they will need within the next ten to twenty years. Those churches that take time to plan will eventually have the kind of facilities that will provide adequate space for teaching and proclaiming the Word of God.

One of the services of this Department is to study the immediate needs and to provide for the local church a feasibility study. This is a rough draft of the Architecture Department's ideas of the needs. Once the local congregation has had opportunity to study these rough drawings, corrections are indicated and a new floor-plan study is made for that local church. A large enough architectural staff in Nashville to make Detailed Drawings for all churches would be fine, but this is not possible. However, a floor-plan study is made for any church requesting it. Additional assistance is provided in interior decoration, long-range plot plan studies, church libraries, recreation, and information on auditorium and fellowship halls.

In the last two years an attempt has been made to survey the churches of North Carolina that have built. Appreciation is expressed to each pastor who has taken time to supply the requested information. Churches in the open country, as well as those in downtown areas, are seeking to up-grade their present facilities and to provide for more people. In a day and time when there is difficulty in maintaining growth, those churches that have provided additional education space are experiencing some growth. Those churches that are providing more space are increasing their mission giving and meeting the needs of the local congregation far better than they had previously.

Good attendance has prevailed in our State Building Conferences —one held in Raleigh and one in Greensboro. Associational Building Conferences have been conducted in many places during the past year. Such conferences will be set up in any Association in North Carolina when the invitation arrives for such a meeting. At least two hours of conference would be provided at a central location; then visits would be made to any individual church that so requested.

Assistance in promoting a church building fund program seems to be one of the greatest demands made upon the Department. Approved consultants are being enlisted and trained. These consultants will be available to those interested in raising funds for a building program.

Even as it takes time to do anything well, it takes time for the architect to make his drawings and it takes time to raise money for the building program. Any church that has an idea of building anytime in the future should take time now to use the services of this Department, and begin now in the planning stage to gain some knowledge of its exact needs.

6. Brotherhood Department

J. EDWIN BULLOCK, Secretary

The basic objective of a Brotherhood program in a Baptist Church is leading men, young men, and boys to a deeper commitment to missions, to a more meaningful prayer life for missions, and to a personal involvement in missions. The Brotherhood Department of the Baptist State Convention has as its major objective the task of assisting the churches in establishing a worthy missions program for these age groups. The department attempts to meet this objective by assisting the churches in any new mission units, strengthening existing mission units, and seeking to discover other methods for involving men, young men, and boys in mission study and mission action.

Nineteen sixty-seven has been a year of growth for the Brotherhood program. Not only have a good many new mission units been organized in the churches, but there has also been a greater emphasis on mission action. More of the units are providing a needed ministry. The major emphasis has been on training, using both associational leadership and department approved workers. This leadership has conducted as many as 45 workshops and Royal Ambassador basic leadership courses in the state. Two specialist training programs, one at Eagle Eyrie, Virginia and the other at CaRAway have made it possible for us to increase our force of approved workers to approximately 100.

Special programs encouraging the churches to become involved in their mission tasks this year were the Baptist Men and Boy's Convention in Raleigh, with over 1,500 in attendance, the weekend Royal Ambassador camps at CaRAway, Family Camping Weekend, the Retired Men's Retreat, the Royal Ambassador Counselor's Retreat, and the Baptist Men's Retreat. The first missions retreat for Baptist young men, ages 15-24, is planned for December 28-30 at CaRAway. Another program highlighting the summer's activities was the World Mission's Week at the assembly with over 800 in attendance.

Evidence of a growing concern on the part of men was demonstrated in a mid-summer meeting of a group of men from across our state providing in their local communities a ministry to inmates in the jails and prison camps. A committee was selected by these men from this group for the purpose of establishing some guidelines for this ministry as well as establishing a statewide set-up of associational coordinators making it possible to enlarge the ministry to the families of the inmates in other communities. The coordinators will also assist men in finding jobs and getting a good start after release. It is believed that a successful effort in ministering to inmates and parolees will also encourage men to minister to other people in need such as the economically disadvantaged, the alcoholic, the juvenile, the aged, the sick, the handicapped, the illiterate, and to the many others to which assistance in meeting their particular needs will bear a Christian witness.

Another bright spot in the Brotherhood program during this past year has been further curriculum developed. Basic manuals for each of the mission action units are now in the Book Store. The Baptist Men's Journal is greatly improved, and the Guide magazine has proven to be a good resource for mission study. The Home Mission Board has joined Brotherhood and Woman's Missionary Union in developing a survey for discovering mission needs and also a set of mission action guidebooks showing how the church can use the mission action units in reaching out to meet the needs of the people around the world as well as in the community.

The Brotherhood program has never had a greater challenge than the one which it shares with the Woman's Missionary Union in helping the churches develop a concern for people. This concern will assuredly bring many demands for unified action, and it is most apparent that such actions stemming out of heart-felt concern can mean much to our churches during this coming year.

7. Camp CaRAway

B. W. JACKSON, Manager

Camp CaRAway experienced a good year. The Royal Ambassador camps during the summer brought more than 1,000 campers from about 180 churches across the state. An excellent staff of counselors and missionaries provided the campers with a rich camping experience, as well as a look at missions.

In addition to the camps, the facilities have had wide use, bringing an additional 2,800 people for various conferences and retreats. These meetings have included Family Camping Weekend, Chinese Students' Spring Retreat, Silent Workers' Retreat, Migrant Workers' Retreat, Men's Retreat, Weekend Royal Ambassador Camps. Student groups, Deacon Retreats and local church groups.

Camp CaRAway has winterized facilities for one hundred people. These are arranged to provide for three smaller groups at a time. Meals can be served by the camp, or small groups can make use of kitchenettes and prepare their own meals.

Camp CaRAway is available to serve the people of the churches. Plan to use it as you have a need for a retreat or conference site.

8. North Carolina Baptist Assembly

FRED J. SMITH, Manager

The year 1967 was the biggest and best year yet at the Assembly by the sea. 6,288 people attended the summer program. 2,343 took part in the pre-post season and one-day conferences.

Each year as the Assembly is discovered by different people, it is hoped that they will be inspired by some part of the activities or one of the worship services and will go home with a renewed dedication to serve God. As many familiar faces return again to the Assembly, there is a surge of confidence that the new people will return also. Those who attend each year find that the Assembly is a place where they can study and witness of God; where they can relax in the tranquil motion of the surroundings; and, later join in the swift-moving tide of recreational activities.

Appreciation is felt for the help each department in Raleigh has given. They are thanked for their loyalty and cooperation.

Eighty-five staff members worked to provide for the guests. Many of these have been at the Assembly previously. Gratitude is expressed for their cooperation and support.

The air-conditioned classrooms and chapel were among the most enjoyable features at the Assembly in 1967. New furniture was added in some of the buildings.

The new Auditorium will be ready for the opening of the 1968 season. The Auditorium will be one of the greatest assets of the Assembly. It will seat a thousand, with complete heating and air-conditioning facilities.

Improvements are underway on the campus. Some buildings are being rewired. Nearly all of them are being painted. Additional shrubbery and flowers are planned.

Plans are to expand the recreational facilities for 1968. Swimming, fishing, softball, basketball, and tennis are offered now. A new swimming pool is anticipated sometime in the future.

Individuals and churches should start making plans early for reservations at the Assembly in 1968. For information write the North Carolina Baptist Assembly, Southport, North Carolina.

9. Fruitland Baptist Camp

E. GARY HARTHCOCK, Director

ALEX L. BOOTH, JR., Associate Director

The twenty-second Fruitland Camp season ended August 12 with a total enrollment of 1,491 campers. There were eight weeks of camp, beginning June 19.

Dates—Organization	Enrollment
June 19-24—Training Union	150
June 26-30—Associational Missionaries	55
June 26-July 1—Intermediate GA	196
July 3-8—Intermediate GA	130
July 10-15—Junior GA	241
July 17-22—Junior GA	225
July 24-29—Junior GA	212
July 31-August 5—Junior GA	237
August 7-12—Music Leadership	45*	1,491

A major change is in prospect in the camp ministry at Fruitland The WMU plans to begin its GA camp program at a new site in the summer of 1969. In recent years there have been six weeks of GA camps at Fruitland. Plans are being formulated to offer an attractive program at Fruitland for an eight-week camp period each summer.

* This was a new type of conference which enrolled adults only. The family type conference in 1965 enrolled 250 and the same type conference in 1966 had 240.

10. Department of Statistics and Survey

TED W. WILLIAMS, Secretary

Much of the work of the department is the same each year. Regular responsibilities include the keeping of current mailing lists, distribution of statistical forms for church and associational clerks and receiving these forms for processing and preparation of data for publication in the convention annual, preparation of directories that appear in the latter part of the annual, and supervision of the distribution of the annual.

The department prepares the Baptist Diary and supervises its distribution.

During the year the department worked with a special committee in a study of salaries and fringe benefits of Associational Superintendents of Missions. The results were published in booklet form and was entitled "Heartbeat in Missions." The department is working in cooperation with the Department of City and Metropolitan Missions in a continuing study of the metropolitan areas of North Carolina. Also, several other specialized studies are in progress.

Many calls have come for help in planning and conducting various types of surveys. Among these was an associational-wide survey in the Wilmington Association and a city-wide survey of Kernersville. Large surveys planned for 1968 include telephone surveys in Raleigh Association and Yates (Durham) Association. The latter is in cooperation with all denominational groups as was the survey in Kernersville.

The department is appreciative of every opportunity for service.

E. WOMAN'S MISSIONARY UNION

Auxiliary to the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina

MIRIAM J. ROBINSON, Executive Secretary

Lists of officers mailed to the office of North Carolina Woman's Missionary Union indicate that there are currently 11,108 WMU organizations in the state, including:

2,547 Woman's Missionary Societies
1,431 Young Woman's Auxiliaries
3,765 Girls' Auxiliaries
3,365 Sunbeam Bands

76 associations report some kind of associational WMU organization.

Since the WMU year ends September 30, the Annual Reports from churches and associations are not received in the state office in time to be compiled for this Advance Book of Reports. The compiled report for the year September 30, 1966 to October 1, 1967 will be printed in the Advance Book of Reports of the State WMU Annual Session distributed at its meeting in Asheville, March 12-14, 1968 and after that date will be mailed to anyone else upon request.

One or more State WMU representatives have been into 42 associations during the year for some kind of assistance: leadership training, associational meetings, executive board meetings, youth rallies, etc. It is encouraging that in an increasing number of instances the associational leaders themselves are training the local leaders. The State WMU encourages this by providing two Annual Workshops for Associational WMU Leaders in different parts of the state, and mailing further suggestions to the associational officers quarterly. This year 469 associational WMU leaders, representing 61 associations attended the State WMU Workshops for Associational Leaders held at Wilson (190) and Morganton (279). They received four hours of training for their respective age groups and were supplied with outlines and materials to help in conducting leadership conferences in their own associations.

The inspirational and educational value of STATEWIDE GATHERINGS motivated the following meetings in an attempt to teach missions and inspire more people to become more involved in missions. Numerous missionary speakers were on each program:

State YWA Convention in Charlotte, a rainy, icy weekend in February, attended by more than 1,000 girls and their leaders.

Annual Session of North Carolina Woman's Missionary Union held in March in Wait Chapel of Wake Forest College, Winston-Salem, with 1,851 delegates and visitors registered. This attendance was smaller than customary, perhaps due to the fact that the date had to be changed in order to secure the use of the Chapel during spring holidays of the school.

1,600 GAs, plus a staff of 27 college girls, participated in 10 week-long missionary camps at N. C. Baptist Assembly and at Fruitland, where numerous professions of faith in Christ and commitment to special Christian service were made.

49 YWAs attended a week's camp at the Assembly as a part of N. C. World Missions Week. Woman's Missionary Union did not participate in this week this year except by providing GA and YWA activities. The reason for this was that the dates conflicted with the World Missions Conference held at Ridgecrest, promoted by the Woman's Missionary Union, Brotherhood, Home and Foreign Mission Boards of the Southern Baptist Convention. State WMU leaders and a large number of North Carolinians took advantage of this opportunity, which will become an annual event, alternating between Ridgecrest and Glorieta. In 1968 it will be in Glorieta.

The State WMU office tries to acquaint associational WMU leaders, pastors and others with the furloughing missionaries available as possible speakers for meetings in the state.

From the Heck-Jones Memorial Offering for WMU Promotion, gifts amounting to $900 in cash have been given to the following native North Carolina women upon their appointment by the respective Boards:

Foreign Mission Lifetime Appointees: ($600)

Mrs. A. Kent Faris to South Brazil

Doris Walters (Monroe) to Japan
Mrs. C. Ray Frye (Kannapolis) to Malaysia
Mrs. Ronnell Owensby to Venezuela
Mrs. Grady Nowell (High Point) to Honduras
Mrs. C. T. Stephens (Hildebran) to Indonesia

Foreign Mission Associate: ($50)
Mrs. R. Eugene Owens (Lake Waccamaw) to Switzerland

Foreign Mission Journeymen: ($200)
Edwina Bishop (Sylva) to Thailand
Mrs. Joseph Barnes (Lexington) to Nigeria
Carolyn Hart (Lenoir) to Gaza
Martha McAlister (Lenoir) to Ghana

Home Mission Board US-2 Worker: ($50)
Mrs. James Hardin, Jr. (Shelby) to Hawaii

Also from this offering 25 students from Nursing Schools in North Carolina were sent to the Medical Missions Conference in Richmond, sponsored by the Foreign Mission Board.

This year a venture of tremendous scope was initiated: the building of a North Carolina Woman's Missionary Union Camp, hopefully to be completed for occupancy by 1969. This will replace the use of the Fruitland facilities that have heretofore been used for GA camps in the western part of the state. At the January WMU Executive Board meeting the president, Mrs. R. Knolan Benfield, appointed the following WMU Camp Committee:

Mrs. A. L. Parker, Greensboro, Chairman
Mrs. Gilmer Cross, Goldsboro
Mrs. Perry Starnes, Hickory
Mrs. W. M. Murray, Wilmington
Mrs. A. L. Stancil, Rocky Mount
Mrs. T. A. Lineberger, Connelly Springs
Mrs. W. K. Sturdivant, North Wilkesboro

After thorough investigation of possibilities, over an extended period of time, the Camp Committee presented to the State WMU Executive Board a recommendation which was approved: that it request permission of the General Board of the Baptist State Convention to build a State WMU Camp on 130 acres of land on the southwest portion of the area owned by the Baptist State Convention across the road from that occupied by Camp CaRAway, near Asheboro. This request was approved by the General Board at its meeting in July and will be presented as a recommendation of the General Board to the Baptist State Convention in Asheville in November. The Convention will continue to own the land. The building of the camp will be financed by North Carolina Woman's Missionary Union, at a cost not to exceed $250,000, to be paid from the Heck-Jones Memorial Offering for WMU Promotion and individual contributions. In their enthusiasm for the new project, this summer's GA campers contributed a total of $2,067 to begin this fund. The camp will be for the use of all State WMU organizations as scheduling will permit. The plans at present do not make provision for winterizing any portion of it.

A closer working relationship is developing between WMU organizations and the other church program organizations. This is seen both in local and associational planning and promotion. In the Baptist State Convention, Woman's Missionary Union cooperates fully in the plans of the Division of Church Programs under the able leadership of Dr. Nathan Brooks.

It is hard to measure growth in world awareness and spiritual concern. It is disheartening to note the slow (if any) statistical growth in organizations and membership, to see organizations that consist only of a group of officers who reluctantly accepted responsibilities and are doing little to fulfill them, and the many leadership positions which remain vacant. On the other hand, a large majority of WMU organizations in North Carolina have had at least one mission study class during the year, an increasing number are having five-day observances of the weeks of prayer for foreign and home missions and a special state missions program. These three special offerings are promoted on a churchwide basis with purposeful enthusiasm in well over half of the churches. Mission action is seen in the numerous mission Vacation Bible Schools and mission Sunday Schools being conducted, Good Will Centers established, the sick visited, and the lost being led to the Saviour. Both the adult and youth organizations that constitute Woman's Missionary Union are earnestly seeking to ". . . Grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ" . . . and in many instances and areas this growth is visible if not always measurable.

F. DIVISION OF STEWARDSHIP PROMOTION

O. J. HAGLER, Director

The reports of the various departments of the Division of Stewardship Promotion indicate a busy year. The preparation of promotional materials, field work in the churches and the associations, and routine office procedure have kept all members of our staff fully occupied.

The Director has given much time to planning and supervising in the work of all areas.

Time in the field has been somewhat limited. The accumulation of hundreds of photographs and material for our 80-page color brochure, A Pictorial Story of North Carolina Baptists, has taken many hours. It is our purpose to have this booklet in the process of distribution as we meet in Convention in Asheville.

Special credit should be given to Mr. L. J. Morriss for providing hundreds of excellent photographs for our selection. Ben Fisher of the Council on Christian Education; Bob Walker, Assistant Administrator, Baptist Hospital; Toby Druin, of the Biblical Recorder; and Eugene Baker, Public Relations Director of the North Carolina Baptist Children's Homes, have been of invaluable assistance in this undertaking.

The rate of our giving through the Cooperative Program and for special causes seems to have reached a "plateau." Gifts from the churches have pretty well paralleled the general economy. Not since 1963 has this rate of growth dipped to as low as 1.66 percent over the previous year. Economists of authority are now indicating that we are in a period of business and industrial acceleration. As this increase begins to make itself felt in the mainstream of our economy, and as we respond to the General Secretary's challenge to the churches to increase Cooperative Program giving by at least 10 percent, we expect the rate of growth to return to its normal pattern. Looking back over a period of nearly ten years we have averaged an increase of about five to six percent over the previous year.

In the face of challenging opportunity we must and will respond to the challenge of responsible Christian stewardship.

1. Department of Stewardship Development

R. TOM GREENE, Secretary

The development of materials for promotion of scriptural stewardship and Cooperative Program enlistment is the basic function of this department. The work during the past year may be divided as follows:

I. LEAFLETS

We have developed in cooperation with Mr. O. J. Hagler and others in this division, and distributed leaflets as follows:

235,000 Basic Cooperative Program leaflets and posters.
189,000 State Missions leaflets and posters.
278,000 Other leaflets and booklets on Stewardship and the Cooperative Program.

II. SEMINARS

We held Development Seminars for leaders from each association. During the seminars we:

1. Explained and distributed the latest materials on Biblical stewardship and Cooperative Program.
2. Received the wise suggestions from these officers.

III. WORKSHOPS

Workshops in Stewardship Development were held for the pastor and treasurer of each church in twenty one associations. The purpose was:

1. Give a bird's-eye view of Stewardship material available to help these church leaders develop scriptural stewards.

2. Answer any questions concerning the Stewardship programs and the Cooperative Program.
3. Give encouragement to these leaders to use one or more of these programs for the benefit of their churches.

IV. Articles, Art, and Reports

We wrote articles and developed art on Cooperative Program, Stewardship and State Missions for the Biblical Recorder in cooperation with Mr. Marse Grant, Editor.

We published in the August 19 issue of the Biblical Recorder the Cooperative Program giving of each church for the first six months of 1967 and made it available in each annual associational meeting. In this same Biblical Recorder issue were fourteen articles describing some of the work North Carolina Baptists do through the Cooperative Program.

V. Other Areas of Work

We have answered the requests of many churches needing help in developing Biblical Stewards and Cooperative Program giving.

During the past twelve months in doing this work for you in Christ's name, there were fourteen added by baptism to the churches for which I preached and sixteen by letter.

Dr. W. Perry Crouch, General Secretary-Treasurer of our Convention, Mr. O. J. Hagler, Director of the Division of Stewardship Promotion, and the other personnel in this division have given wise counsel and help in all the work of this department. Mrs. Susan Cochrane, office secretary, has given valuable help in our common task.

To those above, plus each pastor, associational leader, General Board member, and our entire Convention staff, we express our thanks for their genuine cooperation.

2. Department of Stewardship Promotion

Harold M. White, Secretary

The primary objective of this department continues to be service to churches and associations in basic stewardship promotion and development. Cooperative Program promotion, workshops and training sessions in the Forward Program and the Growth in Christian Stewardship program, Deacons' Schools and Stewardship Revivals have offered our best opportunities for service.

We are happy to report that more churches used an effective stewardship emphasis in connection with budget planning and promotion in 1967 than in any previous year. As a result spiritual life was deepened and larger financial resources were available to meet local and world needs.

At the request of Dr. W. Perry Crouch, General Secretary-Treasurer of our Convention and Mr. O. J. Hagler, Director of the Division of Stewardship Promotion, this department is cooperating with all staff members in urging the churches to increase their gifts through the Cooperative Program by 10 percent in 1968. This increase is necessary to give adequate support to Convention causes in the face of rising costs.

In discharging my responsibilities I work closely with the General Board's Committee on Stewardship Promotion, the Stewardship Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention and with all staff members of this division in the development of a total Stewardship program.

I am grateful for the assistance of E. Cleve Wilkie, Kinston, Associate in Field Promotion and Mrs. Dorothy Smith, office secretary.

Mr. O. J. Hagler, Division Director, continues to give helpful supervision and direction which is deeply appreciated.

I would like to express my thanks also to pastors, superintendents of missions, associational leaders and staff members for excellent cooperation.

3. Department of Stewardship Promotion

CLEVE WILKIE, Field Worker

Though the center of my work is Eastern Carolina, I continue to enjoy a statewide ministry, as a look at last year's activities reveals trips and services in every area of our great state.

The record shows that I served in some capacity in 134 different churches during the year. These services included pulpit supply, Schools for Deacons, Forward Program Clinics and committee training, Stewardship Growth Program clinics and committee training, Loyalty Dinners and Fellowship Suppers, Schools of Missions, Central Stewardship Training Schools, Stewardship Conventions, Stewardship Week-end Revivals, Stewardship Week-long Revivals, Evangelistic Revivals, Bible Study Weeks, Homecoming and Harvest Day sermons, W.M.U. study courses, R.A. Camp mission study, Deacon ordination services, Brotherhood Stewardship addresses, and several other special meetings too numerous to list.

Many denominational meetings, for inspiration and information, in and out of the state, have been attended with great profit to me in the work.

It has been a joy to continue in the work with my associates in the Stewardship Division, especially O. J. Hagler, and Harold White, who impart direction and inspiration to my labors.

I sincerely thank our Baptist people for the privilege of service.

4. Department of Program Services

JIMMY MORRISS, Secretary

The Department of Program Services promoted the total Baptist program through the divisions of the General Board, agencies, institutions, and associations. It is a department that is primarily public relations and is incorporated in the Division of Stewardship Promotion. The work of the department may be divided as follows:

I. AUDIO VISUAL AIDS

A. Film Library

During the past year, the department booked more than 12,000 free rental films. We estimate that approximately 60 percent of the churches in the Convention are using audio-visuals regularly. The department encourages planning for a basic library of audio-visuals at both associational and church levels, with supplementary services provided by the department library. At present, this library has over 2,500 titles covering every area of denominational endeavor.

B. Film Production

This year the department produced a new 35mm color filmstrip, NEW DIMENSIONS IN MISSIONS, in support of State Missions. Over 500 pictures on all areas of Convention ministries were produced for use in the forthcoming brochure, "A Pictorial Story of North Carolina Baptists."

C. Communication Demonstration Conferences

At the request of the associations and churches, a number of "one-night stand" demonstrations were held. More than 40 churches were assisted in sight and sound planning in building and remodeling programs.

D. Audio Aids

More than 1,500 messages were taped in answer to requests by the churches this year. State Mission tapes were supplied to each of the associations with a large number being booked through this office on a free rental basis.

II. GRAPHIC ARTS

Over 300 individual lay-outs were designed and prepared for printing this year. These included programs, posters, folders, forms and stationery.

III. NEWS SERVICE

Our responsibility to provide news coverage of state Baptist work to some 485 newspapers, radio and television stations, culminated in at least 50 articles for state-wide release. Complete pictorial and news coverage on State Missions was provided to the Biblical Recorder and to Charity and Children.

IV. TELEVISION AND RADIO

The department continues to produce the network series, A LIGHT UNTO MY PATH, a mission work of the Convention designed to reach the deaf, the aging and the unchurched. The program is presented over a state-wide network including WRAL-TV, Raleigh; WECT-TV, Wilmington; WLOS-TV, Asheville; WFMY-TV, Greensboro; WBTV, Charlotte; and WNCT-TV, Greenville. Also providing coverage for North Carolina Baptists are WTVC-TV, Chattanooga, Tennessee and WIS-TV, Columbia, South Carolina. The series is carried by ten other stations outside North Carolina, sponsored by a church or a Convention in that state. Also produced are BIBLE STORY TIME, a weekly program for pre-school children, and CHURCH OF OUR FATHERS, a weekly 30 minute news program. The department also works closely with the Southern Baptist Radio and Television Commission.

V. OTHER AREAS

The department has two approved summer workers at the summer assemblies showing more than 300 film presentations each season.

5. Annuity Department

GUY S. CAIN, Secretary

The new Southern Baptist Protection Program officially goes into effect on January 1, 1968, although the benefits under it are being given currently. The new program, made up of three plans, Plan "A," Plan "B" and Plan "C," provides substantial increases in benefits formerly offered, as well as new benefits.

The increased benefits in Plan "A" include:

1. Disability—Is the same amount the member would have received at age 65, with no maximum. Previously, disability provided a maximum of $900 a year.
2. Widow—Benefit may be 40 percent of the amount a member would get at age 65. Widow benefits previously were on a step-up basis taking six years to reach maximum coverage.
3. Retirement—Additional retirement benefits may be obtained by participating in Plan "B" and/or Plan "C."

New Benefits Added to Plan "A"

1. Child Benefit—Each unmarried, dependent child (up to four) under age 18 will get this benefit as follows:
   a. If a member dies or becomes disabled or retires at age 65 or after, each child will get 15 percent of the member's annuity at age 65.
   b. Under early retirement before age 65, each child will get 15 percent of all retirement credits the member earned before reduction for early retirement.
2. Educational Benefits—A maximum of $600 per year, or 40 percent of the annual annuity at age 65, is payable to the college of their choice for each unmarried dependent child for the initial four years of full-time study immediately beyond high school as follows:
   a. If the member dies or becomes disabled, or retires at age 65 or after, each child will get 40 percent of the amount the member would have received at age 65, with a $600 a year maximum.
   b. Under early retirement before age 65, each child will get 40 percent of all retirement credits the member earned before reduction for early retirement was made, up to a maximum of $600 a year.

3. Dependent Parent Benefit—If no wife survives you, a qualified, dependent parent will receive the widow benefit.

Beginning on January 1, 1968 all churches will be billed for the total dues of the program. For an adequate retirement program the Annuity Board and the state conventions recommend 10 percent of total salary of the member be put into the program. If a church pays its pastor less than $4,000 a year, and desires to do so, it may pay 10 percent dues on a $4,000 salary basis to build greater benefits. There is no change in the cost. In fact, the program eliminates the step-up in dues at age 60 which was required in the former plan.

SPECIAL NOTICE . . .

The Annuity Board offered the benefits of the new Protection Program more than a year before it was scheduled to go into effect so every minister could have the new benefits immediately. Anyone joining the program after January 1, 1968 will have full benefits after one year of continuous participation. The provisions on delayed participation in the new program state that to be eligible for full benefits one must join the program:

a. During the first year from the date of inauguration (1-1-68); or
b. One year from the date he first became eligible; or
c. One year from the date of his 25th birthday, whichever is the latest date. If he fails to join under one of the above, the amount of benefits for all except retirement shall be reduced proportionally by the number of years he delays in joining.

G. DIVISION OF CHRISTIAN HIGHER EDUCATION

Council on Christian Higher Education

R. N. Simms, Jr., President
Ben C. Fisher, Executive Secretary

Enrollment

The following total enrollments in the North Carolina Baptist colleges and university were reported as of October 15, 1967 by the registrars:

Campbell	2,351
Chowan	1,302
Gardner-Webb	1,300
Mars Hill	1,370
Meredith	969
Wake Forest	3,163
Wingate	1,569
Total	12,024

COUNCIL MEMBERSHIP

The Council on Christian Higher Education is made up of the following: presidents of the colleges, deans of the colleges, chairmen of boards of trustees of the colleges, and 16 members of the General Board's Committee on Christian Higher Education. Ex officio members of the Council are Dr. W. Perry Crouch, executive secretary-treasurer of the Baptist State Convention; Dr. Carl E. Bates, president of the Baptist State Convention; the Reverend Gilmer Cross, president of the General Board; and Mrs. R. Knolan Benfield, president of the State Woman's Missionary Union.

The following new members were elected from the General Board to Council membership last year: John A. Bracey, David Britt, Thomas Elmore, and George Gibbs.

NEW PRESIDENTS

Within the past two years four of the seven North Carolina Baptist colleges have elected new presidents. Two of them have been elected since the Convention met last year. Both of the new presidents are Baptist laymen, ordained deacons, and highly qualified educators. Dr. Norman A. Wiggins, well known professor of Law at Wake Forest University, was elected to succeed Dr. Leslie H. Campbell of Campbell College. Dr. James Ralph Scales, who succeeds Dr. Harold W. Tribble as president of Wake Forest University, comes to North Carolina from Oklahoma where he was dean of the School of Arts and Sciences of Oklahoma University. Both of these men are experienced educators and have been active leaders in the life of the church and the denomination.

MINISTERIAL AID

Following an address by Dr. Norman A. Wiggins, president of Campbell College, "The Baptist College and Ministerial Education," at the October Council meeting, the Council voted unanimously to ask the Committee on Christian Emphasis and Church-School Relations to make a thorough study of the Cristian vocations, including recruitment and financial resources. Once the study has been organized, it is expected that the Council will want to extend the study group beyond the Council to include General Board and Convention-wide representation.

A recent letter from a guidance counselor of one of our largest city high schools points up sharply the need for scholarships, loans, and grants for Christian vocational workers. One of the main points of this unsolicited letter is the fact that all of the major professions except the Christian vocations have financial help readily available.

BAPTIST COLLEGE DAY, 1968

Since 1957 the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina has observed Christian Education Day in the churches on Father's Day. However, beginning in 1968 this day will be known as Baptist College Day. This change was recommended by the Council because the term "Christian Education Day" has sometimes been confused with the work of the local church. However, the objectives remain the same: to inform Baptist people about the work of our colleges and to enlist financial support in the special offering. Although the need of the special offering could scarcely be overemphasized, it is also to be noted that churches are encouraged to observe Baptist College Day on Father's Day whether they take a special offering or not.

The undesignated offering is divided among the Baptist colleges and is placed in their student aid fund. Christian vocational workers have the first claim on these resources.

The Baptist Education Study Task

The Baptist Education Study Task, which was a joint endeavor by the Education Commission, the Executive Committee of the Southern Baptist Convention, and the various State Conventions, has completed its task and published its report. The Findings Committee, composed of distinguished Southern Baptist pastors, laymen, and educators included the following people:

Herschel H. Hobbs, pastor, First Baptist Church, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, Chairman

Doak S. Campbell, president emeritus, Florida State University, Tallahassee, Florida, Coordinator

Chauncey Daley, editor, Western Recorder, Middletown, Kentucky, Recorder

Theodore F. Adams, pastor, First Baptist Church, Richmond, Virginia

Olin T. Binkley, president, Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Wake Forest, North Carolina

Grady C. Cothen, executive secretary, the Southern Baptist General Convention of California, Fresno, California (now president of Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee, Oklahoma)

Lois Edinger, professor, the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, and former president NEA

J. Ollie Edmunds, president, Stetson University, Deland, Florida

Daniel R. Grant, Department of Political Science, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tennessee

Frank A. Hooper, judge, United States Courts, Atlanta, Georgia

L. D. Johnson, pastor, First Baptist Church, Greenville, South Carolina (now professor of religion and chaplain, Furman University, Greenville, S. C.)

J. W. Lester, director, In-Service Training, Clear Creek Baptist School, Pineville, Kentucky

H. Guy Moore, president, William Jewell College, Liberty, Missouri (resigned)

Dotson M. Nelson, Jr., pastor, Mountain Brook Baptist Church, Birmingham, Alabama

Ralph A. Phelps, Jr., president, Quachita Baptist University, Arkadelphia, Arkansas

Lucius M. Polhill, executive secretary, Baptist General Association of Virginia, Richmond, Virginia

Garland F. Taylor, dean, Mercer University, Macon, Georgia

E. Hermond Westmoreland, pastor, South Main Baptist Church, Houston, Texas

The Findings Committee of the Baptist Education Study Task, in its 113-page report, reached some major observations and significant conclusions. Among the major observations are to be found the following:

1. That in many instances Baptist colleges have not clearly articulated their purpose, and should do so at once.
2. That there exists a wide communication gap between the colleges and the majority of Baptist people and that this gap ought to be closed.
3. That the control of Baptist colleges be vested in the duly elected Board of Trustees, and that State Conventions which own these schools must avoid trying to control them from the floor in the annual meeting.
4. That Baptist schools face an extraordinary financial crisis and that every effort must be made to help meet these needs.

The Findings Committee also concluded that there are some significant results of the two-year BEST Study:

1. An increasing awareness of the significance of Christian higher education as an integral component of the Baptist witness.
2. A more enlightened understanding of the present difficulties that confront our Baptist colleges and universities.
3. A consciousness of need for definition of the purposes of Christian higher education in our present day culture, and for more effective relationship between the colleges and the denomination.
4. A more precise understanding of the nature and extent of financial support necessary to provide Christian higher education of acceptable quality.
5. A deeper understanding of the vital relationships between the colleges and the conventions that foster and support them, and a clearer understanding of the areas of control and lines of responsibility.
6. A rededication on the part of many to the improvement and strengthening of the Baptist colleges and universities.

The Findings Committee also developed a suggested model statement of purpose, containing the six key points which have been summarized as follows:

Provide higher education within the overall perspective of the Christian world view.

Create and nurture an atmosphere conducive to the Christian ethic.
Be a center of study and a forum for discussion of the issues and challenges facing the sponsoring denomination, thus being on the cutting edge of religious thought.
Give emphasis to the liberal arts and humanities.
Help prepare workers for all the denominational enterprises, which is a valid if not a major purpose of a Christian college.
Develop graduates who are committed to and who practice the Christian religion.

BEST Follow-up in North Carolina

The area seminar chairmen of the North Carolina BEST included Dr. John Bunn of Campbell College; Dr. Randall Lolley, First Baptist Church, Winston-Salem; and the Reverend Albert Ambrose, pastor, First Baptist Church, Drexel. These chairmen have been working with a special Council committee to enable all North Carolina Baptists to have an opportunity to hear and discuss the full report of the Findings Committee.

During March and April, 1968, each North Carolina Baptist pastor and as many of his congregation as can attend will be invited to a special meeting on one of the seven college campuses. This invitation will also be extended to the associational missionaries. Three major subjects will be discussed during the one-day session: accreditation, college-denominational relationships, and finance. Following the presentation of materials, there will be ample time for questions and discussion.

Special Study Groups

It is hoped, as a result of these seminars, that at least 300 churches will undertake at some time during 1968 to give four Sunday evenings to the study of Christian higher education, particularly as it is related to the seven North Carolina Baptist colleges.

Departmental Faculty Meetings

The interdepartmental faculty meetings of the seven North Carolina Baptist colleges are unique in Christian higher education, and constitute one of the major programs of the Council. This Council program is under the direction of the Committee on Correlation and Instruction. These meetings consist of 15 disciplines, but some have been combined because of common interest. The meetings include the following areas: English; Foreign Languages; Social Sciences; Physical Education and Health; Bible, Religion, and Philosophy (Baptist student directors and chaplains meet with this group); Mathematics and Natural Sciences; Education and Psychology; Business Education; and Music and Art.

The various disciplines meet every two years. During the past year the following meetings were held: Business Education —

Campbell College; Education and Psychology—Meredith College; English—Chowan College; Foreign Languages — Mars Hill College; and Social Sciences — Campbell College.

COUNCIL MEETINGS

The Council meets four times each year, including a two-day session on the campus of one of the colleges. This year the meeting was held at Gardner-Webb, and in 1968 Mars Hill will be host.

SUPPORTING THE COOPERATIVE PROGRAM

Cooperative Program Budget to the Colleges 1967

Campbell	$ 258,634
Chowan	154,870
Gardner-Webb	147,127
Mars Hill	223,014
Meredith	223,014
Wake Forest	379,432
Wingate	162,614
	$1,548,705
Council Expense	30,255
Total	$1,578,960

Rising cost to the student, particularly in the non-tax-supported college, has become a problem of major concern. Not only is the small denominational college feeling the pinch, but such major and well established institutions as Harvard and Yale are also being affected. This was pointed out very dramatically in the June 23 issue of Time Magazine.

The following figures will illustrate our problem in North Carolina as we contrast instructional income of the North Carolina Baptist colleges with the tax-supported colleges:

Sources of Instructional Income for the Tax-Supported College in North Carolina

From State tax funds	70 percent
From students	21 percent	(Biennium estimate)
From other sources	9 percent

Sources of Instructional Income for North Carolina Baptist Colleges (estimates based upon operation 1966-67)

From Cooperative Program	11 percent
From students	85 percent
From other sources	4 percent

It is to be noted that this estimate has been worked out as if all North Carolina Baptist colleges use all Convention income for instructional purposes. Since the majority of the Baptist colleges are forced to divide the Convention income between capital needs and current operations, the percentage which the Convention actually contributes to instructional costs is much less. The contrast between what the State pays and what the Convention pays toward instructional costs illustrates our problem. Baptist colleges are having to pass more and more instructional costs on to the student. This is not by choice, but by necessity. To meet mounting instructional costs, the Baptist colleges have been forced to choose between increasing tuition or developing a second or third rate academic program.

This is one of the greatest arguments for preventing any further cut back in percentage of the Cooperative Program funds which the colleges are now receiving. During the past 10 years the percentage of funds going to the colleges has dropped more than 6 percent. By the same token, this also should be the greatest incentive for increasing Cooperative Program giving all along the line. It should always be remembered that with the exception of student income the Cooperative Program is still the largest single source of income for all of our Baptist colleges.

Special offerings will continue to play a vital supporting role for Convention agencies and institutions, but it would be shortsighted indeed to promote special offerings at the expense of the Cooperative Program.

Therefore, it is essential that we continue to support the Cooperative Program as the lifeline of all causes. A 10 percent increase per year would more than double the present income in less than 10 years.

Colleges to Participate in the Crusade of the Americas

The Council on Christian Higher Education recommends

1. A standing committee on each campus for the three-year period of the Crusade, consisting of representatives from the administration, faculty, student body, and alumni.
2. Faculty seminars on each campus to study in depth the theological, historical, and scriptural background of evangelism and the Christian movement.
3. Seminars on the campuses for youth groups and students interested in the challenge of evangelism and missions in the modern world.
4. Making available campus facilities for seminars and/or retreats for all groups interested in the Crusade.
5. Cooperation with Baptist Student Union, Baptist Training Union, Woman's Missionary Union, and Brotherhood in all programs affecting youth.
6. Continuation of annual religious programs such as chapel, religious focus week, missions emphasis week, vocational guidance emphasis, seminars, retreats, and study groups.

WILLIAM M. WOMBLE, President, Board of Trustees
NORMAN A. WIGGINS, President

The 1967-68 academic year, which opened on September 11, 1967, marked the 80th year in the history of Campbell College. A total of 2,350 students enrolled for the fall session. This is a slightly larger enrollment than our enrollment at the beginning of the fall session in 1966.

In preparation for the year, the college had ready for occupancy upon the arrival of the new students an air-conditioned men's residence hall with a capacity of 205 students. The new residence hall has an ultramodern kitchen with a dining room capacity of 500 students. The new cafeteria will relieve the crowded conditions that have existed in the college's main dining hall—the B. P. Marshbanks Cafeteria.

The college also opened for the first time a new air-conditioned women's residence hall with a capacity of 100 students.

The total project cost for both dormitories was $1,375,000.00, financed primarily by a 3 percent self-liquidating bond issue.

During the summer months the college was engaged in a most vigorous and ambitious renovation, replacement and redecoration program. As a part of the program the Maintenance Department of the college installed more than a mile of a new 12" water main.

The most significant event in this school year is the fact that Campbell College will be presided over by a new president, the third in its eighty-year history. Dr. Norman Adrian Wiggins assumed office on June 6, 1967. Due to the excellent planning of the Board of Trustees and Dr. Leslie H. Campbell, the transition was orderly and smooth. Dr. Leslie H. Campbell, son of the founder who was president for thirty-five years, retired on June 5, 1967. Many special ceremonies were held during the month of May honoring the retiring president by staff, friends: the Little River Baptist Association, Alumni, Harnett County Board of Commissioners, the members of the Board of Trustees, and many other groups. Friends financed a trip to Europe for President and Mrs. Campbell, following his retirement, and the Alumni purchased a new car for him. He was actively connected with the college for fifty-two years as a teacher, dean, and president. All members of the college family and Baptists throughout the State of North Carolina continue to be grateful for his inspiring leadership.

Of great significance to the College was the receiving on December 12, 1966, the coveted title, "Fully Accredited" as a senior institution by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. In meeting accreditation standards of this regional accrediting group, Campbell College passed a major milestone in its history. At the beginning of the present year, Campbell College averaged in the sixty percentile of all Southern Association member colleges on an undergraduate level. Campbell in terms of the number enrolled is now the largest private senior college in North Carolina.

The financial needs of this greatly upgraded senior college constitute its major problem, and particularly the retirement of its short-term indebtedness.

Under the leadership of Dr. Wiggins Campbell College is hopefully planning for a great future. Its long-range deliberate planning is of vital concern, not only to the trustees and administration, but to North Carolina Baptists to whom Campbell College belongs. The College will in the future tackle its many frustrating decisions and peculiar problems with the greatest of confidence and faith in its divinely-controlled destiny. It will strive ever to reach the stars through difficulties and to continue to bring honor and recognition to this great old institution with its long rich history of services in the cause of Christian higher education.

CHOWAN COLLEGE

DON G. MATTHEWS, JR., Chairman, Board of Trustees
BRUCE E. WHITAKER, President

Chowan College marked the beginning of her 120th academic year with an enrollment of 1,302 students. This total includes 1,285 full-time students and 17 special or part-time students. Sophomores and other returning students total 461; freshmen and transfer students, 808. There are 13 students who are now completing the last phase of the 33-month nursing program at Duke University Hospital. Three young ladies are Medical Secretarial Interns.

The College's Second Annual Planning Conference, held on September 19, involved some 300 friends of the College in the continued projection of development needs and goals. The library-fine arts center—the first of the buildings projected in the current development campaign—is scheduled for completion in March, 1968, at a cost of approximately $850,000. When completed, the library section of this structure will enable the College to house a collection of up to 100,000 volumes and provide a reading-study area to accommodate up to 400 persons. The fine arts center will contain nine practice rooms, four faculty offices, three studios, a large classroom, band and choral practice rooms, and a room to house the music library.

The College has just completed an extensive self-study program, involving students, faculty, administration, and trustees. This kind of self-study—required periodically by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools—is designed to enable an institution to continue improving curricular and co-curricular offerings on the basis of self-analysis and evaluation.

The indebtedness of Chowan College as of November 1, 1967, is as follows:

Date	Original Amount	Interest Rate	Purpose	Amount Due
12-1-59	$235,000	3⅛ percent	Boys' Housing	$ 214,000
12-1-62	550,000	3½ percent	Boys' Housing	503,000
12-1-63	760,000	3⅝ percent	Girls' Housing & Cafeteria	740,000
11-9-63	475,000	5½ percent	Girls' Housing & Classroom Building	42,000
			Total Indebtedness	$1,499,000
			Less Sinking Fund Reserves	123,500
			Net Indebtedness on Plant Facilities	$1,375,450

In the first three instances, loans were made from the Housing and Home Finance Agency, covering a 40-year period and carrying interest charges indicated. In the fourth instance, the bank loan is with three area banks (The Farmers Bank of Murfreesboro; Planters National Bank and Trust Company; and Wachovia Bank and Trust Company), covering a five-year period. In addition, we have a commitment from the Office of Education (HUD) for $600,000.00, carrying interest charges of 3 percent and covering a 30-year period, for purposes of constructing a new library-fine arts facility which will cost approximately $850,000.00 equipped. The Board of Trustees and the Board of Advisors are continually working in an effort to meet the financial needs and opportunities of a growing and serving institution of Christian higher education, and there has been and continues to be evidence of measurable success.

The Chowan College Family appreciates strong support from North Carolina Baptists. At the same time, attention is called to the escalation of costs on every hand and of the necessity continually to place a larger proportion of the burden of these costs upon the student. Support received through the Baptist State Convention and directly from Baptist churches in the area has helped the college immeasurably in its mission and service to our young people.

GARDNER-WEBB COLLEGE

R. PATRICK SPANGLER, Chairman, Board of Trustees
E. EUGENE POSTON, President

The 61st year at Gardner-Webb College opened on August 22, 1967, with the arrival of the largest freshman class in the history of the school. A total enrollment of 1,297 sets a new record. The faculty, the administration, and the staff total 105. There are 39 additional employees that make up the maintenance and cafeteria forces.

God has truly blessed Gardner-Webb College during the past year. The greatest blessings have been in the realm of the spiritual, intellectual, and social areas. It would be impossible to list all of these.

Three new buildings will be dedicated during the fall of 1967. These are: Mauney Hall, named in honor of the W. K. and D. C. Mauney families of Kings Mountain; Nanney Hall, named in honor of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Nanney of Gastonia; and Myers Hall, named in honor of Mr. A. G. Myers, Sr. of Gastonia. These dormitories have enabled the college to serve over 200 additional boarding students.

Another forward step was made when the Boiling Springs Baptist Church decided to sell its property to the college. The new educational building, formerly owned by the church, has been converted to a classroom building and named the David Lindsay Building in honor of Mr. David Lindsay of Rutherfordton. This move has enhanced the academic program.

Two very ambitious programs were launched by the Trustees to pave the way to the four-year status of Gardner-Webb. The first is a doctoral leave program—a maximum of five professors will be given leaves of absence to complete work for the Doctor's Degree. Financial support will be given to these professors with the agreement that they return to Gardner-Webb for at least five years. Three professors have already left for graduate study and others have applied for a leave during 1968. This program will assure that the college will have 30 percent of the faculty with doctor's degrees, a requirement for four-year colleges. The second program is the upgrading of the library. The library budget has been tripled and a large challenge gift is being met. Mr. George Lewis, director of Libraries at Mississippi State University, has been employed as consultant to help the library meet the standards of the four year program.

The trustees, the advisors, the administration, the faculty, and the staff are working diligently to get ready for the four-year college status. The fact that Gardner-Webb College is surrounded by community colleges makes the need of a four year program imperative.

Gardner-Webb College continues as a liberal arts college. There will be a limited number of majors offered as a senior college. The Associate in Arts program for Nursing Education, Data Processing and Computer Service, and Secretarial Science will be continued. These last three programs will continue to have a broad liberal arts foundation.

The wives of the trustees, the advisors, the administration, and the faculty are developing a program of campus beautification. The campus layout of Gardner-Webb College offers an excellent opportunity to build a place of true beauty.

The purpose of Gardner-Webb College is "to develop quality Christian students who will think for themselves and who will dedicate themselves to the Christian way of life in the vocation of their own choice." The entire Gardner-Webb family is proud to be a part of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina. We believe that the Baptist distinctive will do much to meet the needs of the changing world.

During the past year the Endowment Funds increased $348,531 through bequests and savings. The plant assets increased $1,023,000. At the present time the Gardner-Webb College Endowment Fund is valued at approximately $1,849,878, including an irrevocable trust. The physical plant is valued at $4,997,433. As of July 31, 1967, Gardner-Webb College owed a debt of $475,000 to the First Union National Bank of Charlotte, North Carolina. This is being amortized at the rate of $5,000 per month, plus interest. Pledges are in hand to complete the payment of this debt.

MARS HILL COLLEGE

WALTER R. CHAMBERS, Chairman, Board of Trustees
FRED B. BENTLEY, President

Mars Hill College has just completed its first year under the new administration. It was a year filled with innovation and change all centered on the college's ten-year projection entitled "Emphasis on Excellence."

It was during this past year that the college took another step forward toward receiving full four-year accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. We are hopeful of gaining full accreditation in December, 1967.

Utilizing a new data processing system and a new college calendar, the institution opened its doors on August 26 with a faculty workshop which was followed by the students' orientation program and registration. To date we have 1,324 students enrolled for the fall semester. Within this total number there are 716 men and 608 women. These students represent 75 counties in North Carolina, 22 other states, 7 foreign countries. Baptists again dominate our student body, comprising approximately 73.6 percent of the enrollment.

Concurrent with the opening of the fall semester, Mars Hill College occupied its new physical education building. This new facility has gone beyond our highest expectations, both in terms of beauty and function. The swimming pool, gymnasium, athletic fields, and other facilities have added a brilliant new element to our campus life. The formal opening of this facility was October 7.

The only indebtedness of the college is a balance of $500,000 on the 1¾ million dollar physical education complex. Of this indebtedness the trustees of the college have pledged $350,000. This most significant effort on the part of the trustees will allow the college to center its monies on the development of the educational program.

For the second consecutive year Mars Hill College has received a commendation from the American Association of University Professors. This commendation placed the college in the top five percent of all institutions in the nation figuring on a weighted scale improvement in the area of faculty compensation. The college has pledged itself to the continued development of its faculty and educational program.

Architects, working with the college officials and trustees, continue to make progress on plans for the Blackwell Administration-Classroom Building. The structure which is to get underway around December, 1968, will provide new classrooms, faculty offices, seminar rooms, a language laboratory, data processing center, and other academic facilities, as well as all of the administrative units on the campus. Upon the completion of the Blackwell Building, Mars Hill should enjoy one of the finest campuses in the South.

It was with deep sorrow and regret that the college suffered the loss of one of its most outstanding faculty members through death on November 17, 1966. Mr. J. Elwood Roberts served the college for twenty-three years and was one of the most influential faculty members on all student lives.

As a member of the Piedmont University Center, Incorporated, the college was able to attract many outstanding scholars to the campus for a lecture series. This, in turn, was buttressed by our own efforts through our symposium series in which we brought outstanding national figures to the campus to speak on the theme, "Crisis in World Politics." For the summer of 1967 several of our faculty members received special grants. They are: Wayne Pressley, H. Page Lee, and Richard Hoffman — Piedmont University Center Summer Study Grants; Dr. Harley Jolley and Dr. L. M. Outten — Piedmont University Center Research Grants; Mrs. Cornelia Ann Serota, Arthur Wood, Wilbur McBride, and Mrs. Betty Jolley—National Science Foundation Grants.

Above all else, Mars Hill is striving to perpetuate its Christian integrity, its academic program, and its friendliness. We feel that none of these components can stand alone since the institution has been founded on all three. Mars Hill College desires the confidence, patronage, and the financial support of all its constituency.

L. M. MASSEY, Chairman, Board of Trustees
E. BRUCE HEILMAN, President

The first year of President E. Bruce Heilman's administration was one of significant progress for Meredith College.

The study of a new program of inter-institutional cooperation between Meredith and North Carolina State University was made possible by a $7,500 grant from the Mary Reynolds Babcock Foundation. Results of the study provide for the enrollment of Meredith students in certain classes at State and for State students in certain courses at Meredith.

In April, the inauguration of President Heilman took place in Meredith's beautiful Elva Bryan McIver Amphitheater. Dr. Brooks Hays, one-time special assistant to the President of the United States, and former president of the Southern Baptist Convention, delivered the inaugural address. That occasion brought to the campus representatives from 107 colleges and universities and from 26 learned societies. Former Meredith president, Dr. Carlyle Campbell, presented the Presidential Medallion to his successor.

Inauguration ceremonies included breaking ground for the new million-dollar Carlyle Campbell Library which is expected to be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1968. Besides the library, other construction scheduled for the near future will include a physical education building and an additional dormitory. A challenge gift of $20,000 toward a new organ for Jones Auditorium was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Pomeranz of Sanford. Mrs. Pomeranz is a Meredith alumna.

A program of support, unique for Meredith, was begun with the formation of a Board of Associates designed to work with and advise the administration and trustees primarily in areas of monetary sustenance. This board, now with 47 members, is composed of outstanding men and women from over the state and outside North Carolina. Thus the college is continuing a development program whose goal is the provision of facilities adequate for 1,200 students.

Enrollment for the 1966-67 fall term was 1,019 — 852 of whom were degree candidates. They came from five countries and 18 states plus 81 North Carolina counties. About 51 percent are Baptist. Of the freshman class, 90 percent had come from the top quarter of their high school senior classes, as far as academic ratings are concerned. Fall semester enrollment for the current year numbers 849 degree candidates.

The Bachelor of Arts degree was awarded to 177 young women in 1967 commencement exercises, and the Bachelor of Music degree, requiring a fifth year of study, to two graduates.

The 1967 School of Christian Studies was held on the campus June 19-21. Speakers were Dr. Harmon R. Holcomb of Colgate Rochester Divinity School; Dr. Leander E. Keck of Vanderbilt University; and Rev. John Stone, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Southern Pines.

Meredith's 1966-67 financial audit as of June 30, 1967 lists the assets of the college at $7,358,013.23. The same audit shows Meredith indebtedness to be $564,000, which amount represents a loan from the Housing and Home Finance Agency on Poteat Dormitory and the college infirmary, covering a 40-year period and carrying interest charges of 3¼ percent.

WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY

G. MAURICE HILL, President, Board of Trustees
JAMES RALPH SCALES, President

Wake Forest University began the 1967 school year under the leadership of a new president, Dr. James Ralph Scales.

Dr. Scales, former dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Oklahoma State University, became Wake Forest's 11th president July 1. His election and the name change for Wake Forest were announced at the April meeting of the Board of Trustees. Dr. Scales, a prominent Baptist layman, was the unanimous choice of a special trustee committee headed by Lex Marsh of Charlotte. Before going to Oklahoma State University in 1965, Dr. Scales was vice president, executive vice president and president of Oklahoma Baptist University.

Wake Forest assumed university status on June 12, thus enabling Dr. Harold W. Tribble to retire as president of a university. University status had long been a dream of President Emeritus Tribble, who was president of Wake Forest College for 17 years. At their June meeting, the Board of Trustees voted that the building which has been known as the Humanities Building be named Harold W. Tribble Hall in honor of the retiring president.

Three departments in the School of Arts and Sciences began master's degree work during the summer and fall. They are the departments of religion, education and physical education. In the School of Arts and Sciences, 11 departments are now offering master's work. Ten departments at Bowman Gray School of Medicine offer master's degrees, and five of these ten offer Ph.D. degrees.

A $3.5 million football stadium, located just off the campus, is under construction and will be completed by the fall of 1968.

Enrollment this school year is the largest in history. It is 3,162 compared with 3,021 last year and 2,996 in 1965-66. Broken down the enrollment is: 2,405 in the School of Arts and Sciences, 271 in the School of Medicine, 196 in the School of Law, 123 in the School of Business Administration, and 167 in the Division of Graduate Studies.

Students at Wake Forest come from 40 states and 16 foreign countries.

A significant feature of the 1967-68 fiscal year is a record $15,082,518 budget for the University. This represents an increase of $1,495,045 over the previous year. A portion of the increase is reflected in faculty salaries.

Following is an analysis of the University's outstanding loans as of June 30, 1967:

Date	Original Amount	Interest Payable	Purpose	Dates of Maturity	Security Pledged	Principal Balance
3-1-55	$3,000,000	3¾%	Construction of Dorms	10-1-75	Dormitories	$1,425,000
10-1-58	400,000	4½%	Apartments	3-1-78	Stud. Apts.	220,000
						[1] $1,645,000
3-13-63 to 6-30-65	875,000	Prime Rate	Classroom Building	On Demand	None	300,000
						[2] $1,945,000

WINGATE COLLEGE

THOMAS H. LEATH, President of the Board of Trustees
BUDD E. SMITH, President

For the year 1966-67 the enrollment of Wingate College was 1,561. These students come from seventeen different states and four foreign countries. Approximately fifty per cent of the students belong to Baptist churches, and the others are divided between more than thirty religious denominations. There are ninety faculty members, and these represent study in more than 120 accredited graduate schools in America and foreign countries.

The budget for 1967-68 is $3,065,576. The total evaluation of the campus at the present time is slightly more than $7,000,000. The average compensation for teachers (nine months) is $7,680. Fringe benefits include hospitalization, insurance, retirement, Social Security, tuition payments for graduate study, fellowships, moving expenses, free tuition for children, and all of this amounts to approximately sixteen or eighteen per cent.

Wingate College has a very fine library of 36,000 volumes, and it is considered truly outstanding among junior colleges of the country, because concentration has been given to a collection that will be used for the first two years of college education. The library is truly the center of our program, and for the year 1967-68 the library budget is $70,000. More than 3,000 volumes are added each year. At the present time the entire system is being changed from the Dewey Decimal System to the Library of Congress System. Three full-time professional librarians are employed along with a library clerk and twenty students who serve as assistants.

Under construction now, and nearing completion, is a fine arts complex on the southeast corner of the academic campus which will provide facilities for music, art, foreign languages, and with a small auditorium for student recitals, debates, and as a center for closed circuit television that will be available to all classrooms on the campus. Surrounding the buildings will be an enclosed garden for sculpture and an outdoor theatre that will seat 500, with a memorial fountain marking the original spring that supplied water

[1] $1,645,000 to John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company
[2] $ 300,000 to Wachovia Bank and Trust Company for the school when it was established in 1895 by the Union Baptist Association.

Under construction and nearing completion is a dormitory for 200 men. This facility is scheduled for completion for the beginning of the second semester in 1968. The building is air-conditioned and equipped with the very best for housing on college campuses.

Principal Balance	Date	Original Amount	Interest Rate	Purpose	Maturity	Security
$ 49,882	11-1-56	$225,000	2¾%	Girls' Housing	11-1-76	Dormitory
461,931	7-1-64	750,000	6%	Dining Hall Dormitories	7-1-74	Dining Hall Dormitories

The trustee program enabling pastors and their wives to take any courses offered at Wingate is still rendering service to the denomination. Many people are benefiting from this program. The North Dakota mission project for freshmen students is still very active, and these students are returning to the campus as sophomores and sharing with their fellow students the great opportunities in the Home Mission work of the Baptist denomination. The new trustee scholarship program has completed two years, and these students are adding greatly to the total program of Wingate College. At the present time there are 37 young people studying at Wingate under this program. The Trustees and Advisory Council are continually working with the Patrons' organization, and during the last year these organizations have raised more than one-half million dollars to assist in operation and capital expansion. A very important part of the operating cost of the school is from the North Carolina Foundation of Church-Related Colleges. Wingate puts all of this income into salaries.

Wingate Trustees are still planning to maintain an enrollment of not more than 1,600 students and will strive diligently to be an outstanding private, two-year college, serving young people for two years and enabling them to go wherever they choose for senior college work. In May 1967, 530 young people were graduated. Many of these were graduating with one- and two-year secretarial programs and data processing. They went immediately to employment. Of the others, 479 were admitted to the senior college of their first choice without any loss of credits. This is a very fine record, and Wingate strives diligently to maintain an outstanding academic program.

At the present time there are 187 employees of the college, and each of these is keenly aware of the relationship between the Convention and the college. All pledge cooperation and promotion of the Cooperative Program. Truly, the Cooperative Program is the lifeblood of the Wingate College educational program. We are deeply grateful to each and every Baptist in North Carolina for the encouragement and for an investment in our program of Christian Higher Education. Our philosophy is, "An investment in a young person is an investment in eternity."

H. DIVISION OF CHRISTIAN SOCIAL SERVICES

1. Baptist Children's Homes of North Carolina, Incorporated

RAYMOND H. STONE, Chairman, Board of Trustees
W. R. WAGONER, President

Significant progress has been realized during the past year in the Agency's Long Range Plan for expansion of services and upgrading of facilities:

1. A modest home on the Wallburg farm, midway between Thomasville and Winston-Salem, has been renovated to serve as a residence for a small group of boys needing special assistance. This venture marks the beginning of a program of rehabilitation.

2. A family type cottage on the Mills Home Campus, made possible by Attorney and Mrs. William M. York of Greensboro was dedicated on June 25, 1967.

3. The Bright-Brown Cottage at Mills Home, also of family design, will be completed and occupied before the end of the year.

4. The J. A. and Julia T. Bryant and Alex and Lanie Williams family cottages at Kennedy Home are under construction.

5. The dairy herd has been moved from Mills Home to Kennedy Home to a completely new and automated dairy facility.

6. A regional case work center is being opened in Raleigh, more adequately to serve the needs of people of this area of the state. Centers staffed by trained social workers are located in six prominent areas of the state and add to the ability of the Homes to minister to the needs of families.

The Child Development Center on the Mills Home Campus is now in its third year of operation. It was established to serve the local community as a means of strengthening family life. It also provides a demonstration and informational program which can offer assistance to churches in beginning any phase of weekday care and education for preschool children. During the 1967-68 school year the center is serving 70 children, with related services to their families, in two kindergarten groups and two nursery school groups, with 40 children in full day care. The staff is providing consultation services upon request to churches interested in the program.

A picturesque 92 acre tract of land near Waynesville in Haywood County is currently under option by the Children's Homes as a prospective location for a Western Home for children. Members of the Board of Trustees, the Administrative Staff, the Homes Architectural and Engineering consultants have this property under careful evaluation to determine its suitability for a Children's Home. Such a facility is needed better to serve the people of Western North Carolina. Opportunities for family rehabilitation are greatly multiplied when children can be placed reasonably close to whatever family they have. Should plans materialize a home to serve approximately 50 children will be developed.

While giving attention to a program of diversified services to meet the needs of children and their families in a changing social order group care, foster home care, and family services are being strengthened. Income through the Cooperative program, the Thanksgiving offering, designation from churches and individuals constitute the major portion of the Homes' income. It is the continued purpose of the Agency to extend a variety of quality services to as many people as possible.

2. North Carolina Baptist Homes for the Aging

WILLIAM A. POOLE, Superintendent

Your North Carolina Baptist Homes for the Aging have been on the move during the past year. In fact, we will be ready to move into our new Home at Yanceyville in November and will be able to receive 30 more dear old people into the family of our Homes. When the Yanceyville Home, our fifth, is occupied, we will have a total of 200 deserving older men and women in our care in all of the Homes.

As you know, we now have four Homes and an Infirmary in operation. Resthaven and the Hayes Home in Winston-Salem; the Albemarle Home at Albemarle; the Hamilton Home at Hamilton.

In these Homes you have an eternal investment and can rejoice in the loving care which you are making possible for our older people. The majority are financially needy persons, and are supplemented through the love gifts of North Carolina Baptists. Two sources of income from the churches are increasingly vital in the support of our residents — the Special Day Offering, received on the 3rd Sunday of February each year, and our share in the Cooperative Program.

The Special Day Offering for 1967 is at an all-time high and has increased by 10 percent over last year. This is most commendable, but when we face the reality of costs, which have advanced by 20 percent, and the maintenance of a new Home and the care of 30 additional residents at Yanceyville, we could face a real crisis during the next year, unless the gifts from our Baptist people continue to increase in proportion to our needs.

We wish to thank all of our Baptist people across the State who are enabling us to minister to the aging in Christ's Name, and we want all of you to know that each of your 5 Homes exist for the people from all over our great State. We could not operate without your love, your prayers, your concern, and your financial support.

In the midst of our joys have been our sorrows. Our oldest resident, Aunt Fannie Drumwright, passed away in June, just short of her 106th birthday. She came to live with us at the age of 93, and the 13 years of her presence with us have been a shining example of the special significance of a Christian ministry to older people. The compassionate nursing care alone which this little lady received is reason enough to thank God for the people called Baptists, whose vision and concern for mankind have included the aging in answering the Master's call in the service of the Lord.

3. North Carolina Baptist Hospitals, Inc.

CARTER M. PRESLAR, Chairman, Board of Trustees
REID T. HOLMES, Administrator

Your trustees and staff of the Baptist Hospital wish to express to our Convention and our people in the churches our grateful appreciation for your deep concern as expressed in your interest, your prayers and your financial support.

It has been an eventful year in the life of the hospital. It has been a difficult year financially, because of rapidly rising costs in hospital care. Your regular support through the Cooperative Program is vital to the work of the hospital, including the Department of Pastoral Care. Our urgent plea for extra help in support of our charity work, in the face of a heavy deficit, was answered with a wonderful expression of concern in a Mother's Day offering of well over $300,000, by far the largest ever made. We are profoundly grateful for this and for the privilege we have of serving in your behalf, and in the name of the Great Physician, these who are sick and cannot pay their way.

In this day of scientific investigation and advance new wonders are taking place constantly. It is an exciting day in the field of medicine — it is a new day with new developments almost daily. There are new procedures, new drugs, new techniques, new instruments, new facilities for saving lives and relieving suffering and handicaps. Our Medical Center, composed of the Baptist Hospital and the Bowman Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest University, is deeply involved and making significant contributions in this advance in medicine. An important foundation has been so impressed with our institution that it has chosen our School of Nursing and is providing large grants to make it a center for developing the best possible curricula and methods for the training of nurses and to make it a pilot program for other schools in this country.

The development program is under way with construction in progress on the power plant, the Medical School addition and the new Paramedical School building. The power plant is scheduled for completion by summer of 1968, and then the new patient tower is to be started. The Paramedical School building is due to be completed by September, 1968, and make possible the enlargement of these nine schools to help meet the acute needs in these fields. It is anticipated that the development program will be completed by 1971, making it possible better to train medical personnel, to participate more largely in medical research, and to minister more effectively to more people in their time of sickness.

As we increase our capacity to serve, our great concern is for the sick person who needs the ministry of our Baptist Hospital but cannot pay the cost of this service. We believe this is at the heart of our mission; we believe it is what North Carolina Baptists want us to do; and we believe North Carolina Baptists will provide the means for us to do it. To that end we express to you our gratitude and pledge to you our best effort to serve.

Highlights of the Year

Once again the Recorder is pleased to report a sizable gain in circulation, although it is never as large as we would like to see. There was a gain of 3,126 over last year. More of our larger churches are including the Recorder in the budget and this is most encouraging. We long for the day when more churches will include the Recorder as a natural part of their literature expense. Nothing can take its place in the life and work of North Carolina Baptists.

It is not surprising that the Recorder shows a deficit for the past year's operation. Printing and mailing costs continue to spiral while income remains relatively stable. The Recorder is put in a most unusual position with regard to more people getting the paper under the low-cost Church Budget Plan. Under this plan, the cost to a church is only $2 a year while the auditor's cost for each annual subscription is $2.96. This strange paradox will not keep us from promoting the Church Budget Plan because it is our conviction that every Baptist home should receive the Recorder. Somehow, adequate operational expenses will be found.

Of course, the Recorder is not a profit-making organization and doesn't expect to be. Certain economy moves will be made in the coming year in an effort to offset the increasing cost of printing and mailing the Recorder. A large proportion of our budget is fixed by contracts—for rent, printing, paper, postage, etc. It will be remembered also that the Recorder has not received an increased allocation from the convention since 1958. Since subscription rates were raised in 1961, it is our hope that this will not have to take place again soon. The Recorder is very selective in its advertising and consequently there is no practical way for advertising to offset the continued increases in printing and mailing.

V. REPORT OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BAPTIST FOUNDATION, INC.

GORDON MADDREY, Executive Secretary

The year 1967 has been a year of marked progress in several areas of our Baptist Foundation work. It is truly a joy to see the interest among our people stirred and to know we are beginning on the road of real progress. Our climb has been slow during the past few years but with the encouragement of our Baptist people, we now know the services rendered by The North Carolina Baptist Foundation, Inc. are appreciated and are being used. Our assets as of June 30, 1967, have exceeded one million dollars.

One of the highlights of this year has been the building of a new Home for the Aging in Yanceyville. Money and property were left to the Foundation sometime ago through wills of a brother and sister for this purpose. This Home will be open for occupancy in the Fall. We are most proud to have had a part in the building of this particular Home.

We are often mentioning to our people throughout the state that everyone should have a will — man and woman. We feel if he or she counsels with his lawyer that whatever desires they may have for a particular cause, can be fulfilled. This was the case of our new Home for the Aging . . . thinking and planning ahead.

On an average about 30 percent of our adults have a will. It is easy to see that a great deal of work needs to be done to educate the remaining 70 percent on the desirability of having a will. The Foundation believes that every Christian should have a Christian will in that he recognizes God's ownership of all things and he has the blessed privilege of being faithful in his Christian stewardship. Whether one elects to use the facilities of the Baptist Foundation for a continuing witness of their stewardship is not too important but that they make a will and publicly declare God the owner of all things and they as his stewards is of paramount importance. Through prayerful consideration, God will lead you to do that which is best for His Kingdom through YOUR will.

This year we have had a tremendous response from our pastors giving the name of a Church Representative for his particular church. We are most grateful to each Representative for accepting this responsibility.

January will be observed again as "Make Your Will Month." Bulletin inserts were sent all pastors who requested them last January to be used any Sunday during that month. Our response to this was over-whelming with a total of 55,000 being used in the churches.

The Foundation office is open to everyone and we invite you to come by or call if we can be of any help. Any literature you might desire for individual use or for meetings, will be furnished upon request. Also our two 16mm sound films "Treasures in Heaven" and "God's Will Through Yours," plus a 35mm film strip "Generations to Come" are available through the Program Services office. We hope you will have an occasion to use these films.

VI. REPORT ON CONVENTION COMMITTEES

A. COMMITTEE ON MEMORIALS

We pause in our convention program proceedings to pay tribute to our beloved ministers of the Gospel who have been called to their reward since our last annual meeting. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a much greater measure they have brought honor to themselves far beyond our poor power to add or detract. Early in life they heard the Master's call and challenge: "The fields are white unto harvest. Who will come and work with Me in My Vineyard?" Each one answered, "Here am I, Lord, use me."

During their long years of service, they walked hand in hand with Christ, and were guided into many fields of vital service. Often they labored under great difficulties, but they fainted not. Then at last the Master called again and said to them, one by one, "Well done thou faithful servant. Thou hast been faithful over the few things that I gave you here in this world. Enter now into the Joys of thy Lord." Surely our state is a better community than it would have been had they not passed this way. Let us all and each rededicate ourselves to the unfinished task that lies ahead.

B. REPORT OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

Though the Public Affairs Committee has addressed itself to other matters in the course of the year, its annual report to the Convention focuses again on the issue of religious liberty. The Committee wishes to reaffirm its position in its 1966 report which opposed a proposed amendment to the provision of the Constitution relating to church-state separation. The Committee feels that it is a major feature of its assignment to call attention to any infringement or compromise of religious liberty, whether by Baptists, or any other body in the nation, or by the government itself; that the matter of church-state separation needs continual reassessment in the light of changing circumstances and that a rigid and authoritarian posture with regard to the issue is no longer constructive in working out a viable and dynamic relationship between church and state today.

I. A REAFFIRMATION OF CONFIDENCE IN THE FIRST AMENDMENT.

It is our firm conviction that the First Amendment offers full and ample protection for our religious liberty, and that any amendments thereto will only weaken its structure and lead to false interpretations and questionable practices. We reaffirm our faith in the First Amendment and the Bill of Rights to guarantee the great American principle of Religious Freedom and Separation of Church and State. In its interpretation of the First Amendment, the Supreme Court has declared that government agencies should not impose, regulate, or organize religious exercise in the schools. With this decision we are in full agreement.

There is little or no foundation for alleging that the Supreme Court is attempting to deprive our nation of its Christian heritage. The First Amendment guarantees that the government shall make no law prohibiting the free exercise of religion. The decision of the Supreme Court concerning the "establishment of religion" section of the First Amendment indicates that it would rule against any governmental action that would regulate or coerce the religious life of the people. Below are listed some of the ways in which the Bible may be used and in which the free exercise of religion may be practiced in public schools. We consider these worthy of study, and we believe that such procedures are well within the limits of our Constitution.

1. Bible study as a credit course. Just as a competently prepared teacher can deal objectively with politics or economics, a competently prepared teacher can deal objectively with a course of Bible study.

2. Bible in moral-spiritual value programs. The ideals appropriate and essential to a democratic society are inseparable from the Bible. Scriptures relative to such ideals as integrity, self-discipline, sacredness of personality, honesty, charity, and others identified with good citizenship have a legitimate place in the education of the whole man.

3. Bible in the teacher's life. A Christian teacher's most significant use of the Bible in the classroom is that reflected in his own life.

4. Meditation Period. The meditation period could have real value with the church and the home giving guidance as to how such a period could be used: silent prayer, scripture memorization, reading of scripture portions, devotional booklets, and the like are suggestions.

II. A Reassessment of Church-State Separation.

A. Church-State Separation in Historical Perspective.

Diversity among Baptists is an inevitable corollary of the one most universal distinctive among those who bear the name: the competency of the soul in religion—"that the individual is responsible solely to God for his eternal destiny."[1] On this solid foundation the unique witness of Baptists has been raised: the priesthood of the believer, freedom to read and interpret inspired scripture (the only document adequate with final authority for faith and practice), the democratic structure of congregational life composed through believer's baptism of which Christ alone is Lord, and the free association of churches with churches.

Emphasis upon individual religious liberty is the most consistent thread discernable throughout the course of Baptist history. It produces the amazing paradox that explains both the unity of faith, fellowship and cooperative work, and the rich variety of Baptist thought and interpretation. Changing historical circumstances provide the chief clues for understanding the proper context out of which the long succession of Baptist confessions of Faith is derived.

This very diversity of interpretation indicates the openness of Baptists to new insights from the Spirit from age to age in the ever changing conditions of history. This pluralism is seen no less in the Baptist understanding of the relation of the believer to the civil order. This relation has always been stated in such wise as to protect the freedom of the individual conscience in a particular historic context. The fundamental Baptist position is religious liberty. The disentanglement of the institutional structures of Church and State is one of the most noble expressions of this doctrine, and is itself a principle and not a doctrine in the New Testament sense of the word.

[1] Torbet, Robert G., A History of Baptists; The Judson Press; Phila.; 1950. p. 479.

Hence, in the light of Medieval Christendom with its union of Church and State, which was spiritually so deadening to individual religious freedom, the earliest Baptist confessions even forbade believers to hold civil office, though magistrates were still to be obeyed, if they ruled wisely and justly.[2]

By 1644 the London Confession declared it lawful for a Christian to be a magistrate and to take oaths.[3] This position has been reiterated in all subsequent Confessions. The basic principle of Church-State separation was clearly stated in such Confessions long before it became possible in actual practice: "the State has no ecclesiastical and the Church no civic function."[4]

The State, therefore, was not "to meddle with religion, or matters of conscience, to force or compel men to this or that form of religion, or doctrine; but to leave Christian religion free, to every man's conscience" . . . as John Smyth stated in his Confession of 1612 for the English congregation at Amsterdam.[5]

In England where a State Church insisted upon religious conformity to one established church, Thomas Helwys made an even stronger claim for freedom of worship, for which he was jailed in Newgate prison.[6] The Confessions that followed continued to expand this principle and received the clear support of a John Bunyan and a John Milton. In the American colonies, Milton's classmate at Cambridge, Roger Williams, was to found the Rhode Island Colony on the principle of separation of Church and State denying the right of a civil magistrate to interfere in matters of conscience and religion, which culminated victoriously in the First Amendment to the Constitution and the omission of any religious tests or restrictions for holding public office.[7]

To safeguard their beliefs in the priesthood of believers and in religious freedom, Baptists have insisted upon the separation of Church and State.[8] The rise of this principle must be seen over against an historical situation in which the civil power was controlled by an Established Church for its own sectarian gains, with attendant persecution of all other free and dissenting religious bodies.

Furthermore, the multiplicity and confusion of denominations fructifying out of the Reformation in the American colonies made it utterly impossible for a single Established Church to arise on the American scene. Separation of Church and State, though never absolute in the sense of completely nullifying religious influence in national affairs, was the principle best suited to safeguard the individual religious conscience in the light of the historical circumstances of the time.

A necessary factor in the principle calls for the rejection of public tax funds for the support of the clergy and the propagation of religious tenets. Multiple aid of this kind "treating and supporting all churches equally," suggested by South Carolina in 1778, was defeated through the powerful opposition of Madison, Jefferson and Washington.[9]

In the present historical circumstances Baptist diversity again shows itself in regard to the relation of the believer to the civil power. Christians hold public office in large numbers; Judeo-Christian ethics have been translated both into the structures and programs of government's responsibility for the whole citizenry; church and government enterprises overlap in increasing ways. The modern democratic State is not what the State was in Medieval Christendom.

Mullins' prophetic insight aptly described the nature of the emerging new relation between Church and State in our time, when he said, "There will, of course, remain a borderland where it will not always be clear how to discriminate and apply the principle correctly."[10]

Many Baptists are finding means of cooperating with the State as joint-partners to serve the needs of society, particularly in the areas of education and welfare (once the exclusive domain of the Church), in ways that still safeguard the principle of individual religious freedom and the freedom of the congregations.

In one set of historical circumstances the relation of Church and State called for separation between the two. Another set of historical circumstances strongly suggests the possibility of a relationship of cooperative effort. In both the individual religious conscience can be safeguarded. Both can be called "historic Baptist positions."

B. Church-State Separation in Contemporary Perspective.

An examination of the interrelationship of Church-State affairs leads the Committee of Public Affairs to the conclusion that absolute dependence is not only morally wrong but is unlawful under our Constitution while absolute separation is impossible. The most serious problem is to discern the nature and extent of separation which is necessary in order to preserve religious liberty and achieve insights helpful to the co-existence of both Church and State. These two institutions must exist and work out their programs in the same localities, in the same period of history and, largely, with the same people.

Interrelationships and cooperation have proven beneficial. The State fulfills its obligations in the task of protecting persons in a generally accepted and legitimate service. Sanitation laws, building codes, safety and fire regulations, maintaining peace and order are but a few illustrations in which the State penetrates into the affairs of the Church for the protection of individuals. Cooperation between Church and State has proven beneficial to both institutions through the work of foreign missionaries. Our nation has won friends and our missionaries converts through educational and health services and the distribution of foods and supplies via a cooperative effort. Where lives have been endangered in the discharge of service, many missionaries have relied upon governmental aid for security and in some cases evacuation. The chaplaincy is another illustration where Church and State cooperation has proved mutually beneficial. This service appears to be too complex and far reaching for discussion in this brief report.

In our own land we have often asked the State: to assist in the observance of "the Lord's day," the acknowledgment of Christ's birth with a legal holiday, the curtailing of theatre and sports activities when in conflict with church interests, the regulation of tavern operations, and to make other exceptions for the religious conscience by means of public law, such laws to be enforced by the State. Coins and currency have been used for reminders of religious values and in governmental and patriotic ceremonies God and country are closely associated. Through governmental administrative bodies, our ministers have been given draft exempt status under Federal draft laws and our churches have received many financial advantages and other benefits such as tax exemptions and reduced postal rates.

Therefore, the Public Affairs Committee wishes to remind fellow Baptists that separation of Church and State has not and does not require the Church to take a negative attitude toward organized society and it has not and does not require the State to take a negative attitude toward the Church. Collective activities give us a long and varied story of associations describing organizational patterns by which man has achieved collective goals.

We do believe that separation of Church and State means that the Church has its own reasons for being and that these reasons are distinct from those of the State. Separation also means that there are two publics. Though there is some overlap in activity and in interest, the Church must of necessity be a voluntary group. The Church must maintain its distinct methods and its separate administration.

It follows that Church and State must have their own separate sources of income, their own appropriate educational programs and their own structure of agencies and programs. There should be no element of control imposed on one by the other, either actual or implied. In brief, the complexity of Church-State affairs requires a judicious balance between Church-State cooperation and separation.

C. THE CHRISTIAN LIFE COMMITTEE

The Christian Life Committee is acutely aware of the many personal and social problems which impinge upon every area of our society.

It is our responsibility to delineate what we consider the most pressing social issues and to recommend what resolutions and actions we as Baptists in North Carolina can take with regard to these problems. In consideration of these issues we shall concern ourselves with three broad divisions: 1st, The Church in a Secular Society, 2nd, Human Relations, and 3rd, Political and Economic Affairs. This Committee recognizes that its responsibility is to speak to our Baptist State Convention rather than to speak for it.

I. The Church in a Secular Society

Of his disciples Jesus said, "I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou shouldest keep them from the evil" (John 17:15). Christians are to be in the world but not of it. They are in the world as lights to illumine it, as salt to savor it, and as leaven to change it.

Every Christian is to seek the will of the Lord as in love he relates himself to others in home, in church, in business; to neighbors individually and in community; yes, even to enemies. Every Christian is to be responsible for his own attitudes and for his conduct as a Christian.

Every Christian is to be a good witness for Jesus Christ. In accord with our Lord's express will, saved persons are voluntarily to unite with other saved persons in churches for the proclamation of the gospel, for evangelism, for teaching, for ministering to the end that people may be won to Christ and may be encouraged to observe all things whatsoever He has commanded. Each Christian has a responsibility insofar as he has influence and a vote to see that his church is genuinely Christian.

Churches do well to send messengers to unite with the messengers from sister churches to form associations and conventions such as our Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, and the Southern Baptist Convention "for the promotion of Christian missions at home and abroad and any other objects such as Christian education, benevolent enterprises, and social services which it may deem proper and advisable for the furtherance of the kingdom of God."[1]

The Christian Life Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, 460 James Robertson Parkway, Nashville, Tennessee, Dr. Foy Valentine, Executive Secretary-Treasurer, correlates many programs for Christian morality development among Southern Baptists. In its report to the Southern Baptist Convention in June 1967 the Commission reported:

"The channeling of materials on applied Christianity through the Commission's ministry surpassed a total circulation of 71,290,000.

[1] Constitution of the Southern Baptist Convention, article II.

Most of this circulation was realized through the cordial cooperation of the state Baptist papers and the effective open channels provided by many different departments in the Baptist Sunday School Board, especially the Training Union Department. Other notably cooperative helpers in channeling this emphasis on applied Christianity in 1966 were the Home Mission Board, the Brotherhood Commission, Woman's Missionary Union, and The Baptist Program.

"More new books, articles, and study materials were published than ever before in any twelve-month period to help Southern Baptists with Christian morality development. Among the books were Alcohol—In and Out of the Church by Wayne Oates, The Many Faces of Ethyl by William S. Garmon, and The Gambling Menace written by the Christian ethics professors from all the Southern Baptist seminaries and edited by Ross Coggins.

"An important project involving preparation of carefully researched materials for a bibliography of Christian social ethics resource materials for all Southern Baptist pastors and educational directors was contracted and carried out. This research will be valuable for years to come for all who want to make quick reference to the materials available to pastors and the churches on such topics as family life, race relations, daily work, citizenship, and specific moral issues like alcohol, narcotics, gambling, and obscenity."

In our Baptist State Convention, The Biblical Recorder, the Executive Secretary, the officers of the convention, the Executive Committee, and the departments of the convention have been told to voice and have capably interpreted the desire of North Carolina Baptists for social righteousness.

Christian people can influence the secular world by being active in community and political life. The ballot is a potent weapon for good. Our constituency is encouraged to vote as a Christian duty for the candidates and for the issues considered most likely to give us an ordered community and a civic life most nearly in accord with Christian standards of righteousness. Christian people are encouraged to seek public office. For conscience sake we are to pay taxes, obey the laws, accept jury service, and all other civic responsibilities.

Our Lord's commands to "Make disciples of all nations" and to "Go and do thou likewise" (referring to the care given by the Good Samaritan to the poor, wounded robbed man on the Jericho road) are complementary rather than mutually exclusive. The church that scatters for social service without gathering for worship will soon disappear. One not familiar with a meeting of the Friends dropped in for worship. After a long period of silence, he whispered to the man beside him, "When does the service begin?" "As soon," he replied, "as the meeting is over." Strong churches with good worship services in which men and women, boys and girls hear the call to committal to Christ, are essential to a church which goes forth into the secular world "zealous of good works."

II. Human Relations: War, Peace, Race

The leaven of the Christian gospel permeating the democratic ideal has moved our society forward in the whole field of human relations. Throughout most of the nation there is a heartening move toward educational and job opportunities, housing and voting privileges, and extension of church ministries without racial restrictions. The message of Christian love begins to be more clearly heard in the face of continued hate, prejudice, war and man's inhumanity to man.

It is our earnest hope that Baptists of North Carolina will do all that is humanly possible to foster an honorable and just peace. We should keep in mind always the great goal of "peace among men" as we preach the gospel of the Prince of Peace. As Christians it is our responsibility to be creatively involved in seeking solutions to the pressing national and international problems of prejudice, poverty, injustice, and immorality in order to create a foundation on which to build peace among men and nations.

We would encourage Baptists to continue to pursue a course to seek a settlement of problems of human relations in local, state, national and international situations.

It is beyond our ability to offer specific proposals about government policies, military strategy, or diplomatic approaches to negotiate our present political and international crises. Therefore, we would encourage the responsible leadership of our government to continue to pursue patiently every course that might lead to a peaceful settlement of all our problems, both internal and external, and especially the Vietnam conflict. In the interests of freedom, liberty and justice we pray for an honorable and just peace for the Vietnamese people. We would encourage our churches to pray for the men who are in the Military Forces, and continue to nurture the spiritual growth of these men by maintaining communication with them during their absence from the home church and community.

III. Political and Economic Affairs

A. Affluence and Poverty

The fact that affluence and poverty exist side by side is an indication of the lack of sensitivity as well as the inability to meet the growing needs of a society that constantly finds itself in the midst of change. This presents a serious challenge to the Christian Church as well as to the total democratic process.

Poverty breeds discontent, distrust, and disunity and thwarts opportunity and maims life. We endorse the idea of a planned economy, where all people would have the opportunity to earn a reasonable living wage for a reasonable number of working hours, and, in the process, enjoy the dignity that human life can possess by becoming intelligent producers and consumers in the economy.

The Church has manifested some interest in this direction from the time of its inception. The present generation has seen the manifestation of national and civic concern because many of those who are leaders with these groups have come under the influence of the Church. We commend these groups for the responsibility they have assumed in helping meet the needs of poverty stricken people. We suggest that the churches work cooperatively with these groups in order that we might more adequately meet human need. The Church should continuously evaluate the work that is being done in this area and where other groups, either individually or in cooperation with the Church, are not meeting specific needs, the Church should accept this as an area of major concern.

We look with favor on attempts of institutions of higher education to provide courses that will enable students more adequately to understand people that have grown up in disadvantaged areas. We encourage these institutions to provide a vocational emphasis that will enable students to work more effectively with underprivileged groups. We further endorse programs of adult education that make it possible for people to help themselves and gain the dignity that can come from being able to be self-supporting citizens in their society.

Where opportunity or personal initiative and abilities cannot meet the vital needs with poverty stricken people, we agree, therefore, to cooperative and responsible assistance.

B. Dissent and Protest

The majority opinion of any given society is not always the right opinion. Nor can the fact of majority make sure that this opinion will prevail over the years. These are two reasons, among others, for tolerance toward social protest and dissent. The wise people look for truth and reality as they float to the surface in the boiling seas of social unrest. The less wise can think of nothing but the stifling of protest and the killing off of dissent. This often means that they blind themselves and their contemporaries to possible deficiencies. Glaring inequities and the most pronounced prejudices lie hidden in the placid calm. Existing without notice they are seldom subjected to remedial action. The demonstration of protest and dissent is frequently an ugly episode. It heats up the passions of all concerned until the lava of violence may hurry down the slopes of a mountainous hate. As a consequence, it is all too easy to condemn the demonstrators and disparage their cause. Your committee hopes that the nation and this section of our country will not make such a mistake. In the last analysis, protest and dissent offer striking opportunities for a culture, armed with its own mores and entrenched in its own customs, to see itself as it really is. Then it may lay down its arms and change its ways.

Christians, through churches and other media, must be responsible for other attitudes than the forgoing in the total context of this question. Although in the light of the teachings and example of Jesus Christ, they can hardly condemn every act and all forms of protest, neither should they offer a blanket endorsement. The Church has always realized that there is a proper time for civil disobedience. But this has depended more upon its intuitive sense of righteousness and upon the leadership of the Holy Spirit. The church's scriptures are weighted on the opposite side. "Let every person be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and those that exist have been instituted by God." Thus the times for civil disobedience are narrow in scope and infrequent as to their occurrence. When all recourses to changing or eliminating unjust laws have failed, civil disobedience may be the only resort. In that event, those who break the law should expect to be judged and disciplined by it. The sincerity of their purpose is hard to accept unless this is so.

When the powers of civil disobedience, protest, and dissent have brought changes in the laws, then the protestors must work in a new dimension. They must assuredly enforce the good law and seek to make it as effective as possible. Nor can they pile one act of civil disobedience upon another until they have toppled every law they think unjust in an unbroken sequence of protest. Bad laws are preferable to anarchy. When protest has brought corrective changes to the body of law, the dissenters must be patient with the slow growing fruit of their own labors. The courts do not move with the fluid and snakelike swiftness of a street demonstration. Like the "Mills of the gods" they grind slowly but finely. A demonstration to make the courts move with greater speed has much less justification than one which sought to change an injustice. The riots of the past two summers cannot be commended. They are the violence that comes from frustration and impatience. They spew their bitterness over all of humankind. They are motivated more by hate than hope. Your committee recommends the attitude and deed of those groups, which are now seeking by every honorable means to hasten the legal process so that the results of civil rights legislation may be effectively realized in the shortest time possible. This is filled with greater promise than the actions of some leaders who cannot possibly advance through the wreckage of their own reckless actions.

C. Crime and Law Enforcement

On May 12th of this year President Johnson stated that crime in the streets is the second greatest problem in our nation. Few of us would choose to disagree with this judgment. Crime has become our national disgrace, and any amount of statistics could be cited to substantiate this contention. In some urban areas, nearly half of all the residents stay off the streets at night for fear of attack. More and more people are keeping firearms at home for protection and watchdogs are becoming increasingly popular. Five out of every six boys is destined to turn up in juvenile court for nontraffic offences before he is eighteen years old. The over-all crime rate which has been spiraling higher each year increased 20 percent the first quarter of this year over the same period last year. And unfortunately all statistics we have reflect only visible crime; while we know that invisible or secret crime is more successful and likely more flagrant. After eighteen months of study and research, the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice concluded that the full story of U. S. crime simply cannot be reported. It describes a situation so bleak that it seriously threatens our entire society.

One area which this Commission particulary stressed is that of law enforcement and the Police. Time magazine of March 24, quotes from the Commission's findings as follows: "Clearly the U. S. expects a great deal from its law enforcers — and gives them little. Everywhere in the country, police facilities are understaffed, policemen are underpaid and inadequately trained. To make matters worse, outmoded traditions require all novice policemen, no matter what their education or skill, to start their careers alike — at the bottom. As a result, it is almost impossible to recruit the college graduates and specialists so desperately needed to combat today's sophisticated criminals."

After many other revealing and shocking findings the Commission concludes that the "Community's most enduring protection against crime is to right the wrongs and cure the illnesses that tempt men to harm their neighbors." This is a desperate plea for the Church to become aware of the role it can play in helping to alleviate some of the conditions and causes of crime. We therefore recommend that our churches cooperate and confer with law enforcement agencies in search for all means whereby our crime rate can be curtailed and greatly reduced.

D. REPORT OF TRUSTEE ORIENTATION COMMITTEE

RONALD E. WALL, Chairman

We understand that the purpose of our committee is to provide for the "orienting, training, and instructing all trustees as to their duties, responsibilities, prerogatives, and relationships."

In seeking to carry out this purpose the committee has met several times this year and has planned a program of trustee orientation to be held at the Statler-Hilton Inn (formerly Voyager Inn), Greensboro, N. C., on January 5-6, 1968. The program will be on the theme: "Triangle of Communications," and will include several outstanding speakers and leaders. Mr. John L. Stickley, Sr., of Charlotte, North Carolina, will give an address on, "Effective Communications Between Trustees, Institutions, and the Convention." Mr. William H. Westphal, of Greensboro, North Carolina, will speak on the topic, "The Service of Trustees in Regard to Financial Responsibility." "A Dynamic Trustee and a Demanding Responsibility," will be the topic of Dr. Sharvy Umbeck, President,

Knox College, Galesburg, Illinois. Dr. Porter W. Routh of Nashville, Tennessee, will bring the closing message Saturday morning on: "Baptists Facing the Future."

Other program personalities will include Dr. William Friday, President of the University of North Carolina, Mr. Ben Fisher of Raleigh, presidents of our colleges and heads of our institutions, and others.

We urge all our institutions to see to it that all trustees attend this meeting and participate in it. Write to the Statler-Hilton Inn, 830 West Market Street, Greensboro, N. C., for motel reservations.

E. CHRISTIAN ACTION COMMITTEE

In this era of cataclysmic evolution when: the very foundation of our Christian faith is assaulted by the outrageous accusation that it is "rooted in L S D trips"; there is talk of "Marxist sponsored 'psychedelic revolutions' "; and the identifying characteristic of our faith "that ye have love one to another" is usurped as a theme by the "hippy" movement. When: "the pill" is devastating the sexual mores of our culture; newly identified killers the cigaret and the motor vehicle are assuming epidemic proportions; organ transplants are becoming common place and the welfare and care of the donor and the recipient may become conflictual; euthanasia is a consideration along with abortion and suicide in other areas. Under the foregoing circumstances, your committee cannot focus clearly only on the Christian Action League and its current area of functioning. However, beyond this, there is an amazing lack of clarity of responsibility with many pertinent issues going unnoticed by default. In this respect, it appears that our Convention is in danger of being guilty of failing its constituency.

Therefore, in the light of the urgent and complex moral issues confronting Christian people today and with respect to the responsibility of Baptists to provide leadership in the identification and solution of ethical problems to the uplifting of the character of individuals and the total culture; the Christian Action Committee makes the following recommendation: That a special committee be set up by the convention: To study the feasibility and advisability of creating "Division of Christian Ethics," with a committee of the General Board, Secretary, and such other staff as deemed necessary, whose function would encompass the areas of responsibility of the existing convention Committees—Christian Action, Christian Life and Public Affairs, as defined in our by-laws.

To review the relationship of the above mentioned committees to other organizations outside our convention, as mentioned in the by-laws.

Such special Committee to consist of seven members as follows: the President of the General Board, as chairman, three members elected by the General Board at its January meeting, and the respective chairmen of the committees affected by this recommendation.

F. REPORT OF HISTORICAL COMMITTEE

In 1959 the Historical Committee of the Baptist State Convention recommended the establishment of a joint program by the Convention and Wake Forest College for continuing at a more intensive level the collection, preservation, and use of Baptist historical materials. This step was based on the well established fact that documentary sources are absolutely necessary in the writing of history, for accurate history cannot be written from tradition or a priori assumptions. Since 1960, when the new program became effective, the Baptist Collection in the Wake Forest Library has had a full-time Director under whose leadership large quantities of historical materials have been added to the invaluable items gathered by Thomas Pittman, Mrs. Ethel Taylor Crittenden, George Washington Paschal, and other earlier collectors.

During the last fiscal year, 333 titles were added to the Collection. Among these were minutes of associations, church histories, manuscript church records, a blacksmith's account book, and the letters and diaries of several individuals. An indication of the amount of work involved may be seen in the fact that processing these materials and placing them where they could be readily found required the making of 4,793 file cards.

One of the responsibilities of the Historical Committee is to encourage the writing and publication of standard histories of churches, associations, and conventions, and of biographies of individuals. It is with genuine appreciation to the authors that the publication of the following recent works is acknowledged:

Alice Bradley, A Brief History of Bethesda Baptist Church, Clayton, North Carolina, 1842-1967.

Mary Ann Bridges, Lattimore Baptist Church, Seventy-fifth Anniversary, 1891-1966.

Frances Haywood, The History of Emerywood Baptist Church, 1956-1966.

History Committee, Mt. Ruhama Baptist Church, Rt. 2, Newton, N. C., Commemorating One Hundred Fifty Years of Progress for the Lord, 1816-1966; A History of North Carolina Baptists, M. A. Huggins.

Fred Lewis and Herbert Queen, History of Mountain Creek Baptist Church, Gilkey, N. C., 1789-1965.

Suzanne Cameron Linder, William Louis Poteat, Prophet of Progress.

Alvin A. Walker, History, First Baptist Church, Maiden, North Carolina.

If other such works were published last year the Baptist Collection would like to receive copies.

During the month of September 1967, the 4,905 printed books, pamphlets, and minutes, 256 document boxes of materials, and 617 reels of microfilm which constitute the Baptist Collection were moved from the several different places in the Library where they had been housed to the new quarters made available by Wake Forest as a part of the accelerated development program for the University Library. The Baptist Collection now has exclusive use of two rooms, one an office containing 176 square feet and the other a spacious room of 2,402 square feet extending across the east end of the building on the second floor. The main room has 1,808 linear feet of adjustable shelving. The shelves appear to be about half filled now, which means that there is room for expansion for several years.

Knowing that this space would be made available and that the Director of the Baptist Collection would need secretarial assistance in order to make the Collection available to the public, the 1966 Historical Committee recommended that the Convention find ways and means of providing help for the Director. Subsequently the General Secretary-Treasurer wrote that he was recommending to the Budget Committee that $2,000 be included as the Convention's share of the expense of a secretary. If this is approved by the Convention and matched by Wake Forest University as planned, the Baptist Collection will have a staff of two persons next year.

In addition to housing the Collection and paying half of the salary costs, Wake Forest University Library also makes a direct annual appropriation for the purchase of historical materials for the Baptist Collection. This year the appropriation is $1,300. On October 2, 1967, the Historical Committee met in the new quarters of the Baptist Collection and reviewed all phases of the work of the Collection. Upon the motion of Dr. Wyan Washburn, the Committee voted unanimously to request that the Convention match the Wake Forest University Library annual appropriation to the Baptist Collection for the acquisition of historical materials, with a top limit pending further action of $2,000. The Committee felt strongly that in view of the thousands of dollars the University is spending on the Baptist Collection, the Convention ought to contribute this much additional assistance.

In its October meeting the Committee also took preliminary steps toward making a study of records management procedures for Convention agencies, with a view to the preservation of such records. Action designed to bring about a joint study by the Committee and the North Carolina Department of Archives and History of the ramifications of preserving the history and character of Ft. Caswell was also initiated.

The Baptist Collection is growing, is under professional management, and is open for use by all interested persons. Director John Woodard and his staff will be glad to have you come by for work or a visit.

6. Executed contract for the renovation and construction of Student Center facilities at East Carolina University.

7. Executed deed of conveyance of old Student Center at East Carolina University to The Christian Church of Christ, Greenville, North Carolina.

8. Executed quitclaim deed to the Whitakers Baptist Church, Whitakers, North Carolina to convey to the church any interest held by the Convention in the church site.

9. Accepted title to Mobile Chapel from the First Baptist Church, Bladenboro, North Carolina to be used for Military Ministries at Jacksonville, North Carolina.

10. Accepted title to Dodge Sportsman automobile to be used by Duke University Student Center in its tutorial program and other activities of the Baptist Student Union at Duke.

Respectfully submitted,

TRUSTEES OF THE BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION OF NORTH CAROLINA, INCORPORATED

R. L. McMILLAN, President
T. LACY WILLIAM, Secretary
N. M. GURLEY

18. W. A. Snyder, Asheville, chairman budget committee, presented the recommendations concerning the budget for 1968. (cf. pp. 61-66)

19. Cross called attention to the request of Campbell College to change its charter to provide for thirty-six, instead of the present twenty-eight, trustees, and to a similar request from Meredith College.

20. Howard Holly, Burgaw, chairman of the Social Services Committee, announced request of the Children's Homes to change its charter.

21. A request from the North Carolina Baptist Hospital, Inc. to borrow $1,250,000 was also presented. Carried.

22. A request from Fruitland to borrow was carried (first reading).

23. A request of the Woman's Missionary Union of North Carolina to borrow was also carried.

24. Robert N. Simms, Jr., Raleigh, chairman Committee on Christian Higher Education, presented request of the following schools to borrow money: Campbell College, $225,000; Chowan College, $1,000,000; Mars Hill College, $2,000,000; and Meredith College, $1,950,000. These were all adopted on their first reading.

25. E. J. Prevatte, Lumberton, chairman Committee on Constitution and Bylaws (after convention had granted ten minutes extension of time), read suggested changes in the Constitution of Articles VIII and IX, and in the Bylaws of Articles I, IV, and V. (cf. pp. 76-78). He also called attention to the omission from the 1966 Annual of changes in Article X of the Constitution. Other changes were recommended for Article VI of the Constitution and Articles II and IV of the Bylaws. (cf. pp. 79-81)

26. Cross introduced a resolution concerning the appointment of a committee "to study the present serious problems facing our colleges." On motion of Nane Starnes, Asheville, this was referred to the Resolutions Committee. The resolution is as follows:

RECOMMENDATION CONCERNING THE APPOINTMENT OF A SPECIAL COLLEGE COMMITTEE

For three years, Ben Fisher and Dr. Perry Crouch have tried to help create a better attitude toward the support of our Baptist colleges and maintain peace in the Convention. We were particularly anxious for the new college presidents to have a chance to study their own situations and to formulate their own ideas as to the future needs and direction of their colleges. In keeping with this purpose, we have discouraged anything that we believe would be contrary to past decisions of the Convention concerning the colleges until such time as a re-evaluation could be made concerning needs, possible future relationships between our colleges and the Convention and the wisdom or possibility of Federal aid that might be made available to the colleges.

We seem to get the impression that some of you feel it is time to study these matters again and bring recommendations back to the Convention. We would remind you there is always risk involved in such a study. There will undoubtedly be a division of opinion in the Convention. Such division could conceivably lead to actions you might not welcome. Division could hurt the Cooperative Program in many churches. However, we are ready to suggest the appointment of such a committee, if you wish it done.

If a committee is appointed, we believe it should be asked to study every phase of the Baptist college problems and recommend a course of future action, so far as relationships with the Convention are concerned. Furthermore, we believe the colleges should agree to follow the present guidelines to the Convention until this report is presented, discussed and acted upon by the Convention. We would, therefore, present the following recommendation for your consideration.

WE RECOMMEND:

1. That a committee of twenty be nominated by the Nominating Committee of the Convention to study the present serious problems facing our Baptist colleges, such as their financial needs, the capital improvements and operation, their problems of maintaining top level educational facilities and faculties, future cooperation with the State and Federal Government and future relationship with the Baptist State Convention.

2. That this committee be requested to confer with the leadership of our Convention, with the administrative leadership of our Baptist colleges, and with any other sources that will help with solution to the problems of our colleges and the Convention.

3. That the committee be composed of one trustee from each of the seven college boards, seven laymen or lay-women at-large, and six ministers from different areas of our state. We recommend that the General Secretary, the Secretary of the Council on Christian Higher Education, the President of the Convention and the President of the General Board be ex-officio, non-voting members of this committee. This committee would publish its report one month prior to the annual Convention meeting in Raleigh, November 11-13, 1968.

27. Bob D. Shepherd, Mooresville, chairman Public Affairs Committee, indicated certain features of the report, as it reaffirmed confidence in the first amendment of the U. S. Constitution, and set forth a reassessment of church-state separation.

28. The order of business was changed to permit Marion Parker, Troy, chairman Committee on Nominations, to name members of the Committee on Resolutions. These were elected:

RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE:

Henry Morgan, Wilkesboro, Chairman
James Pharr, High Point
Frank Hopkins, Canton
Horace Ricks, Princeton
H. Max Craig, Jr., Stanley
D. J. Abernathy, Charlotte
Clarence Godwin, Oxford
Earle J. Rogers, Madison
Macon Greene, Oakboro
George Pennell, Asheville
Hoyle Allred, Gastonia
David Boaz, Winston-Salem
J. Parker McLendon, Elkin
Isaac Terrell, Thomasville
Earnest Holt, Durham

29. Robert Fincher, High Point, chairman Christian Action Committee, presented the report as found in the Book of Reports (cf. p. 163).

30. Robert E. Seymour, Chapel Hill, spoke in favor of a "Division of Christian Ethics," and requested that consideration be given the inclusion of the Department of Inter-racial Cooperation in this division.

31. The report was referred to the Resolutions Committee, since it carried a recommendation on which the convention was requested to take action.

32. D. P. McFarland, Raleigh, presented the following resolution, which likewise was referred to the Committee on Resolutions:

Whereas, there is a definite trend towards the liberalization of laws regulating the sale and use of alcoholic beverages, as evidenced during the sessions of the 1967 North Carolina General Assembly, and

Whereas, the taxpayers of the country have recently spent 1.1

million dollars of Federal funds for a Cooperative Commission Report which strongly favors the beverage alcohol industry, and which, if taken seriously, will increase and intensify every problem related to drinking beverage alcohol, including such proposals as lowering the drinking age to 18 . . . increasing the number of liquor licenses where children are served . . . making alcohol available at young people's church functions . . . and serving alcoholic beverages to young people at recreational and athletic events,

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, that this Convention reaffirm its position on the use of beverage alcohol, and further, that this Convention urge the messengers to ascertain the views of candidates and prospective candidates for seats in the 1969 North Carolina General Assembly regarding beverage alcohol and other matters before the deadline for filing for offices passes in the Spring of 1968.

33. Clyde H. Tucker, High Point, introduced the following, likewise referred:

Whereas, the 1967 North Carolina General Assembly greatly liberalized the laws pursuant to the sale and use of alcoholic beverages, and, whereas, numerous reports indicate the 1969 Assembly will be asked to further liberalize these laws, including liquor by the drink, and

Whereas, such action would be contrary to the generally accepted doctrines and covenants of the churches in the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED:

1. That this Convention go on record opposing any change in the law which would increase the sale and use of alcoholic beverage, and,

2. That we appoint a committee of five, composed of the President of the Convention, the President of the General Board, the General Secretary and Treasurer of the Convention, the Chairman of the Christian Life Committee, and the Chairman of the Christian Action Committee to invite representatives of other denominations and officers of the Christian Action League to join them in initiating plans to oppose any legislation further liberalizing liquor laws, and,

3. That this Committee bring reports to the Executive Committee of the General Board, the General Board itself, and to the general public through the Biblical Recorder, Charity and Children, and other news media, and,

4. That, if funds are necessary, this Committee shall make a request to the Executive Committee of the General Board.

34. George J. Griffin, Winston-Salem, chairman, presented the report of the Christian Life Committee, as found in the Book of Reports (cf. pp. 157-162), emphasizing: (1) the church in a secular society; (2) human relations: war, peace, race; (3) political and economic affairs, with attention to affluence and poverty, dissent and protest, and crime and law enforcement.

35. The Recording Secretary received permission to send greetings to state conventions meeting this week. The following message was sent to twelve groups: "In the spirit of our Convention theme, 'Doing together what we cannot do apart,' we greet you in Christian fellowship and eagerness to serve wherever there is need."

36. A choir representing 98 missionary appointees at Ridgecrest, then sang, under the direction of Clint Kimbrough, Brooksville, Florida, with Miss Mildred Thomas as accompanist: "O Zion Haste" and "Heralds of Christ."

37. A. Douglas Aldrich, Gastonia, alternate to preach convention sermon, read from Acts 1:1-9 and led in prayer.

38. T. L. Cashwell, Jr., Raleigh, delivered the convention sermon on "Thy Kingdom Come." Against a background of defeat and pessimism that the kingdom of God has not come, the preacher proclaimed that the kingdom has come, must come, and will continue to come wherever God's people are found. This must be accomplished by an act of God Himself in regenerating and moving every part. This will transform persons and society. This prayer, which may have begun with despair, will continue in hope, and result in commitment.

39. The choir of missionary appointees sang "The Lord's Prayer" (Malotte).

40. The benediction for this session was pronounced by J. R. Bouldin, Hamilton.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON—NOVEMBER 14, 1967

41. Following a musical meditation by Willis Abernathy, the choir sang "Immortal, Invisible" (Thiman) and the congregation followed with "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord."

42. With the choir reading responsively, Clarence Cranford led in reading scriptural selections on the church. The congregation sang, "The Church's One Foundation." Cranford's devotional message centered around the incident of four friends bringing a paralyzed man to Jesus after tearing up the roof. This he discussed with application to our experiences: (1) Looking through the eyes of the owner of the house; (2) Looking through the eyes of the four friends; and (3) Looking through the eyes of Jesus.

43. Nane Starnes, Asheville, one of four North Carolina members on the Executive Committee of the Southern Baptist Convention, outlined four chief obligations of the Committee as being: (1) to coordinate the work of the boards and agencies of the Convention; (2) to act for the Southern Baptist Convention when it is not in session; (3) to provide leadership; and (4) to serve through four areas of work: administration, program, public relations, and finance. He recognized John Williams, whose duties are in the field of finance for the Executive Committee. Williams called attention to the Committee's having 59 members from 26 states. It determines sites for the annual meetings of the Convention, receives and distributes receipts from the Cooperative Program, which during the past ten years had increased by 69 percent.

44. The time having arrived for the election of officers, President Bates announced the following tellers: Tom Womble, Bladenboro, Chairman, Edwin Young, Canton, Grady Faulk, Pineville, C. R. Pierce, Jr., West Asheville, John Grant, Asheville, J. D. Williams, Mount Holly, Lynn Weston, Mecklenburg Association, Leroy Cooper, Salisbury, and Lyman McDonald, Charlotte.

45. Bates, having served as President for two years and therefore not eligible for reelection, declared the floor open for nominations for President.

Isaac Terrell, Thomasville, nominated J. Boyce Brooks, Boone.

Leland K. Stephens, Charlotte, nominated Thurman B. Stone, Charlotte.

W. A. Snyder, Asheville, nominated E. W. Price, Jr., High Point.

Randall Lolley, Winston-Salem, nominated Claud B. Bowen, Greensboro.

Ray Harrington, Concord, nominated J. Clyde Yates, Sr., Charlotte.

On motion to close nominations, the vote was taken and carried. The first ballot necessitated a runoff between Brooks and Bowen. This resulted in the election of Bowen as President.

46. President Bates read greetings from the Kentucky and Louisiana Conventions. Later messages came from the following states: Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Kansas, Maryland, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia.

47. On call for the election of the First Vice-President, Joe Larrimore, Tarboro, nominated David M. Britt, Fairmont and Raleigh. W. A. Honeycutt, Valdese, moved nominations cease and Britt be elected. This was carried unanimously and Britt was elected First Vice-President.

48. Edison Hill, Asheville, nominated Cecil E. Sherman, Asheville, for Second Vice-President. Howard Holly, Burgaw, moved nominations cease and Sherman be elected. It was so ordered.

49. For Recording Secretary, E. Norfleet Gardner was nominated by John Knight, and reelected.

50. For Parliamentarian, Joe Sanders, Asheville, nominated James M. Bulman, East Spencer, who was reelected.

51. For Trustees, Leon Spencer, Raleigh, moved the reelection of R. L. McMillan, Raleigh, T. Lacy Williams, Raleigh, and N. M. Gurley, Raleigh. These were reelected.

52. John H. Knight, Asheville, made the following motion:

I move that this Convention go on record as approving the participation of Mars Hill College in the Title III program for faculty development as presented in the Higher Education Act of 1965.

WORDS OF EXPLANATION

Under this program it is the faculty member who is the recipient of the benefits, rather than the college. Since this is true, it may not even be necessary to bring this matter to the Convention. However, the constitution says "receive aid either directly or indirectly," and we want to keep step with the convention.

As a Senior College, Mars Hill finds it necessary to upgrade its work to become accredited. Our major need relates to the faculty. Forty percent of our teachers must have the Ph.D. degree. Sixty percent of the faculty must have at least three years training beyond the bachelor degree. This is a big step for Mars Hill. Under Title III our faculty could be rapidly upgraded.

Here is how it would work. Mars Hill could enter into an agreement with the University of Georgia:

1. Aid would be extended to the individual faculty member to pursue his study toward the Ph.D.

2. A teaching Fellow from the University of Georgia would be paid by the fund to teach at Mars Hill while the faculty member is away.

3. Counselors from the University of Georgia would receive pay as consultants to work with our faculty in upgrading the curriculum.

This is a temporary arrangement, to last only two years. During those two years our faculty could be greatly improved as would be our chances for accreditation.

H. L. Ferguson, Charlotte, expressed a wish to know more about the motion and moved to table it. The body refused to act accordingly.

53. Joseph T. McLean, Shelby, expressed the view that, since this was in line with the approval of the trustees of Mars Hill, he hoped the motion of Knight would pass.

54. James M. Bulman, parliamentarian, expressed his opinion that this was an unconstitutional motion.

55. A vote was taken on the motion of Knight and passed by the body.

56. Ferguson called for division.

57. Leroy Parker, Greensboro, called for the previous question, but the parliamentarian ruled that the president was correct in his ruling.

58. Whereupon the vote on Knight's motion was taken by standing and was carried.

59. A motion to extend the time for miscellaneous business ten minutes was carried.

60. W. W. Finlator, Raleigh, offered the following resolution:

Whereas this, our longest war, in Vietnam increases with each passing day in fury and in futility, and

Whereas the war threatens not only the complete destruction of the people and resources of Vietnam and the continued destruction of the youth and resources of our country, but also threatens the peace and security of the international community, and

Whereas the leadership of the United Nations, the major national powers of the world, whose friendship we respect and need, and national and international religious bodies have urged upon our nation the wisdom of staying its hand in Vietnam,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that it is the consensus of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina meeting in Asheville November 14, 1967, that

1. The unconditional and indefinite stopping of the bombing of North Vietnam by the United States, under the supervision of the United Nations, is the necessary precondition for negotiations.

2. As the mightiest nation in history, and therefore with power to initiate action for peace, the stopping of the bombing should be followed by the voluntary cessation of the killing and destruction in both North and South Vietnam on land, and sea, and in the air, again under the supervision of the United Nations.

3. With the more favorable atmosphere thus developed for negotiations, the Geneva Conference of 1954 should be re-convened, and also the International Commissions, under whose auspices negotiation shall be carried out by all appropriate parties to the dispute, including the Vietcong, on the basis of the principles of the Geneva Agreement.

4. The consideration, among other matters, of such negotiable matters as provision for the beginning, and stages of the withdrawal of all outside military force, general amnesty, and the making of a treaty of peace with provisions for the appropriate self-determination of the Vietnamese people, and the guaranteed neutrality of Vietnam, North and South, shall follow; all, again, to be under the supervision of the United Nations.

5. In addition to what is already being done for reconstruction by a number of the nations, consideration shall be given to a minimum of a 10 billion dollar program to be voluntarily financed by the affluent powers, for the reconstruction of Southeast Asia, including North and South Vietnam, also under the supervision of the United Nations.

CONCLUSION: These resolutions, to our mind, are positive and constructive and have the humane values which result from the stopping of the bombing, and the cessation of the killing, and the destruction of the country whose people have been ravaged by war for years, and the death and maiming of our finest youth and the exhaustion of our most basic resources. The resolutions not only have these humane values but also offer a program of reconstruction for all the people of Southeast Asia.

Copies of this consensus are to be sent to the President, the Congress, and the State Department of the United States of America.

61. Nane Starnes moved that the Convention not consider this resolution. Carried.

62. James Helvey, Thomasville, offered the following resolution:

Whereas, the gospel declares that the disciples of Jesus are known by their love for one another, and

Whereas, Christendom's greatest problem has been its "divided witness," and

Whereas, the reluctance of Baptists, as a group, to join with other Christian denominations has not been understood either by some of our own people or by others, and

Whereas, many ministers, church members and leaders of our convention have found opportunities for working with Christians of other faiths, and

Whereas, the work of the North Carolina Council of Churches with migrants, world relief, and social issues has been for the benefit of all the peoples of our state, and

Whereas, autonomous Baptist Churches, cooperating with the North Carolina Baptist State Convention, can and are affiliating with the North Carolina Council of Churches;

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, that the North Carolina Baptist State Convention, in order that it may in no way be a stumbling-block to the peoples of God and in order that we may offer a Christian witness to and for all the people of North Carolina, commend the work of the North Carolina Council of Churches and commend Baptist churches and their members who join with Christians of all faiths in doing the work of Christ's kingdom locally and across the state.

The chair called the resolution out of order and was sustained in his decision after an appeal from the ruling was sought by Helvey.

63. Helvey then introduced another resolution, as follows:

Whereas our Convention is again being asked to consider the problem of alcoholic beverages, and whereas national attention is being called to the problems of deceptive and harmful advertising by the furor raised over the F.C.C. ruling that equal time must be given to telling of the dangers of smoking, and whereas Senators Wayne Morse and Strom Thurmond have introduced bills in the current session of the United States Senate relative to this matter, and

Whereas the states of Washington and Oregon have local restrictions on the advertising of beer and alcoholic beverages, and

Whereas North Carolina is being invaded by two proposed beer breweries which will use up valuable water and land resources for a non-essential industry in our state, as well as further condition our people to accept and to depend on their products, and

Whereas state legislators and other government officials have financial interests in businesses that will profit from the further liberalization of our state's liquor laws,

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, that: 1. The North Carolina Baptist State Convention endorse Senate bills 2500 and 2202,

2. The 1967 Baptist State Convention express its opposition to opening up our state and its resources to the manufacture of any alcoholic beverages for commercial purposes,

3. The committee recommended by Rev. Clyde Tucker also take into consideration the matters pertaining to this resolution as it seeks to mobilize action opposing further exploitation of the people of North Carolina by the alcoholic beverage industries.

This was referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

64. Howard Holly, chairman, moved that the reports on Christian Social Services in the Book of Advanced Reports be adopted. He then recognized Raymond Stone, Southern Pines, chairman of the trustees of the Children's Homes, who introduced the Children's Handbell Choir, which played some numbers under the direction of Kenneth Little. Afterwards Stone spoke on the ministry of the Children's Homes.

Gordon Conklin, Kinston, chairman trustees of the Baptist Homes for the Aging, presented Mrs. Grace Truesdell, of the Hayes Home, who spoke in regard to this phase of Social Service.

Carter M. Preslar, Asheville, chairman Board of Trustees of the Baptist Hospital, spoke to that part of the report, and introduced Gordon Phillips, Trenton, trustee and vice-president of the Helene Fuld Foundation of Trenton, N. J. Phillips also is a graduate of the Wake Forest Law School and president of the Northern Alumni of Wake Forest. In 1966 he was awarded a distinguished service award in law from Wake Forest. Phillips stated that the purpose of the Foundation was primarily improving nurses' training in the Nursing Schools of the country. In appreciation of the work done at the Baptist Hospital and wishing to strengthen its Nursing School, this $45,000,000 Foundation has just given $250,000 for a paramedical building for the School of Nursing in connection with the Bowman Gray School of Medicine. Appreciation was expressed to Mr. Phillips for this generous bequest.

65. Robert Simms asked that the report on Christian Higher Education be deferred to a place arranged for it tomorrow morning. Granted.

66. Leon Spencer moved the adoption of the report of the trustees of the Convention. Carried.

67. Henry Stroupe, Winston-Salem, read the report of the Historical Committee, as found in the Book of Reports.

68. The benediction was pronounced by Clarence Godwin, Oxford.

TUESDAY EVENING—NOVEMBER 14, 1967

69. The Tuesday evening session was preceded by the organ recital given by Willis Abernathy. After the choral call to worship,

"Let Us Arise and Sing" (Young), the congregation joined in singing "Blessed Assurance." The choir continued the musical program by singing "The Beatitudes" (Evans).

Then Clarence Cranford led in another helpful devotional message, using as a background the storm at sea in Paul's voyage to Rome. He called attention to a conference with a college girl who was troubled about her religious experience. From the interview he found four anchors that may be used in a storm in which we may be caught. They are the conviction that God is love, that Christ is God's supreme disclosure of Himself, made for man's redemption, that man is an immortal creature, and that the fellowship of Christian believers in the church is real.

70. Under miscellaneous business, H. L. Ferguson expressed opposition to the resolution offered by Knight in behalf of the Mars Hill trustees and stated that he planned to move to rescind the action tomorrow.

71. Henry Morgan, chairman Committee on Resolutions, reported favorably on the General Board recommendation that a Committee of 20 be nominated to study the present serious problems facing our Baptist colleges and report its findings to the Convention meeting a year hence. The resolution was adopted.

72. O. M. Burckhalter, Lilesville, referring to the action of the Convention this afternoon in refusing to consider the Finlator resolution concerning our involvement in Vietnam, offered the following resolution, which was referred to the Resolutions Committee:

Whereas, action taken by the Baptist State Convention in session this afternoon declined consideration of any discussion or action on resolutions pertaining to the war in Vietnam; and

Whereas, many of us are veterans with knowledge of what the men in Vietnam are experiencing; and

Whereas, many of us have sons and other loved ones now serving in Vietnam; and

Whereas, Southern Baptists have missionaries in Vietnam,

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that we ask all Christians to join us in praying for our men in Vietnam, for all Christian missionaries, and others who are working for peace in Vietnam; and

RESOLVED, that we ask all Christians to join us in praying for the leaders of our nation; and be it further

RESOLVED, that we encourage our President and all other persons in places of responsibility to pray, seeking God's will and God's help in finding a just and honorable solution to the problems confronting our nation; and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the President of the United States.

73. Orville Scott, editor Charity and Children, presented the 1967 Award for Baptist Mother of the Year to Mrs. Hatcher Melton, Caroleen. Several of her nine children and grandchildren were present, as well as her husband. Her pastor, Richard Spencer, spoke appreciatively of the Christian witness of Mrs. Melton and her family, and President Bates presented the 1967 plaque to her.

74. President Bates then introduced two faithful members of the Charlotte First Church: Harry Iden, President of the Brotherhood, and James Estes, Stewardship Campaign leader.

75. Joseph R. Estes, Home Mission Board representative, was then introduced by the President. Estes than presented W. A. Mitchiner, Oxford, a certificate of appreciation for six years of helpful service on the Home Mission Board. Representing a department to minister to "non-evangelicals," he spoke of the aim of the department to relate the gospel as preached by our denomination to other Baptist groups and to those not Baptists. He pointed out four areas of work of this department: (1) ministry to Jewish people; (2) ministry to Catholics; (3) ministry to various sects, such as Mormons, Rosicrusians, and others; (The speaker noted that, although Southern Baptists outnumber the Mormons four to 1, we do not send one-third as many missionaries as they) and (4) endeavor to undergird all work of the denomination, recognizing the need to move out from church buildings into the market and places of business.

76. Joseph Stroud led the congregation in singing "He Lives!"

77. The president introduced Joe Burnette, minister of education of the Charlotte First Church, and T. W. Wilson, an assistant of Billy Graham.

78. A male quartette of ministers of music sang "More Like Jesus Would I Be."

79. Secretary W. Perry Crouch presented to a packed auditorium Billy Graham, who had just completed a notable evangelistic campaign in Tokyo.

80. Graham spoke enthusiastically of the spiritual revival that had resulted in over 16,000 decisions for Christ in the Tokyo meetings. In spite of a wave of religious fervor of different sects, notably the Soka Gakkai, whose generous giving and fervor, and political agitation that has resulted in controlling 30 percent of the seats of the city council in Tokyo, Graham felt that a mighty spiritual revival in the East may indicate the wave of the future for Christianity. The speaker read from I Corinthians the first chapter (Phillips translation), from which he deduced the question for all Christians: How can we make the gospel relevant in our day? He declared that man's heart, his needs and longings, are the same everywhere, although we live in a confused and bewildered world, politically and socially. Graham pointed out that there was a great deal of legislation, but that it was not the answer. Singling out the problem of race, he said that unless we have the supernatural love of God in our hearts, there is no way to solve the problem of race. He reminded that, while the presentation of the gospel may change, its content remains the same. Graham drew three conclusions for the audience: (1) The proclamation of the gospel may bring about a moral reform; (2) The preaching of the gospel may bring about a needed social reform; and (3) The preaching of the gospel is the message on evangelism. He insisted: "Preach the gospel with simplicity, urgency, and love."

81. The benediction was pronounced by Joseph Estes, Atlanta.

WEDNESDAY MORNING—NOVEMBER 15, 1967

82. President Bates called the body to order after the organ meditation by Willis Abernathy. The period was interspersed with music by congregation and choir and the devotional message by Dr. Cranford. The convention choir, under the direction of Charles Gatwood, sang "God of Our Fathers" and "Great Is Thy Faithfulness" (arr. by Landon). The congregation sang "Blessed Be the Name" and "Breathe on Me."

83. Cranford's message on the Holy Spirit was based on Jesus' promise in John 14:16 "I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter." The speaker declared that the programs of our churches appeared to be all right but asked where was the power. He deplored the neglect given this Person of the Trinity, calling attention to (1) the characteristics of personality in Him; (2) the intimacy established with God through Him; and (3) the potency of the Holy Spirit that produces extraordinary witnessing on the part of those thus empowered.

84. The recording secretary announced registration as of Tuesday evening at 2,802, including 2,467 messengers and 335 visitors. (A final report Wednesday noon gave a total of 2,832, including 2,496 messengers and 336 visitors.)

85. The President called on Ben Fisher, Secretary of the Council on Christian Higher Education, who asked Robert N. Simms, Jr., chairman of the Council, to present newly elected presidents of the schools: Norman A. Wiggins, of Campbell College, and James Ralph Scales, of Wake Forest University. Simms also recognized the other five presidents on the platform.

86. Fisher called attention to the report of the Council in the Book of Reports, and emphasized the importance of "Baptist College Day."

87. E. J. Prevatte, Lumberton, discussed the BEST section in the report (cf. p. 129).

88. Gordon Maddrey, Secretary of the Baptist Foundation, recently recovered from a serious heart attack, was recognized. He called on Claude F. Gaddy to speak to the report.

89. Gaddy reported on the progress of the Foundation, and urged the importance of making a will, not only for the family, but also for the causes of the Kingom of God.

90. Gilmer Cross, appearing to present recommendations of General Board, called attention to the twenty-eighth wedding anniversary of President and Mrs. Bates and asked that an orchid be sent Mrs. Bates.

91. W. A. Snyder, chairman Budget Committee, moved the adoption of the recommendation of the General Board concerning the budget, as found on pages of the Report of the General Board. Adopted.

92. The request of Campbell College to increase its trustees from 28 to 36 on motion was adopted.

93. The request of the Children's Homes to change its charter on motion was approved.

94. The request of Meredith College to increase its trustees from 28 to 36 on motion was adopted.

95. The request of the Baptist State Convention to borrow up to $250,000 for building purposes at Fruitland was approved.

96. The request of North Carolina WMU to borrow up to $250,000 to construct a State WMU Camp at Camp CaRAway on motion was approved.

97. The request of the Baptist Hospital to borrow $1,250,000 on motion was approved.

98. R. N. Simms, Jr. presented the recommendations of the General Board approving loans to the following schools: Campbell College to borrow $225,000. Motion to adopt approved.

99. Chowan College to borrow $1,000,000. Motion to adopt approved.

100. Mars Hill College to borrow $2,000,000. Motion to adopt approved.

101. Meredith College to borrow $1,950,000. Motion to adopt approved.

102. General Board President Cross then asked E. J. Prevatte to present the recommendations concerning changes in constitution and bylaws, as found on pages 76-81.

Prevatte first pointed out proposed constitutional changes for Article VIII. James Helvey, Thomasville, inquired concerning the autonomy of the State and Southern conventions and their relations, and wished to know more about the reason for the proposed change. Carl Bates and W. P. Crouch indicated this might correlate more closely the work of the two conventions. Adopted.

103. Prevatte then called attention to changes in Articles IX, I, IV and V, where the word "education" would be changed to "higher education." On motion, adopted.

104. Constitutional changes in Article IV, B., 3., b and d, and IV, B., 4., a., (2), (e) were proposed and on motion adopted.

105. Constitutional changes concerning debts in Article X were adopted. All constitutional changes were approved by the necessary two-thirds vote of messengers present.

106. Proposed changes in the Bylaws followed. Those concerning "Duties of Committees" in Article II were adopted.

107. Article IV., B of the Bylaws, dealing with "The Organization of the General Board" was changed by vote as proposed.

108. Secretary Perry Crouch indicated the heartfelt appreciation of himself and family concerning the extreme illness of Mrs. Crouch. (Mrs. Crouch died in the Memorial Mission Hospital, Asheville, November 22, of a malignancy with which she had heroically lived for the past two years. ENG)

109. Secretary Crouch recognized E. Norfleet Gardner with a word of appreciation for the help given by him in editing A History of North Carolina Baptists, and presented one of the first copies of the printed volume to him. Gardner responded by expressing appreciation for having the privilege of being with Dr. Huggins in the great work he had made ready for North Carolina Baptists.

110. Crouch then called Mrs. M. A. Huggins to the front of the platform, thanked her for the faithful and diligent assistance given by her to Dr. Huggins in preparing the "History," and presented her with an orchid.

111. Crouch then expressed to Dr. Huggins the great debt of the Convention to him in the preparation of the "History" and presented him a plaque indicating appreciation for his services to the Convention through the years since 1932.

112. Huggins responded with keen appreciation of the recognition and expressed the joy he experienced in writing the "History," and the wish that publication of the brochures on sixteen institutions and agencies of the Convention, almost ready for the printer, might later be published.

113. John Lawrence presented the following resolution and moved the suspension of the rules:

Whereas, Dr. M. A. Huggins served North Carolina Baptists faithfully and well for thirty-two years — five as Educational Secretary and twenty-seven as General Secretary-Treasurer;

And Whereas, upon his retirement in 1959 he was requested by the Convention to prepare a history of North Carolina Baptists;

And Whereas, for eight years, supported and encouraged by his beloved companion, Mrs. Huggins, he has diligently worked at this task — a task which demanded that many hours be spent in travel, research, interviews and writing;

And Whereas, this record, which covers approximately two hundred years of Baptist history from its beginning until 1932, the year Dr. Huggins began his work as General Secretary-Treasurer, is now completed and is being presented to the North Carolina Baptist State Convention in its 1967 Annual Session.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the messengers to the Baptist

State Convention assembled in Asheville, November 13-15, acknowledge with deep appreciation and gratitude the dedicated and loyal service performed by Dr. Huggins in completing and in presenting to the Convention the monumental work he was commissioned to do.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this Resolution be presented to Dr. Huggins and a copy thereof spread upon the minutes of the Annual Proceedings of this Convention.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the first copy of his book to come from the press be presented to Dr. Huggins as a token of the gratitude of the Baptists of North Carolina for the tremendous dedication and excellent workmanship which he has manifested in fulfilling his responsibility to produce a documented and thoroughly readable history of Baptist progress in this state.

It was adopted unanimously.

114. Crouch then called attention to the ownership by the Convention of the George W. Truett homeplace at Hayesville, that the General Board had asked the Woman's Missionary Union of the First Church of Asheville to aid in furnishing the building. This request had been gladly accepted, and soon it was thought the house would be appropriately furnished.

115. L. J. Morriss, chairman of the Department of Social Services, reported on the television service given freely by the stations and the desire to thank them. He made the following presentation:

Through the Radio and Television Commission and the Department of Program Services of the Convention, our churches have been encouraged to make constant use of television and radio in the proclamation of the Gospel. To complement the mass media program of the local churches and the association, the Baptist State Convention has produced the television series "A Light Unto My Path" — a series of programs designed to proclaim Jesus as the Son of God and Saviour of the world and the Bible as God's holy Word. This series is produced in sign language for the deaf and carried by five television stations in North Carolina on a sustaining basis. We are also happy to report that the program in a cooperative venture with other Conventions is at present being carried by 18 stations from Canada to Mexico.

We are deeply indebted and grateful to the North Carolina stations for programming "A Light Unto My Path" on a weekly basis for a total of seven years of services to the Baptists of North Carolina. It is estimated that each of these five stations has contributed by means of time given for the telecast each week for the seven-year period approximately $50,000 to $100,000 based upon the average rate card per station. Over and above this amount, WRAL-TV has given not only the time, but all facilities and production crew for the production of this series without cost to Baptists.

Therefore, today the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina seeks in some small way to say "thank you" to these stations through the presentation of an appropriate plaque the gratitude of North Carolina Baptists for their contributions to the spiritual life of the people of our state.

As we call these stations, will their representatives please come to the platform.

WLOS-TV, Asheville — Mr. Arthur Whiteside, Public Affairs

WBTV, Charlotte — Mr. Dave Steele, Prod. Mgr.

WRAL-TV, Raleigh—Mr. David Witherspoon, Promotion Mgr.

WFMY-TV, Greensboro — Rev. Monte Bishop (standing in for Mr. Jack Markham, Program Dir.)

WNCT-TV, Greenville — Rev. Irby Jackson (standing in for Mr. Hank Tribley, Mgr.)

Gentlemen, in behalf of North Carolina Baptists, may we say thank you for your past and continuing services in meeting the needs of minority groups through the telecasting of the series "A Light Unto My Path."

David Witherspoon, WRAL, responding, as each received a certificate of appreciation from the hand of General Secretary Crouch, called attention to the program, "A Light Unto My Path," and paid tribute to the vision and dedication of L. J. Morriss.

116. Mrs. Thurman Allred, expressed appreciation for the participation by the Baptist State Convention in the work of the American Bible Society.

117. George Tunstall, 83 today, was recognized by the President, and note taken that he had been in attendance upon meetings of the Convention for forty-three years. Jim Gibson, Jr., Asheboro, was recognized as Page serving the body.

118. W. C. Reed, Kinston, chairman Committee on Memorials, read the report as printed in the Book of Reports (cf. p. 151), and asked the congregation to stand as he read the list of the deceased ministers. C. B. Trammell, Elkin, then led in prayer. H. B. Anderson, Durham, moved that the pictures of J. R. Cantrell, Kings Mountain Association, and Zeno Wall, Kings Mountain Association, be placed in the Annual, and that the volume be dedicated to these faithful ministers. Carried. (The Committee on Memorials later authorized the addition of the names of Dr. I. G. Greer and Mrs. W. Perry Crouch for the dedicatory pages. ENG)

119. The Biblical Recorder was presented by Marse Grant, editor, who spoke on the service of the printed word and the value of religious publications.

120. The congregation then joined in the singing of "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus."

121. The choir of Wake Forest University, under the direction of Thane McDonald, with Miss Nelda Morgan accompanying at the organ, sang: "The Lord Is My Shepherd" (Rose S. Kapp), "Psalm XIII" (Setting by Leora Dretke), and "My Eternal King" (Jane Marshall).

122. When the order for the Seminaries came, John Durham, Southeastern, was recognized and emphasized "quality theological education." Stanley Hardee, of the New Orleans Seminary, reported an enrollment in that school of 717, and that the endeavor of the school was to give "a message from God."

123. J. Winston Pearce, Golden Gate Seminary, then spoke for all six seminaries of Southern Baptists. He called attention to their task in trying to prepare students for fulltime Christian vocation and to help students understand present conditions in the context of Christian commitment. Fields of work are research, teaching, and application. In our seminaries, motive, that of love, is all important. Holiness and brains are both needed. Pearce expressed concern over the number of men leaving the pastoral ministry for other professions. He bespoke the need of participation in social and political action that dealt with moral issues, the need to bring theological studies from academic circles into the life of the day, and the need of greater communication between seminaries and local churches.

124. The benediction was pronounced by A. Alden Angline, Asheville.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON—NOVEMBER 15, 1967

125. After the organ meditation by Willis Abernathy, President Bates called on Joseph Stroud to direct the music for the worship period. The choir sang "O Gracious Lord, Accept" (Young) as a choral call to worship. During the period the congregation sang "Stand Up for Jesus" and "God of Grace, God of Glory."

126. Clarence Cranford, in his fifth and final devotional message, deduced several observations from Jesus' word to Peter, "Launch out into the deep." These applied to the mission of the church. (1) Simon could not have launched out into the deep without a net. We have the church. (2) He would not have had the same results if Christ had not been in the boat with him. (3) Even with Christ in the boat, he could not have caught a fish without a net. We have church programs. (4) He would not have caught a fish, if he had not thrown the net into the sea. (5) Peter could not bring in the fish by himself; he had to call on others to help bring them in.

127. Marion Parker, Troy, chairman, made the following report for the Committee on Committees:

Mrs. Claude F. Gaddy, Secretary
J. Dave Taylor
R. W. Kicklighter
James W. Mason
James Smithwick
John Hamrick
W. J. Thompson
Ben W. Cox
James C. Cammack
Joe Burnette
Mrs. W. C. Reed
Leon Rice
Sidney G. Chappell
George E. Williamson

This was adopted.

129. Bowen also nominated for the Committee on Nominations the following to serve on the Committee of 20:

COMMITTEE OF 20: Trustees: Randall Lolley, Campbell College; H. D. White, Chowan; L. M. Massey, Meredith; Nane Starnes, Mars Hill; Leon Rice, Wake Forest; Tolliver Davis, Gardner-Webb; W. T. Harris, Wingate. 6 Pastors: Joe McLean, Shelby; John Lewis, Raleigh; Randolph Gregory, Wilmington; E. W. Price, Jr., High Point; Carl Bates, Charlotte; Ray Hodge, Durham. 7 Laymen: Sam Wilson, Greensboro; Lin Fincannon, Elkin; Mrs. Knolan Benfield, Morganton; Cyrus J. Faircloth, Fayetteville; Jesse Chapman, Asheville; Lloyd Griffin, Edenton; Mrs. Ralph Faires, Fayetteville.

This was adopted.

130. J. Boyce Brooks, Boone, who had asked permission yesterday to move to elect Claud Bowen unanimously, now was presented to make the following report for the Committee on Place and Preacher:

The Committee on Place and Preacher wishes to express its appreciation to Chambers of Commerce, mayors and Baptist people of the cities of Fayetteville and Wilmington for their invitations to this Convention to meet with them in 1969. In light of the fact that the Convention has not met in Fayetteville for many, many years, we recommend that we hold our 1969 Convention in that city.

After careful and prayerful consideration we recommend that Dr. Randall Lolley deliver the Convention sermon in 1968 and that Dr. John Lewis serve as alternate.

JACK NOFFSINGER
TOM FREEMAN
CARROLL WEAVER
GEORGE BAIN
RAEFORD MILLER
J. BOYCE BROOKS, Chairman

This was adopted.

131. Budd E. Smith, Wingate College, called attention to the report of the Committee on Orientation of Trustees, as printed in the Book of Reports.

132. L. Eugene Walter, Wingate, made the following motion: that the N. C. Baptist State Convention demonstrate its faith and confidence in the Boards of Trustees of our colleges by placing into their hands the responsibility of all matters dealing with recreational and social activities of campus life.

133. M. O. Owens, Jr., Gastonia, called attention to the constitution that limited the action of trustees in the operation of institutions only in line with Baptist principles.

Woodrow Robbins, High Point, moved to table the motion. Carried.

134. H. L. Ferguson, Charlotte, moved to rescind the action of yesterday relative to the request of Mars Hill College in the Title III program for faculty development as presented in the Higher Education Act of 1965.

135. After it had been seconded, President Bates ruled the motion to rescind out of order in accordance with Roberts Rules of Order, p. 169, Division 37, which declares that a vote cannot be rescinded after something has been done as a result of a previous vote of the body. Inasmuch as the contract between the college and the University of Georgia had been signed last night, this motion to rescind would not be in order.

136. Paul Justice, Asheville, moved that the convention rule on the constitutionality of the question involved.

137. Julius Corpening, Durham, questioned the ruling on the constitutionality being in order inasmuch as the president had allowed the vote to be taken on the question yesterday.

138. William A. Wallace, Charlotte, asked if this proposal should not have been printed in the Biblical Recorder before being presented to the convention. The president declared it was not necessary.

139. Ferguson quoted the constitution of the convention (Art. XI. D) and expressed the opinion that this action was "indirectly federal aid."

140. Fred B. Bentley, President Mars Hill College, was recognized for an explanation. He called attention to the need of Mars Hill for faculty accreditation, and that the Association of Schools and Colleges in Atlanta, in insisting on greater faculty preparation, had agreed to this program of interchange of teachers. This Title III is similar to grants to students of colleges, which are readily acecpted, but is on a faculty level of study, the college simply becoming the channeling agency for the faculty member.

141. Ferguson declared that, if this were ruled constitutional, it would open the doors for many similar requests that might be contrary to the interpretation of the constitution as given by the messengers.

142. Nane Starnes indicated that seeming haste prevented the gathering of pressure groups, that an action of this nature ought to be decided by regularly elected messengers. The decision hinges on "services rendered." The action to sign the contract was considered in keeping with this requirement.

143. Motion to extend time ten minutes was carried.

144. W. Robert Holt, California Creek Church, French Broad Association, felt the ruling on the constitutionality of this matter did not reflect on the integrity of anyone and upheld the action of the college trustees.

145. Maynard Mangum, Elizabeth City, expressed the belief that the institution was not receiving financial aid, but individuals to whom this was granted were the recipients, and he supported the action of the trustees and of the convention.

146. On the insistence of Ferguson, the president asked for the Convention to rule on the constitutionality of its action yesterday in approving the request of the trustees of Mars Hill College.

147. Joseph T. McClain, Shelby, strongly expressed the opinion that the "except for definite and full services rendered" phrase of the constitution must bring us back to the matter of trust with reference to our colleges and obliterate the persistent disease of mistrust.

148. Corpening asked if there was a motion on the floor. The president stated that there was not and could not be made until the body had ruled on his request concerning the constitutionality of the action taken yesterday.

149. Warren Carr, Winston-Salem, insisted there was a motion on the floor. To it the president replied that no motion was on the floor until the president had stated it, as the parliamentarian had interpreted it.

150. Lemuel Hall, Asheville, president of the local POAU, gave as his opinion that we should remain free from federal entanglements, especially "indirectly."

151. E. J. Prevatte rose to make two observations. Having made a study of the constitutionality of this proposal, he declared that he found nowhere a requirement that a teacher benefiting from this study was required to return to Mars Hill. Then he made a personal reference to his having to help defray expenses of a member of his family who was graduated from Mars Hill in order to qualify for graduate work at a university in another state, because Mars Hill is not standard.

152. President Bates then asked the body to rule on the constitutionality of the action concerning the Mars Hill proposal. The standing vote revealed a consensus that the action taken by the convention yesterday was constitutional.

153. Henry Morgan, chairman Committee on Resolutions, noted that the resolution concerning the appointment of the Committee of 20 was approved yesterday.

D. J. Abernathy, Charlotte, indicated the approval of the Resolutions Committee to consider the establishment of a Division of Christian Ethics.

Whereas, the Christian Action Committee Committee Report to this Convention recommends the setting up of a special committee, your Resolutions Committee, after due consideration, joins the Christian Action Committee in this recommendation: That a special committee be set up by the Convention:

To study the feasibility and advisability of creating "Division of Christian Ethics," with a committee of the General Board, Secretary, and such staff as deemed necessary, whose function would encompass the areas of responsibility of the existing convention Committees — Christian Action, Christian Life and Public Affairs, as defined in our by-laws.

To review the relationship of the above mentioned committees to other organizations outside our convention, as mentioned in the by-laws.

Such special Committee to consist of seven board members as follows: the President of the General Board, as chairman, three members elected by the General Board at its January meeting, and the respective chairmen of the committees affected by this recommendation.

This was approved by the convention.

J. Parker McLendon, Elkin, presented a resolution from the committee that combined the features of the three resolutions introduced on alcoholic beverages, as follows:

Whereas our convention is again being asked to consider the problem of alcoholic beverages, and

Whereas there is a definite trend toward the liberalization of the laws regulating the sale and use of alcoholic beverages, as evidenced during the sessions of the 1967 North Carolina General Assembly, and

Whereas the taxpayers of our nation have recently spent 1.1 million dollars of federal funds for a Cooperative Commission Report which strongly favors the beverage alcohol industry, and which, if taken seriously, will increase and intensify every problem relating to drinking beverage alcohol, including such proposals as lowering the legal drinking age to eighteen . . . increasing the number of licenses where children are served . . . making alcoholic beverages available at young people's church functions . . . and serving alcoholic beverages to young people at recreational and athletic events, and

Whereas North Carolina is being invaded by two proposed beer breweries which will use up valuable water and land resources for a non-essential industry as well as further condition our people to accept and to depend upon their products,

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED

1. That this convention reaffirm its opposition to the sale and use of alcoholic beverages, and

2. That the convention endorse U. S. Senate Bill No. 2500 requiring the precautionary labeling of alcoholic beverages and U. S. Senate Bill No. 2202 restricting the radio and television advertising of alcoholic beverages, and

3. That the convention urge the voters of North Carolina to ascertain the views of candidates and prospective candidates for seats in the 1969 General Assembly regarding beverage alcohol, and

4. That the convention express its opposition to the opening of our state and its resources to the manufacture of alcoholic beverages, and

5. That we ask the President of our Convention, the President of the General Board, the General Secretary-Treasurer of the Convention, the Chairman of the Christian Life Committee, the Chairman of the Christian Action Committee and the Editor of the Biblical Recorder to invite the officers of the Christian Action League and strong representatives of other denominations to join them in initiating plans to oppose all legislation further liberalizing the liquor laws and to propose legislation for more effective and realistic control of alcoholic beverages. This committee shall report to the Executive Committee of the General Board and to the General Board, and it shall inform the general public through the Biblical Recorder, Charity and Children and other news media. If funds are necessary for its work, the committee shall make a request for the same to the Executive Committee of the General Board.

This was adopted.

154. Clarence Godwin, Oxford, offered a substitute for the resolution on Vietnam, as offered by Burckhalter. Burckhalter moved to include the phrase, "continue to seek God's leadership," as an amendment to the substitute.

John Singletary, Gatesville, asked if anything was implied that we were seeking to give suggestions concerning military tactics. The reply was that there was nothing implied of this nature.

Curtis Matthews, Fayetteville, wished to include statement of support of men in service.

The question was put on the resolution as amended and adopted.

Resolution on Vietnam

Whereas, there is great concern among the messengers of this Convention for all people affected by the war in Vietnam, and

Whereas, it is beyond our ability to offer specific proposals about government policies, military strategy, or diplomatic approaches to negotiate our present political and international crisis;

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED:

1. That we reaffirm the statement of the Christian Life Committee, which reads in part: "We would encourage the responsible leadership of our government to continue to pursue patiently every course that might lead to a peaceful settlement of the Vietnam conflict."

2. That we urge our churches and others to observe Sunday, December 24, 1967, as a special day of prayer for peace in Vietnam.

3. That a copy of this resolution be sent to the President of the United States, assuring him that we join him and our nation in prayer at the Christmas season for peace in Vietnam, and that we encourage our President and all other persons in places of responsibility to continue to seek God's leadership and help in finding a just and honorable solution to the problems confronting our nation. (Letter of December 9, 1967, from White House: "President Johnson has received your letter enclosing the copy of the resolution adopted by your organization. He appreciates your courtesy in bringing this expression of views to his attention. With the President's gratitude for your prayers and support, and with his best wishes, Sincerly, Whitney Shoemaker, Assistant to the President."—ENG)

155. Mrs. Hoyle Allred, Gastonia, presented the following resolutions of appreciation, which were adopted:

Your Committee on Resolutions recommends that the Convention express its deep appreciation to the following:

1. To the pastors and churches of the Buncombe Association for their hospitality to all convention messengers.

2. To the staff and management of the Asheville City Auditorium and to the Asheville Fire Department for their assistance during the Convention.

3. To the Convention Arrangements Committee, and especially to its Chairman, Dr. Cecil Sherman, for a well-conceived and helpful program.

4. To President Carl Bates and other Convention officers for their fair and considerate handling of the Convention.

5. To the newspapers, radio, and television stations for their excellent coverage of the Convention.

6. To all special guests, the Convention Choir, all special choirs and musical groups for their contributions to the program.

7. To Dr. W. Perry Crouch, our beloved General Secretary, who has labored under very trying circumstances due to the serious illness of Mrs. Crouch.

156. The benediction for this session was pronounced by Edison Hill, Asheville.

WEDNESDAY EVENING—NOVEMBER 15, 1967

157. J. Boyce Brooks, First Vice-President, recognized Joseph Stroud, who led the Convention in the singing of "Amazing Grace."

158. Elbert N. Johnson, Wagram, was recognized as having attended conventions for fifty-six consecutive sessions, and was asked to lead in prayer.

159. The Recording Secretary recognized Miss Ruth Williams, secretary in the office of General Secretary W. Perry Crouch, and Mrs. Doris Salter, secretary in the office of Administrative Assistant Robert H. Bruhn. These have assisted in the recording of the proceedings.

160. E. W. Price, Jr., High Point, state chairman for the "Crusade of the Americas," was presented and spoke of the challenge to all our people and agencies in this great undertaking.

161. Bruce Heilman, President Meredith College, pledged the cooperation of the institutions in speaking to the topic, "Our Institutions Back the Crusade." This included not only faculties and students of the schools, but other institutions of the convention.

162. C. Robert Shields, Rocky Mount, president of the State Brotherhood, spoke on "The Layman's Part in the Crusade," pledging the support of the men of our churches.

163. Mrs. A. Leroy Parker, Greensboro, past president of the Woman's Missionary Union of North Carolina, in speaking on "Our Women Are Encouraging the Crusade," referred to the Crusade as a PACT ("Pray for the Americas Crusade Together"). She called attention to a plan for prayer partners with those of other lands and stated that the Woman's Missionary Union might be a clearing house, for selecting these.

164. Julian S. Hopkins, secretary of the Division of Evangelism, addressed himself to "The Challenge of Revival." He declared that he was not filled with pessimism but believed we were on the edge of a spiritual revival.

165. Price called attention to the "Guidebook" given messengers at the time of their registration and moved that the Baptist State Convention now record its determination to participate in the "Crusade of the Americas," and further, that we, under the leadership of the Holy Spirit, use the "Guidebook" prepared by the Committee of 27 as a basis for our work. Carried unanimously by a standing vote.

166. Wayne Dehoney, pastor Walnut Street Baptist Church, Louisville, Kentucky, past president of the Southern Baptist Convention, and coordinator of the Crusade, addressed the body on "The Crusade of the Americas." Dehoney said this was the greatest evangelistic effort ever undertaken in the history of evangelical Christianity and involved 20,000,000 Baptists. He pointed out the historical beginning in Brazil, where in two years 250,000 Baptists were able to account for 100,000 professions of faith, and to the organization for the Crusade in Cali, Colombia. This involves Baptists in 27 countries, representing 38 groups. Among Southern Baptists the second Sundays in January, 1968 and 1969, have been set aside as days of prayer for the Crusade. The speaker called attention to some personal observations and convictions: (1) A revival of compassion for people that need a Saviour is being felt, with the conviction that Christ is the only hope; (2) A revival of spiritual optimism and enthusiasm is being seen; and (3) A revival of personal dedication and sacrifice is being witnessed.

167. The congregation sang "To God Be the Glory."

168. Then the combined choirs of the Buncombe Association, under the direction of Allan Guy, sang two numbers: "Send Out Thy Light" (Schuetky) and "Beautiful Saviour" (arr. Christiansen).

169. President Bates back in the chair, expressed appreciation to Cecil Sherman, pastor Asheville First Church, who had served as chairman of the Committee on Arrangements. Then Sherman introduced Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, former president of the American Baptist Convention, recently declared

"Peace" candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, who addressed the convention on the topic, "A Christian Faces the World." Referring to scientific advance, great production, and instant communication of this age, Stassen reminded the audience that, as great concepts that related to the founding of this nation came from the teachings of great religious leaders, the relevance of Christian principles was just as important now. "There never was a time," said he, "when the teachings of Jesus Christ have greater relevance than today." The speaker then pointed out some basic principles that he holds the teachings of our faith require: (1) There should be a major moral restraint upon the use of military force. If we work intelligently and affirmatively for peace, we should move away from exclusiveness. Correction must not come about through violence, he said, citing the rebuilding of wartorn Europe as an example. The first objective of a nation seeking to follow these Christian principles will be to seek the welfare of all. The speaker sounded a note of optimism in his belief that we can end the war in Vietnam and bring Red China into negotiations with the world. (2) Economic assistance must be extended those in need. (3) There is an imperative moral obligation for everyone to perform some personal act of helpfulness for others.

170. President Bates presented the incoming president, Claud Bowen, and members of his family. In suitable words Bowen accepted the position to which he had been elected. The other officers were recognized.

171. The benediction was pronounced by Allen H. Patterson, Asheville, and the convention adjourned sine die.

Statistical Reports Associational and Convention

Prepared by The Department of Statistics and Survey
Ted W. Williams, Secretary
Mrs. Lafata Lusk, Office Secretary

The following information was supplied by the clerks of the eighty (80) Baptist Associations in North Carolina. We greatly appreciate the faithful service they have rendered in compiling the statistical data. These reports are based on the associational year, and the financial figures are not the same as those based on the calendar year reported by our Convention business office.

Items marked (*) give latest data available.

Items marked () give total expenditures.

Churches not reporting: Indicated by (1), (2), or (3)

(1) First year not reporting—previous year's report will be carried, except for baptisms, additions by letter, number of missions operated by church, and Vacation Bible School enrollment.

(2) Second consecutive year not reporting—latest total membership only will be carried.

(3) Third consecutive (and subsequent) year not reporting—no figures carried, but will be counted as a church. (A church will be counted until verification is received from the association that a subject church has been disaffiliated from said association.)

Location (Item 2)

(Number which most nearly describes church location)

1. Open Country.
2. Village (Under 500 Pop.).
3. Town (500-2,499 Pop.).
4. City (2,500-9,999 Pop.).

City (10,000-49,999 Pop.)

5. . . . Downtown Area
6. . . . Neighborhood
7. . . . Suburban

City (50,000 or More Pop.)

8. . . . Downtown Area
9. . . . Neighborhood
0. . . . Suburban

Auditor's Report

Auditor's Statement

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE
GENERAL BOARD OF THE
BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION OF NORTH CAROLINA
RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Gentlemen:

We have examined the balance sheet of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina as of December 31, 1967, and the related statements of income and changes in fund balances for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. The statements, which are a part of this report show the condition of the General, Education and Social Service Institutions Funds at December 31, 1967, and the results of the income and expenses for the year then ended. The statements of the North Carolina Baptist Assembly, the Fruitland Baptist Camp and the Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute cover the operations for the period of twelve months ended December 31, 1967, and, in addition, give a reconciliation of cash. The funds shown as sent direct are taken from reports received by the Convention and were not otherwise verified by us.

All recorded cash receipts were found to be promptly deposited in the bank and disbursements were supported by cancelled checks, invoices or other evidence, with expenses properly classified. Our examination did not disclose any evidence of irregularities and we believe the funds have been carefully and honestly handled and accounted for.

In our opinion, the accompanying balance sheet and statements of income and expenses and fund balances present fairly the financial position of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina at December 31, 1967, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applicable to such organizations, applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Respectfully submitted,
A. T. ALLEN & COMPANY
Certified Public Accountants

CRAVEN CULLOM BURRIS

Craven Cullom Burris was born on March 6, 1891, in Stanly County. He was the son of James Taylor and Frances Allen Burris. At the time of his death, on January 24, 1969, he was president emeritus of Wingate College and Chairman of Union County's Board of Education.

The Wingate School gave him the high school background which enabled him to graduate magna cum laude from Wake Forest College with both the B.A. and M.A. degrees.

He was called to a teaching post at Wingate School in 1920. In addition to to serving as academic dean, he taught English and Latin. He also coached basketball and served as tennis instructor.

In 1936, C. C. Burris accepted the presidency of Wingate College near the middle of the great Depression. This was a period when many small schools were forced to close their doors, but C. C. Burris, with the aid of devoted faculty members, staff personnel, and trustees, not only kept Wingate open, but also established the college on firm foundations.

Two dates in his tenure as president marked significant milestones. In 1947 Wingate College was admitted into the family of North Carolina's Baptist Colleges and would share in the Convention's Cooperative Program distribution. In 1951 Wingate became accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges. With these two goals attained the future of the College had a firm base from which to project future growth. In 1953, the Trustees named him president emeritus, and he continued teaching till his 70th birthday.

While the educational world remembers this dedicated teacher and administrator, there will be many who will reflect upon his faithfulness as a pastor. In addition to his duties at the College he served pastorates in Stanly and Union counties. He served the King's Street Church in Waxhaw for 24 years and the Hopewell Church in Union County, for more than 25 years.

So wedded was he to the total life of his community that he offered himself at the polls to serve on Union County's Board of Education, to which he was elected, and for many years served as its chairman.

C. C. Burris was married to Virginia Currie in 1921, and they have six children: James Currie lives in Florida and has three children; Mary Ben (Mrs. Harry Hall) lives in New Jersey and has two children; Allen is Dean at Meredith College, Raleigh, and has two children; William is Dean at Guilford College, Greensboro, and has two children; Frances (Mrs. Thomas Crooke) lives in Wingate and has two children; Robert lives in Charlotte and has one child.

This man walked among us as one who had come face to face with his God in Jesus Christ. He lived simply, taught profoundly, and loved completely. A family man always, he was teacher-pastor-administrator in the finest Christian tradition. We say of such men, "a man in Christ" who served his Lord till the day of his death.

Tennyson's words seem to belong to C. C. Burris and we quote them here.

"Sunset and evening star
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea,

But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound and foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep
Turns again home.

Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell
When I embark;

For tho' from out our bourne of Time and Place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crost the bar."

GILMER HENRY CROSS

GILMER HENRY CROSS

Gilmer Cross never met a stranger. His ever present humor, his keen insight, his wisdom, and his devotion to his Lord, made it impossible for any who met him to ever forget him. To many younger men in the ministry, he became their "father confessor" and advisor. He was never too busy to listen or lend a helping hand. His one great desire was that by his life he would be able to lead others into a closer walk with his Lord. Details, often overlooked or thought to be unimportant by others, were the "important niceties" of his personal relationships. No person, or issue, was ever thought to be beyond the scope of his concern, for in his Father's world, all was important.

Gilmer Henry Cross was born in Lexington, North Carolina, on May 10, 1911. Encircled and nurtured by a Christian home, he accepted Christ as Saviour and joined the First Baptist Church there when he was nine years old. He was licensed by this same church when he was twenty years old, and was ordained to the work of the Gospel Ministry at the age of twenty-two. It is significant that each of these formidable events occurred within the framework of his home congregation.

Following his high school education at Lexington, Mr. Cross received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Wake Forest College, and his Master of Theology degree from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Kentucky.

Mr. Cross' pastorates enabled him to serve the people of two states. He served the First Baptist Church, Scarbro, West Virginia from 1936 to 1938; Beck's Baptist Church, Winston-Salem, North Carolina from 1938 to 1943; the Oak Hill Baptist Church, Oak Hill, West Virginia from 1943 to 1950; and the First Baptist Church, Goldsboro, North Carolina from January 1, 1951 until his untimely death on June 16, 1969.

"Open House" was the order of the day at the Cross home. The fellowship of that Christian environment, enjoyed by so many, was enhanced by his wife, Bernice, and their daughter, Elizabeth Anne (Mrs. Charles Helland of Lexington, North Carolina).

His ability as a leader was soon recognized on the part of the several groups he served. While in West Virginia he served as President, West Virginia Ministers' Council; Member, Executive Board, West Virginia Baptist Convention; and as President of the West Virginia State Baptist Convention. He was a member of the Pastor's Advisory Committee on Publications of the American Baptist Convention, and a member of the Board of Managers, Home Mission Board of A.B.C.

In North Carolina he served as Moderator of the Neuse Association; Trustee of Campbell College and Wake Forest University; Chairman, Committee on Orientation of Trustees; member, Baptist State Convention Budget Committee; Chairman State Missions Committee and Fruitland institute Committee; Member of General Board and its President for two terms.

He served the Southern Baptist Convention as a member of its Committee on Boards and for two terms was a member of the Annuity Board.

In 1969 he was invited by the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention and the Philippines Baptist Convention to be a member of the Evangelistic Crusade Team which had a most vital part in the Nationwide Evangelistic effort of that year.

"Both as a friend and as a valuable member of the Baptist family, we will miss him wherever Baptists get together . . ." for "his outgoing nature and his basic enjoyment of life," made Gilmer a permanent part of all of our lives.

CHARLES BENNETT DEANE

In listing the laymen who have made significant contributions to the advancement of the Kingdom of God by North Carolina Baptists, the name of Charles Bennett Deane will be among the first. Although most of the active years of his life among us were spent in the pursuit of his chosen profession in legal and related fields, he was always ready to offer himself in dedicated service, from his local church to the highest position as President of the Baptist State Convention, 1959-61. For this high office he had the preparation of twenty-seven years as Recording Secretary, 1932-59. In addition to these twenty-nine years of Convention leadership, he was a trustee of both Wake Forest College and Meredith College, serving at the latter at the time of his death. In 1960 Wake Forest College honored its distinguished alumnus with the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities.

In the affairs of the Southern Baptist Convention he was chairman of its Committee on Boards in 1966, and from its organization to his death was a member of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs in Washington, D. C.

In these same busy years of work in his denomination at all levels, he found time to serve as Register of Deeds for eight years in his home county of Richmond before going to Washington as a compiler of the United States Congressional Directory. He also served as an attorney for the United States Wage and Hour Division. The foregoing experience in public life prepared him for ten years as Congressman from the Eighth District, 1947-57. It was in this capacity that C. B. Deane demonstrated some of the finest characteristics of his whole life. One example was during the emotional storm that swept the South after the Supreme Court's historic school desegregation decision, when a so-called Southern Manifesto was framed in 1956. He refused to sign this and he was narrowly defeated for his seat in Congress in 1956—a seeming defeat which was later recognized as an act of courage and dedication to true Christian statesmanship. The last thirteen years of his life he spent in his beloved community of Rockingham where he successfully engaged in the practice of law, serving as City Attorney and in the development of an urban renewal program for his community.

During the last two years of his life C. B. demonstrated his greatest courage in a fight against a malignancy which defied medical science but never conquered his indomitable spirit and Christian faith and fortitude. In these last months he wrote: "I claimed to have a faith but these recent months have served to enormously increase this faith. In many ways, these recent months have been the most challenging and victorious days we have ever experienced. You begin to live your faith . . . God has many ways of healing. He uses our weaknesses all along the way to demonstrate His strength and using every day of life He gives us as a stream of blessing and healing for us, for our families and for our friends."

No account of the life of C. B. Deane would be complete without a recognition of his love for and fidelity to his family, consisting of his faithful wife, Agnes Cree, two daughters, Mrs. Richard B. (Cree) Sherman of Orlando, Florida, and Mrs. T. John F. (Carol) Becker of Rowayton, Connecticut, and his son, Charles B. Deane, Jr., of Rockingham.

In reciting these sketchy glimpses of a life so rich and full it seems significant that one of so great stature could rise from the humble beginnings with his birth November 1, 1898, in Anson County, and on through his childhood experiences in a textile mill, working his way through Trinity Park prep school and Wake Forest College, graduating from the law school there in 1923.

With much of the same care and courage which characterized his living, C. B. planned his funeral service to reflect his life—it was simple, meaningful and unpretentious, with virtually no reference to himself. At his specific direction flower memorials were omitted and the Christian flag draped his casket. It was fitting that the simple service was concluded with the singing of the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's Messiah.

ROBERT LEROY McMILLAN

ROBERT LEROY McMILLAN

Robert Leroy McMillan, a distinguished attorney in Raleigh and a trustee of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina from 1931 to 1968 died on May 9, 1969 at the age of 80. Born in the Riverton community of Scotland County, baptized in the Spring Hill Baptist Church, and educated at Wake Forest College and Columbia University, Mr. McMillan was a member of a family illustrious in Baptist history. One brother, Hudson, became the well known missionary to China and another brother, John Arch, was the highly respected editor of Charity and Children for many years. His kinsmen include also such names as Livingston Johnson, Archibald Johnson, and John Charles McNeill. Following his graduation from Wake Forest College Mr. McMillan achieved long-standing recognition as a school teacher in Robeson County. After his graduation from the Law School of Columbia University he entered the service of his country in World War I. Upon his separation from the armed services in 1919 he came to Raleigh and immediately joined the Pullen Memorial Baptist Church, which had just moved to its new location near N. C. State University, and where he served as a Sunday School superintendent, deacon and trustee. In appreciation and high regard for his service to the church, a Sunday School class was named in his honor shortly before his death.

Married to the former Mary Lee Swann of Kingstree, South Carolina, who survives him, Mr. McMillan was the father of two sons, both practicing attorneys in Raleigh and public leaders in the community and throughout the State. A gentle and a generous man, proud of his Scottish ancestry and his Baptist antecedents, he walked among us with a strong and yet simple faith, with deep commitments to whatsoever was lovely and gracious and of a good report, with an undying faith in the goodness of man and the eternal mercy of God.

SYDNOR L. STEALEY

An editorial in the August 2, 1969 issue of the Biblical Recorder states,

"Dr. S. L. Stealey was a man of many talents. He was a successful editor, a powerful preacher, a meticulous scholar, an able teacher, and a tireless administrator. Even after he began the presidency at Southeastern Seminary, his first love was preaching and teaching;—and in those busy and trying years—he found time to teach at least one class. A constant stream of students made their way both to his office and to his home where they knew they would get sympathetic understanding, not only from him, but from Mrs. Stealey. Her quiet strength and unfailing loyalty enriched his ministry and endears her to all those who knew and loved him.

"Dr. Stealey remained contemporary until the time of his death. He believed in a liberal education. By liberal, Dr. Stealey did not mean a doctrinaire stance. To him liberal education meant participating in that vast body of knowledge and wisdom of the ages which frees man's mind for new quests for truth. That freedom is found, he believed, in the Christian's highest commitment to Jesus Christ as Lord."

Dr. S. L. Stealey was born in Martinsburg, West Virginia on March 7, 1897. He was the son of a Baptist minister, Clarence Perry Stealey and Anna Jamieson Sydnor Stealey, and a graduate of Oklahoma Baptist University and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, where he was fellow to Edgar Young Mullins. He married Jessie Wheeler of Wynnewood, Oklahoma. They had two children, Louise (Mrs. Frank Vance) and Sydnor L., Jr.

Dr. Stealey served as Second Lieutenant in the U. S. Army during World War I, and was principal of a high school in Ringling, Oklahoma, 1920-22. He was ordained to the Christian ministry in 1922, and served as teacher at William Jewell College, 1922-24, and as pastor of Baptist churches in Missouri and Kentucky, 1925-32. Other pastorates followed: First Baptist Church, Bloomington, Indiana, 1932-34; Bainbridge Street Baptist Church, Richmond, Virginia, 1934-38; First Baptist Church, Raleigh, North Carolina, 1938-42.

He served as professor of Church History at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, 1942-51.

In February, 1951, he was elected the first president of Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, which opened that fall on the Wake Forest College campus with 85 students and four faculty members. He guided the institution through its formative years and saw it win full accreditation by the American Association of Theological Schools in June 1958. He served on the executive committees of the Baptist State Convention in Indiana and North Carolina and was a member of the Southern Baptist Convention's executive committee, 1938-43. He contributed articles to various encyclopedias and Baptist periodicals. In 1958 he edited A Baptist Treasury, a source book on Baptist history. He is listed in Who's Who in America. Upon his retirement (July 31, 1963), the administration building at Southeastern Seminary was named Stealey Hall in his honor. He died July 24, 1969, and is buried in the Seminary Cemetery at Wake Forest, North Carolina.

CONSTITUTION

PREAMBLE

For the declaration of its fundamental purposes and the permanent guidance and control of its activities, the body does adopt the following as its Constitution, to wit:

ARTICLE I. Name

The name of this body is the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

ARTICLE II. Purposes

The object of this Convention shall be to promote missions, evangelism, education, social services, the distribution of the Bible and sound religious literature, and to co-operate with the work of the Southern Baptist Convention.

ARTICLE III. Authority

While independent and sovereign in its own sphere, the Convention does not claim and will never attempt to exercise any authority over any other Baptist body, whether church, auxiliary organization, association, or Convention.

ARTICLE IV. Composition

The Convention shall be composed of

(1) Two messengers from each co-operating church, and one additional messenger from each church for every hundred members or major fraction thereof, beyond the first one hundred members; provided, that no church shall be entitled to more than ten messengers. No one shall be a messenger who is not a member of a church co-operating with the Convention, and messengers must be duly elected by their churches; a co-operating church shall be one that supports any object of the Convention and which is in friendly cooperation with this Convention and sympathetic with its purpose and work; and (2) The officers of the Convention, the members of the General Board, the editor of the Biblical Recorder, and the President of the Woman's Missionary Union.

ARTICLE V. Meetings

The Convention shall convene annually on Monday after the second Sunday in November at 7:00 p.m. In case of emergency the General Board is empowered to change the time or place of meeting, cancel the sessions of the Convention, or call a special meeting by a vote of two-thirds of the members present when the vote is taken.

ARTICLE VI. Officers

The officers of the Convention shall be a President, a First Vice-President, a Second Vice-President, a Recording Secretary, an Assistant Recording Secretary, a General Secretary-Treasurer, three Trustees, and a Parliamentarian. The terms of the President, the Vice-Presidents, Recording Secretary, Assistant Recording Secretary, Trustees and the Parliamentarian shall commence at the conclusion of the annual session at which they are elected and continue until the close of the next annual session of the Convention. The President and Vice-Presidents may not be elected for more than two consecutive terms. The election of all officers subject to annual election shall be on the afternoon of the first full day of the annual Convention, but the elections may be completed, if necessary, on the morning of the second full day. A vacancy in any of the above-mentioned offices, except that of President, occurring between sessions of the Convention may be filled by the General Board; such vacancies in the presidency shall be filled by the Vice-Presidents succeeding to the office in order of their rank.

a. In case of a vacancy in the office of General Secretary-Treasurer, the General Board shall nominate a man to the Convention to fill this office.

b. Opportunity shall be given to receive additional nominations from the floor of the Convention.

c. The man receiving the majority of votes cast shall be declared elected.

Upon election, the General Secretary-Treasurer shall hold office for an indefinite period, with voluntary retirement at age 65. He may continue on a year-by-year basis after review by the Executive Committee, with automatic retirement at age 68; retirement to take effect upon December 31 of the year in which he retires.

d. In case the position of General Secretary-Treasurer becomes vacant between sessions of the Convention, the General Board, upon the recommendation of its Executive Committee, shall name an acting General Secretary-Treasurer to serve until the next regular session of the Convention.

The General Secretary-Treasurer is the chief executive officer of the General Board, the chief administrative and program officer of the General Board staff, the chief budget officer of the General Board staff, the chief professional adviser of the General Board and its committees, the secretary and treasurer of the General Board and the Convention, and one of the denomination's spiritual leaders, providing statewide guidance and inspiration.

The General Secretary-Treasurer and the President of the Convention shall serve ex-officio without voting on all committees and aid by furnishing information, printed materials and needed guidance for the work of the committees.

ARTICLE VII. Trustees of the Convention

The Convention shall have three trustees who shall serve for one year and shall hold title to the property of the Convention and convey and use the same as directed by the Convention, its General Board or Executive Committee. They shall execute obligations only in behalf of and as ordered by the Convention. They shall have the powers granted to trustees of religious societies by the laws of the State of North Carolina, but subject always to the limitations imposed by this Constitution and by action of the Convention, its General Board or Executive Committee. They shall require the Treasurer of the Convention to give suitable bond, with corporate security and in adequate amount as determined by the General Board, and they shall cause such bonds to be safely kept. Failure on the part of the Treasurer to maintain such a bond in force for as long a period as ten days shall authorize the Trustees to remove him from office. The Trustees shall make full, detailed reports to the annual sessions of the Convention and at other times if requested by the General Board. They shall safely keep the seal of the Convention and affix it only as authorized by the Convention, its General Board or Executive Committee. The seal shall be circular in form and shall bear the words:

"Trustees of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, Incorporated 1893. SEAL."

The Trustees shall keep full minutes of all their meetings and preserve the same in permanent forms. They shall elect their own Chairman and Secretary. Any vacancy occurring in their membership between sessions of the Convention shall be filled by the General Board.

ARTICLE VIII. The General Board

A. Membership

1. One member shall be elected from the area of each District Association; one additional member from each District Association with a membership of 20,000 to 40,000; and one additional member from any District Association with a membership of more than 40,000; ten members-at-large to be elected, one from each region of the state, these ten to be nominated by the convention nominating committee; with a limit of one member from any church and three members from any association.

2. The President and First and Second Vice-Presidents of the Convention shall be ex-officio voting members of the General Board and its Executive Committee. These members, selected by virtue of their Convention offices, shall not be used in determining the number of members from a District Association or church.

3. The General Secretary-Treasurer, the Recording Secretary, the State Woman's Missionary Union President, and the State Brotherhood President shall be ex-officio non voting members.

4. Members of the Executive Committee of the Southern Baptist Convention, from the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina who are not then serving as elected members of the General Board shall be non-voting, ex-officio members of the General Board.

5. No one who is employed by any institution or agency of the convention, whether the salary be total or supplemental, shall be eligible for membership on the General Board except as an ex-officio member.

6. In the event a member moves from the association or region from which he was elected, his membership shall immediately terminate.

The membership of those moving from the state shall be terminated upon the date of the move from the state.

7. Any vacancy on the General Board occurring between annual sessions of the Convention may be filled by action of the Executive Committee. Those elected shall serve through the remainder of the calendar year. The Convention shall at its next regular annual session fill the vacancy for the unexpired term.

B. Election

1. The Nominating Committee, as directed by the By-Laws of the Convention and in keeping with Baptist policies and practices, shall present to the annual session a slate of nominees for election, and after opportunity for further nominations from the floor is given, the members shall be elected by the Convention in session.

2. Board members shall be elected for a term of four years with, as nearly as may be possible, one-fourth of the membership being elected at each annual session, provided, however, that any such board member who shall have been elected to fill a vacancy of less than two years, shall be eligible to be re-elected to a full term of his own.

C. Powers and Functions

Except as specifically limited by the constitution, the General Board shall have the power to act for the Convention in the interim between sessions, and shall have general supervision of all agencies and institutions fostered and supported by the Convention.

ARTICLE IX. Institutions and Agencies of the Convention

A. Trustees and directors of the Convention's Agencies and Institutions.

The charter of every institution owned or supported in whole or in part by the Convention shall contain the following provisions:

1. The Baptist State Convention of North Carolina shall elect the trustees and directors of said corporation for terms of four years, except that the Directors of the Baptist Foundation shall be elected for terms of five years. At the first election by the Convention one-fourth of the board of trustees or directors shall be elected to serve for one year, one-fourth for two years, one-fourth for three years, and the remaining one-fourth for four years. At each subsequent regular annual session of the Convention one-fourth of the Board of Trustees or Directors of said corporation shall be elected by the Convention to succeed the members of said Board retiring.

2. The trustees and directors shall be responsible to the Convention for the operation of its institutions in accordance with Baptist principles; report of work done and undertaken shall be made annually to the Convention; any change in the charter of any institution which would affect, alter or change the purpose of the institution or the relationship of the institution or its board of trustees to the Convention shall have the prior approval of the Convention. No change of policy shall be made without securing the prior approval of the Convention or its General Board; no program shall be inaugurated which might involve the Convention directly or indirectly in a debt, without securing the prior approval of the Convention.

3. The members of the Board of Trustees or Directors of said corporation shall be residents of the State of North Carolina and members of churches co-operating with the Convention.

4. Removal of a member of a Board of Trustees or Directors.

If for any reason a member of a Board shall cease to be a member of a church co-operating with the Convention or shall remove his residence from the State, his membership on any Board shall be thereby terminated. Any vacancy on a Board shall be filled by the remaining members until the next regular annual session of the Convention, and the Convention shall at its next regular annual session fill the vacancy for the unexpired term. The Board of Trustees or Directors of said corporation by affirmative vote of three-fourths of the entire membership given in regular annual meeting or in a special meeting called for the purpose, shall have the power to remove from office any trustee or director of such corporation for cause considered sufficient by such Board, but only after reasonable notice to such trustee or director and opportunity to be heard by the Board. The Convention shall have the right to remove any trustee or director for cause considered sufficient by the Convention, but only after reasonable notice to such trustee or director, and opportunity for him to be heard by the Convention. Notice of such contemplated action and hearing by the Convention may be given by the Executive Committee of the General Board of the Convention.

5. The trustees or directors of the institutions and agencies of the Convention shall be elected by the Convention after receiving nominations from the Convention's Nominating Committee or from the floor. The trustees and directors of all institutions owned and supported by the Convention shall make an annual report to the above committee of all vacancies to be filled.

B. Baptist Foundation

The Baptist Foundation shall be operated by fifteen directors who shall serve for five-year terms. One-fifth of the directors shall be elected annually by the Convention. The purposes of the Foundation shall be to receive, hold and administer donations of money and property which charitable-minded persons may leave to it from time to time.

C. Council on Christian Higher Education

1. The Council shall be composed of the members of the General Board comprising the Christian Higher Education Committee, together with the President, Dean, and chairman of the trustees of each of the colleges receiving funds from the Convention, and as ex-officio members: the General Secretary-Treasurer of the Baptist State Convention, the President of the Convention, the President of the General Board, and the President of the WMU. The chairman of the General Board's committee on Christian Higher Education shall be president of the Council; and the Director of the Division of Christian Higher Education of the General Board shall serve as secretary of the Council. The duties and powers of the Council shall be fixed by the By-Laws of the Convention.

2. Representatives on the Council from the colleges will not have voting power in the allocation of funds. No member of the Council who occupies a salaried position with the Convention or its institutions or its auxiliary shall have a vote on appropriations that may be made to the institutions; and all appropriations agreed upon shall be subject to the approval of the General Board.

D. Council on Christian Social Services

1. The Council shall be composed of the members of the Christian Social Services Committee of the General Board; the President of the Baptist Children's Homes of North Carolina, Incorporated; the Superintendent of North Carolina Baptist Homes, Incorporated; the President of the North Carolina Baptist Hospitals, Incorporated; the Presidents of the Boards of Trustees of these institutions; the General Secretary-Treasurer of the Convention, the President of the General Board and the President of the Woman's Missionary Union. The Chairman of the General Board's Committee on Christian Social Services shall be President of the Council, and the Director of the Division of Christian Social Services of the General Board, when chosen, shall serve as secretary of the Council. The duties and powers of the Council shall be fixed by the By-Laws of the Convention.

2. Representatives on the Council from the institutions will not have voting power in the allocation of funds. No member of the Council who occupies a salaried position with the Convention or its institutions or its auxiliary shall have a vote on appropriations that may be made to the institutions; and all appropriations agreed upon shall be subject to the approval of the General Board.

E. Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs

1. The Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs shall be composed of the members of the Christian Life and Public Affairs committee of the General Board. Eight members-at-large to be suggested by the Committee on Nominations and four ex-officio members as follows: Chairman of the General Board, General Secretary-Treasurer, Editor of the Biblical Recorder and Editor of Charity and Children. The Chairman of the General Board Committee on Christian Life and Public Affairs shall be a member of the Executive Committee of the General Board and President of the Council. The Director of the Division of Christian Life and Public Affairs, when chosen, shall serve as Secretary of the Council and the duties and powers of the council shall be fixed by the By-Laws of the Convention.

2. Representatives at large on the Council and ex-officio members will not have voting powers on the allocation of funds. All budget funds shall be handled by the Committee on Christian Life and Public Affairs of the General Board. All appropriations agreed upon shall be subject to the approval of the Executive Committee and the General Board.

ARTICLE X. Concerning Debts

All borrowing by the Convention for its own use, or for its institutions or agencies, or borrowings by any institution or agency of the Convention, the payment of which would require an extension of time beyond the close of the subsequent fiscal year, shall be authorized only on the following terms and conditions.

A. The General Board shall have authority to borrow money in anticipation of current revenue, provided that any unpaid balance of such borrowing at the end of the current fiscal year shall be provided for in and made a part of the budget for the subsequent fiscal year.

B. No institution or agency of the Convention shall encumber its property or change its status with respect to the Convention without authority from the Convention. Institutions and agencies of the Convention, subject to the approval of the General Board, shall have authority to borrow money in anticipation of current revenue, provided that any unpaid balance of such borrowing at the end of the current fiscal year shall be provided for in and made a part of the budget for the subsequent current year.

C. Any and all resolutions which propose the borrowing of money shall set forth all pertinent facts and a definite schedule for repayment. Such requests shall be sent to the Executive Committee or General Board by October 1 of each year for recommendation to the Convention. These recommendations shall be included in the General Board's report and subject to the rules concerning the adoption of this report.

(1) Notice of any and all contemplated borrowings shall appear in the Biblical Recorder in three separate issues in advance of the meeting of the Convention during which it is proposed that action be taken.

ARTICLE XI. Miscellaneous

A. The Convention's fiscal year shall close on December 31.

B. The members of the boards of trustees and directors of the institutions and agencies of the Convention shall be distributed as widely as practicable. The term of office of a trustee who has not resigned, died, become disqualified, or been removed shall not expire until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified.

No individual shall serve on any board, institution, or agency, who is at the same time holding membership on any other board, institution, or agency. Not more than three members of any board of any institution or agency supported wholly or in part by the Convention shall be members of the same church.

C. Individuals, churches and associations, or others desiring the assistance and co-operation of the Baptists of the Convention in any work not already fostered by the Convention shall present such project to the agency under which it should be properly placed. If the agency fails or refuses to approve it, it may be presented to the Convention under miscellaneous business or as a special order.

D. Neither the Convention, nor any institution or agency, owned or supported in whole or in part by the Convention, shall accept or receive, directly or indirectly, any gift, grant, or aid from the Federal or State governments or any governmental agency, except for definite and full services rendered by the institution or agency and by and with the approval of the Convention or its General Board.

ARTICLE XII. Woman's Missionary Union

The Woman's Missionary Union of North Carolina is recognized as an auxiliary of this Convention whose accomplishments and potentialities in good works are appreciated as being of immeasurable power to our Christian cause.

ARTICLE XIII. Amendments

This Constitution may be changed or amended on the second full day of any annual session of the Convention by a two-thirds vote of the registered messengers present when the vote is taken, provided that notice of any and all amendments to the Constitution shall appear in the Biblical Recorder in two separate issues in advance of the meeting of the Convention in which the proposed action is to be taken.

ARTICLE XIV. Validate

The adoption of this new Constitution shall not invalidate any action validly taken by or in behalf of the Convention or any of its institutions or agencies prior to the date this new Constitution becomes effective.

BYLAWS

The work of the Convention shall be governed by the following bylaws:

ARTICLE I. Duties of Officers of the Convention

A. The president shall preside over the deliberations of the Convention and discharge such other duties as are imposed upon him by the Convention or as are incumbent on the presiding officer of a deliberative body. He shall in advance of the meeting of the Convention and with the assistance of the Vice-Presidents appoint a Committee on Enrollment consisting of nine members and a Committee on Committees consisting of fifteen members. He may appoint other committees when so directed by the body. He shall also serve ex-officio as a voting member of the General Board and its Executive Committee. He shall also serve as an ex-officio non-voting member of all Convention committees.

B. The Vice-Presidents

1. In the event of the death of the President or his incapacity to serve the Vice-Presidents shall succeed him in the order of their rank; and so succeeding shall have and discharge the duties incumbent upon the President.

2. They shall assist the President in naming those Convention Committees for which he is responsible and shall serve ex-officio as voting members of the General Board and its Executive Committee.

C. The Recording Secretary

The Recording Secretary shall record and preserve the proceedings of the Convention and shall prepare the copy for printing.

The Assistant Recording Secretary will assist the Recording Secretary and in case of illness, or death of the Recording Secretary during a Convention year, he will succeed him to the office of Recording Secretary.

D. The General Secretary-Treasurer

1. The General Secretary of the Convention shall promote the whole program of the Convention, including Missions, Evangelism, Higher Education and Social Service, and may serve as adviser to all the institutions, agencies and committees of the Convention. He shall work under the direction of and be subject to the authority of the General Board; and shall have administrative supervision of such work as shall be assigned to him by the Convention or its General Board.

2. In carrying out the responsibilities of each and all these functions, the General Secretary-Treasurer shall:

a. Co-ordinate and evaluate General Board programs with the help of the General Board and its Executive Committee;

b. Advise and otherwise assist the General Board, the Convention and their committees and subcommittees, including the provision of direct staff help in planning meetings, preparing agenda, presenting analyses, facts, and recommendations;

c. Plan, co-ordinate and supervise the entire budgetary process (formulation, authorization and administration) under the direction of the Executive Committee and, where appropriate, the Convention;

d. Assume responsibility for the administration, co-ordination and direction of General Board staff, including the recommendations of all divisions and department heads, organization of professional staff, development of professional staff position descriptions, and preparation of personnel policies;

e. Encourage staff members to make their fullest contribution to the work of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina;

f. Work on a co-operating basis with the heads of all Boards and Agencies of the Convention;

g. Promote participation in and support for all North Carolina Baptist and Southern Baptist Convention programs and represent the General Board, as appropriate, to the denomination and the public.

3. As Treasurer he shall receive all funds sent him for the objects of the Conventions, and make acknowledgment of the same in the manner as the General Board may determine for the faithful performance of his duties. He shall sign all checks which shall be countersigned by the Business Manager and Comptroller; and both of these officers shall be bonded in such amount as shall be determined by the General Board. He shall forward at least once a month all contributions to their destinations. He shall make an annual report of his receipts and disbursements which shall be published in the minutes of the Convention, and upon retiring from his office, he shall deliver to his successor all money, papers, books and other property belonging thereto.

4. As General Secretary he shall supervise the work of administrative assistants.

E. The Parliamentarian

The Parliamentarian shall advise and assist the Presiding Officer of the Convention with respect to all matters involving proper parliamentary procedure. The Rules of Order for the Convention shall be those laid down in Robert's "Rules of Order," but in cases where the meaning may not be clear the President shall exercise his discretion, subject to appeal to the Convention.

ARTICLE II. Duties of Committees

Membership on Convention committees shall not bar one from serving as a member of the General Board, or as a director of any agency of the Convention, or as a trustee of any institution of the Convention.

Vacancies occurring in committees between sessions of the Convention shall be filled through appointment of the Convention President.

Nothing contained in reports to the Convention shall be construed as an action of the Convention except the recommendations which are definitely listed and adopted by the Convention.

The committees of the Convention shall be divided into four categories:

A. Those appointed by the President and Vice-Presidents in advance of the meeting of the Convention.

1. The Committee on Enrollment consisting of nine members whose duties it shall be to provide registration cards for messengers and visitors and have them in a suitable place several hours before the meeting of the Convention. This committee shall make a report to the assembled messengers upon the call of the President, and shall serve as a committee on credentials.

2. The Committee on Committees whose duty it shall be to nominate for election by the Convention the committees listed under sections B and C below, and such other committees as may be assigned to it. At least a fair proportion of the members nominated to all committees of the Convention shall come from the rural and urban churches, and no one shall be nominated to serve on more than one committee at the same time.

B. Those to report at the session of the Convention by which they are elected.

1. A Committee on Resolutions consisting of fifteen members. It shall be composed of at least five members from the General Board with at least two of the five from the Executive Committee of the Board.

All resolutions presented to the Convention shall be referred to the Committee on Resolutions, except that by a two-thirds vote of the messengers present on the first or second day of the Convention, the rules may be suspended and a resolution be taken up for immediate consideration.

C. Those to report at the next regular session of the Convention.

1. The Committee on Nominations, consisting of fifteen members, five of whom shall rotate off each year. Their term of office shall begin with the adjournment of the Convention at which they are elected and shall terminate upon adjournment of the Convention at which their successors are elected. No member shall be eligible to succeed himself after serving three consecutive years. The committee shall nominate a fair proportion of members from rural and urban churches to the various boards of all agencies and institutions, and shall also nominate members for vacancies on the 8 members-at-large of the Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs and such other nominations as may be delegated to the Committee of the Convention.

a. It shall have its first meeting not later than July 1 of each calendar year and shall meet again at least once prior to the meeting of the Convention.

b. The Committee shall through its chairman, or other members upon request, invite each agency and institution of the Convention to submit to the Committee in advance of its mid-summer meeting the names of two individuals for each vacancy to occur on their boards, and request that biographical data accompany each name.

The Committee shall request of associational executive committees that the associations submit the names of at least two lay persons and two ministers for each General Board vacancy to occur at the end of the year, and request that biographical data shall accompany each name. These shall be submitted to the Committee before its mid-summer meeting.

The Committee shall, through the Biblical Recorder, invite individual Baptists to submit the names of individuals who would be worthy of consideration for positions on the various boards of institutions and agencies and on the General Board, and request that biographical data accompany each suggested name.

When the Committee meets to do its work it shall give careful consideration to those who have been recommended from the various sources indicated above, but will be free to follow its own best judgment in making nominations to the Convention for the boards of the agencies, institutions and the General Board.

c. It shall publish its full report in the Biblical Recorder at least one week prior to the meeting of the Convention.

2. The Committee on Convention Program, consisting of nine. This committee shall be responsible:

a. for the program for the Annual Meeting.

b. for all other matters in connection with the annual meeting not provided for in the Constitution and Bylaws.

3. Committee on Local Arrangements consisting of nine. This committee shall be responsible for:

a. supervising all arrangements with the local auditorium including the securing of typewriters, telephones, furniture and needed equipment for the session of the Annual Meeting;

b. working with Convention staff, Program Committee and Enrollment Committee of the Convention in arranging for display booths, platform, sound system and other arrangements necessary for session of the Convention.

4. Committee on Memorials consisting of five. This committee shall prepare a report for the annual, including a list of deceased ministers and outstanding lay leaders of the Convention who have passed away during the current year, and call attention to the names of these persons during the annual session of the Convention. In addition, this committee may recommend to the Convention a deceased person or persons to whom the annual of the Convention may be dedicated.

5. The Historical Committee, consisting of twelve members, four of whom shall rotate off each year. A member having served a full three-year term shall not be eligible to succeed himself.

This committee shall recommend appropriate measures for the preservation of Baptist history. It shall seek to preserve the minutes and records of all Baptist bodies, churches, associations, and conventions, historical manuscripts, printed materials, including correspondence, and museum objects. It shall encourage the writing and publication of high-standard histories of individuals, churches, associations, and conventions. It shall recommend what historic sites, including buildings, should be properly marked and preserved when these are related to Baptist history. It shall work in close collaboration with the historical researcher employed jointly by the Baptist State Convention and Wake Forest University, who works directly with the Baptist Collection in the Wake Forest University Library. The committee shall report annually to the Baptist State Convention and shall co-operate with the Historical Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention.

6. The Committee on Place and Preacher consisting of nine members. This committee shall recommend the preacher for the next annual session of the Convention and be responsible for recommending to the Convention a place of meeting for at least two years in advance; and should consider proper accommodations and the size of the auditorium which is available.

7. The Committee on Trustee Orientation, consisting of nine members, three of whom shall rotate off each year. Their terms of office shall begin at the adjournment of the Convention at which they are elected and shall terminate upon the adjournment of the Convention at which their successors are elected. No member shall be eligible to succeed himself after serving three consecutive years or one full term.

a. The committee shall be responsible for planning and promoting an annual orientation program for trustees and directors of Convention institutions and agencies.

b. The committee shall prepare a brief manual of instruction for use by trustees and directors of Convention institutions and agencies, and shall, as occasion requires, revise this manual.

8. The Publicity Committee, consisting of six members. Due to the peculiar character of this committee, members may be elected to succeed themselves as often as seems desirable.

It shall be the duty of this committee to plan for proper news coverage of all sessions of the Baptist State Convention, to act as liaison group between the Convention and the press, to formulate and release news items growing out of the sessions of the State Convention, and in general to seek to promote good relations between the denomination and the public press.

D. Special Convention Committees.

When a special committee is called for, the Resolutions Committee shall study the situation to see if there is a committee or group already in existence which could appropriately attend to the matter proposed, and, if there is such a group, it shall, upon recommendation of the Resolutions Committee and vote of the Convention, be referred to them, otherwise the Resolutions Committee may recommend that a special committee be set up by the Convention.

ARTICLE III. Eligibility for Membership on the General Board and on Boards of Trustees and Directors of Agencies and Institutions of the Convention

Members of the General Board and Trustees and Directors of any agency or institution of the Convention shall be members of churches co-operating with the Convention.

The term of office shall begin on January 1, following the meeting of the Convention at which members were elected; and shall end on December 31 following the Convention at which their successors were elected, unless sooner terminated.

In no case shall a member of any board serve a continuous term of more than four years, except the directors of North Carolina Baptist Foundation, in which case the continuous term shall not exceed five years, provided, however, that any such board member who shall have been elected to fill a vacancy of less than two years, shall be eligible to be re-elected to a full term of his own.

A member of a board of any institution or agency of the Convention having completed a full term of office shall not be eligible for re-election to membership on the same board until the lapse of one year, but shall be eligible for immediate election to membership on the board of any other institution or agency of the Convention.

ARTICLE IV. The General Board

A. Powers and Duties of the General Board

1. The General Board shall have charge and control of all work of the Convention in the interim between sessions of the Convention, except those activities committed specifically by charter to the Boards of Trustees of its institutions and agencies. It shall have the power to act for the Convention in the interim between sessions of the Convention; and any action taken during the interim shall be binding on the Convention and reported fully to the Convention at its next session. It shall make and approve all appropriations. It shall have no power to contravene any action of the Convention nor to launch any new institutions. It may provide for the expansion of any phase of work which its income and resources may make possible. It shall have the responsibility of bringing to the Convention for its consideration recommendations concerning any phase of the work that is being done or that should be undertaken in order that the Convention may have an over-all picture of the total program of North Carolina Missionary Baptists.

2. The General Board shall make a report to the Convention of its activities during the year. The Board shall have its report printed and ready for distribution at the first session of the Convention, including reports from Education Institutions, Hospitals, Children's Homes, Homes for the Aging, Baptist Foundation, Christian Higher Education Council, Social Services Council, and all other agencies of the Convention.

3. Allocation of funds. The General Board shall recommend to the Convention the budget allocations of Cooperative Program undesignated gifts for each object of the Convention, and the amount or percentage of Cooperative Program funds to be allocated to Southern Baptist Convention causes.

4. Audit. The General Board shall employ a certified public accountant each year to make a complete audit of the books and accounts of the treasurer and comptroller, and it shall employ or cause to be employed a certified public accountant, or accountants, to make annual audits of all institutions of the Convention.

A copy of the annual audit of the General Board and of each institution receiving funds from the Convention shall be presented to the General Secretary-Treasurer of the Convention; the audit of the General Board and a summary of the other audits shall be presented to the Recording Secretary not later than thirty days after the close of the fiscal year for inclusion in the Annual of the Convention and, in the discretion of the General Board, in the Biblical Recorder.

The Executive Committee of the General Board and the General Secretary-Treasurer shall have the authority to provide the forms which will indicate what items should appear in said summary.

B. The Organization of the General Board

1. Meetings. The General Board shall meet on Tuesday and Wednesday following the fourth Sunday of January, in the month of June, on Tuesday and Wednesday following the second Sunday of October of each year, and in cases of emergency at the call of the General Secretary-Treasurer and the President of the Board or by request from a majority of the General Board members.

2. Officers. At the January meeting of the Board the following officers shall be elected and they shall serve until their successors are elected and qualified: a President, a Vice-President, and a Recording Secretary. At the same time the Board shall fill vacancies and elect needed new employees and shall fix the compensation of its secretaries and other employees, and all salaried officers of the Convention.

(2) Duties and Responsibilities of the Director of the Division:

(a) He shall be responsible to the General Secretary for the over-all performance of all activities of the Division, and he shall work closely with the General Secretary in the effort to place Evangelism in the forefront of the total Convention program.

(b) In co-operation with all divisions and departments of the Convention he shall study ways and means of getting and maintaining the spirit and practice of evangelism (witnessing unto Christ) in every phase of the total Baptist program in North Carolina.

(c) Work with the Committee on Evangelism of the General Board in promoting a vigorous program of evangelism in North Carolina.

(d) He shall present to the General Secretary-Treasurer and the Budget Committee the budget needs of the Division.

(e) He shall promote the Southern Baptist Program of Evangelism in co-operation with the boards and agencies of the Southern Baptist Convention.

d. Committee on Church Programs.

(1) Function: To work with the Director of this Division in providing the churches with trained educational leadership for the total church membership. Such a program will involve co-operation with the Sunday School Board and other Boards and agencies of the Southern Baptist Convention.

(2) Duties and responsibilities of the Director of this Division:

(a) He shall be responsible to the General Secretary-Treasurer and the General Board for the over-all performance of all Departments and activities of the Division.

(b) Work with the Committee on Church Programs of the General Board in studying the needs of the local church. Through the various departments of his Division, seek to guide in providing programs, literature, and leadership to help meet these needs. This will involve church community surveys and research in church programs, conferences with pastors and church leaders and cooperation with the various departments and facilities of the Sunday School Board and the various mission boards.

(c) Hold regular staff meetings of the department heads and all personnel in the various departments of the Division of Church Programs; correlate the work of church programs in such a way as to strengthen the local church; work with the department heads to prevent overlapping in meetings or emphases; and help create a spirit of team work as each department seeks to do its part in the total development of the local church.

(d) Meet in conference with the various department secretaries to develop a recommended budget for the Division. This recommended budget would then be studied by the General Secretary-Treasurer and presented by him to the Budget Committee for consideration.

(e) Participate in various district and state programs to help inform the people concerning the work of his Division and to help promote the entire Cooperative Program of Baptists.

(f) Work with and supervise the work of the following Departmental Secretaries: Sunday School, Church Training, Student Work, Church Music, Church Building Planning, Brotherhood, Camps and Retreats, North Carolina Baptist Assembly, Fruitland Baptist Conference Center, and Statistics and Survey. In addition, he shall work in close cooperation with Woman's Missionary Union, helping to coordinate and correlate the work of that department with the other church programs, in ways that are mutually agreeable.

(g) Serve as Chairman of the Youth Program Advisory Committee.

(h) Promote the Church Administration Program of the Convention, including the training of Deacons.

(i) Coordinate and promote the Family Life Ministries of the Convention, in cooperation with the Administrative Assistant to the General Secretary-Treasurer, the Division of Christian Social Services, the Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs, and the Division of Missions.

e. Committee on Christian Higher Education.

(1) Function: To work with the Director of this Division in order to provide an effective program for the several Baptist colleges, without in any way hindering the independent operation of any one of them.

(2) Duties and responsibilities of the Director of this Division.

(a) He shall serve as Secretary of the Council on Christian Higher Education.

(b) He shall be responsible to the Council on Christian Higher Education, to the General Secretary-Treasurer, and to the General Board, and shall work in co-operation with all Divisions and Departments of the General Board in an effort to secure full support for the Convention's program of higher education.

(c) He shall, in co-operation with the Business Manager and Comptroller of the General Board, work towards promoting a uniform method of bookkeeping for all the colleges in an effort to understand and interpret all their budget needs.

(d) He shall work towards correlating the programs of the several educational institutions and securing their co-operation, and shall formulate plans for promoting an interest in and support of Christian Higher Education.

f. Committee on Christian Social Services.

(1) Function: To work with the Director of this Division in order to provide a well-integrated program for Children's Homes, Homes for Aging and the Hospital, without in any way hindering the independent operation of each.

(2) It shall be the prerogative of this committee to discuss the annual budget needs of each of the three social service institutions with the General Secretary-Treasurer and the Budget Committee of the General Board.

(3) Duties and responsibilities of the Director of the Division.

He shall be responsible to the Council on Christian Social Services, to the General Secretary-Treasurer, and to the General Board, and shall co-operate with all the Divisions and Departments in order to create a better understanding of all the problems involved in providing for the needs of these benevolent institutions.

g. The Executive Committee

(1) Function: To serve in a dual capacity as the General Board ad interim deciding on routine and emergency matters between sessions of the General Board, and as a survey and policy committee, reviewing, correlating and recommending policies and programs to the General Board. It will initiate and recommend matters concerning business management, budget and finance. The Executive Committee shall receive and act on all recommendations concerning the employment, supervision and retirement of personnel. Personnel may retire voluntary at age 65. They may continue on a year-by-year basis after a review by the Executive Committee with automatic retirement at age 68 as of December 31 of the year in which they retire.

(2) The Committee shall be composed of the President of the General Board, the vice-president of the General Board, the President of the Convention, the first vice-president of the Convention, the second vice-president of the Convention, the chairman of the six major committees, and five members-at-large from the General Board.

The Executive Committee as constituted the year previous shall remain intact until the January meeting of the General Board at which the Executive Committee will be re-constituted.

(3) The Executive Committee shall have three sub-committees to facilitate its work:

(a) Business Management (composed of five members of the Executive Committee) to work with the Business Manager-Comptroller and General Secretary-Treasurer on all routine matters of business in connection with the division of business management. Matters affecting policies, new personnel or new expenditures shall be referred to entire Executive Committee.

(b) Budget and Finance Committee (composed of six members of the Executive Committee) to handle program budget and finance matters and study, formulate and recommend general budget allocations. Final recommendation of budget will come from the full Executive Committee. Since the Executive Committee represents every division of the work of the General Board and all of the institutions and agencies, it is the proper committee to recommend budgets each year.

(c) Denominational Co-operation Committee (composed of the president, first and second vice-presidents of the Convention) to meet at such times as conditions warrant. They shall consider the work of the agencies and institutions of the state and Southern Baptist Conventions and recommend any policies that will improve co-operation with these agencies and institutions and Woman's Missionary Union.

(4) Meetings of the Executive Committee shall be held as follows:

(a) Regular meetings at least once per quarter.

(b) Once each year, not later than September, the full Executive Committee shall invite secretaries, department heads and heads of all agencies and institutions of the Convention to present written evaluations of their needs and requests for the next fiscal year. Following this meeting, the Executive Committee shall prepare a budget to be presented to the General Board at the pre-Convention session of the General Board. Any changes caused by Convention action, or later needs may be made at the January meeting of the General Board.

(c) The Executive Committee shall meet in special meeting on call of the General Secretary-Treasurer or the President of the General Board or both.

(5) The President of the General Board shall serve as chairman of the Executive Committee and ex-officio member of its sub-committees.

(6) The Executive Committee shall direct the work of the Business Manager and Comptroller and of the Director of Public Relations, whose duties shall be as follows:

(a) Business Manager and Comptroller

1. Serve as the principal assistant to the General Secretary-Treasurer on all business activities of the General Board and its staff.

2. Supervise and direct all of the bookkeeping and accounting in connection with the Convention treasury and the work of the General Board.

3. In co-operation with the General Secretary-Treasurer execute the financial instructions of the General Board regarding the appropriations of all funds received by the Convention.

4. Supervise the work of the building superintendent, switchboard operator and receptionist, mail clerk, print shop workers, and maids and janitors.

5. Prepare and circulate manuals of administrative policies, procedures and practices to all General Board employees and supervise personnel activities such as length of vacation, sick leave, salaries, and expenses.

6. Prepare periodic financial reports of Convention receipts and expenditures for use of General Secretary-Treasurer, General Board and staff members and heads of institutions and agencies. Present financial reports to each regular meeting of the General Board and the annual meeting of the Baptist State Convention.

7. Be responsible for proper auditing of Convention financial records and for presenting such reports to the Convention and its General Board.

8. Assist the departments of the General Board staff in developing effective and economical procedures for the conduct of their work.

9. Establish and administer procedures to be used by staff members in making purchases of office supplies and equipment.

10. Make himself available to help any agency or institution of the Convention, at its request, to adopt better bookkeeping practices and work toward promoting a uniform method of bookkeeping for all agencies and institutions of the Convention.

(b) Director of Public Relations

1. He shall serve as an assistant to the General Secretary-Treasurer in all matters involving public relations.

2. He shall work in close co-operation with every Division and Department of the Board in the production of printed materials, including promotional literature.

3. He shall represent the General Secretary-Treasurer in attendance upon denominational meetings and others, and shall work in close co-operation with the heads of all institutions and agencies.

4. He shall develop and maintain a close liaison with newspapers, church papers, radio and TV stations and other news channels; and shall be responsible for the release of all publicity in connection with the Convention's annual meeting and the work of the General Board.

ARTICLE V. The Council on Christian Higher Education

A. Duties. The duties of the Council shall be as follows:

1. It shall devise ways and means for the proper correlation of the work and programs in the several educational institutions supported by the Convention.

2. It shall study the needs of the institutions and their ability to meet these needs, and upon the basis of its findings shall recommend to the General Board allocations to the institutions of such funds as may be made available by the Convention or the General Board for Christian Higher Education.

3. It shall examine the budget requests made by each institution and present them to the General Secretary-Treasurer.

4. It shall formulate and promote plans for increasing the interest in and the support of these institutions and shall make reports in detail to the General Board upon all its work and findings.

B. Secretary

The Council on Christian Higher Education in co-operation with the General Secretary-Treasurer of the Convention shall nominate and the General Board shall elect an Executive Secretary.

C. Meetings.

The Council shall meet at the call of the Chairman at least three times during the Convention year; it may meet in special session at the call of the Chairman and Secretary, or any five members.

ARTICLE VI. The Council on Christian Social Services

A. Duties: The duties of the Council shall be to consider problems common to all of the institutions, and keep the needs of these institutions before the General Board and the Baptist people of North Carolina. The Council shall examine the budget requests made by each of the institutions and present them with recommendations to the General Secretary-Treasurer.

B. Secretary

When the Council feels that it has made sufficient progress to warrant a full-time Director of Christian Social Services, in co-operation with the General Secretary-Treasurer of the Convention, it shall nominate, and the General Board shall elect a Director, who shall serve as Secretary of the Division.

C. Meetings.

The Council shall meet at the call of the Chairman at least twice during the Convention year. It may meet in special session at the call of the Chairman and Secretary, or any five members.

ARTICLE VII. Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs

A. Description of Emphasis and Activities

1. Objective

The Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs shall assist North Carolina Baptists in the propagation of the gospel by:

a. Helping North Carolina Baptists to become more aware of the ethical implications of the Christian gospel with regard to such aspects of daily living as family life, human relations, moral issues, economic life and daily work, citizenship, public affairs and related fields; and by

b. Helping them create, with God's leadership and by His grace the kind of moral and social climate in which the North Carolina Baptist witness for Christ will be most effective. This emphasis in the field of applied Christianity is to be pursued with the full awareness that the chief concern of the Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs is in the area of Christian social ethics which is understood to mean the application of Christian principles in everyday living. Its primary program assignment is in the area of Christian morality development among North Carolina Baptists.

2. Promotion

a. Makes systematic long-range plans for emphasis on Christian social ethics in the life of the North Carolina Baptist Convention and its agencies. These plans may include such things as suggested methods, suggested organizational patterns and suggested themes.

b. Plans and conducts specialized seminars in the field of Christian social ethics. Specifically, these seminars for leadership may deal with such subjects as family life, human relations, moral issues, economic life, daily work and citizenship. These seminars may be both statewide and regional as required by circumstances. Such plans for seminars should take cognizance of other North Carolina Baptist Convention agencies having interest in any of these areas.

c. Plans and conducts a Christian social ethics literature service, including pamphlets, tracts, booklets, posters, etc. This material is to be produced by the Division in co-operation with the Southern Baptist Christian Life Commission and Joint Committee on Public Affairs to assist in the implementation of the program of Christian morality development.

d. Plan and conduct seminars in the dangers of alcohol, provide literature and research and serve as the official channel of the Convention for needed action in reference to legislation or action on the question of sale or use of alcohol among our people.

e. Provide for a liaison committee or person that would work with our General Assembly of North Carolina and our national Congress on legislation on matters that may vitally concern the life and work of our Baptist people.

f. Plans and provides articles, mats, quotes, factual data, pictures and similar material on current pertinent moral and social issues for use by state Baptist papers and other mass media outlets in North Carolina.

3. Information

a. Assembles basic materials such as books, pamphlets, and articles so as to qualify as a source of authentic information on all matters pertaining to the field of Christian social ethics, including alcohol, gambling, pornography and other items.

b. Assists editors, scholars, teachers, writers, and other specialists in need of special information on Christian social ethics for the writing projects in which they are engaged.

c. Provides a mail answering service to North Carolina Baptists and others in search of information on social problems.

4. Study and Research

a. Maintains a program of study covering the field of Christian social ethics in order to provide reliable help to North Carolina Baptists.

b. Provides monographs, papers, and studies for North Carolina Baptist leaders, agencies, and institutions needing service in the field of Christian social ethics.

c. Determines by means of opinion sampling, interviews, etc., the thinking of North Carolina Baptists on moral and social issues so as to be able to render service where the need is greatest. The research survey facilities of existing agencies should be used when possible.

5. Consultative and Advisory

a. Provides associations and churches with ideas by which achievements in Christian social ethics can be measured.

b. Provides counsel as requested in the field of applied Christianity to other North Carolina Baptist agencies and departments.

c. Serves in a liaison capacity with non-North Carolina Baptist groups in the field of social ethics.

(1) Consults with organizations working in alcohol education, public safety, and other areas of social concern.

(2) Presents North Carolina Baptist insights for consideration in the planning of programs by the state government on children and youth, aging, housing, employment, public health, and other matters pertaining to social welfare.

(3) Brings to bear Baptist statements, convictions, and insights in the field of Christian ethics upon important policy making groups, compilers of yearbooks, various welfare organizations, etc.

d. Encourages the inclusion of Christian social ethics in the study programs of various Baptist groups, such as assemblies, encampments, conferences, colleges, or wherever the need may develop. It shall be the duty of this committee to study developments in the area of church-state relations, to be alert to developments within the state and nation which violate or compromise the historic Baptist position of a free church in a free state. It shall attend conferences and seminars where these matters are being discussed. It shall report to the Baptist State Convention on any developments in this area and otherwise keep our people informed. This Council shall recognize that its primary responsibility is to speak to our people rather than for them.

6. Relationships:

The Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs should work directly as a staff and service agency with the North Carolina Baptist Convention and its agencies. It may work directly with the Southern Baptist Christian Life Commission, the Joint Committee on Public Affairs and with other North Carolina organizations through whom it may render indirect service to the associations and churches and their leaders. Its staff may on invitation, conduct associational and local church conferences in order to validate plans and techniques. The Council may relate its emphasis on Christian social ethics to Baptist Associations, churches, and leaders through printed media. The Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs shall designate nine of its members for nomination for Trustees of the Christian Action League. The Council shall cooperate with the Christian Action League in its efforts to combat alcohol and other social evils.

B. Makeup of the Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs (16 regular members, 4 Ex-officio)

1. Eight members from the General Board. Chairman of this committee shall be one of the eight members of the General Board, a member of the Executive Committee and Chairman of the Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs.

2. Eight additional members elected from over the state on a four-year rotating basis to be named by the Committee on Nominations and elected by the Convention.

At least four from staff or faculty of Southeastern Seminary, North Carolina Baptist Social Service Institutions, and at least four members who have interest and understanding in the field of practical Christian living. Four ex-officio members: Chairman of the General Board, General Secretary-Treasurer, Editor of the Biblical Recorder and Editor of Charity and Children.

3. Representatives on the Council from the institutions will not have voting power in the allocation of funds. No member of the Council who occupies a salaried position with the Convention or its institutions or its auxiliary shall have a vote on appropriations that may be made to the institutions; and all appropriations agreed upon shall be subject to the approval of the General Board.

C. Meetings

The Christian Life Committee of the General Board shall elect its chairman at the January meeting of the General Board. This chairman becomes a member of the Executive Committee.

The Council shall hold at least two full meetings during the year, one during the spring months and one prior to the fall Convention. Additional meetings may be called by the acting secretary of the Council and the chairman of the Council when conditions warrant it.

D. Reports

The Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs shall make a full report to the October meeting of the General Board and to the Baptist State Convention in annual session in November.

E. Personnel

The Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs in cooperation with the General Secretary-Treasurer of the Convention shall nominate, and the Executive Committee shall elect, a director and other personnel, as needed, when it seems wise and money can be provided for the same. The General Secretary-Treasurer will serve as acting secretary until a Division Director may be elected, or when a vacancy may occur.

F. Budget

Budget funds for the work of this Council will be recommended by the Council and approved by the Executive Committee of the General Board. Expenditure of budget funds will be supervised by the committee of the General Board, under the guidance of the General Secretary-Treasurer.

ARTICLE VIII. Amendments to By-Laws

These By-laws may be changed or amended by a majority vote of the messengers present either the first full day or the second full day of the Annual Convention.

PROCEEDINGS

Convention Theme: "The Ministry of the Church"

MONDAY EVENING

1. The 139th annual session of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina assembled in the Cumberland County Memorial Auditorium of Fayetteville on the evening of November 10, 1969, with President Claud B. Bowen, Greensboro, presiding. In accordance with Article V of the Constitution, President Bowen called the Convention to order promptly at seven o'clock. The Organ Meditation was presented by H. Max Smith, Boone, on an instrument loaned as a courtesy by the Allen Organ Company, through Rocky Mount Instruments Company, Rocky Mount.

2. Joseph O. Stroud, Secretary of the Department of Church Music of the Baptist State Convention, led the Convention in singing the hymn, "Praise to the Lord, The Almighty," which was followed by a prayer of invocation led by President Claud B. Bowen, Greensboro.

3. President Bowen announced the appointment of the following Committees: COMMITTEE ON COMMITTEES: Fred D. Barnes, Lenoir; T. R. Mullinax, Laurinburg; Thomas L. Cashwell, Jr., Raleigh; Mrs. Harry D. Wood, Eden; D. Hoke Coon, Lexington; Ernest G. Holt, Durham; English Jones, Pembroke; James R. DeLoach, Charlotte; Hoyt Rutledge, High Point; A. Douglas Aldrich, Gastonia; Jack F. Coffey, Raleigh; Joe Lennon, McCain; William R. Bussey, Wilson; Clarence E. Godwin, Oxford; W. Randall Lolley, Winston-Salem, Chairman. COMMITTEE ON ENROLLMENT: Charles A. Stevens, Fayetteville; Frank R. Campbell, Statesville; H. D. Jack Roe, Greensboro; Mrs. Rush Stroup, Shelby; Jason Lee, Gastonia; Wilburn T. Hendricks, Winston-Salem; William O. Goble, Jr., Morganton; J. Felix Arnold, Enfield; Mrs. Ralph Faires, Fayetteville, William A. Snyder, Asheville, Chairman.

4. Charles B. C. Holt, Mayor of the City of Fayetteville, was introduced to the Convention and extended the welcome of Fayetteville to the messengers assembled.

5. William A. Snyder, Asheville, Chairman of the Committee on Enrollment made a motion that the messengers now enrolled and those who shall subsequently be enrolled constitute this Convention. The motion was seconded and carried.

6. Henry E. Turlington, Chapel Hill, Chairman of the Committee on Convention Program, moved that the printed program, with the exception that the Welcoming Address of the Mayor of Fayetteville had already been heard, be adopted. The motion was seconded.

7. Francis L. Whitmire, Morganton, moved that the program be amended to the effect that the Report of the Resolutions Committee be presented on Wednesday morning instead of Wednesday afternoon. The amendment was seconded.

8. Henry E. Turlington, Chapel Hill, spoke concerning the time which the Committee on Resolutions needs to prepare its report, and the difficulty involved in making major changes in the program. A standing vote was taken and the motion to amend was carried. The motion to adopt the report of the Committee on Convention Program, as amended, was carried. [Note: The revised program, after the Committee had made adjustments to implement this Convention action, appears in full under Item 20 below—LJB.]

9. Leath C. Johnson, Fayetteville, Chairman of the Committee on Local Arrangements, welcomed the Convention and spoke concerning the facilities which are available to the messengers.

10. Joseph O. Stroud, Secretary of the Department of Church Music of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina introduced a Choral Concert which was presented by a 285-voice Concert Choir composed of the Combined Choirs of the Baptist Colleges of North Carolina. Directed by R. Paul Green, Professor in Choral Music and Chairman of the Division of Fine Arts of Houston Baptist College, Houston, accompanied at the organ by H. Max Smith, Professor of Music at Appalachian State University, Boone, with James Berry, Minister of Music, Myers Park Baptist Church, Charlotte, serving as narrator, the Concert Choir presented the following program:

11. John L. Ryberg, Smithfield, alternate to preach the Convention sermon, read 2 Corinthians 5:14-21, and led the Convention in prayer.

12. Russell T. Cherry, Jr., Rocky Mount, delivered the Convention sermon on the subject, "The Ministry of Reconciliation." This ministry requires of every Christian that he live in close fellowship with the Spirit of God. In our desire to be where the action is, there is an everpresent danger that we shall attempt to do in our own strength and not in God's. In the words of Paul Tillich, ". . . the question 'What shall we do?' must be answered with the question 'Whence can we receive?'" This ministry requires that we live in close fellowship with people. We need to really look at each other—to really care as Jesus did. This ministry requires of us that we bring God and men together by telling men about Jesus, who humbled himself and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. It requires us to go beyond merely talking to ourselves within the church, and to live redemptively in human society.

13. The benediction for the Monday evening session was pronounced by John L. Ryberg, Smithfield.

TUESDAY MORNING

14. The piano meditation was presented by James Reich, Monroe.

15. The Convention was called to order by President Bowen.

16. Joseph O. Stroud led the Convention in singing "Crown Him with Many Crowns."

17. A period of worship was led by Page H. Kelley, Associate Professor of Old Testament Interpretation, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Kentucky, and by a Male Quartet composed of Jack Alexander, Fayetteville, Charles L. Dotson, Charlotte, Charles Storey, Kannapolis, and Hal Shoemaker, Charlotte. This was the first of three such worship periods to be conducted by them. Following the prayer led by Page H. Kelley, the Male Quartet sang "God, the Lord, a King Remaineth" (William Owen, arr. by William J. Reynolds). Page H. Kelley related a personal experience, three years ago when his daughter was scheduled to be on an airliner which crashed, and it was hours later before they learned she was safe. From this he learned three lessons: how much his family really means to him, how much the fellowship of Christians means in times of crisis, and the wonder of the providence of God.

18. President Bowen recognized new pastors in the state. Upon his invitation, a number of new pastors came to the platform to give their names and places of service.

19. Representatives from agencies of the Southern Baptist Convention were recognized, as follows: Page H. Kelley, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Kentucky; Raymond B. Brown, Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Wake Forest; and Lowell Sodeman, Industrial Chaplaincy, Chaplains Commission, Home Mission Board of Southern Baptist Convention, Atlanta, Georgia.

Other members of the Committee on Convention Program are:

John I Durham, Wake Forest; John S. Watkins, Oxford; Tom Womble, Bladenboro; Mrs. John Lewis, Raleigh; Mrs. Carl Bates, Charlotte; Jerry Wallace, Elizabethtown; and Jack Roe, Greensboro.

21. W. W. Finlator, Raleigh, offered the following resolution which was referred to the Committee on Resolutions:

The Bible, the church, the nation, the courts bear witness to a tradition that is deep in our humanity. It is a tradition as old as Exodus and as new as contemporary jurisprudence. In the 22nd chapter of Exodus we read: "If a man steals an ox or a sheep and kills it or sells it, he shall pay 5 oxen for every ox and 4 sheep for a sheep. He shall make restitution." We are aware of those searching words of Jesus requiring, before we place our gifts upon the altar, that we remember if our brother has anything against us—not if we have anything against him—and, if so, that we first reconcile the matter and then offer the gift which God will find acceptable. To this end the Apostle Paul reminds us that God was in Christ reconciling the world unto Himself and that he has given unto us the ministry of reconciliation.

Our Judaic-Christian heritage reflects this same spirit and principle. In the Standard Jewish Encyclopedia are found these words: "Forgiveness of sin depends upon true repentance while a wrong done to a fellow-man requires rectification and restitution before forgiveness is possible." Roman Catholic theology states it similarly: "Restitution is an act of commutative justice whereby property has been restored to one who has been deprived of it by unjust damage or threat" (New Catholic Encyclopedia, pages 400, 401, Vol. 12). The World Council of Churches in its first Consultation on Race this May in London, strongly endorsed the principle of reparation. But fifty years before this the Baptist theologian, A. H. Strong, a very reputable and orthodox and conservative thinker, wrote in his book, Systematic Theology: "True repentance is indeed manifested and evidenced by confession of sin before God and by reparation for wrongs done to men."

Abraham Lincoln spoke to the heart of both North and South and still in our day stirs our patriotism at its deepest level with these words of reparation: "With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow, and his orphan—to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves, and with all nations." Our courts of equity, our G. I. Bill of Rights, our social and educational agencies for the physically and mentally handicapped, our reparations to people of other countries, all bear eloquent witness to our national commitment to justice and compassion, and equity.

In the light of this rich heritage of Bible and church and state be it therefore resolved that the Baptists of North Carolina, whose lot has been cast in so goodly a heritage, shall strive together the more abundantly to extend to others what we so richly enjoy; that we acknowledge with sorrow the injustices and deprivations suffered by millions of our fellow citizens through the years and to this day and our involvement therein; and that out of our own free will and volition we now move firmly and positively to make restitution as befits those to whom has been given the ministry of reconciliation. "Behold, Lord," said Zacchaeus, "the half of my goods I give to the poor, and if I have defrauded anyone of anything, I restore it fourfold."

22. William A. Snyder, Asheville, Chairman of the Committee on Enrollment announced that as of 9:30 A.M. there were 1,900 registered messengers and 444 visitors, totaling 2,344.

23. Clarence E. Godwin, Oxford, in behalf of W. Randall Lolley, Winston-Salem, Chairman of the Committee on Committees, made a motion that the following serve on the Committee on Resolutions: Irvin W. Adcock, New Hope; Richard Davis, Rocky Mount; Cyrus W. Bazemore, Raleigh; Duncan L. Futrelle, Charlotte; Tom Elmore, Winston-Salem; Wilbur A. Huneycutt, Valdese; Mrs. Charles B. Howard, Buies Creek; Crate H. Jones, Durham; Stewart A. Newman, Buies Creek; Dale Sessions, Wilson; Henry B. Stokes, Buies Creek; Toby P. Stone, Jr., Boonville; Charles Storey, Kannapolis; G. Scott Turner, Jr., Hamlet; Irby B. Jackson, Greenville, Chairman. The motion was seconded and carried.

24. James C. Cammack, Fayetteville, President of the General Board, introduced the Report of the General Board of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, which is reprinted in full on pages 91-197 of this Annual. He spoke concerning the financial growth of the Convention, changes within the Convention staff, and developments in Convention-owned property. [See pages 93-101 of the Annual for the more complete written report.]

25. Leon P. Spencer, Raleigh, Business Manager and Comptroller of the Baptist State Convention, called attention to the "Report of the Business Manager" as found on pages 111-122 of the Report of the General Board of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, emphasizing the careful manner in which all funds are handled. He reported that during the first nine months of 1969 the Cooperative Program receipts were up 7.72 per cent as compared with 1968.

26. R. F. Smith, Jr., Durham, a member of the Executive Committee of the General Board, presented Recommendation Number 1 concerning the proposed budget for 1970, as found on pages 101-107 of the Annual.

27. Howard J. Ford, Raleigh, Director of the Division of Missions of the Baptist State Convention spoke concerning the work of his division [See pages 120-133 of the Annual].

28. E. J. Prevatte, Southport, a member of the Executive Committee of the General Board, presented Recommendation Number 2 concerning proposed changes in the Constitution and By-Laws of the Convention, as found on pages 107-111 of the Annual.

29. W. Perry Crouch, General Secretary-Treasurer of the Baptist

State Convention, spoke concerning the increase of Cooperative Program receipts and the State Missions Offering. He reminded the Convention that all money above $250,000 in the 1969 State Missions Offering will go for aid to Mississippi Baptists who suffered severely as the result of a hurricane. He spoke concerning changes in the Convention staff for the purpose of strengthening our work with youth and concerning developments at Fruitland, Caswell, CaRAway, and Mundo Vista. He described the work of a special committee in North Carolina and other states in the Southern Baptist Convention seeking to adjust our programs to the challenge of a secular world in the 70's. He emphasized the renewed dedication which our task demands.

30. President Bowen presented David Brookshire, Calvary Baptist Church, Asheville, and Tim Register, Immanuel Baptist Church, Clinton, who are Royal Ambassadors serving as Pages for the Convention.

31. Joseph O. Stroud, Secretary of the Department of Church Music of the Baptist State Convention, led the Convention in singing "Take My Life, and Let It Be Consecrated."

32. President Bowen introduced to the Convention J. B. Willis, Hamlet, who has attended every session of the Baptist State Convention since 1908.

33. James Y. Greene, Secretary of the Student Department, made an appeal to the Convention concerning sending students to a Church-Related Vocations Conference in Atlanta.

34. President Bowen announced that First Vice-President David M. Britt, Raleigh, will preside over the next portion of the session.

35. Nathan C. Brooks, Jr., Director of the Division of Church Programs of the Baptist State Convention, addressed the Convention on the subject "Shaping the 70's" [See pages 135-154 for the report of his division]. He spoke concerning the many changes which have been in the planning stages for many months, and the need for our church people to become acquainted with these improved methods. He stressed the importance of the "Leadership Tours" for eight regions of the state, as found on pages 138-139 of the Annual.

36. Corbin L. Cooper, Raleigh, Secretary of the Department of Interracial Cooperation of the Baptist State Convention, spoke concerning the work of his department [See pages 125-126 of the Annual], and introduced O. L. Sherrill, Raleigh, Executive Secretary of the General Baptist Convention. O. L. Sherrill expressed appreciation for the fellowship we share in Christ, and introduced David Hedgely.

37. David R. Hedgely, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Highland Avenue, Winston-Salem, addressed the Convention, raising penetrating questions concerning the dire needs and perplexing problems of American society today, especially as this relates to race problems. He read an imaginary, but deeply penetrating, epistle of Paul to 20th century America concerning how Christian principles should be applied in a practical way to these problems.

38. The Male Quartet [See Item 17 above] sang "O Love Surpassing Knowledge" (Hoffman).

39. First Vice-President Britt presented President Claud B. Bowen, Greensboro, for his President's Address to the Convention. President Bowen spoke concerning the needs of our world, pointing out that we not only have changing standards, but attempts to repudiate all standards. He then stressed the adequacy of the Gospel and the witnessing task of the Baptist State Convention, with emphasis on Christian love as the only motivating force which is adequate for such a costly work.

40. The benediction for the Tuesday morning session was pronounced by Fred Lunsford, Marble.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON

41. The piano meditation was presented by James Reich, Monroe.

42. The Convention was called to order by President Bowen. The Convention sang, "I Am Thine, O Lord" under the leadership of Joseph O. Stroud, Secretary of the Department of Church Music of the Baptist State Convention and engaged in a period of worship led by Page H. Kelley, Louisville, Kentucky, and the Male Quartet [See Item 17 above]. Page H. Kelley read Psalm 8 and led in prayer. The quartet sang "O Brother Man, Fold to Thy Heart Thy Brother" (Lerman). Page H. Kelley spoke concerning the question "What is man?" We begin to answer this question only when we realize who God is and how he responds in compassion to the cry of a little child. All of God's mighty works since creation have begun with the birth of a baby; man, however insignificant, is the crown of God's creation and the instrument of his purpose.

43. The time having arrived for the election of officers, the floor was opened for nominations for the office of President. William T. Mills, Raleigh, nominated John E. Lawrence, Raleigh. There were no further nominations, and First Vice-President Britt moved that the nominations be closed and that John E. Lawrence be elected by acclamation. The motion was seconded and carried by standing vote.

44. The floor was opened for nominations for the office of First Vice-President. Jack Wilder, Greensboro, nominated Tom M. Freeman, Dunn. George Simmons, Hillsborough, nominated Ray K. Hodge, Durham. Nane Starnes, Asheville, nominated John H. Knight, Asheville. William A. Snyder, Asheville, made a motion that the nominations cease; it was seconded and carried. The vote was taken by standing.

45. While the vote for First Vice-President was being tallied, William A. Snyder, Asheville, Chairman of the Committee on Enrollment reported that as of two o'clock there were 2,354 registered messengers and 528 visitors, totaling 2,882.

46. Recording Secretary Lamar J. Brooks announced that Thomas M. Freeman had received a majority of the votes cast for First Vice-President.

47. William A. Snyder moved that the time be extended for 10 minutes. The motion was seconded and carried.

48. The floor was opened for nominations for the office of Second Vice-President. Cris Canipe, Raleigh, nominated Roger Sharpe, Raleigh. Robert Tenery, Elkin, nominated William E. Poe, Charlotte. Allen Bailey, Charlotte, nominated Carlos Young, Shelby.

49. Wendell G. Davis, Charlotte, moved that the time be extended 15 minutes. It was seconded and carried.

50. Wendell G. Davis, Charlotte, moved that nominations cease. It was seconded and carried. The vote was taken by standing.

51. The floor was opened for nominations for the office of Recording Secretary. W. Bryant Carr, Matthews, nominated Lamar J. Brooks, Wake Forest. It was moved, seconded and carried that nominations be closed and he be elected by acclamation.

52. The floor was opened for nominations for the office of Assistant Recording Secretary. C. Aubrey McLellan, Shiloh, nominated Ted W. Williams, Raleigh. It was moved and seconded and carried that nominations cease and that he be elected by acclamation.

53. The floor was opened for nominations for the office of Parliamentarian. Claud L. Asbury, Wilmington, nominated James M. Bulman, Oak Ridge. It was moved, seconded and carried that nominations cease and he be elected by acclamation.

54. The floor was opened for nominations for Trustees. Leon P. Spencer, Raleigh, Business Manager of the Baptist State Convention, nominated Emory B. Denny, Raleigh, Claude F. Gaddy, Raleigh, and James W. Reed, Raleigh. It was moved, seconded and carried that the nominations cease and they be elected by acclamation.

55. Recording Secretary Brooks announced that Carlos Young, Shelby had been elected Second Vice-President.

56. The time for Miscellaneous Business having arrived, Claud L. Asbury, Wilmington, offered the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Resolutions:

Whereas the actual wording of the ruling of the United States Supreme Court (page 9, Engel V. Vitale, June 25, 1962, Supreme Court of The United States (Decisions), Opinions, No. 468, Nos. 142 and 119; U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington: 1963) does make it clear that the United States Supreme Court did rule against Voluntary Prayer in the public schools in these words, "Neither the fact that the prayer may be denominationally neutral, nor the fact that its observance on the part of the students is VOLUNTARY can serve to free it from the limitations of the Establishment Clause . . . of the First Amendment"; and

Whereas we believe that prayer unto God should always and in all places be Voluntary on the part of the individual; and

Whereas we, the Baptists of North Carolina, do not agree with the afore stated and mentioned ruling of the United States Supreme Court against Voluntary Prayer in the public schools;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED

That we the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina meeting November 10-12, 1969, in our 139th Annual Session, Municipal Auditorium, Fayetteville, North Carolina, go on record giving our approval to Voluntary Prayer in the public schools.

57. W. Bryant Carr, Matthews, offered the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Resolutions:

Be it resolved that this Convention in official session express its appreciation to the Christian Action League of North Carolina and its Executive Director D. P. McFarland, to Marse Grant, Editor of The Biblical Recorder, to Dr. J. C. Stokes, Editor of The Christian Advocate, and to those members of the General Assembly and all others who worked against the liberalization of the sale and use of alcoholic beverages in North Carolina and for their success in defeating bills that would have legalized the sale of liquor by the drink.

Be it further resolved that we call upon the pastors and people of our churches to be alerted to the fact that efforts are being made and will continue to be made in the halls of the legislature to liberalize the sale and use of alcoholic beverages, and that we urge vigorous opposition to all efforts of this nature and urge the citizens of this state to support by ballot those candidates who will oppose any liberalized legislative acts that would lead to increased drinking and its destructive effects on our society.

Be it further resolved that we encourage individuals and churches to give added financial support to the Christian Action League as it seeks to combat this and other evils that are so prevalent in our day.

58. Marse Grant, Raleigh, Editor of the Biblical Recorder, announced that word has been received of the death last night of the mother of our President-Elect John E. Lawrence, and made a motion that the Recording Secretary send a message of Christian love to Lawrence and his family. It was seconded and carried. [This was done by telephone immediately after the close of the afternoon session—LJB.]

59. Henry B. Stokes, Buies Creek, offered the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Resolutions:

Whereas article VI of the United States Constitution specifically states that provisions of treaties ratified by the United States Government become the "supreme law of the land," notwithstanding contrary limitations of the Constitution itself; and

Whereas notwithstanding solemn promises ratified at the international conference at Geneva that all prisoners of war captured would be given the respect of humane treatment; that Article 2 of the convention provides that it "shall apply to all cases of declared war or any other armed conflict which may arise between two or more of the High Contracting parties, even if the state of war is not recognized by one of them"; and

Whereas the government of North Vietnam acceded to the convention on June 28, 1957, and the government of South Vietnam acceded to the convention on November 14, 1953, and the government of the United States acceded to the convention on August 2, 1955; no pretense of compliance has been advanced by North Vietnam or the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong) despite the reminder to do so on June 11, 1965, by M. Jacques Freymond, Vice President of the International Committee of the Red Cross, and

Whereas repeated appeals on the part of wives, parents, relatives and dependents of those unfortunate victims of Communist violence have proven ineffective through the United States Department of State,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED THAT

1. A more determined effort be made by our State Department to obtain the release of names of prisoners held.
2. Immediate release of sick and wounded prisoners.
3. Impartial inspections of prisoner of war facilities.
4. Proper treatment of all prisoners.
5. Regular flow of mail.
6. Most importantly, to obtain the release and freedom from captivity of those American fighting men of this "undeclared" war with North Vietnam. And be it

FURTHER RESOLVED

That there be enacted by the Congress of the United States a code of protective legislation similar to the Uniform Code of Military Justice, Public law 506, applicable to American personnel captured in military operations other than in a "declared war" to assure that the full force, authority, and power of the United States of America shall henceforth be publicly committed to the attainment of freedom from captivity of all Americans captured in such military actions, past and future.

60. W. W. Finlator, Raleigh, offered the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Resolutions:

Whereas Baptists have cherished and espoused the time honored tradition of church-state separation, and shared in the incorporation of this principle in the provision of the First Amendment to the United States Constitution regarding both the free exercise of religion and the no-establishment clause; and

Whereas Baptists have witnessed to the freedom and inviolability of conscience and demanded its protection across the years by both the church and the state; and

Whereas conscience may be formed both in the religious communion and in the secular world, both in the household of faith and in the disciplines of learning and contemplation; and

Whereas the Selective Service operates to honor and favor the consciences of young men of religious communions with pacifist traditions and to reject the appeals to conscience of other young men who have arrived at their conscientious reservations over war outside the church;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED:

(1) In conformity with our own principle, and mindful that the law specifically states "conscientious" and not "religious" objection, that the North Carolina Baptist Convention call upon our government and the Selective Service to honor equally the consciences of all men whether in the church or outside the church regarding their participation in military service;

(2) That the Convention call upon the churches to give moral and spiritual support both to the young men whose consciences permit them to participate in military service and to young men whose consciences prevent them from participation; and

(3) That we appeal to our nation out of its own tradition of compassion and equity to grant amnesty to its young citizens who have chosen prison at home or sought asylum abroad to obey God and conscience, according to their convictions, rather than man.

61. R. F. Mayberry, Spindale, made a motion that the Finlator resolution be dealt with now. This was ruled out of order.

62. R. F. Smith, Jr., Durham, Chairman of the Council on Christian Higher Education, introduced Ben C. Fisher, Raleigh, Director of the Division of Christian Higher Education, who relinquished his time to the Committee of 20.

63. Carl E. Bates, Charlotte, Chairman of the Committee of 20, introduced the report of the Committee of 20 [reprinted in full on pages 198-223 of the Annual]. He concluded this introduction by saying that without voting on Recommendation Number 1 we may simply state that we desire "that the present relationship of our institutions of higher learning with the North Carolina Baptist State Convention be continued and strengthened." Bates then moved the adoption of Recommendation 2 with a slight change of wording [See page 205 of the Annual]. The motion was seconded.

64. M. O. Owens, Jr., Gastonia, made a substitute motion that Recommendation 2 be adopted with the deletion of the second sentence. The motion was seconded.

65. Robert Tenery, Elkin, moved the previous question. It was seconded and carried. The vote on Owens' substitute motion was taken by standing, with the result that the substitute motion lost.

66. W. A. Huneycutt, Valdese, moved the previous question. It was seconded and carried. The vote was then taken on the original motion [See Item 63 above] and the motion was carried.

67. Carl E. Bates moved the adoption of Recommendation 3 [See page 207 of the Annual]. It was seconded and carried.

68. Carl E. Bates moved the adoption of Recommendation 4 [See page 207 of the Annual]. It was seconded and carried.

69. Carl E. Bates moved the adoption of Recommendation 5 [See page 207 of the Annual]. It was seconded and carried.

70. Carl E. Bates moved the adoption of Recommendation 6 [See page 210 of the Annual]. It was seconded and carried.

71. Carl E. Bates moved the adoption of Recommendation 7 [See page 210 of the Annual]. It was seconded and carried.

72. Carl E. Bates moved the adoption of Recommendation 8 [See page 211 of the Annual]. It was seconded and carried.

73. Carl E. Bates moved the adoption of Recommendation 9 [See pages 211-212 of the Annual]. It was seconded and carried.

74. Carl E. Bates moved the adoption of Recommendation 10 [See page 212 of the Annual]. It was seconded.

75. Woodrow W. Robbins, High Point, asked for interpretation of this recommendation. The motion was carried.

76. Carl E. Bates moved the adoption of Recommendation 11 [See page 213 of the Annual] It was seconded and carried.

77. Carl E. Bates moved the adoption of Recommendation 12 [See page 213 of the Annual] It was seconded and carried.

78. Carl E. Bates moved the adoption of Recommendation 13 [See page 216 of the Annual]. It was seconded and carried.

79. Carl E. Bates moved the adoption of Recommendation 14 [See page 216 of the Annual]. It was seconded and carried.

80. Carl E. Bates moved the adoption of Recommendation 15 [See page 217 of the Annual]. It was seconded and carried.

81. Carl E. Bates made a motion to adopt Recommendation 16 [See page 217 of the Annual]. It was seconded and carried.

82. Carl E. Bates moved the adoption of Recommendation 17 [See pages 217-218 of the Annual]. It was seconded and carried.

83. Carl E. Bates moved the adoption of Recommendation 18 [See page 218 of the Annual]. It was seconded and carried.

84. Carl E. Bates moved the adoption of Recommendation 19 [See page 218 of the Annual]. It was seconded and carried.

85. Carl E. Bates moved the adoption of Recommendation 20 [See page 218 of the Annual]. It was seconded.

86. Wendell G. Davis, Charlotte, questioned whether adoption of the recommendation would mean approval for the statements which follow. This was answered in the negative and the motion was carried.

87. Carl E. Bates presented material concerning "Public Funds and Private Institutions of Higher Education," "The Issue of Indirect Aid," "The Relation of the Separation Principle to Individual Religious Liberty," "An Examination of Significant Court Cases," and "Conclusion" [See pages 219-223 of the Annual]. He then presented the "Guidelines for Services Rendered" [See page 222 of the Annual] and moved the adoption of Recommendation 21 [See page 223 of the Annual]. The motion was seconded and carried

88. Carl E. Bates expressed appreciation for the work of the Committee and the cooperation of the Convention.

89. E. Paul West, Raleigh, offered the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Resolutions:

Whereas lately, we have been witnessing a rash of Sunday exploitation by large discount store operators, who are—in their wide open Sunday operations—indifferently—if not arrogantly—also discounting the Christian conscience of a broad sector of the community, and

Whereas now more lately, this community conscience is about to be further tested, by what we understand to be the intention to open up for Sunday business by such esteemed institutions as the companies of Sears and most lately J. C. Penney, and

Whereas this latter development leaves us sorely disillusioned and saddened, — and, believing it to be forboding—if not the beginning of the dissolution of the day—which, for so long and for so many, has been set apart for family stability, worship and rest;

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED

That the sentiment of this Convention is that these regrettable and unnecessary incursions upon the sanctity of this day—so significant and so beneficient—be vigorously protested and resisted by every appropriate means at our command.

90. The benediction for the Tuesday afternoon session was pronounced by Robert M. Winecoff, Durham.

TUESDAY EVENING

91. The piano meditation was presented by James Reich, Monroe.

92. The Convention was called to order by Second Vice-President Clyde H. Tucker, High Point. Joseph O. Stroud, Secretary of the Department of Church Music of the Baptist State Convention, led the Convention in singing "God of Grace and God of Glory." The Invocation was led by Charles Midkiff, Chapel Hill.

93. A. Douglas Aldrich, Gastonia, led a panel discussion on the subject "The Ferment in the Parish Ministry." Those participating on the panel were: Edwin H. Pruden, Washington, D. C., speaking on "Why Men Enter the Ministry"; Jerry M. Wallace, Elizabethtown, speaking on "Why Men Change Pastorates So Frequently"; Donald D. Moore, Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Wake Forest, speaking on "Why Men Leave the Ministry"; and Allen Bailey, Charlotte, speaking on "The Church's Responsibility to Its Minister." Edwin H. Pruden stressed the great variety of reasons men enter the ministry, and the many ways God may make his call known. Jerry M. Wallace suggested that out of all the many reasons that pastors change churches so often, the most prominent seem to be the hope of escaping frustrations and anxieties which they may not be able to resolve and the hope of finding a place where the resources are available which will make their work more meaningful. Donald E. Moore said the most common reasons men leave the parish ministry are: a maturing understanding of what is involved, a feeling that the church is not really accomplishing its task, the sense of goldfish bowl living, money and family problems, and emotional instability. Allen Bailey emphasized that the church has a responsibility to give its ministers adequate financial support including home ownership, to give them genuine friendship and helpful counsel, to give them time to study, to relax, and to work in denominational activities. Opportunity was given for questions to the panel.

94. Recording Secretary Lamar J. Brooks acknowledged fraternal greetings from Baptists in Ohio, Kentucky, Maryland, and from Dr. Baker James Cauthen and the staff of the Foreign Mission Board. He then made a motion, which was seconded, and carried, authorizing fraternal greetings to be sent to fourteen Baptist State Conventions meeting simultaneously with ours. [The following message was sent: "North Carolina Baptists, in our 139th annual session, in the spirit of our Convention Theme, 'The Ministry of the Church,' greet you as fellow-servants of Jesus Christ."—LJB.]

95. G. Carl Lewis, Rockingham, made a motion that the Recording Secretary be authorized to send a message of Christian love to C. B. Deane, assuring him of our prayers during his critical illness. C. B. Deane served this Convention for twenty-five years as Recording Secretary and for two years as President. The motion was seconded and carried. [A telegram was sent at the close of the evening session—LJB.]

96. The Seminary Choir from Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, under the direction of Ben S. Johnson, sang "The Omnipotence" (Schubert; arr. by Max Spicker) and "My Eternal King" (Jane M. Marshall). Ted Gossett, University Baptist Church, Chapel Hill, was the accompanist and the soloist was Mrs. Shirley Roberts.

97. Henry E. Turlington, Chapel Hill, introduced Donald Miller, President of Pittsburg Theological Seminary, Pittsburg, Pennsylvania.

98. Donald Miller addressed the Convention on the subject "Preaching, the Supreme Challenge of the Christian Ministry." Preaching, from the Biblical standpoint, is the proclamation of the healing Word of God, God himself in action—to create, to judge, and to redeem. The Bible is, itself, preaching—historical events passionately retold in the preaching of prophets and apostles. For us to attempt to proclaim the healing Word of God by human words in a context where the hearers are so likely to judge one the basis of secondary matters is a humbling task—it is only when we tremble before the impossibility of this task that we have a chance of actually doing it. The reason for this is that in true preaching the preacher seems to drop out of the limelight and something vital happens between the listeners and God. While we ought to join other agencies in social betterment, we have a unique task which none of them can do—to bring men into a confrontation with God by telling the story of his mighty acts in history. It is foolish strategy to make demands upon people without adequate proclamation of the acts of God in human life as a foundation.

99. President Bowen called attention to the fact that today is Veterans Day. He asked for silent prayer for the nation.

100. The benediction for the Tuesday Evening session was pronounced by R. Dowd Davis, Fremont.

WEDNESDAY MORNING

101. The organ meditation was presented by James Reich, Monroe.

102. The Convention was called to order by President Bowen and engaged in a period of worship led by Page H. Kelley, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Kentucky and by the Male Quartet [See Item 17 above.] Page H. Kelley read Genesis 22:1-8. The quartet sang "How Firm a Foundation" (Whitman). Page H. Kelley said there are no heroes in the Old Testament—only weak men who commit their way to God. Abraham's story is not always one of faith; he failed often. Yet he did trust God when it mattered most. Abraham trusted God not only when he was called to cut himself off from his past by leaving Ur, but also when he was called to cut himself off from his future by sacrificing Isaac.

103. The time having come for action on the report of the General Board, James C. Cammack, Fayetteville, President of the General Board, recognized the General Board members who were present and spoke concerning the work of the Board. He introduced Mrs. W. Perry Crouch to the Convention and expressed the appreciation of North Carolina Baptists for her and her husband.

104. W. Perry Crouch, Raleigh, General Secretary-Treasurer of the Baptist State Convention, responded with words of appreciation and then presented Mrs. Claud B. Bowen to the Convention. He also presented to President Bowen and Second Vice-President Tucker certificates of appreciation, explaining that the certifcate for First Vice-President Britt would be presented later.

105. R. F. Smith, Jr., Durham, a member of the Executive Committee of the General Board, made a motion that Recommendation 1 of the General Board, concerning the Convention budget for 1970, be adopted. [See pages 101-107 of the Annual.] The motion was seconded and carried.

106. E. J. Prevatte, Southport, a member of the Executive Committee of the General Board, made a motion that the portion of Recommendation 2 of the General Board which deals with changes in the By-Laws of the Convention, be adopted. [See pages 108-111 of the Annual.] The motion was seconded.

107. Woodrow Flynn, Murphy, asked a question concerning what was included in the motion.

108. E. J. Prevatte answered the question. The vote was taken, and the motion carried.

109. E. J. Prevatte, Southport, a member of the Executive Committee of the General Board, made a motion that the portion of Recommendation 2 of the General Board which deals with amendments to Article VI of the Constitution [See pages 107-108 of the Annual] be adopted. The motion was seconded and carried by standing vote.

110. E. J. Prevatte, Southport, a member of the Executive Committee of the General Board, made a motion that the portion of Recommendation 2 of the General Board which deals with Articles VIII and IX of the Constitution [See page 108 of the Annual] be adopted. The motion was seconded and carried by a standing vote.

111. C. Aubrey McLellan, Shiloh, a member of the Executive Committee of the General Board, made a motion that Recommendation 3 of the General Board, concerning the request of Chowan College to borrow a sum not in excess of FOUR HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ($400,000) to complete a science-engineering facility begun last year, be adopted. [See pages 111-112 of the Annual.] The motion was seconded and carried.

112. Wilbur A. Huneycutt, Valdese, a member of the Executive Committee of the General Board, made a motion that Recommendation 4 of the General Board, concerning the request of Gardner-Webb College for changes in its charter, be adopted, along with an agreement that there would be added satisfactory provision for the election of Trustees by the Baptist State Convention. [See pages 112-116 of the Annual.] The motion was seconded and carried.

113. Robert L. Clegg, Sylva, a member of the Executive Committee of the General Board, made a motion that Recommendation 5 of the General Board, concerning the request of Gardner-Webb College to borrow a sum not in excess of FOUR HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ($400,000) for a dormitory, be adopted. [See pages 116-117 of the Annual.] The motion was seconded and carried.

114. Clyde H. Tucker, High Point, a member of the Executive Committee of the General Board, made a motion that Recommendation 6 of the General Board, concerning a change of date for the July meeting of the General Board in 1970 because of a conflict with the meeting of the Baptist World Alliance [See page 117] of the Annual], be adopted. Parliamentarian Bulman pointed out that By-Laws cannot be "suspended"; and the recommendation was reworded to the effect that the By-Laws are "changed" rather than "suspended for one year" and that the words "in the month of June" be substituted in lieu of all references to dates in the recommendation. The motion, as re-worded, was seconded and carried.

115. Edison Hill, Asheville, a member of the Executive Committee of the General Board, made a motion that Recommendation 7 of the General Board, concerning "Traffic Safety Sunday" on November 23, 1969, be adopted. [See pages 117-118 of the Annual.] The motion was seconded.

116. W. W. Finlator, Raleigh, moved that we amend the motion to include an expression of appreciation to Governor Robert W. Scott and to Commissioner Joe Garrett of the Department of Motor Vehicles for their continuing and unabated efforts for safety on the highways. The motion to amend was seconded and carried.

117. Woodrow W. Robbins, High Point, proposed an amendment to include the Christmas season in the recommendation. Robbins then agreed to withdraw his motion since it would be changing what the Governor proposed.

118. The vote on the original motion, as amended, was carried.

119. Woodrow W. Robbins, High Point, made a motion that our churches and pastors be urged to emphasize safety upon our highways during the Christmas season. The motion was seconded.

120. Curtis Nester, Fayetteville, made a motion to amend by adding that we go on record as expressing our dissatisfaction with the law which permits those convicted of drunken driving to continue to drive under a limited permit. The amendment was seconded and carried. The motion as amended was carried.

121. William G. Wilson, Greensboro, a member of the Executive Committee of the General Board, made a motion that Recommendation 8 of the General Board, concerning the request of Mars Hill College to change its charter so as to increase the number of trustees, be adopted. [See page 118 of the Annual.] The motion was seconded and carried.

122. James E. Potter, Charlotte, a member of the Executive Committee of the General Board, made a motion that Recommendation 9 of the General Board, concerning the request of Wake Forest University to borrow a sum not in excess of TWO MILLION, TWO HUNDRED FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($2,250,000) to erect a dormitory for women, be adopted. [See pages 118-119 of the Annual.] The motion was seconded and carried.

123. James C. Cammack requested an extension of time for twelve minutes. A motion to this effect was made, seconded and carried.

124. James C. Cammack led the Convention in an expression of appreciation of Julian S. Hopkins who has served 13 years as Director of the Division of Evangelism. Hopkins was absent because of illness but was presented in absentia a beautiful engraved silver bowl.

125. James C. Cammack introduced L. J. Morriss, Secretary of the Department of Communications, for a presentation by the personnel of "Light Unto My Path," a television ministry to the deaf carried on 16 television stations each week in North Carolina and several other states. Morriss introduced Mrs. A. J. Sutter, organist; Miss Sylvia Grubbs, assistant organist; Neal Peyton, Wake Forest, and Jerry F. Potter, Thomasville, of the Department of Work with the Deaf; Jimmy Ringgold, Raleigh; Mrs. Art Fore, Durham; and Mrs. John Stokes, Chapel Hill. The group made a presentation in song and testimony interpreted also in sign language. [See page 161 of the Annual for more information.]

126. Ed Brandon, Raleigh, Chairman of the Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs, spoke concerning the report of the Council as found on pages 162-171 of the Annual. His report was received as information.

127. Henry E. Turlington made a motion that we hear the Committee on Committees and the Committee on Nominations now, for ten minutes, followed by forty minutes for the Report of the Committee on Resolutions. The motion was seconded and carried.

128. Robert W. Kicklighter, Elizabeth City, Chairman of the Committee on Nominations, presented the following nominations:

A. Pegram, Franklinville; Tuckaseigee: Baxter Wood, Cullowhee;

Yadkin: M. Kenneth Wilson, Jonesville [Note: Information was given from the floor that Wilson has left Yadkin Association, and Paul M. Reece, Jonesville, was nominated and elected (see Item 130)—LJB.] To fill terms expiring 1970: Beulah: Lewis Wall, Roxboro; Surry; James L. Powell, Jr., Mt. Airy. To fill terms expiring 1971: Neuse: Maynard Shaver, Goldsboro; Yancey: Harold L. McDonald, Burnsville. To fill terms expiring 1972: Pilot Mountain: W. Amis Daniel, Kernersville; New River: Alvin F. Butters, Jacksonville.

129. Henry E. Turlington made a motion to extend the time up to thirty minutes to complete the Report of the Committee on Nominations and the Committee on Committees. The motion was seconded and carried.

130. Roger R. Jackson, Yadkinville, pointed out that M. Kenneth Wilson has moved from the Yadkin Association and nominated Paul M. Reece, Jonesville. This was accepted as an amendment since there was no objection.

131. Alfred T. Ayscue, Pine Level, nominated W. C. Barham, Jr., Wendell, to the General Board from Johnston Association instead of G. Troy Page, Jr.

132. John W. Steen, Clayton, spoke in favor of the election of G. Troy Page, Jr., whom he identified as a very fine Christian layman.

133. J. Boyce Brooks, Boone, raised a question concerning who is to be represented by the person elected. It was made clear that a General Board member is elected by the Convention to serve as the Convention's General Board member within the association where he lives; and not elected by his association as its representative on the General Board, which would be a hierarchical arrangement foreign to Baptists. The vote was taken by standing, with the result that W. C. Barham, Jr., Wendell, was elected.

134. Gerald Primm, Greensboro, nominated A. Leroy Parker, Greensboro, in the place of L. P. Sprinkle, Greensboro, as the General Board member in Piedmont Association.

135. John M. Lewis, Raleigh, rose to a point of personal privilege and inquired as to the procedure used by the Committee on Nominations, and as to details concerning the correspondence between the Executive Committee of the Piedmont Association and the Committee on Nominations.

136. Robert W. Kicklighter answered this inquiry in great detail, pointing out that the Committee on Nominations requested four nominations from the Executive Committee of each association, two pastors and two lay persons. He further stated that the Executive Committee of the Piedmont Association had sent only one name as its nominee and when the request was renewed for four names, it had still sent only one name. He stated that the Committee on Nominations had decided to respond to this by nominating another person.

137. Paul D. Early, Greensboro, stated that the vote in Piedmont was a tie vote both times the matter came up.

138. W. S. Caudle, Greensboro, Clerk of the Piedmont Association, stated that the vote on A. L. Parker was not a tie vote, but was unanimous. The tie vote, he said, was on the question of whether to send only one name. He stated that L. P. Sprinkle, who is the nominee of the Committee on Nominations, is relatively unknown.

139. James R. DeLoach, Charlotte, rose to a point of order, answered by Robert W. Kicklighter. The vote was taken by standing, with the result that A. Leroy Parker was elected.

140. Robert W. Kicklighter, Elizabeth City, made a motion that the persons nominated by the Committee on Nominations, with the changes which have just been adopted by the Convention, be elected to serve in the various places which have been indicated. The motion was seconded and carried. The other members of the Committee on Nominations are: James Cammack, Fayetteville; Leon Rice, Winston-Salem; R. F. Smith, Durham; Fritz Hemphill, Boone; Tom Freeman, Dunn; T. L. Cashwell, Jr., Raleigh; Mrs. Nane Starnes, Asheville; Coit Troutman, Charlotte; Allen Laymon, North Wilkesboro; Billy Mobley, Ahoskie; Charles P. Burchette, Cooleemee; Mrs. Gilmer Cross, Goldsboro; S. C. Ray, Greensboro.

141. W. Randall Lolley, Winston-Salem, Chairman of the Committee on Committees, presented the following nominations in addition to their previous report [see Item 23]:

COMMITTEE ON MEMORIALS: Mrs. D. B. Andrews, Chalybeate Springs; W. W. Leathers, Henderson; Charles Neal, High Point; W. Gattis Perry, Durham; J. Wilson Harmon, Waco, Chairman.

COMMITTEE ON PLACE AND PREACHER: Clyde Bearden, Charlotte; Wade A. McKnight, Lowell; Mrs. C. Gordon Maddrey, Raleigh; W. Foy Martin, Winston-Salem; Dillard A. Mynatte, Forest City; Purnell Swett, Rowland; B. C. Tschudy, Lenoir; Clyde H. Tucker, High Point; J. Boyce Brooks, Boone, Chairman.

HISTORICAL COMMITTEE: For a term ending 1972: James H. Blackmore, Wake Forest; Mrs. Sam Gaddy, Wingate; J. A. McLeod, Mars Hill; David Smiley, Winston-Salem; Allen Burris, Raleigh, Chairman.

COMMITTEE ON NOMINATIONS: For a term ending 1972: Mrs. Paunee Byrd, Asheville; Earl D. Farthing, Goldsboro; W. T. Harris, Charlotte; Louis Hovis, Buies Creek; Jerry L. Niswonger, Zebulon; R. F. Smith, Durham, Chairman.

COMMITTEE ON TRUSTEE ORIENTATION: For a term ending 1972: Bruce E. Whitaker, Murfreesboro; Roger E. Williams, Kinston; Raymond Stone, Southern Pines, Chairman.

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE: Henry Belk, Goldsboro; L. J. Morriss, Raleigh; George Weaver, Albemarle; E. Gene Warren, Lumberton; J. Eugene White, Thomasville; J. Marse Grant, Raleigh, Chairman.

There being no further nominations from the floor, a motion was made that these nominees be elected by acclamation. The motion was seconded and carried.

142. Henry E. Turlington, Chapel Hill, Chairman of the Committee on Convention Program, made a motion that the Committee on Resolutions be given until 12:15, and the Social Service Institutions ten minutes thereafter, with Miscellaneous Business deferred to the afternoon session. The motion was seconded and carried.

143. Irby B. Jackson, Greenville, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, made a motion to adopt a resolution from the Committee on Resolutions, as a substitute for the one presented by W.W. Finlator concerning Restitution [see Item 21 above], as follows:

In the light of our rich heritage of Bible and church and state,

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED

That the Baptists of North Carolina, whose lot has been cast in so goodly a heritage, shall strive together the more abundantly to extend to others what we so richly enjoy; that we acknowledge with sorrow the injustices and deprivations suffered by millions of our fellow citizens through the years and to this day and our involvement therein; and that out of our own free will and volition we now move firmly and positively to repair such damage to our relationship as possible, to break down barriers, that we walk together in brotherly love, and to heal the hurts to humanity through the ministry of reconciliation.

The motion was seconded.

144. W. W. Finlator, Raleigh, asked for clarification. The motion on the substitute was carried. A vote was then taken on the original Finlator resolution, as amended by the substitute from the Committee on Resolutions, with the result that it was adopted.

145. Irby B. Jackson, Greenville, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, made a motion to adopt a resolution from the Committee on Resolutions, as a substitute for the one presented by Henry B. Stokes concerning Prisoners of War [See Item 59 above], as follows:

Whereas Article VI of the United States Constitution specifically states that provisions of treaties ratified by the United States Government become the "supreme law of the land," notwithstanding contrary limitations of the Constitution itself; and

Whereas notwithstanding solemn promises ratified at the international conference at Geneva that all prisoners of war captured would be given the respect of humane treatment; that Article 2 of the convention provides that it "shall apply to all cases of declared war or any other armed conflict which may arise between two or more of the High Contracting parties, even if the state of war is not recognized by one of them"; and

Whereas the government of North Vietnam acceded to the convention on June 28, 1957, and the government of South Vietnam acceded to the convention on November 14, 1953, and the government of the United States acceded to the convention on August 2, 1955; no pretense of compliance has been advanced by North Vietnam or the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong) despite the reminder to do so on June 11, 1965, by M. Jacques Freymond, Vice President of the International Committee of the Red Cross, and

Whereas repeated appeals on the part of wives, parents, relatives, and dependents of those unfortunate victims of Communist violence [Note: By common consent the Convention changed the words "Communist violence" to "violence of any power" (See Item 147 below)—LJB.] have proven ineffective through the United States Department of State,

BE IT RESOLVED

That we recommend that the United States Department of State vigorously seek to obtain the following:

1. the release of names of prisoners held by North Vietnam and the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong),
2. the immediate release of sick and wounded prisoners,
3. the impartial inspection of prisoner of war facilities,
4. the proper treatment of all prisoners,
5. the regular flow of mail, and
6. the release and freedom from captivity of all American fighting men of this "undeclared" war with North Vietnam.

[Note: The Convention amended the resolution by adding at this point: "It is understood that these resolutions apply equally to all other bodies engaged in the Viet Nam War." (See Items 146, 149, and 151)—LJB.]

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED

That there be enacted by the Congress of the United States a code of protective legislation similar to the Uniform Code of Military Justice, other than in "declared war" to assure that the full force, authority, and power of the United States of America shall henceforth be publicly committed to the attainment of freedom from captivity of all Americans captured in such military actions, past and future.

The motion was seconded.

146. W. W. Finlator, Raleigh, moved to amend the resolution by applying it equally to all four bodies engaged in the Viet Nam War, to be added at the end of the section "BE IT RESOLVED." The motion to amend was seconded. W. W. Finlator spoke to his motion to amend.

147. Tom Wood, Roxboro, suggested the change of "Communist violence" to "violence of any power." There was no objection from the body, so this change was accepted.

148. James R. DeLoach, Charlotte, requested that the entire resolution be re-read. This was done by Irby B. Jackson.

149. Gene Fairchild, Fort Bragg, pointed out that there are more than four parties in Viet Nam, and W. W. Finlator agreed to change the word "four" to "other."

150. W. Bryant Carr, Matthews, attempted to refer the matter and was ruled out of order.

151. The vote was taken on the amendment and was carried. The vote on the substitute resolution of the Committee on Resolutions, as amended, was carried. Parliamentarian Bulman stated that the original Stokes resolution would need to be voted upon, as now amended by the substitute from the Committee on Resolutions, and Irby B. Jackson was asked to re-read Stokes' resolution.

152. Nane Starnes, Asheville, rose to a point of order.

153. Warren T. Carr, Winston-Salem, rose to a point of order. Irby B. Jackson re-read Stokes' resolution as requested. A vote was then taken on the original Stokes resolution, as amended by the substitute from the Committee on Resolutions, with the result that it was adopted.

154. Irby B. Jackson, Greenville, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, made a motion to adopt a resolution from the Committee on Resolutions, as a substitute for the one presented by E. Paul West [See Item 89 above], as follows:

Whereas there is an increasing tendency to desecrate the Lord's Day by industrial, commercial, and recreational enterprises, and

Whereas proper observance of the Lord's Day will help to stabilize family life, increase involvement in corporate worship, and enhance spiritual growth,

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED

1. That we call upon all Christian people to refuse to participate in unnecessary Sunday shopping, and

2. That we encourage our people to make Sunday a day of rest insofar as it is possible, and

3. That we affirm the conviction that proper observance of the Lord's Day will include faithful participation in worship and praise. It was seconded and carried. President Bowen attempted to call for a vote on the West resolution, as amended by the substitute from the Committee on Resolutions.

155. Roger R. Jackson, Yadkinville, rose to a point of order.

156. J. C. McQueen, Jr., Angier, rose to a point of order concerning the necessity of voting on the original resolution, as amended, when the substitute resolution has already been adopted.

157. Parliamentarian Bulman explained his position in requiring the additional vote.

158. W. S. Caudle, Greensboro, spoke concerning the parliamentary ruling. The vote was then taken on the West resolution, as amended by the substitute from the Committee on Resolutions, with the result that it was adopted.

159. Irby B. Jackson, Greenville, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, moved that the resolution of Claud L. Asbury on Prayer in the Public Schools [See Item 56 above], be referred to the Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs. The motion was seconded.

160. Claud L. Asbury, Wilmington, agreed that it is a good thing to refer the matter to the Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs. He then spoke in favor of his resolution.

161. Nane Starnes, Asheville, interrupted Claud L. Asbury, to ask if it is in order to discuss a motion to refer. The President allowed Asbury to read one other sentence. The motion was adopted.

162. Henry E. Turlington, Chapel Hill, Chairman of the Committee on Convention Program, moved to extend the time 10 minutes for the completion of the report of the Committee on Resolutions. The motion was seconded and carried.

163. Irby B. Jackson, Greenville, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, moved that the resolution of W. W. Finlator, concerning conscientious objection [See Item 60 above] be referred to the Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs for a report next year. It was seconded.

164. W. W. Finlator, Raleigh, spoke concerning his resolution.

165. John M. Lewis, Raleigh, spoke in favor of the motion to refer. The motion was carried.

166. Irby B. Jackson, Greenville, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, made a motion to adopt a resolution from the Committee on Resolutions, as a substitute for the one presented by W. Bryant Carr [See Item 57 above], as follows:

Be it resolved that this convention in official session express its appreciation to the Christian Action League of North Carolina, and to its executive director, D. P. McFarland, to Marse Grant, Editor of The Biblical Recorder, to Dr. J. C. Stokes, Editor of The Christian Advocate, to those members of the General Assembly and all others who worked against the liberalization of the sale and use of alcoholic beverages in North Carolina and for their success in defeating bills that would have legalized the sale of liquor by the drink.

Be it further resolved that we encourage individuals and churches to give added financial support to the Christian Action League as it seeks to combat this and other evils that are so prevalent in our day.

It was seconded and carried. A vote was then taken on the original Carr resolution, as amended by the substitute from the Committee on Resolutions, with the result that it was adopted.

167. Irby B. Jackson, Greenville, moved the adoption of the following Resolution of Appreciation:

Be it resolved that we express our deep appreciation on behalf of all messengers and visitors to the following:

1. To the Program Committee for much advance planning and work in shaping up a vital, inspiring program for the seven sessions on the theme, "The Ministry of the Church."

2. To the Committee on Arrangements for so efficiently carrying out the many details involved in coordinating the facilities available for the hospitality and convenience of the messengers and visitors. We express appreciation to all Baptists of the Fayetteville area and to its business concerns for their warm and genuine welcome to all.

3. To Joseph Stroud for providing for us a splendid program of music throughout the sessions. We particularly wish to acknowledge the outstanding performance of the choirs of the seven Baptist Colleges under the direction of Mr. Paul Green.

4. To Dr. Page Kelley for his timely devotional messages.

5. To President Bowen and other officers of the Convention and General Board for their fairness and diligence in conducting the business of the Convention in an interesting and orderly manner.

6. To all those who have appeared on the program and who thus have sought to advance the cause of Christ and who have helped us in the same pursuit.

It was seconded and adopted.

168. Robert L. Clegg, Sylva, moved the adoption of the Report of the Social Services Committee. It was seconded and carried.

169. Henry E. Turlington, Chapel Hill, announced that the Honorable Brooks Hays will speak at 2:20 this afternoon.

170. President Bowen read from Roberts Rules of Order concerning the parliamentary question previously raised [See Items 154-158 above].

171. The benediction for the Wednesday morning session was pronounced by R. Earl Payne, Robbinsville.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

172. The organ meditation was presented by James Reich, Monroe.

173. The Convention was called to order by President Bowen and engaged in a period of worship led by members of the Baptist Student Union of Wake Forest University, Winston-Salem. These were John C. Perry, Greensboro; David Waugh, Burlington; Robert Russells, Roanoke, Virginia; Richard McBride, B. S. U. Director at Wake Forest University, Winston-Salem. Following the Call to Worship and a Commentary of Concern, the Convention joined in Litanies of Confession and a Litany of Commitment. The Convention sang "Praise to the Lord, the Almighty."

174. Brooks Hays, Director of Ecumenical Institute, Wake Forest University, Winston-Salem, addressed the Convention on "Baptists and Other Christians." He said that the Ecumenical Institute is firmly based on Baptist principles but also realized that there has been too much evil released in the world for Baptists to handle it alone. We can join with Protestants, Catholics, and Jews in fighting prejudice and polarization, " . . . speaking the truth in love," without forfeiting our individual freedom. He stressed the importance of our listening to today's youth, 98 per cent of whom are not destroyers, but want to see major improvements in our world.

175. Robert Greene, Blowing Rock, newly appointed missionary to Taiwan, was introduced.

176. Howard C. Knight, a missionary of the Foreign Mission Board serving in Buenos Aires, Argentina, now living in Wake Forest while on furlough, read Acts 1:5-8 and spoke concerning the growth of the missionary concern and outreach among Southern Baptists. The Cooperative Program is such a beautifully simple plan that our people are often unaware, when they give, of the tremendous good which is done by those gifts around the world. He related incidents on the mission field which illustrate the good which is done.

177. Joe Burnette, Charlotte, Chairman of the Committee on Place and Preacher, made a motion that Charlotte be the site for the 1971 Convention with Winston-Salem as the site for 1972 and Asheville in 1973; and that the preacher for the 1970 Convention be A. Douglas Aldrich, pastor of First Baptist Church, Gastonia, with Henry E. Turlington, Chapel Hill, as the alternate. The motion was seconded and carried. Other members of the Committee are: David T. Mashburn, Sr., Lumberton; Hayden M. Cartner, Salisbury; W. Robert Holt, Mars Hill; James L. Powell, Mt. Airy; John W. Steen, Clayton; Ted L. Purcell, Columbus; Russell L. Wimmer, Conway; and Mrs. C. F. Churchill, Wilmington.

178. J. Marse Grant, Raleigh, Editor of The Biblical Recorder, called attention to the report of Directors of The Biblical Recorder, as found on pages 191-193 of the Annual, and recognized Toby Druin and Mrs. Herbert Gower of the staff of The Biblical Recorder. He spoke concerning crucial social issues which we may expect during the coming year.

179. C. Gordon Maddrey, Raleigh, Director of the North Carolina Baptist Foundation, asked that the report of the Foundation, as found on pages 193-194 of the Annual, be received as information. He pointed out that the North Carolina Baptist Foundation is the oldest such foundation among Southern Baptists, and spoke concerning its work.

180. Henry Stroupe, Winston-Salem, Chairman of the Historical Committee, called attention to the report of the committee, as found on pages 195-196 of the Annual. He recognized B. E. White, Durham, who spoke concerning the excellent way in which the materials in the Baptist Collection at Wake Forest University are catalogued and preserved. Other members of the Historical Committee are: Oscar Creech, Sr., Ahoskie; Miss Ethel Underwood, Mars Hill; Perry Langston, Buies Creek; M. A. Huggins, Raleigh; Allen Burris, Raleigh; Leslie H. Campbell, Raleigh; Henry B. Anderson, Durham; B. E. White, Durham; Robert Rowe, Marion; Mrs. J. W. Moffitt, High Point; David Hadley, Winston-Salem.

181. The time for Miscellaneous Business having arrived, Recording Secretary Lamar J. Brooks acknowledged fraternal messages received from Baptist Conventions of Kansas, Florida, Virginia, Mississippi, Georgia, Louisiana, and Tennessee. [Note: These were in addition to similar messages announced on Tuesday (See Item 94 above); a message arrived later from California—LJB.]

182. William A. Snyder, Asheville, Chairman of the Committee on Enrollment, reported that as of 3:30 P.M. on Wednesday there were 2,587 messengers and 597 visitors, making a total of 3,184 registrations. [Note: The final official count was 2,576 messengers and 645 visitors, for a total of 3,221—LJB.]

183. George L. Hocutt, Rocky Point, Chairman of the Committee on Memorials, presented the report of the committee, as found on pages 89, 194-195. Frank Malone, Shelby, led the prayer. Other members of the Committee are: W. D. Morris, Wilmington; Frank Malone, Shelby; Kelly White, Conway; and B. E. Morris, Charlotte.

184. In behalf of the Committee on Memorials, George L. Hocutt, Rocky Point, also moved that the 1969 Annual be dedicated to Gilmer Cross, past President of the General Board; R. L. McMillan, layman and lawyer who was a Trustee of the Convention for 37 years; and Sydnor L. Stealey, for pastor of First Baptist Church, Raleigh and past President of Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary. It was seconded and carried [C. B. Deane, who was sent a message by the Convention because of his illness (See Item 95 above), died on November 25, 1969, and the Executive Committee of the General Board of the Baptist State Convention, meeting on December 2, 1969, agreed by common consent to add his name to the list of those to whom the 1969 Annual is to be dedicated—LJB.]

185. Joseph O. Stroud, Raleigh, Secretary of the Department of Church Music of the Baptist State Convention, led the Convention in singing "I Love to Tell the Story."

186. Porter W. Routh, Nashville, Tennessee, Executive Secretary and Treasurer of the Executive Committee of the Southern Baptist Convention, addressed the Convention. He presented a plaque to W. Perry Crouch and all the churches of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention, from the officers and Executive Committee of the Southern Baptist Convention in recognition of North Carolina support of Southern Baptist causes through the Cooperative Program. He called upon us to shape the 70's by living the Spirit of Christ in belief and relevance, so as to give light to those in darkness.

187. The benediction for the Wednesday afternoon session was pronounced by Robert B. Poole, Elizabeth City.

WEDNESDAY EVENING

188. The organ meditation was presented by James Reich, Monroe.

189. The Convention was called to order by President Bowen.

190. Joseph O. Stroud, Secretary of the Department of Church Music of the Baptist State Convention, led the Convention in singing "We're Marching to Zion."

191. The 12th Support Brigade Muleteers Chorus of Fort Bragg, under the direction of Specialist Olsen, sang "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," and "Sit Down, Servant."

192. Frank H. Thomas, Hickory, read from Proverbs 3 and Matthew 28:11-20 and led in prayer.

193. Thomas Q. Whitmire, Fayetteville, pastor of Gethsemane Baptist church, and a retired U. S. Army Chaplain with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel, addressed the Convention on the subject "The Church's Ministry to Men in Service." He emphasized that becoming a military chaplain does not mean "leaving the ministry," but entering upon a specialized ministry. He spoke of the rigorous training which makes the Chaplain a soldier as well as a man of God, giving various personal experiences in this country and in five overseas assignments. He then described his work as a pastor in a military community since his retirement from the military chaplaincy. He offered messengers literature concerning how to prepare young men for military service and how to receive them when they return.

194. President Bowen presented to the Convention the officers of the Convention and the wife of each officer, explaining again the absence of President-Elect John E. Lawrence and Mrs. Lawrence because of the death of his mother yesterday. He expressed the best wishes of the Convention for the newly-elected officers.

195. Joseph O. Stroud, Secretary of the Department of Church Music of the Baptist State Convention, led the Convention in singing "The Church's One Foundation."

196. The 12th Support Brigade Muleteers Chorus [See Item 191 above] sang "America, the Beautiful" and "I Believe."

197. Alastair C. Walker, Pastor of the First Baptist Church of Spartanburg, South Carolina, addressed the Convention on the subject "The Great Divorce and the Weeping Bride." He began by describing, somewhat in allegorical fashion, the marriage of Johnny Worldly and Ima Church, the subsequent disenchantment and the final divorce. It is the world which has repudiated the church, and the church is pining away. This marriage, however, was never meant to be, so far as God is concerned. Jesus saw an inevitable conflict between his church and the world; that church's alternative to compromise with the world is a new experience of the Holy Spirit.

198. James Grady Faulk, Pineville, pronounced the benediction, and the 139th annual session of the Baptist State Convention was adjourned.

REPORT

GENERAL BOARD

NORTH CAROLINA

Including Reports of Institutions and Agencies of the Convention, Reports of Standing Committees, and the Report of the Woman's Missionary Union.

TO THE

ONE-HUNDRED THIRTY-NINTH ANNUAL SESSION
CUMBERLAND COUNTY MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM
FAYETTEVILLE
November 10-12, 1969

I. FOREWORD

The year 1969 has been one of steady progress. The statistical report of 1968 showed 3,454 churches reporting, or a net gain of 12 churches. We reported 28,522 baptisms which was a two per cent decline for 1968. We hope that this figure will be reversed this year because of the emphasis on the Crusade of the Americas. Many good reports have been received concerning revivals and renewed interest in evangelism and deepening the spiritual life of our people. Our North Carolina Baptist people gave to their churches in 1968 a total of $73,493,524. Of this amount, $6,322,183 was contributed through the Cooperative Program for mission objects and $5,160,046 was given to special mission objects of our Convention.

We do not have figures for this year, but at this time, the Cooperative Program is 7.72% ahead of last year at the same time, and special mission objects show an increase of 9.46%. We are grateful to God for this steady growth in support of our mission work.

However, we remind you of the cost of living increase, and thus, much of this increase goes to cover increased costs. Unless we constantly face our stewardship responsibilities we will not be able to increase our mission opportunities.

For the past several years, many of our churches have been in building programs, averaging more than $15,000,000 per year. Because of increased cost of both materials and interest rates, this work has been greatly curtailed in the past few months. We would urge our churches to move slowly in their plans for new buildings at this time. They should be sure of costs and the availability of loans. They should be sure they have the plans needed for the future of their church. The Church Planning Department, Rev. Richard Smith, Secretary, would be glad to review your plans and make suggestions without cost to your church.

1970 will be a very important time in the life of our churches in North Carolina. During this year, the church organizations will be introducing new plans for the Sunday School, Church Training work, Brotherhood, Woman's Missionary Union and Church Music. New literature is being provided and new grading suggestions are being made to the churches. Our staff is making every effort to provide leadership for these changes. They will work very closely with the Associational Missionaries and associational leaders to provide clinics and training sessions for our church people. We truly hope this will be a year of tremendous progress for our churches, as they face the challenge of the seventies.

During the past year, groups composed of pastors, educational directors, college professors, lay men and women, associational missionaries and state staff personnel have been meeting in the various states of our Convention. They have been making suggestions for the seventies in the light of the trends of our times and the needs of our people. These suggestions will be completed and reviewed by a southwide committee. Eventually they will become the basis of our goals for our work during this decade. We have been encouraged by the dedication of these groups as they look to the future.

We continue to have a restlessness among many of our ministers. The turnover in length of pastorates is too great for the good of either pastor or church. In many cases, churches have not kept their salaries and expense items for their pastors and staff members in line with the increased cost of living. We urge our church leaders to review these items carefully, so that you may not lose your pastor or other workers. This is not just a question of the dedication of the pastor or others. It is a very real question of living costs, traveling expense, education for children and similar things.

We are encouraged by interest in meeting local needs with action groups from our churches. It is very important that we demonstrate the spirit of Christ in our own personal lives, but also in corporate effort in our communities. It is our hope that our new Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs will explore areas of need among us, and help us to see the responsibility of the individual Christian and the church to meet these needs and face realistically, in the spirit of Christ, the problems of our day.

I hope you will read the report of the General Board and the reports of the various departments of our work. We have a talented and dedicated staff who work hard at providing help and services for the churches of our Convention. Through the Division of Missions we are seeking to extend the arm of the churches to areas such as resorts, military centers, other races and special needs in the open country and the crowded cities.

On February 8 of this year, I was married to Mrs. Charles Maddry of Richmond, Virginia. The late Rev. Charles Maddry was formerly pastor of First Baptist Church of Wilmington, North Carolina and the Temple Baptist Church of Durham, North Carolina before going to First Baptist Church of Charlottesville, Virginia. Following his death in 1963, Mrs. Maddry was employed by the Foreign Mission Board in Richmond, Virginia. I am grateful indeed for God's leadership in our marriage and we pledge to you our best in the years ahead. Thank you for your love and support during these six years.

II. GENERAL BOARD REPORT AND RECOMMENDATIONS

JAMES CAMMACK

The work of our General Board began with our January organizational meeting at Meredith College in Raleigh. At that time we welcomed our new members, and reviewed our work for the coming year. The committees elected their chairmen, and these chairmen, plus the President and Vice Presidents of the Convention, the President of the General Board and five members-at-large composed the Executive Committee. The names of the Executive Committee members for 1969 are as follows:

James Cammack, President, General Board

James Potter, Vice President, General Board
Dr. Claud Bowen, President, Baptist State Convention
Judge David Britt, First Vice President, Baptist State Convention
Clyde Tucker, Second Vice President, Baptist State Convention
R. F. Smith, Chairman, Christian Higher Education Committee
Charles Storey, Chairman, Church Programs Committee
Ed Brandon, Chairman, Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs
Ernest Holt, Chairman, Evangelism Committee
Aubrey McLellan, Chairman, Missions Committee
Robert Clegg, Chairman, Social Services Committee
Wilbur Huneycutt, Chairman, Stewardship Committee

Bill Wilson

At this first meeting of 1969, Mr. Spencer, our Comptroller, announced that we had received $6,322,183 through the Cooperative Program during 1968, and $5,160,046 for special mission objects or a total of $11,482,229 for our Baptist work in North Carolina and around the world for the year of 1968. This is a sizable sum of money, but actually it is just $11.42 per capita for North Carolina Baptists during 1968. Actually our churches only sent 14.52 per cent of their total receipts for mission work outside of their own churches and associations. However, this does represent 6.14 per cent increase over the missions offerings of the previous year.

Our attention was called to the excellent State Missions Offering of last year which had reached a total of $220,016.65, the largest in the history of our Convention. We were reminded of our previous commitments to use $170,000 for our basic State Mission work, 20 per cent, or $44,083.33 for the Fruitland Administration Building, leaving $16,013.32 for special State Mission projects. It was agreed to use $4,000 of this amount to meet additional requests for pastoral aid in rural areas, $1,000 for additional aid for associational missionaries, $4,500 for work in the Military Centers and the balance for special emergency requests during the year.

We also received a request from the Baptist Hospital to borrow $400,000 to meet an emergency in operation, with the understanding that this would be amortized in 1969 funds or balance in next year's budget. This is within the provision of our Constitution, and the request was granted.

The Missions Committee brought their report of requests for pastoral aid amounting to $94,737 and $47,000 for church lots. This amount covers requests from 126 churches and 44 associations. Some additional requests during the year were handled by the Executive Committee.

We would like to group the balance of our report according to subjects.

I. PROMOTIONAL EMPHASES

1. Stewardship

During the year regional clinics were held in various parts of our state.

Associational Stewardship representatives and some pastors were invited to be present. The subjects discussed were stewardship literature available, Cooperative Program promotion, and other ideas that would stimulate the giving habits of our people.

Stewardship revivals and local church and associational clinics were held all during the year. Our people continue to increase their giving through the Cooperative Program.

2. Church Programs

Nine departments of work are constantly seeking to serve the churches of our Convention. A dedicated staff of workers have been in every association and in hundreds of churches during the past year. We hope you will read their reports carefully.

The newest item is the formation of a Youth Committee, composed of staff members who work with young people in the churches. Dr. Brooks, Division Director, serves as Chairman. Several young people and several youth directors in local churches will be added to the committee. It will be their purpose and responsibility to create a youth program for our churches. Beginning January 1, 1970, the Reverend Davis Bowen will be giving his full time to this work. We believe this is one of the most significant steps taken in several years and its promotion will cross departmental lines. Definite materials and suggestions should be available early next year. One of the most effective phases of our work during the year was the Baptist Youth Corps. These young people from our Baptist colleges served in many local churches during the summer. The Baptist Student Union had two groups of young people working in various areas of our state. Other young people served with our Home or Foreign Mission Boards, or on the staff of one of our assemblies or camps. We are grateful for the fine work of these young people.

We believe our North Carolina Baptist Assembly at Caswell and our Camps and Retreats held at CaRAway have been one of the strongest phases of our educational programs for leadership in our churches. We continue to improve these facilities and to make them available to churches and associational groups during the nine months between the summer programs. The Fruitland Camp will be used in the future largely as a leadership training center during the summer months. Of course, it is the home of the Fruitland Bible Institute during the winter months.

One Department has changed its name during the year. Program Services was a Department that handled TV, Radio work and the audio-visual aids materials for the churches. It also handled news service and printing for various departments. However, the name was often confused with the name of the Division of Church Programs. Thus it seemed wise to change the name to "Department of Communications." Our Departments sponsoring the educational work of our churches such as, WMU, Brotherhood, Sunday School, Church Training and Music face a busy year in 1970, as they furnish guidance for our church leaders in charge of organizational set-up, literature and grading that has been designed by our South-wide leadership. We hope you will read their reports carefully.

3. Missions

Our Missions Division has strengthened their work, adding pilot projects in City Missions in the areas around Gastonia, Fayetteville, Durham, Winston-Salem and Raleigh. They have also begun some work with migrants and had some excellent work in our growing resort areas. Of course, they continue to work with churches needing aid for pastoral support and helping churches and associations in the purchase of new lots. This division provides aid for three fourths of the associations that have full-time missionaries or superintendents of their work.

The newest project in the Missions Division is the beginning of a Department of Chaplaincy Ministry, supported jointly by the Home Mission Board and our State Mission Program. The Secretary of this department will stay in close touch with military chaplains in our State and encourage churches to stay in touch with young men in the military service. He will also seek to promote the need for chaplains in hospitals throughout the state, and the opportunity for Industrial chaplains. He will work in close relationship with the Pastoral Care School where many chaplains are trained. He would be the correlating force in keeping Baptist, military, hospital and industrial chaplains vitally related to our Convention and would lead in providing seminars and conferences for them. It is our hope that this place may be filled by January 1, 1970.

4. Evangelism

The Crusade of the Americas was stressed during the first part of 1969 and many churches reported excellent revival meetings. We hope the statistics for 1969 will indicate an increase in baptisms over 1968.

Dr. Julian Hopkins will retire December 31, 1969 after 13 years as Director of the Division of Evangelism. We wish him many good years to serve our Lord as a retired minister.

Rev. W. C. Lamb has already been elected to succeed Dr. Hopkins, and has already announced many of the speakers for the annual Evangelistic Conference to be held in Greensboro, February 2, 3, 4, 1970. He is also planning the Evangelism Research Institute which will be held at Southeastern Seminary, October 5-6, 1970.

5. Christian Life and Public Affairs

This Council, in its first year of operation, has had three meetings, and has had a number of papers prepared and discussed that have to do with the Christian way of life. All of this has been done without a full time director. Mr. Ed Brandon, a layman, has rendered splendid leadership for this new Council. Please read their report carefully.

In keeping with the recommendation presented to the Convention last year, the General Board has provided means in the budget to secure a full-time Director by July 1, 1970.

6. Council on Christian Higher Education

The Council on Christian Higher Education has had regular meetings during the year and their report will be found in the book of reports. This Council, which includes a committee of the General Board, provides the correlation between the Baptist Colleges and the other areas of our Baptist work. The chairman of this Council serves on the Executive Committee of the General Board. This report will contain some recommendations concerning the colleges.

7. Council on Christian Social Service

This Council meets at least once per year. Three sub-committees of the General Board meet with the leadership of the Social Service Institutions to hear reports and study plans for them. The report of these institutions are included in the reports. We note particularly the establishment of a new Children's Home in Western North Carolina near Waynesville and the beginning of a new home for unwed mothers at Asheville. Both of these are a part of the Baptist Children's Homes of North Carolina, and are mentioned in their report.

II. PERSONNEL CHANGES

We have had a number of personnel changes, as is always true in a staff the size of ours. One of these, Dr. Julian Hopkins, has reached the automatic retirement age. Several of the others are due to resignations. Some are new places, such as Secretary of Chaplaincy Ministry and Director of Youth Work in the Church Training Department. The list of changes follows:

1. New Employees

Miss Joyce Diane Averitte, Assistant Office Secretary, Church Training Department

Miss Judy Marie Keith, Office Secretary, Brotherhood Department

Mrs. Roy Neely, part-time Office Secretary, Department of Communications

Miss Judy Hendrix, Associate in charge of Children's Work, Church Training Department

Rev. George E. Shore, Director of Christian Social Ministries, Pilot Mountain Baptist Association

2. Changes of Status

Burrel Lucas, from Associate Sunday School Department to Sunday School Department, Secretary

Kay Huggins, from Part-time Chaplain at Asheville-Biltmore College to State-wide Department Associate

Davis Bowen, from Associate in Church Training Department to Youth Program in Church Training Department

3. Resignations

Rev. Ned Beatty, Military Ministries

Mr. Maurice Briggs, Director of Youth and Family Services, Winston-Salem

Rev. Gene Phillips, Associate in Church Training Department

Mr. John Halbert, Social Ministries Worker, Fayetteville

Mrs. Jo Morrison, Office Secretary, Brotherhood Department

Mrs. Joyce Ward, Secretary, Business Office

Jack R. Halsell, III, Student Director, Chapel Hill

4. Retirement

Dr. Julian Hopkins

III. PROPERTY CHANGES

1. New Administration Building at Fruitland

For several years we have been working toward a new Administration and Library Building for Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute. The building was dedicated in a special service on November 21, 1968, although the building was not completed and occupied until March of this year. The building provides office space for the Director, the Dean and office secretaries as well as a large conference room on the first floor. The ground floor contains the book store, snack shop, and lounge area. The third floor contains the library, which now numbers several thousand volumes. This building has added much to the work of Fruitland Bible Institute. This Institute provides training for ministers who have not been able to attend college or seminary, and has a maximum enrollment of about 150 per session. They have had a waiting list for sometime.

2. Truett Home Furnished

Several years ago the Baptist State Convention acquired the home-place of Dr. George W. Truett as a memorial. However, the house had never been furnished. During this year a committee of ladies from First Baptist Church of Asheville completed the task of furnishing this house with furniture of the period. A dedication service was held May 6, of this year, and the house opened to the public. Since that time 409 people have visited the home. These people have come from several states of our Convention. We are very grateful to this fine group of women that helped us finish this work and open the memorial to the public. This home is located near Hayesville, N. C.

3. Water Supply at Caswell

Since the purchase of the property at Fort Caswell as the location of our North Carolina Baptist Assembly, we have purchased water from the Powell Family who owned and operated deep wells some three miles from the Assembly grounds. We were able to dig shallow wells on the grounds, but they did not supply enough water to take care of the Assembly.

Two or three times in previous years the water supply had been offered for sale to the Convention, but the price seemed to be too high. However, another offer was made in March of this year, and after some negotiations, the property was purchased for $22,500. This title includes some four acres of land, water wells, pumps and underground water lines and right-of-ways. It also includes the responsibility of furnishing water to about 40 users along the beach, including the U. S. Coast Guard. Income from the users will help defray the cost of the water supply. A separate non-profit corporation has been set up to handle the property and the water supply. Annual reports will be made to the Convention.

4. Camp Mundo Vista

Two years ago Woman's Missionary Union requested the privilege of borrowing $250,000 to finance the construction of a camp for girls. They also requested the privilege of building the camp on property owned by the Convention at CaRAway. Both requests were granted and most of the camp was completed in time for the operation of the Camp this summer. The work was supervised by Mr. Bill Jackson with the help of Mr. Earl Underwood, of our staff, and thus costs of construction were kept low. However, materials have advanced so rapidly that the final costs of the camp ran more than the women had expected, or a total of $390,317.07. They have on hand, or will have by the end of this year, money sufficient to reduce the debt to about $50,000 (including the $250,000 loan). The General Board has been able to carry this $50,000 in its General Fund. The General Board has agreed to this plan and Woman's Missionary Union is making plans to raise additional funds in the near future to speed the liquidation of this debt.

On the credit side, Camp Mundo Vista operated at capacity every week during the summer, with a total of about 1,600 girls attending. The Camp was able to operate on its own fees during the summer. Woman's Missionary Union of North Carolina is to be commended on the work of Camp Mundo Vista.

6. Two New Operations by North Carolina Children's Homes

Mention has already been made of the new Children's Home under construction near Waynesville and the New Home for unwed mothers to be opened at Asheville. (See report of North Carolina Baptist Children's Homes.)

IV. DEATHS

We have had no deaths among our staff this year.

We have suffered the loss of the Reverend Gilmer Cross, who served on the General Board for four years, and as President of the General Board and its Executive Committee for two years. Special memorial services were held for him at the July meeting of the Board.

Two members of our General Board died during the year:

The Reverend A. Z. Jamerson, pastor of the Bolen's Creek Baptist Church, Yancey Association and Mr. W. C. Hopkins, layman, from the Beulah Association.

V. RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Recommendation concerning proposed Cooperative Program budget for 1970

The Executive Committee appointed a Budget Committee in the May meeting, and they began their work in June. Every effort was made to hear any and all representatives of agencies, institutions of the General Board program who wanted to discuss their needs

This committee carefully reviewed the anticipated receipts for 1969 and prayed for guidance as goals were set for 1970.

Upon the recommendation of the Budget Committee, the Executive Committee, and the General Board we now present to you for your consideration the proposed budget for 1970.

From anticipated income of $7,000,000 through the Cooperative Program we recommend that 33.34 percent be allocated to the Southern Baptist Convention, 25.60 percent to Christian Higher Education, 11.60 percent to Christian Social Services (Hospital, Children's Homes, and Homes for Aging), and 29.46 percent to State Missions (General Board Programs).

An overall goal of $7,200,000 is proposed and from the income in excess of the base budget of $7,000,000 we recommend the following allocation of funds: 33.34 percent to the Southern Convention, 25.6 percent to Christian Higher Education, 11.6 percent to Christian Social Services, and 29.46 percent to State Missions (General Board Programs).

11. ARTICLE IV, B, 4, d, (2)

He shall:

(a) Be responsible to the General Secretary-Treasurer and the General Board for the over-all performance of all Departments and activities of the Division.

(b) Work with the Committee on Church Programs of the General Board in studying the needs of the local church. Through the various departments of the Division, seek to guide in providing programs, literature, and leadership to help meet these needs. This will involve church community surveys and research in church programs, conferences with pastors and church leaders and cooperation with the various departments and facilities of the Sunday School Board and the various mission boards.

(c) Hold regular staff meetings of the department heads and all personnel in the various departments of the Division of Church Programs; correlate the work of church programs in such a way as to strengthen the local church; work with the department heads to prevent overlapping in meetings or emphases; and help create a spirit of team work as each department seeks to do its part in the total development of the local church.

(d) Meet in conference with the various department secretaries to develop a recommended budget for the Division. This recommended budget would then be studied by the General Secretary-Treasurer and presented by him to the Budget Committee for consideration.

(e) Participate in various district and state programs to help inform the people concerning the work of the Division and to help promote the entire Cooperative Program of Baptists.

They may continue on a year-by-year basis after a review by the Executive Committee with automatic retirement at age 68 as of December 31 of the year in which they retire."

3. Chowan College to Borrow

We recommend that the request of Chowan College to borrow $400,000 to complete a science-engineering facility begun last year be granted.

Whereas, the Board of Trustees of Chowan College finds it advisable and necessary, in order that such institution should best carry on its work to serve a student body of approximately 1,350-1,500, to borrow the sum of FOUR HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ($400,000.00) to be used for purposes of construction of a new science-engineering facility for said college, and

Whereas, it is the opinion of the said Board of Trustees that it will have funds coming to it for capital purposes which will be sufficient to liquidate said loan over a period not in excess of forty (40) years, and

Whereas, it is anticipated by Chowan College that due to the construction schedule of said building and the repayment schedule of loans now outstanding that said college will not owe at any time, including self-liquidating loans, a sum in excess of THREE MILLION NINE HUNDRED FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($3,950,000.00).

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Trustees of Chowan College:

1. That Chowan College borrow a sum not in excess of FOUR HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ($400,000.00) to be used for the purpose of constructing a new science-engineering building at said institution.
2. That the sum actually borrowed, together with the interest thereon, shall be repaid over a period not in excess of forty (40) years, the payment of principal and interest be made in annual, quarterly or monthly installments.
3. That the proper officers of Chowan College be and they are hereby authorized and empowered to execute, or cause to be executed, in the name of said college, a note or notes and-or bonds evidencing an indebtedness incurred under the authority of this Resolution and also to execute or cause to be executed, in the name of said college, a mortgage or mortgages and-or deed of trust or deeds of trust upon the lands on which said new science-engineering building shall be erected, together with the approaches thereto, provided, however, that such mortgage or deed of trust shall not in any way encumber any other property owned by Chowan College.
4. That no part of the indebtedness which may be incurred by Chowan College under the authority of this Resolution shall in any respect be deemed or held to be an indebtedness or obligation of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, and neither the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina nor its General Board shall assume any responsibility whatever for the repayment of such loan or any interest thereon.
5. That the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina at its next regular session be requested to authorize Chowan College to borrow not in excess of the sum above mentioned upon the terms and for the purpose herein set out.

4. Gardner-Webb College Requests Charter Change

We recommend that the request of Gardner-Webb College to change their Charter allowing them to change the name from Junior College to Senior College and, other minor changes, be granted.

ARTICLES OF AMENDMENT TO THE CHARTER OF GARDNER-WEBB JUNIOR COLLEGE, INCORPORATED

Boiling Springs, North Carolina

The undersigned non-profit corporation, for the purpose of amending its Articles of Incorporation, and in accordance with the provision of Section 55A-36 of the North Carolina Non-Profit Corporation Act, hereby sets forth:

I

The name of the corporation is Gardner-Webb Junior College, Incorporated.

II

At a regularly convened meeting of the Board of Trustees of Gardner-Webb Junior College, Incorporated, held on the 29th day of September, A.D., 1969, the following amendment to the Articles of Incorporation was adopted:

Be it resolved by the Board of Trustees of Gardner-Webb Junior College, Incorporated, that the Articles of Incorporation of Gardner-Webb Junior College, Incorporated, be amended and re-written to read as follows:

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF GARDNER-WEBB COLLEGE, INCORPORATED

ARTICLE I

The name of this Corporation is the Gardner-Webb College, Incorporated.

ARTICLE II

The office and principal place of business of this Corporation is located at the Webb Administration Building, in the town of Boiling Springs, County of Cleveland.

ARTICLE III

The objects for which this Corporation is formed are:

Section 1. To establish and maintain a college for the education of qualified students of both sexes, with preference being given to students affiliated with churches of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, this school to be located at Boiling Springs, No. 2 Township, Cleveland County, North Carolina; to provide a suitable building or buildings with all necessary furniture and appliances for the satisfactory conduct of said college; to employ teachers and fix their compensation, and to do all other things necessary and requisite for the maintenance of said college which shall afford scientific, literary, commercial, and other educational training for those who shall avail themselves of the privileges of said college.

Section 2. To borrow money and secure the same, to solicit, receive and acquire, by grant, gift, purchase, devise, bequest, or otherwise, money and property of every type, kind, nature and description, and to administer, sell, exchange, mortgage, or otherwise dispose of and use the money and property of this Corporation and any and all income derived therefrom for any one or more of the purposes specified in this Article III; and Section 3. To do any and all things necessary, suitable, convenient or proper in connection with, or incidental to, the accomplishment of any of the purposes specified in this Article III; and, in general, to do any and all things, and to exercise any and all powers, in furtherance of any one or more of the purposes specified in this Article III which it may now or hereafter be lawful for this Corporation to do or exercise under the laws of the State of North Carolina that may now or hereafter be applicable to this Corporation.

ARTICLE IV

This Corporation is not organized for pecuniary profit, and shall have no power to issue certificates of stock or to make or declare dividends. No part of the net earnings of this Corporation shall inure to the benefit of any member of this Corporation or any other individual.

ARTICLE V

This Corporation shall have no capital stock. The college, which it is the purpose of this Corporation to establish and maintain, shall be supported by voluntary contributions from such persons, corporations, and associations as may care to contribute and by use of the income from said college.

ARTICLE VI

Section 1. The Board of Trustees of Gardner-Webb College, Incorporated, shall be composed of not less than 20 nor more than 40 members who shall be elected by the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina and their regular term of office shall be for four years.

a. At the first election by the Convention one-fourth of the Board of Trustees shall be elected to serve for one year, one-fourth for two years, one-fourth for three years, and the remaining one-fourth for four years. At each subsequent regular annual session of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina one-fourth of the members of the Board of Trustees of said Corporation shall be elected by the Convention to succeed the members of said Board retiring, the retiring members being ineligible for re-election until one year has elapsed.

b. The members of the Board of Trustees of said Corporation shall be residents of the State of North Carolina and members in good and regular standing of a Missionary Baptist Church co-operating with the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

c. Removal from the State or ceasing for any reason to be a member in good and regular standing of a Missionary Baptist Church co-operating with the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina shall be equivalent to a resignation from said Board of Trustees. Any vacancy on the Board shall be filled by the remaining members until the next regular annual session of the Convention and the Convention shall at its next regular session fill the vacancy for the unexpired term.

d. The term of office of a trustee who has not resigned, died, become disqualified, or been removed shall not expire until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified.

e. The Board of Trustees of said Corporation by the affirmative vote of three-fourths of its entire membership given in regular annual meeting or in a special meeting duly called for the purpose, shall have power to remove from office any trustee of such Corporation for cause considered sufficient by such Board, but only after reasonable notice to such trustee and opportunity to him to be heard by the Board.

f. The Baptist State Convention shall have the right at any time to remove from office any trustee for cause considered sufficient by the Convention, but only after reasonable notice to such trustee and opportunity for him to be heard by the Convention. Notice of such contemplated action and hearing by the Convention may be given by the Executive Committee of the Convention.

g. That no individual shall serve on any Board or Institution, who is at the time holding membership on any other Board or Institution.

Section 2. The Board of Trustees shall elect from among its membership a Chairman who shall hold office until his successor is duly elected and qualified.

Section 3. The trustees shall have power to appoint, or may give the Chairman of the Board of Trustees power to appoint from among the membership of the Board of Trustees, an Executive Committee consisting of the number of members as set forth in the Bylaws from time to time which committee shall be clothed with such powers as the Trustees shall confer.

ARTICLE VII

The period of existence of this Corporation is unlimited.

ARTICLE VIII

It shall be the duty of said Trustees to adopt Bylaws for the proper execution of the purposes for which it is organized.

ARTICLE IX

The officers of this Corporation shall be a Chairman of the Board of Trustees, a President, a Secretary, and a Treasurer, who shall be elected at such times and in such manner as shall be provided for in the Bylaws of this Corporation.

The Corporation has no members with voting rights. A quorum was present at the meeting of the Board of Trustees held on the above date; and the said amendment received at least a majority of the votes entitled to be cast by the Board of Trustees at such meeting.

In Testimony Whereof, the Corporation has caused this document to be executed in its name by its Chairman of the Board of Trustees, President and Secretary this 29th day of September, A.D., 1969.

5. Gardner-Webb to Borrow

We recommend that the request of Gardner-Webb College to borrow $400,000 for a dormitory be approved.

Gardner-Webb College is in the process of adding the Junior and Senior Years and in order to meet the increased demand for on-campus housing is finding it necessary to add additional facilities. Therefore, the Trustees of the College present the following resolution to the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

Whereas, Gardner-Webb College added the Junior Class in the fall of 1969 and will be adding the Senior Class in the fall of 1970, and

Whereas, There are approximately 200 students living in private homes, and

Whereas, the college needs additional dormitory facilities to meet the increased demand for on-campus housing

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina in session at Fayetteville, North Carolina, November 10-12, 1969

1. That the Board of Trustees of Gardner-Webb College be empowered by the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina to borrow a maximum of $400,000 (four hundred thousand dollars) for the construction of residence hall facilities.

2. That it is the intention of the Board of Trustees of Gardner-Webb College to build within their ability to pay without reducing the efficiency of the educational program.

3. That repayment of the loan be made as soon as possible from the income from the rent of rooms in the residence hall.

4. That no part of any indebtedness which may be incurred by Gardner-Webb College under the authority of this Resolution shall in any respect be deemed or held to be the indebtedness or obligation of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, nor shall the General Board assume any responsibility whatever for the repayment of such loan or interest thereon.

6. Change of General Board July Meeting date for 1970

Because of the meeting of the Baptist World Alliance next summer involving members of the Staff and General Board, we recommend that the statement in Article IV, section B, 1 of the By-laws, designating the time for the General Board to meet in July, be suspended for one year, and that the date for the General Board to meet be set at June 23-24, 1970 instead of July 14-15, 1970. This recommendation to apply for the year of 1970 only.

[Note: This was reworded before adoption by the Convention, by substituting "changed" in place of "suspended for one year," and by substituting "in the month of June" in place of all references to dates (See Item 114 of the Proceedings)—LJB.]

7. Recommendation Concerning Traffic Safety

In view of the statement on traffic safety issued by Governor Robert W. Scott on October 8, 1969 and in view of the effort of the Department of Motor Vehicles to promote "Traffic Safety Sunday" in the churches in North Carolina, November 23, 1969,

We, therefore, recommend to our Baptist churches of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, that they join in this program of traffic safety on November 23, 1969, and urge the members of these churches to use every worthy method to promote the concept of traffic safety in their community and throughout our state.

[Note: The Convention amended this by adding a statement of appreciation to Governor Scott and to Joe Garrett of the Department of Motor Vehicles (See Item 116 of the Proceedings) —LJB.]

STATEMENT BY GOVERNOR ROBERT W. SCOTT

The rising toll of deaths and injuries on the streets and highways of North Carolina should be a matter of urgent concern to all North Carolinians. It should especially concern the religious leaders of our State who, by the very nature of their responsibilities, deal almost daily with the tragic aftermath of highway collisions.

The clergyman knows well the tragedy of the sudden and, in most instances, needless loss of a father, a mother, a child, or other loved ones in a traffic collision. He is all too frequently called upon to console a family with words that he knows will be inadequate to compensate for the family's overpowering grief.

I am therefore calling on all the pastors, priests and rabbis of North Carolina to devote one day of worship to the instruction of their congregations in the relationship between religious responsibility and obedience to the traffic laws that govern and promote highway safety in North Carolina.

Toward this end, I am designating Sunday, November 23, 1969, as TRAFFIC SAFETY SUNDAY IN THE CHURCHES OF NORTH CAROLINA and am urging that all clergymen take advantage of this opportunity to make a significant contribution to the family life and general welfare of our State and to the cause of highway safety.

8. Mars Hill College Request for Charter Change

We recommend that the request of Mars Hill College to change their Charter allowing them to increase their number of Trustees be granted.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF MARS HILL COLLEGE

1. That the Charter of Mars Hill College is hereby amended by rewriting a portion of Section 3 of the said Charter to read as follows:

"3. That the Board of Trustees shall consist of thirty-six members who shall be divided into four classes consisting of nine trustees to a class. At the annual session of the Convention in 1969 the additional eight trustees shall be elected by the Convention, two of whom shall be elected to serve a one-year-term, two for a two-year term, two for a three-year term and two for a four-year term."

2. That this resolution shall become effective upon approval of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina or its General Board, in which event the proper officers of Mars Hill College are authorized and directed to execute and file in the office of the Secretary of the State of North Carolina a Certificate of Amendment embodying the aforesaid changes in the Charter of Mars Hill College. This 10th Day of December, 1968.

W. R. CHAMBERS, Chairman
Board of Trustees Mars Hill College

9. Wake Forest University Request to Borrow

We recommend that the request of Wake Forest University to borrow two million, two hundred fifty thousand dollars to erect a dormitory for women be granted.

Whereas, the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest University finds it advisable and necessary to provide additional dormitory space for women which will cost approximately two and a quarter million dollars, and

Whereas, the Board of Trustees on February 9, 1968, authorized the officers of the University to initiate any action necessary and proper to seek approval of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina for the negotiation of loans related to said dormitories.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest University:

1. That Wake Forest University borrow a sum not in excess of two and a quarter million dollars to be used for the purpose of constructing new dormitories for women.
2. That the sums actually borrowed, together with the interest thereon, shall be repaid over a period not in excess of 40 years, the payment of principal and interest to be made in annual, monthly or quarterly installments.
3. That no part of the indebtedness which may be incurred by Wake Forest University under the authority of this Resolution shall in any respect be deemed or held to be an indebtedness or obligation of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina nor its General Board shall assume any responsibility whatever for the repayment of such loan or any interest thereon.
4. That the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina at its next regular session be requested to authorize Wake Forest University to borrow not in excess of the sum above mentioned upon the terms and for the purpose herein set out.

III. PROGRAMS OF WORK

A. DIVISION OF BUSINESS MANAGEMENT
See Auditor's Report in the back of the Annual)

B. DIVISION OF MISSIONS

HOWARD J. FORD, Director

We feel we have come to the end of a good year in the Division of Missions. The Secretaries of the five departments within the division will be reporting on following pages growth and development within the scope of each department. Plans have been approved by the General Board to add a Department of Chaplaincy Ministry as soon as the right man can be found. Work has gone forward steadily in Special Missions areas assigned to the Division of Missions.

We regret the resignation of the Reverend A. T. Robertson as part-time Chaplain at McCain due to ill health. He has been replaced by the Reverend Ernest A. Stiles, pastor of Vass Baptist Church. His report, along with the other part-time Institutional Chaplains, will follow.

We are happy to report the election of the following men as Associational Superintendents of Missions during the past year: Rev. Guthrie Colvard, Carolina Association; Rev. Amos Lyon, Stone Mountain; Rev. A. R. Waisner, Brunswick; Rev. Daniel F. Page, Flat River; Rev. J. W. Myers, Macon Association (Part-time); Mr. Everette Haney, New Found (Part-time); Rev. Max G. Reece, Sandy Creek (Part-time); Rev. E. B. Lindsay, Tennessee River and Mrs. David Roberts, French Broad (Interim). The Reverend Wayne E. Sorrells came in January as Associational Missionary in the Transylvania, but has now resigned in order to go to the Foreign Mission field.

We are sorry to have the following missionaries to resign during the year: Rev. J. T. Pardue, Alleghany; Rev. David B. Roberts, French Broad (Retired); Rev. Howard Willis, Macon; Mr. Bill Gillespie (Part-time) New Found; Rev. Henry L. Register (Retired) Brunswick; and the Reverend Bill Pruitt, Stone Mountain.

* This rate may vary quarterly according to changes in prime rate.

The capable Missionary of the Union Association, layman Arch Cree, has announced his retirement at the end of 1969.

During the year we have had a continuing emphasis on cooperation of the local church, the local Baptist Association, the Baptist State Convention, and the Home and Foreign Mission Boards of the Southern Baptist Convention in sharing the Gospel of Christ with a lost world. In order to emphasize this essential cooperation and give attention to our World Mission task, four World Missions Rallies were held in our state. These Rallies were held in Hayes Barton Baptist Church, Raleigh, September 15; First Baptist Church, Greensboro, September 16; First Baptist Church, Charlotte, September 18; and First Baptist Church, Morganton, September 19. An estimated 2,250 people listened to messages by Drs. Baker James Cauthen, Arthur B. Rutledge, W. Perry Crouch and Howard J. Ford.

The Division of Missions continues the responsibility of promoting and correlating World Missions Conferences (Schools of Missions) in the local associations. The dates for these World Missions Conferences must be reserved many months in advance. It is necessary to coordinate the schedule with the association involved, the Division of Missions, and corresponding divisions of the Home and Foreign Mission Boards. Please call us two or three years ahead of your desired schedule for the conferences.

The Division of Missions maintains a close working relationship with Associational Missionaries throughout the state. The budget of the Division calls for financial aid to 57 associations during 1969. We now have a total of 69 Associational Missionaries in North Carolina.

The Convention has a small but growing loan fund for the benefit of small churches and missions unable to secure a loan on the current money market. Twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) was budgeted for additional funds for 1969. During the year we have made loans to ten churches amounting to $45,600.

1. Institutional Ministries

a. McCain Tuberculosis Sanatorium

Rev. C. R. Edwards, Visitor

The work at McCain continues to serve a real spiritual need. The families of many of patients seldom visit them and they feel that they have been left alone. My visits with them say to them that we are concerned and that we care.

Quite often pastors contact me and ask that I give special attention to their parishioners. This helps me to minister.

My visits are at least once and sometimes twice per week spending as much time there as I think necessary to fulfill my mission. My service consists of Bible reading, prayer and counsel as the occasion demands.

The patients at McCain wish that I express to the Baptist State Convention appreciation for this service.

a. PRISON UNIT—MCCAIN SANATORIUM

ERNEST A. STILES, Visitor

My ministry at Hoke Prison Hospital, McCain, N. C. has been a great joy to me to be able to minister to those who are sick and in prison. Although I have been ministering in this opportunity for only three months now, I have found it to be a very greatly needed and fruitful opportunity of service.

Each Sunday morning we provide a worship service for all who can attend in a room set aside for that purpose. During the worship service we lead in prayers, singing of hymns, the reading of the Scriptures and a twenty to thirty minute message from God's word. At the close of the service we usually ask for a show of hands of those who would like to be remembered in prayer, or who may have spiritual needs and would like to talk with me personally. The response has been most gratifying. One man has made public profession of faith in Christ as Saviour and Lord. Others have indicated that the service has been a spiritual uplift to them and has helped make their day and week brighter.

Following the Worship Service, and also during the week when needed, I counsel with those who have indicated a need, sometimes visiting with them in the ward. Just recently one man was showing me some pictures in his room, how he had changed from drawing evil pictures to religious pictures. He shared with me that my messages had "caused him to change his mind about things." He shared some of these pictures with me for our church. I used them as an illustration during the Training Union assembly. This illustration impressed the members of our Training Union, not only how Christ can come into a heart and life and change a man, but also of the fact that our church has this opportunity to serve in this way. Many of our members apparently did not realize that we were serving others through the Baptist State Convention Missions Department in this manner — through State Missions.

It is such a great blessing to all of the patients to realize that we care enough to share with them the message of Christ. They wish for me to express appreciation to the Baptist State Convention for remembering them in a special way.

b. ODOM PRISON FARM

DALPHON J. THOMPSON, Visiting Representative

Odom Prison has changed its name to Odom Correctional Institution and is located in Northampton County-south of Jackson, four miles. Odom is a close custody Institution. Much of the population (300) in Odom are men who have returned from escape and were serving time on a felony charge. These men must remain here a year before they are eligible for any change to another institution in the state. In many ways this makes Odom a short term institution for the men.

Men in prison have a handicap. Either they had a handicap before coming on the state or their coming on the state creates one when they return to the free life. It is vital that they get help to overcome this handicap, and that their family and society friends see the importance of helping them in overcoming this handicap. It is part of my duty to help, where I am allowed, to seek solutions to their problems. This involves my helping them in the worship on Sundays, a group discussion of the Bible, and group counseling. It is the hope that a religious program helps them to learn where to seek help to live in our complicated society. It is not as easy to live in our world today and many inmates are not able to understand this.

An estimated 55 attend the worship on Sunday at 8:45.

Weekly Bible study — 16 are enrolled.

Group Counseling each week—11 are enrolled.

Approximately 5 inmates come each week to talk about their problems.

The religious work is growing at Odom and I am glad to report progress. I am grateful to North Carolina Baptists for their interest in these men and for seeing that a work of this type is being done at Odom. Men in prison need to know that God IS and cares about them. This is one of the best ways to make this known to them.

c. Samarcand Manor Industrial and Vocational School For Girls

Paul F. Hardy, Baptist Chaplain

The year 1968-1969 leaves much to be desired in the way of a glowing report on the work at Samarcand. This isn't being said in an attitude of defeatism but because of the unseen results over against the seen need.

It is true that the policy of the administration makes the ministry primarily one of Sunday afternoon worship services. Counseling with the girls is not forbidden but it is not encouraged. The "invitation" as a part of the worship service has been discontinued because it is not in the best interest of the girls' emotional state.

Worship services have been held regularly throughout 1968-1969 on the third Sunday afternoon of each month. The monthly reports show a question mark at the "Number of Converts." Prayerfully, it is hoped that the preaching of the Word will bear its fruit. "Being found faithful" is the goal of God's steward and your chaplain.

As a service of the Bethlehem Baptist Church, Intermediate Sunday School Quarterlies and Upward Magazines for Youth are furnished regularly for the girls of the school. "Study to show thyself approved unto God. . . ."

d. Leonard Training School

Rev. Richard Hopkins, Baptist Visitor and Counselor

The boy was one of seven children. He has lived most of his thirteen years in one apartment and another. The unmarried mother has taken the children and moved just one step ahead of the collector of back rent.

At first it was hard to understand why mother had sent the little ones out onto the stairway to play when one of her "boyfriends" called. After a while, however, even a five year old notices that the food gets more plentiful when one of the "boyfriends" has left. There is sometimes even the rare occurrence of a new pair of shoes. The tearing apart of the child's personality is just about completed by hearing the swearing, slugging fights between the only person dear to him and one of the current "boyfriends."

My judgement of this mother is not important. The problem, now, is to help a boy who has turned away from all women and has become, at this tender age, a homosexual. To tell him that this course is wrong is to pour water on a duck's back. To tell him that sin will deliver him to hell is ridiculous. He already lives there. To tell him that you love him is to meet with ingrained suspicion.

The thing we can do is to follow Jesus in casting aside all judgements and putting the love of Christ into action.

"If you have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren you have done it unto me."

e. MORRISON TRAINING SCHOOL, HOFFMAN, N. C.

MICHAEL T. RAY, Baptist Chaplain

1968-69 has been a busy year as well as a very challenging one. During October-December 1968, Seminary Extension classes were conducted for 21 counselors in a "Survey of the Life of Christ," and in the spring of 1969, a "Historical Survey of Christianity" was taught to 14 counselors. Certificates were presented to each man and woman who completed the two courses at a graduation exercise witnessed by the student body of the school. The quality of teaching by these counselors, who teach in the Sunday School, has been greatly improved.

In June, a Vacation Bible School was held for 60 boys who attended five full days. At the end of the school opportunity was given for the boys to make decisions: eight (8) boys made commitment of their life to Christ for the first time, and seven (7) boys rededicated their lives to Christ.

Sunday morning vespers are conducted by the Chaplain and three other ministers. Counseling sessions are provided for those boys who desire to talk with the chaplain about their problems. At the present time there are 45 boys enrolled (voluntarily) in a Bible class which meets the first and third Tuesday of each month. Bibles have been provided by the ladies of the Cameron Baptist Church.

There seems to be a hunger on the part of many of the boys at Morrison for answers to their problems, and we believe Christ has the answer. Your prayers are invited and appreciated as we seek to reveal Christ to these young men.

2. Department of Interracial Cooperation

CORBIN L. COOPER, Secretary

Baptists in the two state conventions have strengthened some established work during 1969 while opening new avenues of service together.

Members of the General Baptist State Convention shared in the annual statewide Vacation Bible School clinic at Wingate College in January. A new feature on the program was an inspirational message delivered by Dr. Leon Riddick, a Negro pastor from Charlotte. The clinic is planned by the Sunday School Department.

For the second time, the statewide conference on evangelism held in Greensboro was sponsored jointly by the two conventions. The first statewide Men and Boys Convention to be co-sponsored was held in Winston-Salem in March. The meeting was arranged by the Laymen's League of the General Baptist State Convention and the Brotherhood Department of the Baptist State Convention. A record attendance of over 7,000 was recorded.

The annual series of conferences on human relations was held in April and utilized the talents of Dr. W. R. Grigg and Dr. Emmanuel McCall of the Home Mission Board. Conferences were held at the Yates Baptist Church, Durham, the University Baptist Church, Chapel Hill, and the First Baptist Churches of Ahoskie, Wilson and Gastonia.

Other departments utilizing Negro talent in statewide activities included the Baptist Youth Convention, held at Lumberton in May, and featured Dr. F. G. Sampson, a pastor from Louisville, Kentucky. This convention was planned by the Church Training Department. Also, Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Edwards of the First Baptist Church, Fayetteville, served as the first Negro conference leaders at the North Carolina Baptist Assembly, Southport, during World Missions Week in June.

Various churches and associations have encouraged the program of work with National Baptists on the local level. Successful biracial revivals were planned and held in Robeson and Anson associations this year. Several associations invited Negro speakers to participate in their annual meetings. A growing number of white pastors and congregations are seeking ways of dialogue with Negro congregations.

Scholarship aid was provided for 22 students at Shaw University, North Carolina College at Durham, Fruitland Bible Institute, Union Christian Institute, and Hardbarger Business College.

Vacation Bible School work continues to improve in quantity and quality with the department helping with 52 schools this year enrolling 5,132 people. Exciting efforts with Week Day Bible camps were held at the Mount Zion Baptist Church, Asheville, and the Bethel "A" Baptist Church, Brevard.

Those who serve with the department in addition to the Secretary are Mrs. Mary E. Washington, Office Secretary; Rev. C. C. Craig, Raleigh; Rev. J. Z. Alexander, Raleigh; Rev. Marvin Williams, Rocky Mount; Rev. Benjamin Daniels, Winston-Salem; and Mrs. Alcovia O. McCall, Asheville. In addition to these there were 8 adults and 9 young people employed as summer workers. The Home Mission Board sponsored two of the summer workers.

3. Department of Deaf Missions

JERRY F. POTTER, Missionary

NEAL L. PEYTON, Associate

Matthew 13:52 says "The Kingdom of Heaven is like a man that brings out of his treasures things new and old." Our approach to the ministry among the deaf is both old and new — new approaches for spreading the same old unchanging gospel.

A new approach to reaching the busy deaf people of the inner city was pioneered this summer past. It is hoped the pilot project will show us the path to take in future summers as we use summer workers who are proficient in the use of sign language.

A letter from the chaplain at one of our state mental hospitals prompted us to remember the verse in Matthew 25, verse 36, "I was sick and ye visited me." We are beginning a program of regular visitation with special classes for those capable of advanced learning.

We are continually encouraged at the progress of the interpreters and teachers in the local churches. If the ministry to the deaf is ever going to accomplish anything vital, it will be in and through the local church.

4. City and Metropolitan Missions Department

ERNEST C. UPCHURCH, Secretary

The City and Metropolitan Missions Department of the Division of Missions seeks to promote a total mission program in every area of North Carolina that has a population of 2,500 and up. However, the metropolitan culture is always active in shaping concept and values in all geographical areas of our state.

The projected population growth of our state reveals a need to reach more people in the days ahead with the Christian witness of our churches. This department is the urban missionary effort of our convention to assist churches and-or associations in extending this witness.

Metropolitan missions has three distinct phases of its work, namely:

1. THE GENERAL URBAN CHURCH AND ASSOCIATIONAL MINISTRIES

A. Research and study has been made in metropolitan mission needs and ministries and ways and means of meeting these needs.

B. Churches and associations have been assisted in specific urban needs and long range planning of associational city ministries.

C. Seminars and conferences and clinics have been well received by ministers and lay people in this area of work. The one outstanding metropolitan missions conference of this nature was held in Durham during the year. Also, a very successful Rural-Urban Conference was held at Gardner-Webb College this year.

D. Urban institutional ministries have been encouraged among industry, hospitals, rest homes, etc.

E. Pastoral assistance was provided, in keeping with the General Board's guiding principles for thirty-six churches and missions.

F. Lot assistance was provided, in keeping with the General Board's guiding principles, for seventeen churches.

II. Metropolitan Christian Social Ministries

The compassion ministries of Jesus were to all people — "When he saw the multitude he was moved with compassion on them." Matthew 9:36.

Christ not only had compassion on the multitudes he also had compassion on individuals. He had compassion on the widow of Nain (Luke 7:11-15), on two blind men (Matthew 20:30-34), on a leper (Mark 1:40-42), and on many more in need. Many of his miracles expressed compassion for people. In Matthew 25 he made it clear as to the seriousness of this helping ministry. The Christian Social Ministries is designed to meet the total compassion needs —moral and spiritual of mankind.

A. Associational Programs. The associational Christian Social Ministries includes services in Baptist Center work (kindergarten, weekday activities, Good Will Centers) Rescue Missions, Youth and Family Services, Literacy, Migrant and Relief Ministries. The New South River Association with Mr. John Halbert as director has made remarkable growth in its ministry to all of Cumberland county and its fringe areas within the association.

The Gaston Baptist Association with Gerald Edwards as director, has moved ahead in its ministry to all Gaston County. We are grateful to God for these dedicated young men and their ministry in these areas of our state.

B. We are assisting financially two full time Baptist Center programs. One in Winston-Salem, Patterson Avenue Baptist Center with the Rev. and Mrs. Roy Hood, Co-directors. One in Eden, the Dan Valley Baptist Center with the Rev. and Mrs. Marvin Southard, Co-directors. These are sponsored in cooperation with the Home Mission Board and the respective associations.

A summer church-community weekday project was operated in the Mount Zion Association's West Hillsborough church-community with Miss Ann Cox serving as worker. Also, another one in the mobile homes of the New South River Association, Fayetteville with Mr. Don Saunders serving as worker.

C. Youth and Family Services. Raleigh, in cooperation with the Raleigh Baptist Association and the Home Mission Board, Mr. Eugene Scarborough is serving as minister of this work.

Two part-time programs have been launched during 1969 — one in the Mount Zion Baptist Association with the Rev. E. J. Barbour, Jr. serving as director. Another in the Central Baptist Association with the Rev. Paul Odum serving as director. There are many more places that this ministry is needed. However, we are limited in finances and personnel at this time.

Many associations are electing Youth and Family Services Committees to perform a voluntary ministry as a "stop-gap method" of assistance here. All of our associations could elect committees to perform a volunteer ministry.

D. Adult Rehabilitation. A special adult rehabilitation project was held in Yates Baptist Association this year. This project was directed toward alcoholics and their family rehabilitation. The Rev. Boyce Kimball served as minister to this project.

E. Literacy. Workshops were conducted in several associations and among the field workers of metropolitan missions. One statewide project of literacy training was held in Greensboro. Ways of implementing this work are being studied and strategies planned.

F. Migrant Work. This phase of our ministry is designed to share the Christian faith with the migrant and to develop in him a sense of his personal worth, belonging and responsibility. A cooperative ministry of this nature was held in Henderson County (Hendersonville and surrounding areas.) Mr. Charles Hayes served as minister during the summer of 1969. Volunteer leaders were used in the eastern part of North Carolina. The Rev. H. A. Privette, Superintendent of Missions of the Atlantic Baptist Association, coordinated the program for this association.

III. The Work Related to Non-Evangelicals

The work among the Jews, Catholics, Christian sects and Non-Evangelicals is directed to our churches through study and research through the help of the Home Mission Board. Basic information has been gathered and compiled in tracts and pamphlets and distributed among our churches. Many new pamphlets related to this work have been written and distributed during the year in cooperation with the Home Mission Board's Department of Non-Evangelicals. The department is willing to assist any interested association in a project of "mail out." The mail out ministry is designed to share pertinent information related to needs of the given association. We welcome inquiries from the association about this cooperative ministry.

Conclusions: The City and Metropolitan Missions Department ministries are administered in cooperation with the Departments of Metropolitan Missions, Christian Social Ministries and Non-Evangelical of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. This cooperative method finds this department supplying joint employed personnel, funds, techniques and working closely with local co-sponsors of the mission's projects.

The department's continued concern and perspective is for all people, especially in urban areas of North Carolina. The department's ministries are a part of the total witness of State Missions. We use all available channels to inform churches and associations of mission opportunities and to motivate them to participate in mission actions to the glory of God and the salvation of the lost.

We convey our thanks to the Baptists of North Carolina, to Dr. W. Perry Crouch, General Secretary-Treasurer, Dr. Howard J. Ford, Director of the Division of Missions, to all the department field staff, and the Mrs. Hugh Grimmer, office secretary, for the faithful support given to metropolitan missions during the year of 1968-69.

5. Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute

E. GARY HARTHCOCK, Administrator

ALEX L. BOOTH, JR., Dean

Since the 1968 report, the students, faculty and administrative personnel at Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute have entered the new J. C. Canipe Building. This beautiful new facility houses a modern library, a book store, a student lounge and refreshment area, conference rooms and administrative offices. Not only has the campus been greatly enhanced by this addition, but the spirit of the student body has been greatly strengthened.

During the past year thirty-eight seniors completed the eight twelve-week quarters required for graduation. They received their diplomas in an excellent service held at First Baptist Church, Hendersonville, on May 31. Mrs. J. P. Franklin, wife of one of the graduating seniors, had the distinction of being the first woman to graduate from the Bible Institute.

The fall quarter of 1969, which began on August 26, is filled to capacity with a waiting list for the winter quarter which begins November 20. The number of students in any one quarter is limited to approximately 150. At the present time there are 151 students representing 37 North Carolina Associations and 9 different states. Forty-six of the students now enrolled are serving as pastors of Baptist churches. One student is serving as a Minister of Youth. Sixty-seven students are employed outside of school hours to support their families. Twenty-three students receive financial aid through one of the government programs.

The faculty of twelve is doing an excellent job in presenting materials covering twenty-four basic courses. In addition, Mrs. Gary Harthcock teaches an elective class in Social Graces and plans and coordinates an annual Wives' Week designed to strengthen the effectiveness of the student wives in their wife-of-the-pastor roles.

6. Town and Country and Seminary Extension Department

ROY J. SMITH, Secretary

The objective of the Town and Country and Seminary Extension Department is two-fold: (1) Work with small town and rural churches in a program of overall church development; and (2) Promote the state-wide ministries of Resort Missions, Mountain Missions, Weeks of Christian Study and Fellowship, and Seminary Extension.

The Rural-Urban Department of the Home Mission Board and the Seminary Extension Department of the Southern Baptist Convention participate in the ministry of this department.

Mrs. Nan Jones is the office secretary.

SEMINARY EXTENSION

The Seminary Extension program continues to expand in North Carolina. During 1969 four associations organized Seminary Extension centers for the first time. During 1969 more than 1500 students were enrolled in seventy-five centers from the mountains to the sea.

Seminary Extension is designed for pastors, church leaders, and church members who are interested in enriching their spiritual lives through the discipline of in-depth study and training. Courses are offered in Biblical Interpretation, Theology, Religious Education, Church History, and Missions.

Financial assistance, in the form of scholarships and teachers' honoraria, is provided where needed.

PASTORAL AID—LOT AID

Sixty churches and missions in twenty-eight associations received pastoral aid during 1969. Sixteen of these mission pastors are students and eleven are serving fields of two or more churches.

Thirteen churches in eight associations received aid on the purchase of church lots. These mission grants ranged from $700.00 to $2,400.00.

In the allocation of the mission funds, priority is given to churches joining together in a field of work, student pastors, and churches with unusual missionary opportunities.

WEEK OF CHRISTIAN STUDY AND FELLOWSHIP

The annual Week of Christian Study and Fellowship at Mars Hill had an enrollment of 440. This week makes it possible for pastors and their families to come aside for worship, study, and recreation. A comprehensive program is provided for ministers, their wives, and children, Nursery through Intermediate age.

Program personalities this year included Furney Baker, minister of music; Dr. Clyde Fant, Southwestern Seminary, pastor; and Dr. Henry Turlington, University Baptist Church, Chapel Hill, Bible teacher.

Meals are the only cost to those attending. Mars Hill College and the Town and Country Missions Department provide lodging facilities and the program.

RESORT MISSIONS

Resort Missions is one of the fastest growing missions ministries in North Carolina. The Baptist State Convention participated in ministries at seven of the major resort areas in our state. The ministries are varied and flexible, reflecting the imagination and creativity of local leadership and the desire to meet the needs of each given area.

1. Chimney Rock — Lake Lure. Ronnie Pinkerton, pastor of the Chimney Rock Baptist Church, and Andy Webb, a student at Fruitland, conducted vesper services in the campgrounds, musical programs, and movies on the beach each Saturday night. Lakeside worship services were held each Sunday.

2. Lake Norman — Ronnie Boswell, US-2 missionary, and Bob Shepherd, pastor of First Church, Mooresville conducted a variety of activities and services at three major campgrounds, Drums, Al's, and Cross Country. The ministry included recreational activities for various age groups, movies, and talent shows, in addition to the Sunday worship services. On Labor Day weekend 500 people were in worship services at the three campgrounds. This ministry is sponsored by First Church, Mooresville, the Mecklenburg, South Yadkin, and South Fork Associations, and the Baptist State Convention.

3 & 4. White Lake — Ocean Isle — These ministries provided movies on the beach and general pastoral services to the multitudes visiting these areas. The White Lake ministry is sponsored by the White Lake Baptist Church, the Bladen Baptist Association, and Baptist State Convention. The Ocean Isle Ministry is sponsored by the Brunswick Baptist Association and the Baptist State Convention.

5. Atlantic Beach — David Smith, a first year student at Southeastern Seminary, was the Baptist chaplain on Atlantic Beach this year. In addition to worship services in two campgrounds, he conducted vespers, showed religious films, and served as pastor, counselor, and friend to the vast numbers who visited this area.

In cooperation with other religious groups, a coffee house ministry, "The Koinonia House" was initiated. Located in the midst of the Atlantic Beach pavilion, this proved to be an oasis where people could come to discuss life, its meaning, and implications of the Christian faith.

6. Kitty Hawk — J. W. Costner and David Moore directed the three phase ministry at Kitty Hawk. Mr. Costner was pastor of the Baptist Chapel where Sunday School and worship services were held each Sunday, June through Labor Day, and he showed movies on the beach Wednesday through Saturday each week. David Moore served as Associate Pastor in addition to playing with the musical combo at the Circus Tent.

Four concerts of religious folk songs and contemporary spirituals were presented each night. This new approach in Christian witness and ministry continues to attract capacity crowds.

7. Ski Resorts — Ronnie Boswell, US-2 missionary is the Baptist Chaplain on the ski slopes of the Banner Elk-Boone-Blowing Rock area. He has an opportunity to witness to the thousands who come to this winter playground each week.

This exciting, growing work opens new doors of ministry and service in almost every area of our state.

TRUETT CAMP

Three significant milestones were reached at Truett Home and Camp this year.

1. A long range plan of development was adopted by the Baptist State Convention and the churches in Region 10. A swimming pool was installed prior to the opening of the camping season.

2. In addition to a capacity enrollment for the scheduled season, one additional week was added to accommodate the enrollment of intermediate girls.

3. On May 6, the 102nd anniversary of Dr. George Truett's birth, dedication services were held at the redecorated and refurnished Truett Home. The W.M.S. of First Church, Asheville led in this project with financial assistance from the Baptist State Convention. The living-dining room, study, and two bedrooms were furnished with pieces of the period when the Truetts lived in the home. Three generations of Truetts, Dr. Truett's daughter, grand-daughter and great grand-daughter, were present for the service.

The Truett Home is open to visitors at stated hours each day.

7. Indian Ministry

CHEROKEE CHILD CARE CENTER

MISS IONE JOHNS, Director

The Child Care program continues to minister to children ages 2-5, from various areas of the reservation. The average enrollment for the year was fifty children.

Miss Phyllis Ragan joined the child care staff in November, 1968 as Associate Director. Under her very capable leadership and assistance the entire program has progressed. The kindergarten program has especially enjoyed and appreciated her guidance.

Miss Ione Johns, Child Care Director since August 1967, resigned this position effective October 1, 1969 in order to be married and will return to her native state of Mississippi.

8. Military Ministries and Oriental Work

After several years of hard work and aggressive planning, the Reverend J. Ned Beatty resigned his work as Secretary of Military Ministries December 31, 1968. This was in keeping with his desire to enter the pastorate. His resignation was regretfully accepted. Plans are now proceeding toward securing a Secretary of Chaplaincy Ministries. He would spend a part of his time working with Military Chaplains. In addition to the work being done now by Mrs. Toni Romine, the Division Director has been giving attention to coordinating the work in military areas. Financial aid is still being channeled into these areas of our state. Much of it is in assistance for Vacation Bible School work; some for mission churches; pastoral aid, and loans. The New River Association has opened a Center for military personnel in the heart of Jacksonville. The Executive Committee of the General Board has approved financial assistance for this project.

Since Mr. Beatty's resignation, Mrs. Toni Romine has been of valuable assistance in working with the Orientals primarily in the Jacksonville (Camp LeJeune) area. She gives the following account of her year's work:

"This past year has been a significant one among our Oriental speaking people. The work has received tremendous boost through the ministry of the Associations. This work is a joint endeavor of The Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, the local association, and the Home Mission Board.

"My schedule this past year has been primarily in the Jacksonville-Camp Lejuene area. I have worked in planning with the Fayetteville and Cherry Point areas.

"A real highlight of the year's activities was the five Oriental ladies who were members of Soka Gakai groups, but gave it up for Jesus Christ. They are now Christians and active members of Baptist Churches in the Jacksonville area. I am really running into Soka Gakai people who want to become Christians, however they are a little afraid.

"The State-wide Oriental Fellowship was held on May 16, at Midville Baptist Church in Jacksonville. Some 220 oriental wives, their husbands and children along with workers and invited guests attended from the Fayetteville-Fort Bragg area, the Havelock-Cherry Point area, and the Jacksonville-Camp Lejeune area. Dr. Robert H. Culpepper, missionary to Japan, was our guest speaker.

"During the year, our Oriental ministry has been expanded by beginning a new class at Enon Chapel Baptist Church, Midway Park, North Carolina. Also the work has been expanded to include English classes at Midville Baptist, Brookwood and Enon Chapel churches. Plans are to begin a night class at Midville Church for Oriental ladies who work and cannot attend the day classes.

"I have visited in churches helping with and reporting my work. I have visited in many homes, written letters and interpreted letters. I have visited in hospitals and helped Oriental ladies with children to understand doctors. I have gone with others to the welfare office and lawyer's offices. This year has been filled with awesome responsibilities but with joyful fruits for our Labor. For myself and all our Oriental speaking people we express our appreciation to Baptists of North Carolina — to the pastors and churches who sponsor oriental classes, each of the missionaries in our military areas, and to Dr. Howard Ford, without whose encouragement and leadership much of this would have been impossible.

"Pray that God will continue to work in and through us to reach the Oriental people that live among us."

C. DIVISION OF EVANGELISM

JULIAN S. HOPKINS, Director

WILLIAM C. LAMB, Associate Director

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR

During the past four years Baptists in the Western Hemisphere have been looking forward with increasing concern to 1969 — the year designated for simultaneous revivals in the Crusade of the Americas. It was the hope and prayer of many that this would be the year when a great tide of spiritual power would be experienced across North, Central and South America. It is too early and reports are too meager at this time to attempt an appraisal of the revival experiences across these continents; so this report is confined to North Carolina.

SIMULTANEOUS REVIVALS

More associations and more churches participated in the simultaneous revivals than in any previous campaign. Reports, which are incomplete at this date (October 3) indicate there has been an increase in baptisms over last year. Several churches (which are scattered over the state) have experienced spiritual revivals beyond the ordinary. In several instances these revivals broke out among young people and spread throughout the churches. In every instance there was unusual prayer concern. This simply indicates again that when God's people "pray and seek His face" revivals follow.

PRAYER RETREATS

The week of January 13-18 was given to prayer retreats in six locations across the state. Close to one thousand people gathered in these retreats for prayer, Bible study and heart searching. Dr. Thomas L. Neely, President of North Greenville Baptist College, Tigerville, South Carolina, and Reverend Jack Wilder, Pastor of Florida Street Baptist Church, Greensboro served as speakers and were mightily used of God. It seems clear now that those Retreats were used powerfully of the Lord to prepare the people for the Conference On Evangelism in February and to intensify their praying for revivals in the churches.

CONFERENCE ON EVANGELISM

Possibly the most helpful single thing the Division of Evangelism has done is the planning and conducting of the annual Statewide Conference On Evangelism. This year the Conference was held in Greensboro in the War Memorial Auditorium (the third time there in succession). Attendance was the largest ever with the Auditorium filled to capacity. Almost 2,900 registered with total attendance being considerably beyond that figure.

Judging from letters received and the comments of people from all sections of the state, the Conference in February was powerfully used of God to get those attending deeply concerned about their own spiritual condition and about the spiritual condition in their churches. Many pastors have reported that the spiritual renewal they received at the Conference carried over into their churches and resulted in genuine spiritual revivals in the Crusade of the Americas this past spring.

The speakers for the Conference were:

Dr. Stephen F. Olford, Pastor, Calvary Baptist Church, New York City and Dr. Vance Havner, Evangelist, Greensboro. Each of these men spoke at every session.

Dr. Robert Wilson, Pastor, St. John Baptist Church, Dallas, Texas spoke three times. He is an outstanding preacher in the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc.

Dr. Eual Lawson, Associate Director, Division of Evangelism, Baptist Home Mission Board, Atlanta, Ga.

Dr. William Bennett, Pastor, First Baptist Church, Fort Smith, Arkansas. Dr. Bennett is a native of North Carolina and served as statewide Chairman of Evangelism before leaving the state.

Robert A. Bradley, Director of Church Music, National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc. served as Song Leader and Soloist for the Conference.

LAST REPORT

Since I am retiring as Director of Evangelism December 31, 1969 and this is my final report, I wish to say that the burden of my heart is to see a great spiritual revival in our state, nation and the world. I believe the revivals that were experienced last spring in certain churches in the state are assurances from God that we can experience such revival when God's people seek it on God's terms. As God opens doors and gives me strength, I hope to be used of Him in this direction in the days ahead.

D. DIVISION OF CHURCH PROGRAMS

NATHAN C. BROOKS, JR., Director

Burrel Lucas, formerly an associate, became Sunday School Department Secretary, March 1, 1969. He succeeded Dr. Claude White whose death was reported last year.

Joe Stroud, who has long served as the Church Music Department Secretary, was hospitalized in August. In early October he was at home recovering and was able to be in the office some.

The Department Directors have reported the personnel changes in the areas of their responsibility.

It is the judgement of the Division Director that North Carolina Baptists are being served by an excellent staff of workers.

The Division has sponsored Vacation Week, at Fort Caswell; a Church Administration Conference and Deacons' School at Fruitland; a Statewide Deacons' Conference at Camp CaRAway; and several Deacons' Schools in various parts of the state.

One of the new areas of service has been the cooperation of the North Carolina Baptist Assembly with Shaw University. Between the first of October and the end of the year, Shaw has been using the Caswell facility in Peace Corps training.

The Division continues to assist individuals, churches, associations and institutions in the effort to bring God and man together through Jesus Christ.

1. Sunday School Department

BURREL F. LUCAS, Secretary

Churches must teach God's message to the world as recorded in the Bible. This teaching is done with the hope that persons may, under the leadership of the Holy Spirit, be led to respond to God with maturing faith, love, and obedience. The basic approach of the Bible Teaching Program in Sunday School consists of ongoing, age-graded Bible classes meeting on Sunday morning, or in some mission situations, on Sunday afternoon. Study groups meeting during the week for those who cannot attend on Sunday are considered a part of the Sunday School. With the coming of the program for the '70's much attention will be given to Extension activities which call for various means of Bible study during the week with all types of groups. The Sunday School Department staff is committed to the objective of strengthening the church's program of outreach as well as lifting the level of Bible teaching throughout our state.

PERSONNEL

The Secretary of the Department was named on March 1, 1969. He was serving as an associate in the Sunday School Department charged with associational administration and Adult consultant. He came to the Department from a pastorate in Roanoke, Virginia. Other members of the staff include: Mrs. Myra S. Motley, Consultant, Junior-Intermediate work, Vacation Bible School and Weekday education; Miss Hilda Mayo, Consultant, Children's work, Church Library, and the Ministry to the Retarded; Mr. Richard J. Brown, Consultant, Young People's work and Teacher-Training. The dedicated help of two office secretaries make possible a greater ministry. These are: Mrs. Barbara Chason and Mrs. Catharine Watts.

Throughout the year our ministries to the associations and churches were enlarged through the help of special workers. These assisted in training schools, Vacation Bible Schools, enlargement campaigns and other areas of service. They are: Mrs. John Moore, Mrs. J. C. Price, Jr., Mrs. William Spradlin, Mrs. Harold West, Mrs. Oliver Davis, Mrs. Lester White, Mrs. J. H. Mauney, Mrs. Henry Johnson, Mrs. E. L. Spivey, Mrs. B. H. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Malvin Swicegood, Mrs. Donald Myers, Mrs. L. Deck Taylor, Mrs. E. W. Holmes, Mrs. Phillip King, Mrs. E. S. Morgan, Robert Stewart, Anthony Gurganus, Miss Jean Parker, Bob Oates, Jim Temples, Dan Page, Harold West, Fritz Hemphill, W. T. Cockman, Jack Clark and James Maples.

Ten Regional Superintendents served throughout the year as they were needed in the promotional work of the department: George H. Cooke, John Privott, G. Scott Turner, Jr., Alfred Staley, James M. Lambert, Norman Brisson, Billy G. Rivers, Rexford Campbell, William Bowen, Zeb Baker and Robert L. Clegg.

ACTIVITIES 1968-69

The assigned tasks of the Sunday School are: teaching the Biblical revelation, leading in reaching all prospects for the church, and leading all church members to worship, witness, learn, and minister daily. In an effort to fulfill the responsibilities delegated to it, the Sunday School Department has conducted various types of projects as time of personnel and finances were available:

Director-led Enlargement Campaigns
Associational Central Training Schools
Associational Age-group Workshops
Associational Bible Teaching Clinics
One-day Group Clinics
Teaching improvement projects in local churches
Area Sunday School Conventions
State Vacation Bible School clinic
Associational Vacation Bible School clinics
Clinic for summer student Vacation Bible School workers
State Briefing Meeting for associational officers Crusade of the Americas Rallies Kindergarten Conferences
State Library Convention
Special conferences with leaders of Mentally Retarded
Associational Library Conferences
Special Workers Institute
Shared in training College and University student leadership
Shared in training Division Staff in Group Relationships
Concerted staff effort to re-define Christian Education in the light of present day needs Formulated and conducted Bible Conference
"New Look" of leadership training at North Carolina Baptist Assembly Preparation and distribution of Youth Resource Booklet
Trained field staff in personal skills improvement
Participated in pastors' retreats and deacons' workshops
Formulated and conducted Motivation Clinics

We conducted a State Vacation Bible School Clinic for the purpose of training associational leadership. This was held at Wingate College, January 6, 7 and 8, 1969. Sixty associations, plus 9 from the General Convention, were represented by 310 leaders. Dual conferences were offered for the fourth time. The Sunday School Department assisted 16 associations in providing summer student workers during June, July and August. These 21 workers were trained at Fruitland along with others working with the Department of Interracial Work. These workers served in 121 churches.

The State Clinic for 1970 is scheduled for the dates of January 5, 6, and 7.

Department personnel has spent much time this year in numerous associations in preparation for projects to be sponsored during 1969-70. All of the conferences with pastors and associational leadership, telephone consultations, appearances in local churches and associational Sunday School meetings cannot be enumerated in this report.

DATES, EVENTS, AND PLACES FOR TRAINING

1. State Interpretation Conferences — Goldsboro, January 19-20; Greensboro, January 20-21; Asheville, January 22-23.

Nine people, one of whom will represent Sunday School, from each association will train in preparation for conducting an associational clinic on "Shaping the Seventies." These are to be hand-picked by the leadership of the local association.

2. Associational Clinics on "Shaping the Seventies" — Associational clinics on "Shaping the Seventies" will be conducted by leaders trained in state conferences. These are to be held during the months of February and March.

3. "Leadership Tours" for Eight Regions — led by Dr. W. Perry Crouch 3:00 p.m.-9:00 p.m.

These tours are to be beamed to the pastors.

Waynesville	March	30	Fairmont	April	20
Valdese	March	31	Wilson	April	21
Charlotte	April	2	Greensboro	April	23
Elkin	April	3	Raleigh	April	24

Simultaneous with these tours will be training classes for "Visitor-Trainers" specifically for Sunday School work in the 70's. These classes will be held from 1:00-3:00 p.m. This is a pre-conference session for Sunday School workers only. The remaining sessions will be held from 5:00-7:00 and 7:30-8:45 p.m. within the frame-work of Dr. Crouch's conference. There will also be help in the 3:00-5:00 p.m. session conducted by Dr. Crouch.

The aim will be for orientation to publications and administration as well as launching an outreach-visitation program for the local Sunday School. We will train one person for each 10 churches in the association. These "Visitor-Trainers" will be selected by the Associational Sunday School Superintendent in cooperation with the Associational Missionary. The "Visitor-Trainer" will make appointments with the pastor and Sunday School superintendent and work with them in ordering literature, surveying space, and organizing an outreach program geared specifically to the local church. These trainees will be primarily pastors.

The Sunday School Board, cooperating with the N. C. Baptist Convention, will bear the expenses of each of these "Visitor-Trainers" both in their individual training and their visiting in the 10 churches for which they will be responsible.

4. Leadership Preparation Week in the Local Church—September 21-25

Each church is urged to study the new administration study course books at this time as well as prepare for the "on-going" Sunday School program for the year 1970-71.

5. State Briefing Meetings for Associational Officers

July 15, N. C. Baptist Assembly, Ft. Caswell

August 5, Ridgecrest Baptist Assembly, Ridgecrest

August 21, First Baptist Church, High Point

SPECIAL WORKERS TRAINING

1. Regional Workshop — Sponsored by Sunday School Board, S.B.C., Jekyll Island, Georgia, March 23-24, 1970
2. Region VBS Workshop — Sponsored by Sunday School Board, S. B. C., Eagle Eyrie, Virginia, November 17-18, 1969
3. Associational Officers Workshop — Sponsored by Sunday School Board, S. B. C., Eagle Eyrie, Virginia, February 26-27, 1970

2. Church Training Department

SAM H. O'NEAL, Secretary

A broader base of training and development continue to characterize the Church Training Department. A larger scope of Christian training, enhanced by new concepts, improved techniques, and improved materials continue to unfold and make the Church Training ministry a challenge. With this enlarged concept it seems imperative that every pastor, educational director, Church Training director, and other local church leader must avail himself of every opportunity to stay abreast of what is taking place in this vital phase of Southern Baptist life.

The Church Training Department is implementing and making real such channeled ministries as recreation-drama, vocational guidance, and ministry to the mentally retarded in addition to the primary and ongoing program of Church Member Training, New Church Member Orientation, and Church Leader Training.

PERSONNEL

The assignment of this department continues to be carried out by a very fine, capable, and dedicated staff. In addition to the Department Secretary, the staff consists of the following: K. Maurice Cooper, Director of Associational Promotion and Adult Work and works with the Department Secretary in the area of General Administration; Davis Bowen, Director of Intra-Convention Youth Ministry; Miss Judy Hendrix, Director of the Children's Division, as of October 1, 1969; Miss Doris Morgan, Director of the Preschool Division.

In addition to the field staff the department is served by two office secretaries, Miss Diane Averitte, who joined the department staff on May 12, and Mrs. Sylvia Sweeley, who joined the department on October 15.

Personnel changes during the year were as follows: Mrs. Mary Conn, office secretary, resigned to accept the position of office secretary in the Raleigh Baptist Association; Mr. Gene A. Phillips, Director of Children's Work, resigned effective August 15 to accept the position of Ministry to Young Adults at the Forest Hills Baptist Church, Raleigh; Miss Kaye Frances Currin, office secretary, resigned effective October 31 in order to be married. These persons had served the department well for a number of years. In addition to the present staff members, the department is short one member —namely, the Director of the Youth Division.

Approved workers are: Mrs. I. V. Couch, Rutherfordton, North Carolina; Mrs. Davis Bowen, Raleigh, North Carolina; Mrs. Maurice Cooper, Garner, North Carolina; Mrs. Sam H. O'Neal, Garner, North Carolina.

1969 ACTIVITIES

The year 1969 has been another rewarding and challenging year. The department continues to receive calls for help over and beyond that which it is able to meet. This is most gratifying to the department staff. For these opportunities of service the staff is grateful and offers its service to North Carolina Baptists in the future. Call upon the staff at any time it can render service.

Some of the activities last year were:

1. Two Seminars for Workers with the Mentally Retarded
2. Ten Regional Convention Planning Meetings
3. Ten Regional Conventions with emphasis upon Family Ministry
4. Annual Youth Convention
5. Statewide Briefing Meeting for Associational Officers
6. Fifteen Associational or Leadership Schools
7. Two Local Church Enlargement Campaigns
8. Numerous One-Night Leadership Institutes
9. A number of New Member Orientation Clinics
10. The training ministry was presented at several Pastors' Conferences
11. A Leadership Institute at Fruitland
12. Four Assembly Weeks

13. Special group composed of Regional Directors met on November 8 to study future of Regional Conventions
14. Committee composed of Youth Directors and young people met to study the ministry to youth across North Carolina

Baptist Youth Corps

One of the great challenges of the Church Training Department has been the assignment of the Baptist Youth Corps Ministry During the summer, 1969, there were twenty-nine students in twenty-nine churches scattered throughout the state. Following a recruitment program with fine cooperation from the seven Baptist colleges of North Carolina and the churches involved the students participated in an Orientation Week at Fruitland June 2-6. The summer program was climaxed at the North Carolina Baptist Assembly with the Youth Conference the week of August 4-8 with 1,067 in attendance.

Statistically Speaking

The Regional Conventions with emphasis on Family Living enrolled 1,875 persons from 67 associations and 301 churches. The Youth Convention, which was held at the First Baptist Church, Lumberton, registered 1,155 from 124 churches and 36 associations. The summer assembly program, including three assembly weeks at Caswell, one week at Fruitland, a Leadership Institute at Fruitland, and registration at Ridgecrest, enrolled 2,701 from 54 associations and 220 churches; Youth Week at Caswell enrolled 1,067 with 40 associations and 88 churches represented. The "M" Night attendance for 1968 was 22,494 persons from 1,096 churches with 888 pastors and 788 directors in attendance.

Future Plans

A new set of concept books and age characteristic manuals will be released in January, 1970. This department will be engaged in the "Shaping the Seventies" Conferences across North Carolina. Other highlights of 1970 will be the Training Ministry Rallies: one scheduled for Fayetteville, February 23-26; one scheduled for Winston-Salem, September 14-18; and one scheduled for Charlotte, October 26-30. There are a number of associational emphases already on the schedule, as well as the summer assembly program, the Youth Convention, and the Youth Conference. Plans are already underway to enlarge the scope of the Baptist Youth Corps Ministry.

Indications are that perhaps 1970 will be the department's most challenging year. The Church Training Department accepts this challenge with keen anticipation.

3. Department of Student Work

James Y. Greene

I. Ministry on Campus

Baptist Student Union and the ministry of the staff of the Department of Student Work are a specialized focus of the denomination as it seeks to work with those in the academic community. In the various settings this campus ministry finds varying organizational expressions but each unit operates within a basic philosophy and guidelines decided upon by the Convention.

The building of Christian community is perhaps the major emphasis of our campus ministry; worship, study, service, witness and fellowship are other major facets of the work.

II. MINISTRY ON THE STATE LEVEL

1. The Seminar on Christian Social Concerns: Held in Washington, D. C. with eighteen students and two chaplains participating. The purpose of the Seminar was an attempt to understand the problems and the people of the inner-city, to examine the programs and converse with those involved in ministering to these people. Also they explored the role and activity of the Baptist denomination on the political scene as well as the role of government in the inner-city, helping the students to gain an insight into their responsibility as Christians in this dimension of our social concern.

2. Directors' Seminar: Held January 19-23, 1969, at In-The-Oaks Episcopal Center, Black Mountain, N. C. Fifteen chaplains and Student Department personnel participated in worship, lectures, discussions, and program planning. Dr. James T. Laney, Dean, Candler School of Theology, Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia, spoke and led discussions on "The Ethics of Responsibility."

3. Pastors' Symposia: Held February 24, 25, 27, 1969, at Fayetteville, Hazelwood, and Charlotte respectively, and was an attempt to explore what students are thinking about our world and the Christian faith, as well as understand differences which exist between students and other groups in our society. Dr. L. D. Johnson, Chaplain, Furman University, Greenville, S. C. and Mr. Howard Bramlette, Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville, Tennessee, spoke on "The Student Mind" and "The Student and Faith."

4. Spring Conference: Held at First Baptist Church, Gastonia, April 18-20, 1969, with the theme "Journey Inward-Journey Outward." Miss Elizabeth O'Connor, Staff, Church of Our Savior, Washington, D. C. spoke on the "Inward Journey" and Dr. Charles Gill, Jr., Executive Director, Health Planning Office, Prince Georges County, Maryland, spoke on the "Outward Journey." An interaction panel with the speakers, a regular business session, and worship with the congregation of First Baptist Church, Gastonia, Dr. A. Douglas Aldrich, Minister, were the highlights of the week-end conference.

5. The Summer Service Programs:

(1). The LISTEN Program (student supported): Five students and an advisory couple spent ten weeks working with the Christian Social Ministries program in Fayetteville, N. C. sponsored by the New South River Association and the Baptist State Convention. This team of seven lived together and worked with some of the local agencies: Juvenile Court, Day Care Center for the Retarded, Cumberland Community Action Program, Mental Health Center, Council on Aging (work in rest homes), and Hope Harbor (home for alcoholics). Along with this was a ministry in trailer parks, shopping centers, slum areas, or churches, in which they conducted Vacation Bible Schools, worship services, and led recreation.

(2). The Apostoloi: A team of four students worked for ten weeks in local churches leading worship, discussions, recreation, presenting dramas, setting up coffee houses, and assisting in Vacation Bible Schools.

6. State Officers' Retreat: Met at Camp CaRAway near Asheboro August 28-September 1 with sixty students, chaplains, and state department staff making broad plans for the coming school year. The discussions were led by the chaplains and staff and Dr. Charles Coleman, Dean, Shaw University, Raleigh, was the featured speaker.

7. Fall Convention: Held November 7-9, 1969, at the First Baptist Church, Durham. Students were led to explore their attitudes, concerns, and responsibilities in relation to the Christian Faith. Dr. James T. Laney, Dean, Candler School of Theology, Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia, was a featured speaker. The students worshipped with the congregation of the First Baptist Church, Durham, with Dr. Laney delivering the message. Dr. George Kelsey, Professor of Christian Ethics, Drew University, Madison, New Jersey, was a featured speaker, also, and led the students in a discussion during the Sunday School hour.

8. International Student Conference: Sponsored by the Woman's Missionary Union of North Carolina and the Department of Student Work, Internationals and American students met November 27-30 at Ridgecrest Baptist Assembly, Ridgecrest. Dr. Robert M. Wright, Medical Doctor, Surgeon, and missionary to Korea, now on leave to work with heart transplants at the Texas Medical Center, Houston, Texas, Dr. Jan Boal, Math professor at Georgia State College, and Dr. Robert S. Denny, Executive Secretary of the Baptist World Alliance, were present to lecture and lead discussions in their field. The conference, held jointly with South Carolina, featured a talent show, recreation, trips to Biltmore Estate and the Cherokee Indian Reservation, and a celebration of an American Thanksgiving.

9. Student Publications:
   (1) THE REVEILLE features creative student writing, art, and photography.
   (2) The BSUness — a newsletter, serves to facilitate communication between campuses on various aspects and concerns of the BSU's.

III. Other Activities and Emphasis

1. On-to-College Emphasis
2. Student Night at Christmas
3. Mission Conferences
4. Student Conferences at Ridgecrest and Glorieta

IV. PERSONNEL

The Department of Student Work is grateful for the following people who help carry on the ministry to Baptist students in North Carolina for the school year 1969-70:

Kay M. Huggins, Associate—Raleigh Office
Quentin M. Perreault, Associate—Charlotte Office

4. Church Music Department

JOSEPH O. STROUD, Secretary

The Church Music Department has had a good year. With the excellent help of Charles Gatwood, Associate and Director of Associational Work, and Mrs. Joan Bullard, Office Secretary, a full schedule of activities has been sponsored.

Seventy-two associations now have some music organization with activities in progress. This is the highest number we have ever been able to report. Many music schools, conferences, and clinics have been held in associations, regions, and churches. With the assistance of nine Regional Directors and approved age group Consultants these projects have gone well, and for the most part, have been well attended. We are learning more and more that the concept of reaching one church or a small group of churches proves more effective in helping the churches with their music programs.

Approximately eighteen hundred persons attended the two weeks of music training at the North Carolina Baptist Assembly at Southport and the two weeks at Fruitland Baptist Conference Center at Hendersonville. Two additional weeks are being planned for the Fruitland Conference Center next summer.

Some of the most challenging opportunities provided the Church Music Department each year continue to be the work with the Division of Evangelism, Vacation Bible School, Sunday School, Woman's Missionary Union, the Annual Convention, and other meetings.

Several hundred children's workers were in attendance in eight Children's Music Workshops conducted across the state and sponsored jointly by the Church Music Department, Sunday School Department, and Woman's Missionary Union. Mr. Saxe Adams of the Baptist Sunday School Board was the guest director for these workshops.

The department seeks to serve any and all the churches affiliated with the Convention.

5. Church Building Planning Department

RICHARD D. SMITH, Secretary

Church buildings of the future should be so constructed that a flexible program of work can be carried on. Church buildings should be designed to meet the present and future needs of the church and community. In order to accomplish this, the structure must be so constructed that changes can be made without endangering its occupants. With changes occurring in population and programs, the church would do well in its planning to prepare for them.

Information is now available on the improved programs for the 70's. Each church should examine its existing facilities to see what, if any, changes should be made. The suggested square footage per person is being increased for each age group. Another improvement will be in the age span of nine through eleven years. No longer will small rooms be suggested for these ages. All departments from birth through eleven years of age will be designed for open-room teaching. Those twelve years old and above will continue to have department assemblies and classes.

Financing a church building program is becoming more and more challenging. Financial resources for churches are fewer today than one year ago. This change has forced churches to look within for monies rather than to outside sources. For some this has meant a delay in building; for others, a greater sacrifice or determination of church members to support their church. The "Together We Build" program for raising building funds has already helped to provide funds for a number of our churches. This fund-raising program has challenged individuals to lift their level of giving to meet needs locally while continuing to support world missions.

This is the time to plan, to take the long look into the future to meet the challenging changes that are before us. To provide adequately for all ages and all programs of work is indeed the task that we have at hand. The Church Building Planning Department personnel is eager to assist any church in meeting these needs.

6. Brotherhood Department

J. EDWIN BULLOCK, Secretary

Although the Brotherhood Department sponsored some of the best attended workshops, mission rallies, and a record number of camps and assemblies, the most significant achievement in 1969 has been the growing acceptance of the missions objective by the men in the churches. In spite of the fact that Brotherhood has in times past been thought of as having many purposes, the men are coming to see that the primary purpose is the providing of the church with a missions program for men and boys and a missions outreach through men and boys. During 1969 there has been an obvious improvement in the work of the Baptist Men's units in the churches as the men have done a more effective work in planning mission study and become increasingly involved in needed mission ministries. With the firm belief that the most effective mission work can more frequently be achieved when the lay people accept their role as missionaries, it is the hope of the Brotherhood Department staff that this type of mission concern and mission activity can have continued development among the men and boys in 1970.

LEADERSHIP TRAINING

The Brotherhood Specialist program initiated within the last five years with the idea of using elected and interested volunteers with a purpose of increasing a volume of leadership training was enlarged upon in 1969. The Specialist program adds to the established approach of training elected associational leadership for the purpose of providing leadership training in the association and churches during a given year. Approximately 175 associational officers and selected Specialists received this preparatory training in two different sessions during the fall of 1969. In turn, these leaders taught Baptist Men and Royal Ambassador principles in more than 40 associational and small group workshops during the fall season.

In the area of Royal Ambassador counselor training the Department also provided ten other regional training courses for Royal Ambassador counselors during the year. The Specialist team approach along with the staff enabled the Department to go directly to over two hundred churches during the year with leadership training.

Other specialized training during the year had to do with the training of Foreign Mission study teachers, laymen for the purpose of bringing state mission messages, and laymen to work in a more informed way with the ongoing prison ministry program sponsored by the Brotherhood Department. The special training related to the ministry to inmates, releasees, and their families was provided as a part of the Metropolitan Mission Action Conference meeting in Durham February 24-25, 1969.

MISSION EMPHASIS MEETINGS

In the category of state meetings, 1969 marks the year of a record-breaking attendance at the Baptist Men and Boys Convention in Winston-Salem March 28 and 29. There were over seven thousand men and boys who attended the Convention jointly sponsored by the Brotherhood Department and the Layman's League of the General Convention. The theme of the Convention in keeping with the crusade year was "Christ, the Only Hope." The City Coliseum was filled with men and boys on Friday night as were the auditoriums of First Baptist Church and the Sheraton Hotel on Saturday morning. The State Brotherhood officers agreed that the missions centered program was well received.

Another first in the spring of 1969 was the State Royal Ambassador Track Meet. Rules and regulations were established and promoted for associational track meets, and only the winner in the associational meets could participate in the state meet at Wake Forest University May 17, 1969. Twenty associations were represented and over five hundred Royal Ambassadors attended. The boys were greeted by two SBC Foreign Missionaries. The Royal Ambassador track team from the South Yadkin Association was the winner of the first track meet trophy.

Royal Ambassadors had the privilege of visiting three Baptist colleges in the fall of 1969. On each occasion there was a special program in the chapel, opportunity to view the campus, and the privilege of seeing a football game.

The year 1969 was also another good year for mission retreats at Camp CaRAway. There was the third annual Senior Citizens Retreat and the traditional Family Camping Weekend, once again enjoyed by a good number of men and their families during the spring. In the fall, there was another very fine Baptist Men's Retreat. In all of the retreats there were guest missionaries and mission action orientated programs.

The denominational emphasis on missions during 1969 gave the Brotherhood Department some additional responsibilities in the area of promotion. For conferences related to this emphasis and promoted by the Department were the SBC World Missions Week at Ridgecrest during the summer, the National Baptist Men's Conference on Evangelism in Nashville, Tennessee, also held in the early summer, the World Mission Conferences sponsored by the Division of Missions held in four North Carolina churches during the fall, and the National Conference on World Missions for Youth and Young Adults held in Atlanta, December 28-30, 1969.

Camps and Assemblies

The Brotherhood Department provided staff and programs for ten weeks of Royal Ambassador Camps at Camp CaRAway during 1969. There was a weekend camp for boys in the spring, and a total of over 1,200 boys had mission experiences at the state Royal Ambassador camp during the summer.

An additional staff and program was provided for five other Royal Ambassador camp weeks during the summer. Three of these were at Truett Camp near Hayesville while the other two were at North Carolina Assembly and Fruitland Conference Center. Another three hundred boys were involved in these camping experiences.

Along with Woman's Missionary Union and the Division of Missions, the Brotherhood Department provided two World Mission Weeks during the summer. These weeks provided family and church groups at the North Carolina Assembly and the Fruitland Conference Center with the privilege of furthering their missions understanding and appreciation by sharing in the well-planned missions program. There seemed to be a real appreciation in these conferences for the privilege of bringing family and church groups together with the privilege of meeting missionaries and increasing concern among those attending in behalf of missions.

With a large number of programs during a given church year and with a tremendous task of promoting missionary education and mission activity among the men and boys in the churches across the state, promotion is a big factor in the Brotherhood work during each year. During the year of 1969 a number of approaches have been used in promoting all programs, and if it had not been for a variety of such approaches, very little success could have been attained. Most noteworthy of these approaches has been a department newsletter which has been produced approximately every two months during the year. Each of the newsletters during 1969 has been packed with information and has carried information to a group of lay people that most frequently do not receive so many of the other Baptist news items.

The most notable thing that can be said about the Brotherhood program as we enter the seventies is that the program seems to be on the move. Although the program is to encounter some changes, these are actually more in the area of refinements and improvements. The one notable addition to the Brotherhood program, which might be a bit frightening to some of the churches, is the assignment of the six, seven, and eight year old mission unit for boys to the Brotherhood leadership. Since this is to be done administratively through the creation of or the strengthening of a church Royal Ambassador Committee and since there is a recommendation for co-counselors (men and women) there is every reason to believe that this transferal from WMU will be made successfully. Improved tools and recommendations for a work which already seems to be on the upswing gives every indication that 1970 should be another challenging and rewarding year for the Brotherhood program and the missions cause throughout the North Carolina churches.

7. Woman's Missionary Union

Auxiliary to the Baptist State Convention

MRS. R. KNOLAN BENFIELD, President

SARA ANN HOBBS, Executive Secretary

Woman's Missionary Union has weathered the year of "changes and choices." It is too early yet to assess the effect of new plans introduced last year but some trends are evident. Membership dropped. This is not new since decreases in enrollment, for most of the church program organizations, have been occurring for several years. Women were asked to choose areas of participation and enroll anew in the organization. Many who did not choose were simply dropped from the roll. Some had participated casually and used this reorganization as the time to withdraw from membership. Giving increased. The Lottie Moon Christmas Offering for Foreign Missions increased 3½ per cent to a total of $1,560,695. The Annie Armstrong Easter Offering for Home Missions increased $14,353 over 1968 to a total of $450,430 by September 1. Books close on this offering December 31. The only exception has been the Heck-Jones Memorial Offering for WMU Promotion which experienced a significant decrease. This will be discussed more fully in another section of this report. Significant involvement in mission action has occurred. Verbal and written reports from churches indicate that women are participating enthusiastically in mission action to persons of special need in their respective communities. Literacy classes, work with internationals, ministry to the aging, witnessing to minority groups and youth are but a few of the areas in which women are finding satisfying places to serve. Observation and private conversations indicate that women have passed the period of anxiety and fear of the new organizational structure and are ready to move forward in service.

CAMP MUNDO VISTA OPENS

Woman's Missionary Union opened Camp Mundo Vista at Asheboro April 18 when the Sunbeam Band Day Camp Workshop was held with 18 women in attendance. Bernice Popham, Sunbeam Band director, directed this workshop.

Eight weeks of GA camps began on June 15. During the eight weeks approximately 1,600 girls attended one of the week long camps. Staff consisted of State WMU personnel, 50 high school, college and seminary students and 29 missionaries and international students representing 14 countries. These camps were under the direction of Jolene Ivey, who came to North Carolina as State Girls' Auxiliary director in June.

Woman's Missionary Union provided GA camp scholarships for 30 girls from 9 counties who were chosen by the Board of Public Welfare in each county. Scholarships included travel expenses, room and board at camp, and $5 spending money. The girls chosen were ones who would not have had the opportunity to attend camp any other way. Significant spiritual growth was seen in several of those attending on scholarship.

One YWA retreat was held at Mundo Vista with approximately 150 YWA members in attendance. Under the direction of Linda Warren, State YWA director, the program featured career missionaries, a missionary journeyman, and medical personnel who had served as special project workers under the Foreign Mission Board.

A Mission Action Workshop was planned for WMU-WMS leadership, September 26-27, under the direction of Kathryn Bullard, WMS director, with 204 women present. Instructions were given for surveying community needs and enlisting and organizing women for participation in mission action. Betty Jo Corum, director, Editorial Services, WMU, Birmingham and Rebecca Martin, director, Cooperative Ministries, Madison Baptist Association, Huntsville, Alabama, led conferences.

LEADERSHIP TRAINING

Field service personnel from Woman's Missionary Union taught leadership courses or led leadership conferences in 20 associations. Workshops for Associational Leaders were held at First Baptist Church, Hickory, August 22-23, with 224 associational leaders present, and at First Baptist Church, Rocky Mount, September 5-6, with 163 associational leaders present.

STATE MEETINGS

The State WMU Annual Session, held at Ovens Auditorium in Charlotte, attracted 2,000 women. Six areas of mission work were represented by the six missionaries who spoke.

The State YWA Convention, under the direction of Linda Warren, YWA director, was attended by 1,286 YWAs and leaders. First Baptist Church in Greensboro was the site of the meeting.

BUDGET AND FINANCE

Woman's Missionary Union receives funds for operation through two sources: the Cooperative Program from which are paid salaries, travel expenses and operation (postage, printing, rent on office spaces, telephone), and the Heck-Jones Memorial Offering for WMU Promotion from which all special projects and activities are financed. The goal for the Heck-Jones Offering for 1969 was $65,000, $32,500 for promotion activities and camps and conferences, and $32,500 for repayment of the loans on Camp Mundo Vista. There was a very decided decrease in the offering with only $45,281 having been received as of October 1, 1969. This $20,000 deficit will seriously hamper efforts to repay the $325,000 indebtedness of Woman's Missionary Union.

A LOOK AHEAD

In spite of losses during the past year WMU leadership is optimistic about the future. Goals for 1970 include:

. . . a WMU director in each church
. . . payment of the camp indebtedness within two years
. . . full interpretation of WMU in the 70s.

A WMU director in each church. The beginning point for WMU in a church is the election of a WMU director. She is needed if she is the only officer WMU has. She is needed if there is one WMU age-level organization or 15 age-level organizations.

Payment of the camp indebtedness within two years. In January, WMU will introduce "Operation Pay-Off." Each church WMU will be asked to set a goal of $1 per WMU member for the Heck-Jones Memorial Offering for WMU Promotion for two consecutive years. Therefore, if a WMU (WMS, YWA, GA, SB) has a total membership of 243 the Heck-Jones Offering goal would be $243 for 1970 and $243 for 1971. With such a program the 160,000 WMU members could erase this indebtedness in two years. September, 1971 has been set as the "pay-off" date.

Full interpretation of WMU in the 70s. Beginning in January, 1970, Woman's Missionary Union will work with other church program organizations of the Baptist State Convention in interpreting the new age-grading system, new organization names and new materials. Four distinct types of leadership meetings will be offered to WMU leadership:

1. SHAPING THE SEVENTIES CONFERENCES (3) January
   For: Team of nine chosen from each association. One will represent WMU.
   Led by: Representatives of Sunday School Board, Brotherhood Commission and Woman's Missionary Union.
2. SHAPING THE SEVENTIES CLINICS (one in each association) February-March For: Church Program directors. WMU Council members should attend.
   Led by: Team who attended State Shaping the Seventies Conferences.
3. CHURCH LEADERSHIP CONFERENCES (8) March-April
   For: Church Program directors and leaders. WMU, WMS, YWA, GA, SB directors, WMS presidents are eligible to attend the WMU conference.
   Led by: State WMU personnel.
4. ASSOCIATIONAL WMU ANNUAL MEETINGS (one in each association) April-May
   For: All WMU members
   Led by: State WMU personnel. A representative from the State WMU Office will attend each meeting and lead an interpretation conference of 1-2 hours.

Woman's Missionary Union is aware of the many pastors who daily give encouragement and support to the missions organizations in their churches. As WMU assists the church in fulfilling its mission through missions education and involvement in service, she counts heavily on your prayers and interest. Her leadership pledges you their energies and abilities that through mutual assistance your church may become the ministering, witnessing institution that it ought to be.

8. Camps and Retreats

B. W. JACKSON, Director

Camp CaRAway is the base of operation for the ministry of this department, and much of the work centers around the operation of the camp. The ten weeks of Royal Ambassador camps brought about one thousand campers from about one hundred and eighty churches across the state. These camps were served by a staff of college and high school students and other program leaders.

Also, the department provided general maintenance supervision to Camp Mundo Vista during the summer and schedules and supervises all off-season use of Camp Mundo Vista.

Camps CaRAway and Mundo Vista are being widely used during off season by groups for retreats and leadership meetings. Camp CaRAway facilities were used and meals served on all but four weekends or weeks during the past year. More than four thousand came during these off-season meetings.

Other specific services of the department include:

1. Construction of Camp Mundo Vista
2. Work on J. J. Johnson Assembly of the General Baptist Convention
3. Construction of the Family Camp at Camp CaRAway

Earl Underwood is assistant in charge of maintenance. Matthew Marlowe is cook.

9. North Carolina Baptist Assembly

FRED J. SMITH, Manager

Attendance upon the various programs at the Assembly during 1969 can be analyzed thus:

Pre-Season Guests	1,818
Summer Conference Guests	6,469
Commuting One-Day Guests	172
Post-Season Guests	1,600
Grand Total	10,059

The week by week attendance during the regular season accounts for 6,469 guests:

June 16-21, World Missions Week	671
June 23-28, Church Training Week	657
June 30-July 5, Sunday School Week	568
July 7-12, Junior Music Week	840
July 14-19, Church Training Week	903
July 21-26, Church Training Week	624
July 28-August 2, Youth-Adult Music Week	881
August 4-9, Youth Conference	1067
August 11-16, Vacation Week	258

The 1970 schedule follows:

June 15-19, Junior Music Week
June 22-27, Church Training Week
June 29-July 4, Church Training Week
July 6-10, World Missions Week
July 13-17, Sunday School Week
July 20-25, Church Training Week
July 27-31, Youth and Adult Music Conference
August 3-7, Youth Conference
August 10-14, Vacation Week

Following a fire which destroyed much of the public school facility in Southport, the school board was offered the use of part of the Assembly property. This has continued into the 1969-1970 school year, and will probably continue for all, or part, of the 1970-1971 year. Building of a new school in Southport is still in the planning stage.

Beginning in October, 1969, a contract with Shaw University has permitted that school to carry on a Peace Corps Training Program at the Assembly.

In both cases (the public school, and Shaw University) the facility has been made available for $1.00 per year, with the school taking care of all necessary expense of operation.

Information about reservations during the regular season, or inquiries about off-season usage, should be addressed to the North Carolina Baptist Assembly, Southport, North Carolina 28461. Telephone: (919) 278-5495.

10. Fruitland Baptist Conference Center

E. GARY HARTHCOCK, Manager

ALEX L. BOOTH, JR., Assistant Manager

The word that best describes the 1969 summer season at Fruitland is transition. This is reflected in the new name, the aims of the summer ministry and the attendance figure.

Seeking to coordinate the various summer activities of the Baptist State Convention, the Division of Church Programs altered somewhat the format at Fruitland. The summer objective now at this facility is to reach more adults for leadership training through the media of special conferences and special programs of training. The Royal Ambassador and Girls' Auxiliary programs are now conducted at their new facilities near Asheboro, North Carolina. These are known as camps. With an area camp program for boys also at Camp Truett and the State Assembly at Fort Caswell, the leadership in the departments concerned has designated the ministry near Hendersonville as Fruitland Baptist Conference Center.

There were ten weeks of activity at Fruitland during the summer. A summary of conferences and the persons who registered is given below.

SUMMARY OF REGISTERED ATTENDANCE AT

Bible Study Week originally scheduled for Fruitland for the week of August 4-9 was cancelled.

There were two open periods during the summer with no conference in session: June 23-25 and June 30-July 5.

11. Department of Statistics and Survey

TED W. WILLIAMS, Secretary

The work of the department is basically the same each year. The regular responsibilities include the keeping of current mailing lists, preparing the Baptist Diary and supervising its distribution, supervising publication and distribution of the Convention Annual, conducting certain statistical studies, and assisting, upon invitation, churches and/or associations in planning and tabulating various types of surveys.

Close contact is maintained with the Research and Statistics Department of the Baptist Sunday School Board in Nashville and with the clerks of the various associations. The resulting team spirit promotes fast and efficient gathering of data for inclusion in the Convention Annual. The department is especially grateful to the associational clerks for their fine cooperation.

Constant effort is made to improve the service of the department. Mrs. Carl Lusk is the very efficient office secretary.

E. THE DIVISION OF STEWARDSHIP PROMOTION

O. J. HAGLER, Director

The basic and fundamental purpose of the Division of Stewardship Promotion is to share with our Baptist people, their churches and associations a well defined and workable plan for Christian stewardship. We promote the Cooperative Program and the Special Offering for State Missions in the 3,400 Baptist churches of North Carolina. Likewise, we have a sympathetic attitude and cooperative feeling for the seven approved offerings for the Social Services Institutions, Christian Higher Education, and World Missions.

To accomplish our purpose we cooperate with the Stewardship Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention and all other commissions, agencies, and institutions in the Southern Baptist Convention.

The Director of the Division must be thoroughly familiar and adept in carrying forward these efforts. He gives guidance, direction, and supervision in the planning and implementation of the various programs of the departments. Detailed reports from each department follow and should give the reader an idea of the vast scope and actual services which we try to render.

Mrs. Lacy Coates is Division Secretary for office personnel. No finer spirit of cooperation, understanding and helpfulness could exist among all personnel.

At this writing, October 8, Cooperative Program receipts are 7.70 per cent ahead of 1968—or a total of $4,750,726.34 toward a budgeted goal $6,700,000. Special offerings amounted to $2,399,578.36 —9.46 per cent more than 1968. Total Cooperative Program gifts and designations make a total of $7,150,304.70 — 8.29 per cent over 1968. Given good weather and faithfulness on the part of all churches and a special effort on the part of church treasurers to forward all mission gifts — Cooperative Program and special designations — to get these funds in to the Business Manager's office by noon, December 31, we should reach ten million dollars or more!

1. Department of Stewardship Promotion

HAROLD M. WHITE, Secretary

Perhaps at no other time has there been more interest in budget planning, promoting and pledging in the churches of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina. This is rightly so, because never before have there been such unparalleled needs.

New buildings are needed—local programs must be enlarged—world mission needs are increasing. All of these require committed Christians and dedicated resources. The need of the churches and their mission programs for additional funds is tremendous, almost overwhelming. But greater still is the need to deepen the spiritual lives of the members by leading them at least to the minimum level of Christian stewardship, which is the tithe.

The Department of Stewardship Promotion was created to assist churches in developing their members in total Biblical stewardship and to advance world mission causes through the Cooperative Program. To achieve these objectives workshops, conferences and training sessions are conducted for the following stewardship programs:

1. The Forward Program of Christian Stewardship is the best and most complete stewardship emphasis for larger churches. It has been rewritten and updated.

2. Growth in Christian Stewardship is a complete program for churches up to 300 in membership.

3. Tithers Enrollment Week is designed to challenge church members to give at least a tithe.

4. Weekend Stewardship Revival is a program of preaching, teaching and cottage prayer meetings. It helps a church challenge its members to be faithful stewards.

5. Stewardship Development for Baptist Associations is a program to help associations develop and undergird associational budgets. It also strengthens the association in its ministry to local churches.

Many years of use by an increasing number of churches and pastors prove the integrity and validity of these programs. The reports we receive from the churches indicate an increase in financial strength and a deepening of spiritual life resulting from the use of a well-planned and challenging stewardship emphasis. Many churches have doubled their offerings and therefore their mission giving is substantially increased.

Each year we furnish information on the per church member gross income for every county in North Carolina, and for cities above 10,000 in population. Income is now at an all-time high and the challenge before us is to lead North Carolina Baptists to understand the mission of the church at home and around the world and to commit themselves to share in that mission by worshiping the Lord week by week with their tithes and offerings.

Free stewardship and Cooperative Program tracts, brochures and pamphlets are available from this office to associations and churches upon request. Requests for these materials have steadily increased in recent years.

This department is ably assisted by E. Cleve Wilkie, Kinston, Associate in Field Promotion, and Mrs. Dorothy Smith, office secretary.

Our work has been made more effective through the cooperation of pastors, superintendents of missions and associational leaders who have opened doors of opportunity for service.

I sincerely appreciate the assistance of Dr. Perry Crouch, General Secretary, Mr. O. J. Hagler, Division Director, and other staff members. It is a privilege to serve North Carolina Baptists and I am grateful for the opportunities of working with them.

2. Department of Stewardship Promotion

E. C. WILKIE, Associate

I'm now in my 13th year of service to North Carolina Baptists through the Stewardship Division, but I certainly do not feel "unlucky." On the contrary, my gratitude and pleasure are deeper than ever, and I continue to be amazed at how "lucky" I am to have the privileges and opportunities that accompany the humble position I occupy. My appreciation and love for North Carolina Baptists increase with each passing year.

My work this past year has been wide and varied, touching all sections of the state, involving over 25,000 miles of driving and speaking in over 125 of our churches, and making contact with hundreds of others through group meetings and field promotion.

A list of the "different" services would be long, indeed, but a partial listing includes the following: Stewardship clinics, seminars, and workshops; week-long and week-end Stewardship Emphases; fellowship suppers; study courses; mission camps; Schools for deacons; deacon retreats; evangelistic revivals; schools of missions; pastors conferences; pulpit supply; annual associational meetings; group and individual conferences; literature distribution; and many denominational meetings and conventions for planning, instruction and inspiration.

Much of this has been in conjuction with my fellow workers in the Stewardship Division, especially O. J. Hagler, our Director, Harold White and Tom Greene, for whom I express my profound admiration and gratitude.

And to all the pastors, leaders, churches and associations who have used me in the work, my thanks. I look forward to greater service in the months ahead as I continue to be expendable for the Glory of God among our great people.

3. Department of Stewardship Development

R. TOM GREENE, Secretary

The development, production, and distribution of materials for the promotion of biblical stewardship, Cooperative Program enlistment and the Special Offering for State Missions is the basic function of this department. The work during the past twelve months may be divided as follows:

I. LEAFLETS

We have developed in cooperation with Mr. O. J. Hagler and others in this Division, and distributed leaflets as follows:

283,000 Basic Cooperative Program leaflets and posters.
215,000 State Missions leaflets and posters.
367,000 Other leaflets, programs, and booklets on Stewardship, State Missions, and Cooperative Program.

II. SEMINARS

We held Stewardship Development Seminars for leaders from each association. During the seminars we:

1. Explained and distributed the latest materials for scriptural stewardship and Cooperative Program enlistment.
2. Received the wise suggestions from these officers.

III. WORKSHOPS

Workshops in Stewardship Development were held for the pastor and treasurer of each church in sixteen associations. A speaker was secured on the Cooperative Program on the following Sunday in each church requesting this service. The purpose of each of these workshops was:

1. Give a broad view of Stewardship materials available to help these church leaders develop scriptural stewards.
2. Answer any questions concerning the Stewardship programs and the Cooperative Program.
3. Give encouragement to these leaders to use one or more of these Stewardship programs and to increase the churches giving through the Cooperative Program for the benefit of their churches.

IV. ARTICLES, ART, AND REPORTS

We wrote articles, developed art and furnished pictures on Cooperative Program, Stewardship and State Missions for the Biblical Recorder in cooperation with Mr. Marse Grant, Editor.

We published in the September 27 issue of the Biblical Recorder the Cooperative Program giving of each church for the first six months of 1969 and made this available in the annual associational meetings. We prepared the materials for the special issues of the Biblical Recorder: one on State Missions on September 6 and one on the Cooperative Program on September 27.

We wrote articles on the Cooperative Program for Charity and Children each week in cooperation with Mr. J. Eugene White, Editor.

We wrote an article each month on the Cooperative Program in cooperation with the Associational Missionaries, Moderators, Stewardship-Cooperative Program Chairmen, and the Convention's General Board Members for publication in their bulletins.

V. OTHER AREAS OF WORK

We have answered the requests of many churches needing special help in the area of developing scriptural stewards and increasing Cooperative Program giving.

During the past twelve months in doing this work for you in Christ's name, there were sixteen added by baptism to the churches for which I preached and nine by letter.

Dr. W. Perry Crouch, General Secretary-Treasurer of our Convention, Mr. O. J. Hagler, Director of the Division of Stewardship Promotion and the other personnel of this Division have given wise counsel and help in all the work of this department. Mrs. Susan Cochrane, office secretary, has given valuable help in our common task.

To those above, plus each pastor, associational leader, General Board member, editors and associates of the Biblical Recorder and Charity and Children and our entire Convention staff, we express our thanks for their genuine cooperation.

4. Annuity Department

GUY S. CAIN, Secretary

The year has been full of action for our department. We have been in forty associations for annual meetings and other group meetings.

A new emphasis has been given to upgrading the retirement participation for the pastors. The response has been encouraging. The churches are becoming aware of the economic situation of pastors retiring in the inflated economy. We have contacted 300 churches with this emphasis.

Enrollment of other pastors and associate ministers is always our chief goal. This year we have stressed more than ever these benefits for the entire church staff. We encourage every church, large or small, to give ten percent of salary through the budget for the Protection Program. We contacted over 400 churches to encourage enrollment.

NEW GROUP INSURANCE PLAN

The Life Benefit Plan is closed for new members. The Group Insurance Plan opens October 1, 1969. Present members of Life Benefit Plan may transfer and have greater insurance protection. With the Group Insurance Plan is a wonderful disability insurance plan. Many churches will add this to the protection benefits for their staff.

PARTICIPATION

At the end of October 1969 we have 1900 churches and associations enrolled in the Protection Program with 2,164 members. This is a good record for North Carolina but needs to be increased.

ANNUITANTS

Our last report from the Annuity Board shows that 253 men and 172 women are drawing monthly annuity checks. All of them on the roll last year were greatly pleased with a check in February equal to 12 per cent of their annual annuity.

SOUTHWIDE REPORT

At the end of June 1969 total assets of the Annuity Board were in excess of $220 million. During 1968 6,461 persons were paid annuities totaling $6,369,306. An additional $173,863 was paid to 501 relief recipients from the Cooperative Program funds allocated by the Southern Baptist Convention for this purpose.

5. Department of Communications

(Audio Visuals, Graphic Arts, News Service)

JIMMY MORRISS, Secretary

The Department of Communications promotes the total Baptist program through the divisions of the General Board, agencies, institutions and associations. It is a department that is primarily public relations and is incorporated in the Division of Stewardship Promotion. The work of the department may be divided as follows:

I. AUDIO VISUAL AIDS

A. Film Library.

During the past year, the department booked more than 12,000 free rental films. We estimate that approximately 60 per cent of the churches in the Convention are using audio-visuals regularly. An increasing number of week-day kindergartens and day-care centers are making use of the film library in their teaching programs. The department encourages planning for a basic library of audio-visuals at both associational and church levels, with supplementary titles provided by the department library. At present, this library has over 2,600 titles covering every area of denominational endeavor.

B. Film Production.

Among the films produced this year by the department are: a 68 frame color filmstrip, "Times Like These," produced to depict state mission ministries and to promote the annual State Missions offering; sound on film interviews for television and library usage, one featuring Charles B. Howard, "Fifty Years in the Ministry" and the other featuring Arthur B. Rutledge, "Home Missions Today"; some 200 color slides and 500 black and white pictures illustrating the various ministries and aspects of the Baptist state program. The department works closely with all Convention divisions in compiling articles and pictures for State Mission emphasis.

C. Communication Conferences.

A number of communication conferences were held at the request of the associations and churches. The department assisted in a School for Deacons in the Union Association, and assisted in a number of A-V clinics in the churches and associations in addition to an A-V class session at Gardner-Webb College.

D. Audio Aids.

More than 3,500 messages were reproduced at the request of pastors and churches this year. Major messages of all the conventions and conferences were recorded and placed in the central convention tape library, bringing the total number of messages available for re-production to more than 300.

II. GRAPHIC ARTS

Over 300 individual lay-outs were designed and prepared for printing this year. These included posters, programs, folders, forms and stationery.

III. NEWS SERVICE

Our responsibility to provide news coverage of Baptist state work to some 485 newspapers, radio and television stations and all associational missionaries, culminated in at least 60 articles for statewide release. Complete pictorial and news coverage on State Missions was provided for the Biblical Recorder, Charity and Children and other publications.

IV. TELEVISION AND RADIO.

The department continues to produce the network series, A LIGHT UNTO MY PATH, a mission work of the Convention, designed to reach the deaf, the aging and the unchurched. The program is presented over a state-wide network including WRAL-TV, Raleigh; WLOS-TV, Asheville; WFMY-TV, Greensboro; WBTV, Charlotte; and WNCT-TV, Greenville. Also providing coverage for North Carolina Baptists is WIS-TV, Columbia, South Carolina. The series is carried by 10 other stations outside the state, sponsored by a church or convention in that state.

Also produced are BIBLE STORY TIME, a weekly color program for pre-school children and CHURCH OF OUR FATHERS, a weekly 30 minute color news program. Two college feature specials were produced: OUT OF THE ASHES, a 30 minute, color feature on Campbell College which has been shown over three television stations, and BORN TO SERVE, a 30 minute, color telecast on Chowan College, shown on two stations.

A new television ministry was begun in the production of LIGHT FOR LIVING, a 3-5 minute program featuring a simple Bible reading and prayer format. This is presently being used as a sign-on, sign-off segment on WRAL-TV, Raleigh and WNCT-TV, Greenville. The department is also cooperating with the Sunday School Department in the production of a program featuring the International Bible Lesson on a weekly basis for a growing network of radio stations. The department worked closely with the Division of Evangelism in setting up a network of telecasts across the state for the series of programs on the Crusade of the Americas. At present, plans are well underway for a series of programs in the public interest dealing with areas in which the church should become involved such as youth and drugs, work with the retarded and handicapped, highway safety and preservation of our natural resources. The department also works closely with the Southern Baptist Radio and Television Commission.

V. OTHER AREAS.

The department has two approved summer workers at the assemblies, showing more than 300 film and special sound presentations each season. Equipment and supplies for the season at both Fruitland and Caswell are provided through the department. We assisted the Department of Town and Country Missions in the presentation of filmed messages at the following resort areas: Nags Head, Lake Lure, Atlantic Beach, Ocean Isle, White Lake and Lake Norman. The department also provides audio-visual equipment for each staff member of the General Board for field use.

F. DIVISION OF CHRISTIAN LIFE AND PUBLIC AFFAIRS

ED BRANDON, Chairman
W. PERRY CROUCH, Acting Director

1969 has been the year of beginnings for your Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs. The Council, created by action of the 1968 Convention, brings its first annual report to the Convention in this 1969 session.

In keeping with Convention action of 1968, and in our own understanding of our assignment, we have assumed that our first responsibility is to relate the issues considered in this report to our Convention and to the churches affiliated with it; and, secondarily, to the larger society of which we are a part.

In fulfilling our responsibilities as assigned by the Convention we have recognized that we cannot deal with all the important issues in any one report. Nevertheless, we call to your attention in this report the following matters.

The Nature of the Christian Life

The Gospel is the many-splendored story of God's love for man to be experienced in two dimensions of our existence—the personal and the social. The Christian life, motivated and grounded in the love of the cross, requires of the individual continuously a "journey inward" and a "journey outward." We are not to be Christians only on Sundays, but every day of our life, in every situation, in all our relationships and in all our responsibilities.

Christianity is not a way to live in a certain area of our lives, but a certain way of living in every area of our lives. Our Lord's commandment to love God with all our mind, soul and strength and our neighbor as ourself must ever be the guiding principle for all our decisions, desires, motivations and aims. To be fully our Saviour, Christ must be acknowledged and obeyed as Lord in all things.

Christian social action is, therefore, as necessary as personal believing faith. Faith without works is dead and works without faith is dead! There is no conflict between the task of evangelism and the requirements of ethical conduct. The first begins the Christian life, even as the second is evidence of its reality. They are two sides of the same coin. The Christian life exhibits the constant rhythm of personal spiritual intake and loving output in concern for the neighbor.

Christian social action requires of us the constant enrichment of the interior life whereby the disciplines of prayer, the study of God's word, meditation, worship, and adding knowledge to faith by "giving heed to reading," provide wisdom, concern and motivation for loving the neighbor as Christ has loved us.

Christian social action without the flow of such spiritual power can too quickly devolve into an inadequate humanism. The life of personal piety that does not lose its life in loving service to one's neighbor degenerates into the loveless self-righteousness of the Pharisee which our Lord so sternly rebuked.

While the particular responsibility of the Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs is to provide our people with scriptural guidance on applying the gospel to our social obligations, we must be as diligent to remind our people of the necessity to deepen the interior life as the source of spiritual power for our obedience to the ethical demands of the gospel. The journey inward must be made first, allowing the Holy Spirit to shed abroad in our hearts the love of the cross. Only then can our outward journey into the world, to be salt, light and leaven, insure the fulfillment of our Lord's prayer that being in the world as God's servants, we shall not be of it. Deeds of love must match the verbal proclamation of the Gospel. One without the other is a distortion of the Gospel. We are to be ever mindful that the Gospel is to be applied to all of life by those filled with the Holy Spirit. Full obedience to the Gospel requires faithfulness to the demands of personal morality and social ethics alike.

No area in life is to be marked "off limits" to God. He is Lord of all men and of all of life. Christian social action is no substitute for evangelism, even as evangelism cannot be the end of Christian witness and obedience. Christian social action is not unto salvation but its necessary and inevitable fruit. "For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them." (Eph. 2:10).

Christ is God's answer not only for the individual soul but for man in relationship to his fellowman as well. The Christian life is personal but not private. It must include loving concern for the neighbor. Forgetfulness of the neighbor is a denial of the cross whereon Christ gave his life for others. The redeemed life must acknowledge Christ as Lord in all things. Failure to seek the ways of Christian wisdom in applying the Gospel to all of life is likewise a denial of the cross. To restrict His saving power to the private sphere of the individual soul is to open life elsewhere to the recurrence of polytheism in more subtle and deadly forms, often heard in such expressions as, "Business is business," "Politics is politics," as though these other areas were autonomous unto themselves, ruled by value systems other than the Christian ethic. This compartmentalization of life, with each area sealed off and insulated from every other area, denies the wholeness of salvation which Christ came to bring.

Belief in Christ as Saviour must include obedience to Him as Lord. The utterances of the prophets, the parables of Jesus, the Sermon on the Mount, the inspired utterances of the apostles, and the example of Jesus especially, are filled with divine instruction on the life of obedience and service as expressions of the saved life.

The two dimensions of our existence must become permeated with the Gospel—the personal and the social. There is only one Gospel—God's saving love in Christ for man as an individual child of God and for man in relationship to his fellowman in all areas of life. So Christ lived his life. So must we live our lives.

Race Relationships

Because tensions, prejudice, discrimination and hostility due to racial differences continue to plague our land, racism is a major problem confronting all Christians. There is no social issue on which the light of the gospel is clearer. There is no Christian argument in defense of racial discrimination.

Those who seek to justify their racial prejudice on the basis of Old Testament texts do violence to the superior authority of Christ over the racial and national exclusiveness exhibited by the unfulfilled covenant which has been superseded by the New Covenant.

Jesus never practiced racial discrimination. The whole tenor of his teachings about the treatment of neighbor by neighbor leaves no room for racism in the Christian ethic. The whole manner of his own life stands clearly against racism as well. The whole teaching of the Apostles is firmly consistent in support of Jesus' life and teaching on love of one's neighbor exclusive of all racial considerations.

Nowhere do Christians stand more clearly under the judgment of God than on their racial attitudes and practices, for racism strikes at the very heart of the gospel itself. The complexity and difficulty of the problem does not lessen our responsibility to seek correction of attitudes and deeds if we are to be a reconciling force in the present situation.

Without pretending to offer complete or final solutions there are some things we can do as individual Christians and as churches. We can support and improve legislative programs designed to eliminate the causes of racism from our society. We can free ourselves as individuals of all racial prejudice and hostility. We can set examples of obedience to properly constituted laws of the land. We can work for repeal of blatantly racist laws which still exist.

To eliminate the bitter and burdensome results of racism among us, we can work diligently for improvement in many areas—job improvement, housing opportunities made equal, improved educational opportunities on an equal and desegregated basis, and redemptive eradication of the causes and curses of poverty. We can repudiate, and keep ourselves free from, all violent measures to achieve racial harmony and justice among us. We can give support to the Department of Interracial Cooperation of the Baptist State Convention. The work of local and state Good Neighbor Councils warrants also the full and sympathetic support of our people as individual Christian citizens.

We can and should declare our churches open to "whosoever will may come" regardless of race, on confession of Christ as Lord —the only basis of church membership in the New Testament. We can stand firmly against radical extremists on both the Left and the Right, by either white or black citizens. In all personal relationships we can practice the love of Christ without fear or favor.

We must recognize that some Christians and some churches in our own Convention have already set worthy examples in regard to each of the above suggestions. We commend them and encourage them to continue in their strong and fearless witness.

In brief, we can take up a cross and follow Christ in his holy example of love for our neighbor regardless of race, color or national origin.

War and Peace

We are painfully aware of a costly and frustrating war which continues in Vietnam and of our nation's troubled participation in it. We deplore the destruction of human, natural, and capital resources which characterizes every war.

We are reminded of the absence from our homes, churches, and communities of some of the finest of our young people who are serving in the armed forces. Let us pray for them, write to them, and extend the fellowship of our churches to them across the miles.

We urge the government of the United States, and the governments of other nations, including the enemies and their allies, to redouble their efforts to negotiate as just and equitable a settlement of this war as possible. We commend the President of the United States for urging the United Nations to intervene, and we implore our nation's leaders to work diligently through every available channel to effect an early settlement and the withdrawal of troops.

This particular war has troubled the consciences of our young people as has no other war in recent history. We urge our churches to be very sympathetic and helpful as these, our own young people, face the ordeals of conscience. Christians throughout the history of Christianity have approached the question of participation in war from more than one perspective. There have always been pacifists who have declined to participate on various grounds of conscience. The vast majority of Christians have gone to war, although with heaviness of heart, when it was thought that justice required the taking up of arms.

Many young people today accept military service as an obligation of citizenship. Others declare themselves to be conscientious objectors according to the provisions in the law. We must remember that our nation's laws provide conditions for registration as conscientious objectors.

On the eve of World War II, the Southern Baptist Convention in session in Baltimore in 1940, set up procedures for conscientious objectors to follow in securing this status insofar as the question of religious affiliation is concerned. The following statement appears on page 96 of the 1940 Annual of the Southern Baptist Convention:

> Baptists have always believed in liberty of conscience and have honored men who were willing to brave adverse public opinion for the sake of conscientious scruples. A considerable number of members of churches of our Convention, through their interpretation of the moral teachings of Christ, have reached the position of a conscientious objection to war that prohibits them from bearing arms.
> The Convention ought to accord to them the right of their convictions as it accords to others the right to differ from them, and ought to protect them in that right to the extent of its ability.
> Therefore,
> Be it resolved, that the Convention go on record as recognizing such right of a conscientious objection, and that the Convention instruct the Executive Committee to provide facilities for their registration with the denomination, in order that the Executive Committee may be able to make accurate certification to the government concerning them at any time it should be called for.

It is our understanding that the Executive Committee of the Southern Baptist Convention still serves in this capacity and that a registration card may be secured from that source.

The 1968 session of the Baptist State Convention referred to this Council matters regarding conscientious objection. We report that the whole matter of military service will be studied and that a special pamphlet on "Conscientious Objection" is being prepared which will be available, upon request, to pastors, young people, and others who are interested.

Religious Liberty

We believe that the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States is a cherished and effective legal guarantor of conditions under which religious liberty may flourish as it has flourished in this nation for nearly two centuries.

We regard the rulings of the U. S. Supreme Court prohibiting the use of prescribed prayers in the public schools to be in harmony with our concern for religious liberty and the separation of church and state. After all, the power to require a prayer is a coercive power. This is inimical to our understanding of religious liberty. In all fairness it should be pointed out that the decision of the Court does not prohibit voluntary prayer. We think that basic religious instruction and the nurture of prayer belong in the home and in the church.

We are pleased that the President of the United States has declined to name an envoy to the Vatican. We are opposed to a governmental representative to any religious institution.

Tax exemption for church properties is another issue related to the question of religious liberty which is currently being examined by the courts, legislative bodies, and churches. On the one hand we reaffirm the historic American practice of exempting from taxation religious properties used exclusively for purposes of worship and religious education. On the other hand we believe that churches which own and operate business projects from which profits are derived and which are in competition with private enterprises should be taxed on these businesses.

Public Education

For the past fifteen years we have been living through a period of basic change in the patterns of human relations as our public schools have been moving from segregated to desegregated facilities. This change is still in process.

We are grateful for the orderly way in which this change is being accomplished, in general, throughout our state. It is a tribute to the basic good will and good sense of the majority of our people, and to wise administration and implementation of policies by educators, school boards, children, and parents.

We regret that there have been occasions of disruption and violence. We urge members of our churches to obey the law of the land regarding school desegregation and to cooperate with its implementation. We further urge our people to be reconciling forces in their communities.

Baptists are advocates of a good system of elementary and secondary public education. The strengthening of public education in North Carolina is an obligation for us as Christians and as citizens. The children of North Carolina are our greatest human resources. We resolve to maintain and to improve, for all of them, without regard to race, color, or creed an effective public school system.

We commend the private integrated schools established to provide quality education. However, we note with sorrow that in a number of communities across the state some private schools have been created with the apparent intention of retaining racial segregation. To some of these the name "Christian" has been attached. We state our firm conviction that it is inappropriate to use the honored name "Christian" in this way.

Communication in Family and Church

The human family continues in the purpose of God and in mankind's experience to be the most crucial social institution for man's being and well-being. The family is a school in which culture is transmitted, character develops, and personalities either flourish or wither. At its best the family is the setting in which each member is loved, accepted, and respected. The Christian family at its best is a miniature church in which grace and truth are blended with discipline and understanding.

Family life in this nation is affected today by rapid social changes which have contributed to marital discord and to a widening generation gap between parents and their children. The breakdown of meaningful communication between husband and wife and between parents and children contributes to family disruption.

The quality of interpersonal relations is the key to better family life. Here the churches have a unique contribution to make. The churches have the privilege of introducing the families of men to One who makes all things new. Furthermore, the churches can teach people to listen to one another, to speak the truth in love to each other, and to emphasize the deeper unity of the family in the midst of diversity.

Family and church should work together in family life education. This education should include biblical teachings on the meaning and significance of human sexuality, marriage, and parenthood. Helping young people resolve an inevitable identity crisis ("Who am I?" "Why am I?" "Where am I going?" "What shall I do with my life?") is a responsibility to be shared between family and church. If this is to be done effectively we shall need to engage our young people in thoughtful dialogue in which they are encouraged to talk and adults are admonished to listen. This, we believe, is a positive approach to the generation gap.

We commend the General Board of the Baptist State Convention for the pioneering effort undertaken in the establishment of a special Youth Division in the Division of Church Programs. We trust that effective Christian communication, commitment, and action will result from this venture. We also endorse the Convention's sponsorship of a statewide Christian Family Life Conference and express the hope that such Conferences may be repeated in the future.

Alcohol

The problems of the use of alcohol continue to mount as traffic accidents related to drinking increase. The U. S. Department of Transportation and the Safety Council report that alcohol is involved in 50 per cent of the fatal traffic accidents. It is reliably estimated that one out of every fifty drivers one meets on the highways is driving under the influence of alcoholic beverages. We urge strict enforcement of existing laws pertaining to driving while drinking.

We believe that a comprehensive approach to alcohol problems is needed. This approach includes education with respect to the scientific findings concerning alcohol and its effects on the human body, the family, and society.

Legislation, especially that which restricts the advertising of alcoholic beverages through the mass media, is needed. Legislation prohibiting the serving of alcoholic beverages on commercial air flights is needed for greater safety in the air as repeated testimony by pilots and stewardesses before congressional committees has pointed out.

In addition to education and legislation greater moral stamina on the part of persons who live in today's society where drinking is so prevalent is essential. Personal decision and action are needed; specifically, the strength of character to choose not to drink when our society makes drinking so easy and acceptable.

We call upon our fellow Baptists to remember the commitment contained in the covenants of many of our churches in which we promise to abstain from the manufacture, sale, and use of alcoholic beverages in any form. Moreover, we challenge our people, including our young people, to give an effective, attractive witness before the world that the alcohol-free way of life is the better way. Voluntary abstinence from alcohol by Christians with winsome personalities will provide a powerful testimony that the new life in Christ offers a quality of personal satisfaction far greater than that to be found in a bottle. Furthermore, the freedom of the Christian stands in sharp contrast to the threatened enslavement by alcohol. Our plea, therefore, is that we begin in our churches, among our own people, to deal positively with alcohol problems. We particularly urge our churches to become more active in the rehabilitation of alcoholics.

Drugs

We note with deepened concern the increasing acceptance and use by our youth today of narcotics in various forms. Particularly alarming is the growing danger of marijuana. Too many voices are being heard which discount the dangers and harmful effects of the drug. It is apparently easily available and inexpensive. Detection is difficult. Although marijuana is supposedly not physically addictive users develop a psychological drug dependence. It becomes a mental crutch. It is the first step toward the use of more deadly and addictive drugs.

The connections of suppliers and pushers with organized crime are well documented, but the public needs to become more aware of the fact. We urge the strengthening of law enforcement units at local, state and national levels to deal with these problems.

The home and the church need to be alert to opportunities to teach the dangers of drugs. Youth must be confronted with the moral as well as the physical implication of drug use. A Christian commitment to avoid and negate the use of drugs should be a continuing part of the daily life of each of us.

Pornography

The increasing flood of obscene literature, stage plays and movies has reached alarming proportions in our present society. There is also a rising tide of opposition to the apparently uncontrolled production of pornography in every form. The problem presents us with one of the most complex social issues of our time. The situation calls for informed, courageous and redemptive Christian concern and action.

The issues are exceedingly complex: the freedom of speech and the press guaranteed by the United States Constitution; the question of what constitutes legitimate censorship in the mass media; the question of private and public morality; the breakdown of ethical instruction by the home and church; the use of obscene literature and movies as a means of political protest; the varied interpretations of terms contained in numerous decisions of the United States Supreme Court; the inconsistence of court cases throughout the land, and the whole question of morality in the mass media, to name but a few.

The further complexity of the problem is seen in the seven major areas where it exists: 1. The blatant sex and violence in regular movie theaters; 2. The out and out sex-oriented movie for prurient reasons in the off-beat movie houses; 3. The nude Broadway and off-Broadway plays, many of which tour the country; 4. Newsstand literature in the form of magazines and the sex-novel, both grossly illustrated; 5. The flood of unsolicited mail-order obscene advertising of pornographic articles, movies, books and magazines; 6. The underground obscene newspaper; and, 7. The threat of showing "X" rated movies on home television screens.

The deeper psychological and spiritual aspects of the problem give us special concern: the alienation and identity crisis in our society; the dehumanizing of personality; the increasing libertine and sexual-license ethic; the failure of church and home in sex and personality education; the greedy exploitation of human weakness for profit; the general lowering of personal and public morality; and the undermining of stable family life.

While the various forms of art and literature in every civilization have been first mirrors of culture and prevailing moral standards, and while censorship of speech and publication is fraught with great risks, it is, nevertheless, evident that the present situation regarding the uncontrolled flood of pornography raises alarming danger signals in regard to the degradation of personality encouraged by the hard-core pornographer. As society by law protects us, our children, our neighbors, and our fellow citizens from the vicious and destructive mis-use of freedom by those who wantonly murder, rape, exploit and degrade human personality by other means, so must we find the means to eliminate the vicious practices of the pornographer in our midst, while at the same time safeguarding genuine freedom of speech and publication in ways which also protect us from a form of reactionary zeal that could lead to the destruction of legitimate art, censorship of libraries for political reasons or the indiscriminate burning of books.

What can we as concerned Christians do? We can encourage our congressmen who are already preparing bills to attack the problem. We can encourage our local newspapers to refuse salacious advertising of the sex-exploiting movie, such actions having already been sustained by local and federal district courts in various parts of the country. We can strengthen the home and church in their educational programs toward mature ethical and personality development. We can protest in writing and in person to theater managers who show movies to which we have strong objections. We can support those organizations which are already carrying on an intelligent, effective program of correction of the problem. We can encourage our church members who own newsstands, movie theaters and newspapers to exercise their moral responsibility and legal rights to combat this growing menace to personal and public morality. We can use every legal means at our disposal to dry up the flood of pornographic material.

We can proclaim a more positive, mature, healthy-minded concept of human personality and sex as set forth in the scriptures. We can demonstrate in our own lives that when Christ makes one whole again, one does not need to degrade his own and others' personalities by getting his "kicks" in the corrupting ways of the world in order for life to be filled with joy and gladness and with creative purpose, freed from all the hang-ups of alienation and morbid preoccupation with sex and violence. We can show the world the "more excellent way" of true Christ-likeness.

Gambling

Recurring efforts are made to legalize various forms of gambling. We stand firmly against all gambling, so called legal or illegal. We shall resist efforts in this state to legalize pari-mutuel betting and any other form of gambling.

Among our reasons for being opposed to gambling are the following: (1) Gambling dehumanizes persons. Some gambling is addictive. One out of every ten gamblers become a compulsive gambler. (2) Gambling misappropriates resources, both human and capital. It deceives people in promising "something for nothing." (3) As a source of revenue gambling does not pay its way. This is true financially and morally. Higher police, court, penitentiary, and relief costs obtain where gambling has been legalized. (4) Finally, as one police officer put it, we believe that "A society that bases its financial structure on the weaknesses of its people doesn't deserve to survive."

Future of the Council

We believe that time will prove the wisdom of the Convention in establishing this Council. The Council can, we think, have great usefulness to North Carolina Baptists as it fulfills its assigned tasks with continuity of leadership to be provided by the employment of a Director.

Conclusion

The present era in human history is momentous and decisive for individual Christians, for churches, and for the whole Christian movement. We believe that Baptists of North Carolina deeply desire both to know and to do the will of God. We commend this report to you for careful study, individually and in the churches. Let us examine the issues in the light of the situation in each local community. Let us then take appropriate actions in the light of what we discover.

COUNCIL MEMBERSHIP

The Council on Christian Higher Education continues to be an effective cooperative arrangement between the Baptist colleges in North Carolina and the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina. The Council membership is made up of the following: presidents of the colleges, deans of the colleges, chairmen of boards of trustees of the colleges, and sixteen members of the General Board's Committee on Christian Higher Education. Ex-officio members of the Council are Dr. W. Perry Crouch, executive secretary-treasurer of the Baptist State Convention; the Reverend James C. Cammack, president of the General Board; Dr. Claud B. Bowen, president of the Baptist State Convention; and Mrs. R. Knolan Benfield, president of the State Woman's Missionary Union.

The following new members were elected from the General Board to Council membership last year: Felix Arnold, F. L. Barker, David M. Britt, Boyd Owen, Clarence Pritchard, and R. F. Smith, Jr.

BAPTIST COLLEGE STUDENTS MEET HUMAN NEEDS

The positive contribution of today's college student is a fact too frequently overlooked. Hundreds of North Carolina Baptist students, without pay and on their own time, are engaging in a variety of missions designed to meet human needs. Representative programs include work with the blind, the mentally retarded, the underprivileged, the aging, the sick, the delinquent, the illiterate, and those who need remedial programs in order to finish high school and college.

Here is a bird's-eye view of some of the student action on our college campuses:

Chowan—Chowan College students are engaging in a tutorial program in the local elementary schools. The Baptist Student Union also has a program to assist local high school students—to encourage them to remain in school and to prepare them for college.

Campbell—Campbell College students also are engaged in several church and community projects. One of the most successful has been a tutorial service to local high schools. Many retired college faculty members are also participating in this program.

Gardner-Webb—Gardner-Webb College, long a pioneer in community development, has a large number of students engaged in a variety of community projects. One of the latest has been to assist with the Cleveland County Community Action Program for Mentally Retarded Children.

Mars Hill—Mars Hill College students are engaged in projects both on and off the campus. A large number of Mars Hill students are participating in the "Upward Bound Program" which ministers to underprivileged mountain children. Included are remedial instruction, recreational programs, and cultural activities.

Meredith—Meredith College girls give a number of hours each week to the School for the Blind and to Dorothea Dix State Hospital, and are also engaged in tutoring children, six to sixteen, in the local schools. Parties are sponsored at Christmas for the children and their parents.

Wake Forest—Wake Forest University recently put on a new kind of demonstration, when 300 of their students marched to City Hall and volunteered their services for work in the inner-city. Wake Forest students are also engaged in tutorial programs for underprivileged elementary and secondary school students. In addition, they have sponsored a variety of recreational programs for children and young people.

Wingate—Wingate College students have been engaged for some time in neighborhood tutorial programs and in weekend recreational programs for deprived children. A remedial reading course has been sponsored for grammar school students. Student teams regularly visit hospitals and convalescent homes.

The programs mentioned above are representative but by no means cover all of the student activities. Baptist college students want to be where the action is, both in church and in community, and are offering positive and constructive leadership worthy of wider recognition.

We hope many of our Baptist churches will invite representative groups of these young people to come, either at a morning or evening service, and tell about their work.

This is a thrilling chapter in Baptist higher education.

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE SERVE THEIR DENOMINATION

Pastors, deacons, and other church leaders have had high praise for the several hundred Baptist young people who worked in local churches this summer and a variety of programs sponsored by the Baptist State Convention. The Baptist Youth Corps, sponsored by the Church Training Department, has been unusually successful. These college young people have been engaged in a variety of tasks, including teaching Sunday School, planning youth retreats, teaching church study courses, supervising church-centered recreational camps, assisting in Vacation Bible Schools, leading programs of church music and education, and preaching. Reports indicate that Baptist Student Union workers, both on Baptist college campuses and on public college campuses, have had an unusually fine program in their Listen and Apostoloi Teams. In addition to this, these Baptist college young people have worked with the Interracial Cooperation Department, Town and Country Extension Department, and with the youth program of Woman's Missionary Union. They have helped in the North Carolina Assembly at Caswell, Fruitland Assembly, Truett Camp, Camp Caraway, and Camp Mundo Vista at Asheboro.

Three Major Contributions

These year-round programs of service to church and community are making three major contributions:

1. Because of a variety of programs, both off campus in the summer and on the campus in the winter, Baptist young people who have committed themselves to full-time Christian service are gaining invaluable experience where it counts—in the church and in the community.
2. Many of these young people, as a result of working in churches, assemblies, and in the various Convention programs, are choosing full-time Christian service.
3. As a result of being able to meet human needs, both religious and societal, hundreds of these young people are developing a new attitude toward the church, and because of this practical opportunity to relate religion and life they will go back to their local churches as Christian laymen, convinced of the urgency in churches to get their message to the people wherever they are.

Baptist College Day Set for June 21, 1970

The Baptist College Day offering becomes more important to our colleges as costs continue to escalate. It is estimated by the Board of Higher Education that the overall costs in colleges and universities will escalate at the annual rate of 12 to 14% per year for the next ten years.

A good illustration of how costs have risen is in the fact that from 1958 to 1969 Baptist college current expenditures jumped from $6,000,000 to $25,000,000, while during the same period enrollments increased from only 6,648 to 11,381. Instructional salaries increased from $3,200,000 in 1963 to $6,700,000 in 1968. Thus, while student enrollment was increasing by about 30%, instructional costs increased over 100%. It is a tribute to our college administrators that all colleges are still operating in the black, but the danger signals are up.

Unfortunately, our Baptist colleges are having to pass more and more of the costs of education on to the student.

Every dollar that comes in on the Baptist College Day offering is of direct help to the student.

It should be kept in mind also that the undesignated Baptist College Day offering goes into the student aid fund of the colleges.

The theme for Baptist College Day this year was "Ministering to the Whole Person," and churches were urged to give young people an opportunity to commit themselves to a Christian vocation.

Although the Baptist College Day offering has moved from $32,000 in 1957 to $150,000 in 1968, percentage-wise, the Baptist colleges receive less than any other special offering. Of the total amount given to special offerings, the range is from 3.68% for Christian higher education to 47.66% for foreign missions. This is followed by the Children's Homes—17.61%; Home Missions—11.04%; Baptist Hospital—9.07%; and State Missions—6.66%.

The Cooperative Program continues to be the second largest source of income for the North Carolina Baptist colleges outside of student charges. Few denominations have been more generous with their educational institutions. The Baptist colleges are profoundly grateful for the income received through the Cooperative Program and through the Baptist College Day offering.

The Cooperative Program is the finest expression yet devised for translating into action our missionary, evangelistic, and social concerns. The Council on Christian Higher Education pledges its cooperation in supporting the Co-operative Program as the best means of demonstrating our desire to carry out the Great Commission both at home and in other lands.

NORMAN ADRIAN WIGGINS, President

Campbell College began the 1969 fall term with an enrollment of 2305. The total student enrollment for the fall term of the 1968-1969 school year represented 9 foreign countries, 25 states and 89 North Carolina counties. Of the total enrollment 1525 were men students and 877 were women.

The auditors' report for the year ending May 31, 1969, showed a gross income of $4,916,571.62 and a net operating income of $3,435,237.66. Total assets on the combined funds balance sheet were listed at $11,497,297.01. From the Cooperative Program of the Baptist State Convention Campbell College is deeply grateful to have received $255,886.53, which was 7.45% of her net operating income. We are pleased to report that the College ended her financial year in the black. It is significant, we think, that through the combined efforts of Campbell College and her many friends and benefactors the net worth of the College was increased during the year ending May 31, 1969, by the net sum of $861,325.60. Of record, this was the most successful financial year in the 82-year history of Campbell College. We are proud that through our student aid program we could help, in the financial management of their school expenses, 1401 students, which is 52.79% of our total student enrollment.

In addition to her financial program, we are thankful and humble in saying that in every other way that we measure a fine

Christian college, Campbell College made progress in both her academic program and her business procedures. Under the leadership of her academic Vice-President, Dean A. R. Burkot, the follow-up self-study committee, composed of trustees, faculty, students and administrative officers, is in the process of completing its comprehensive study report which will be published early in the fall of 1969. By the help of the Business Affairs Committee of the Campbell College Board of Trustees, the Business Affairs Committee of the Presidential Board of Advisors (led by Addison Hill of Burlington, North Carolina, employed consultants), and our auditors, the administration has implemented many improvements in business management procedures. During the summer of 1969 the College completed its automation information center and changed all of its data processing programs from mechanically operated IBM equipment to automatic equipment installing an IBM computer. The computer science classroom adjacent to the data processing center will be used for instructional purposes and the computer is already employed in both teaching and administrative programming.

Campbell College is continuing her efforts to raise funds for use in the construction of an acutely-needed classroom building to house the Department of Religion, replacing the Religion-Math Building destroyed by fire. There is also immediate need for other buildings. Of these, priority must be given to a Fine Arts Building and secondly, to an Athletic Facility adequate to meet the athletic and physical education needs of our College.

During the past 12 months we have been deeply saddened by the death of three of our distinguished and beloved trustees. On December 18, 1968, death came to The Honorable Romulus A. Hedgpeth, distinguished alumnus, Mayor of Lumberton, generous benefactor and member of the Campbell College Board of Trustees since 1958. On July 18, 1969, while attending a trustee meeting at Campbell College, Trustee P. S. Jones of Rocky Mount, North Carolina, died from a heart attack here on the campus. The death of this honored trustee, Christian gentleman, and generous benefactor brought great grief to the entire Campbell College family. Then, on September 17, 1969, death claimed one of our newly appointed trustees, Roy Lewis of Charlotte, North Carolina. As a loyal alumnus of Campbell College, and an outstanding Baptist Christian layman, Trustee Lewis had in the short time that he was privileged to serve on our Board of Trustees endeared himself to all by his meritorious service and devotion to the cause of Campbell College.

The following statement of plant indebtedness as of October 1, 1969, is submitted by the Business Manager, Lonnie D. Small:

Bond Issues as of October 1, 1969

7-1-58 Bond issue Series "A" 3½ percent	$ 69,000.00
7-1-58 Bond issue Series "B" 2¾ percent	164,000.00
7-1-58 Bond issue Series "C" 3 percent	406,000.00
10-1-62 Bond issue Series "D" 3⅜ percent	662,000.00
10-1-65 Bond issue Series "E" 3 percent	1,000,000.00
Total Bond Indebtedness	$2,301,000.00

October 1, 1969, Unpaid Balance on Science Building, Bryan Residence Hall and other indebtedness	$1,171,214.52
Total Indebtedness	$3,472,214.52
Less sinking funds and other debt service reserves	305,838.33
Net Indebtedness on plant facilities	$3,166,376.19

CHOWAN COLLEGE

H. DOUGLAS WHITE, Chairman, Board of Trustees
BRUCE E. WHITAKER, President

Chowan College's 122nd academic year (1969-70) finds a total of 1,316 students enrolled in the various curricula offered by the College. Of this number, 790 are freshmen or transfer students; 480, returning students; 15 are enrolled in the final phase of the RN program at Duke University; 6 medical secretarial interns, receiving clinical training in area hospitals; and 25 are classified as "special students" (enrolled for less than 12 semesters of credit class work). The full-time equivalency figure is 1,306.

Added attention has been given to the academic preparation of the faculty during the past year. Thirty members of the faculty were engaged in further graduate studies during the summer months of 1969. Also, seven faculty members were added to the instructional staff, bringing the total number of full-time faculty members to sixty-nine for the current academic year. Student-faculty ratio is now 18.5:1. There are thirteen additional members of the instructional staff who teach on a part-time basis.

Increased attention is also being given to the area of student personnel services. This is in keeping with the College's stated purpose: "To meet the personal needs of the individual student and to make his stay at Chowan as meaningful as possible by providing him with effective academic and social counseling." Student members of the academic community—under the supervision and guidance of responsible staff personnel—are being encouraged and instructed in the governance of their residence halls, in campus judiciary matters, and in the planning and execution of a wholesome religious and social life on campus.

Chowan College has reached the mid-point in its current development projections (1966-1973). The Fourth Annual Planning Conference, held on October 4, 1969, involved members of the academic community, alumni, business and civic leaders, and other friends of the College in an appraisal of the progress made—and yet to be made—in terms of these development projections. This same theme was explored in a Church Leadership Seminar, scheduled on the same date and involving pastors and other church leaders in the Atlantic, Chowan, Neuse, North Roanoke, South Roanoke, and West Chowan Associations. It is anticipated that such gatherings as these will serve both to facilitate communications between the College and its many constituencies, and to involve a greater number of persons in advisory roles in the projection of development goals for the future.

Currently under construction on campus is a 280-bed residence hall for men. It will be ready for occupancy by the fall term of 1970. This facility is designed to remove students from housing facilities which are now inadequate and/or overcrowded. No appreciable increase in enrollment is anticipated with the addition of this particular facility.

The erection of a science-engineering facility is a MUST in the immediate future. Green Hall (the present science building) was originally constructed to accommodate a student body of 300! It is, obviously, no longer adequate to serve the minimal needs of a student body of over 1300. Such a facility, however, must await the acquisition of adequate funds to finance its construction and/or the generosity of some benefactor of Christian higher education, as yet unknown to the College.

Staff, faculty, and students continue to engage in various religious and civic services to Murfreesboro and other locales in the region. Such are accomplished through individual interest and initiative; through campus clubs and organizations, like the Baptist Student Union; and through a newly created College Speakers Bureau. Much more could be done to aid the Baptist churches and institutions in the area close by the campus. We invite you to call upon the College for any service which lies within our province to perform.

The indebtedness of Chowan College as of November 1, 1969, is as follows:

Date	Original Amount	Interest Rate	Purpose	Amount Due
12/1/59	$235,000	3⅛%	Boys' Housing	$ 206,000.00
12/1/62	550,000	3½%	Boys' Housing	487,000.00
12/1/63	760,000	3⅝%	Girls' Housing & Cafeteria	720,000.00
4/18/66	600,000	3%	Library-Fine Arts	600,000.00
1/3/69	175,000	6%	Additional Land	175,000.00
			Total Indebtedness	$2,188,000.00
			Less Sinking Fund Reserves	$ 290,840.69
			Net Indebtedness on Plant Facilities	$1,897,159.31

In the first three instances, loans were made from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, covering a 40-year period and carrying interest charges indicated. Each is self-liquidating. In the fourth instance, the loan was from the U. S. Office of Education. In addition, we have a commitment from the Department of Housing and Urban Development for $975,000.00 (the Convention gave approval of a $1 million dollar loan), carrying interest charges of 3 percent, for purposes of constructing a new 280-bed dormitory for men; it will be used primarily to house students now living in off-campus and substandard housing facilities. Moreover, in 1968, the Convention authorized the college to borrow the sum of $550,000.00 for purposes of constructing a critically needed new science-engineering facility. Upon recommendation of the Board of Advisors and the official request of the Board of Trustees, Chowan College is requesting this Convention to grant permission for an additional $400,000.00 loan on the proposed new science-engineering facility. It is expected to cost $1,200,000.00.

Chowan College continues to make persistent efforts to serve Baptists and North Carolinians. Members of the Chowan College Family appreciate strong support from North Carolina Baptists which has immeasurably helped to increase the ministry of Chowan to young people, particularly to the Baptist young people of North Carolina. Every effort is made by the college to solicit the interest of young people from churches affiliated with the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina. Frequent letters are sent from college personnel to pastors regarding their prospective students, and college officials also frequently visit in churches and various Baptist Associations.

GARDNER-WEBB COLLEGE

R. PATRICK SPANGLER, Chairman, Board of Trustees
E. EUGENE POSTON, President of the College

The 63rd year of service to the Baptists of North Carolina was a new beginning for Gardner-Webb College. Approximately three hundred juniors were enrolled, constituting the first junior class in the history of the college. The senior class will be started during the fall of 1970. The first four-year graduating class is scheduled for the spring of 1971.

There are 1460 students enrolled at Gardner-Webb for the 1969-70 school term. These students are led by 87 faculty and 46 administrative and staff members. 48 additional employees constitute the cafeteria and maintenance forces.

At the present time there are 26 faculty and administrative members who hold an earned doctorate. Seventeen others have three years beyond their Bachelor's degree. Eight others are on leave of absence working on their Doctorates. The college should be able to meet the standards of faculty training for a four-year college by the time of the first graduating class.

During the past school year 11,778 volumes were added to the Gardner-Webb College library. The trustees, the administration and the faculty are giving priority to the library. Christian trustees, Christian faculty members, Christian administrators, an ample supply of good books, and interested students make a Christian college.

A new organizational structure for the college was initiated this year. Divisions replaced departments as the primary units. The following organizational structure is in operation:

I. Division of General Business
    1. Department of Business
    2. Department of Data Processing

II. Division of Education and Psychology
    1. Department of Education
    2. Department of Psychology
III. Division of Fine Arts
    1. Department of Art
    2. Department of Music
    3. Department of Theatre Arts and Speech
IV. Division of Health Education and Physical Education
V. Division of Languages and Literature
    1. Department of Ancient Languages and Literature
    2. Department of English Language and Literature
    3. Department of Modern Foreign Languages and Literature
VI. Division of Mathematics and Natural Science
    1. Department of Biology, Chemistry and Geology
    2. Department of Mathematics and Physics
VII. Division of Religious Studies
    1. Department of Religion
    2. Department of Religious Education
VIII. Division of Social Science
    1. Department of Associated Social Sciences
    2. Department of History

Gardner-Webb lost one of her finest supporters this year. Mrs. O. Max Gardner, Sr. died January 16, 1969. Mrs. Gardner was a "First Lady" in every respect. She exemplified Christian dedication in every walk of life. Her influence will live forever.

At the present time there are 90 ministerial students enrolled at Gardner-Webb. There are 49 others preparing for full-time Christian vocations. This past summer 24 of Gardner-Webb's students did summer mission work in North Carolina, California, Texas, New Jersey, Maryland, and Pennsylvania, working in various programs and in various positions. The Reverend Charles W. Freeman has developed an intern program on a trial basis with local pastors for the ministerial students.

During the past year the Endowment Funds have increased $60,000 through bequests, gifts and savings. The plant assets increased $437,000. At the present time the assets of the college are valued at $8,230,000 (total of plant and endowment). The Endowment Fund is valued at $1,940,000, including an irrevocable trust. As of June 30, 1969, Gardner-Webb College owed a debt of $1,055,000 to the First Union National Bank of Charlotte, North Carolina. This is being amortized at $11,000 per month plus interest.

The college is entering a capital funds campaign January 1, 1970. The campaign is designed to assure accreditation as a senior college.

MARS HILL COLLEGE

J. ROBERT WREN, Chairman, Board of Trustees
FRED B. BENTLEY, President

Mars Hill College is on the move. It would seem that we are becoming more mature each day as a four-year Christian institution of higher education and are continuing to gain more and more recognition in the academic program in which we are trying several innovative and experimental programs. The most recent stamp of approval has come from the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction, which has fully accredited our Department of Education.

As was stated in last year's report, Mars Hill College has been engaged in a study of the Christian emphasis within the institution. The culmination of the year's activity can be seen in the following statement which has been adopted by Mars Hill College faculty and administration. While room does not permit us to report the entire statement of philosophy, the second and last paragraphs from the document seem to present a synopsis of the entire statement.

"Christian education involves the discovery, transmission, and preservation of truth. Because all truth is of God, it cannot contradict itself no matter who discovers it or in what area of endeavor it becomes known, and the revelation of God in Jesus Christ is the integrating center for all truth, the unifying core which draws together disparate fragments of truth and reveals their interrelatedness and value to man.

"Christian education affirms that the basic and determining aspect of life is man's relationship with God through Jesus Christ, because it is only in this context that Christian principles of interpretation, evaluation, relationship, and action become truly and fully active and effective. Moreover, there should be rigorous and continuous examination leading to a growing understanding of the fundamental affirmations and presuppositions of the Christian faith. Recognizing that the total environment of the college community is itself a powerful educator, Christian education will not be restricted to the classroom and the laboratory, but will seek to accomplish its goal of educating the whole man through every element and aspect of college life."

To serve as a further implementation of this philosophy of Christian education, Mars Hill College has initiated a Christian Ethics Institute, which is a thirteen-week study of the church's role in combating poverty in Southern Appalachia. Initially, eleven ministers from Buncombe and Madison counties are taking part in the seminar study at the college. It is the hope of the administration and faculty that Mars Hill College can become the center for Christian studies within the region of Western North Carolina.

For the second year Mars Hill College has received a substantial grant ($53,000) from the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation to expand its experimental program in community development involving Mars Hill College faculty and students in urban and rural government studies. Students and faculty will also be involved in tutorial programs which should give valuable assistance to children within the region, as well as further develop a Christian sensitivity to our fellow man.

On December 10 the Board of Trustees adopted the first portion of a long-range program that will give Mars Hill College an opportunity to continue to develop into an outstanding Christian liberal arts college. It was at this meeting that the Board members voted to begin a three-million dollar development campaign in September of 1969. The purpose of this campaign is to raise $500,000 for faculty development, $500,000 for student scholarships, and $650,000 for capital indebtedness, and to begin a deferred gifts program of $1,350,000 for the Blackwell Classroom-Administration Building. This far-reaching program will be extended over a three-year period, terminating in 1972.

The enrollment at the college for 1968-69 was 1351 students, which represented a slight decline in the total student enrollment. However, it is encouraging to note that Mars Hill College still attracts three-fourths of its student body from the Baptist denomination. Indications are that the enrollment for 1969-70 will be about the same as last year.

On October 7, 1967, Mars Hill College experienced the formal opening of the new physical education complex which was built at an approximate cost of $1,750,000. By the time of this report a new senior men's dormitory named for the Gibson family of High Point will have been completed at a cost of $350,000. Within this $2,100,000 development, the total indebtedness at Mars Hill College is only $575,000. The fund-raising campaign which was mentioned above should amortize this indebtedness within the next three years.

Again this year it was the privilege of Mars Hill College to be the host to the Week of Christian Study and Fellowship in which approximately four hundred ministers and their families were in attendance. Also, Mars Hill College was host to the Theron Rankin Association, and approximately two hundred and eighty persons from this association spent two days in fellowship on our campus. Other groups which conducted conferences on our campus were the Council on Christian Education and the General Board, the Youth Temperance Conference, and a youth choir from Mississippi.

All the sacrifices and achievements of the past have brought Mars Hill College to an opportune position. The challenges of the future call for further developments in the program "Emphasis on Excellence."

MEREDITH COLLEGE

C. C. CAMERON, Chairman Board of Trustees

E. BRUCE HEILMAN, President

Meredith College enrollment for the 1968-69 fall term was 882, of which number 850 were degree candidates. They came from two foreign countries, eighteen states and 183 North Carolina communities. Fall semester enrollment for 1969-70, Meredith's seventy-first full school term, numbers 946 degree candidates (an increase of 10 per cent over last year) and 57 special students, making a total of 1,003. In addition, the college is serving the community by providing music instruction to approximately 110 non-college students. A sixth dormitory, costing $775,000, has been completed and is now housing 148 students.

The Bachelor of Arts degree was awarded to 171 young women in the 1969 commencement exercises, and the Bachelor of Music degree, requiring a fifth year of study, to 2 graduates.

During commencement, Distinguished Alumnae Awards were granted to Miss Ellen D. Brewer, Raleigh; Mrs. L. R. Harrill, Raleigh; Miss Carolyn Mercer, Winston-Salem; and Mrs. William M. Watts, of Asheboro.

The interinstitutional cooperation between Meredith and North Carolina State University, Peace College, St. Augustine's College, St. Mary's College, and Shaw University has gone forward this year under the leadership of its coordinator Dr. John Yarbrough. Programs developed during 1968-69 include cooperation among libraries leading toward the development of a unified list of holdings; plans for a seminar on the application of new technologies in college teaching; and plans for a musical program in April, 1970, which will involve all six of the Raleigh institutions. During 1968-69, students from each of the other five institutions took courses at Meredith as exchange students.

Meredith students continue to be active in church and community. In addition to participating in programs of the church and Convention, Meredith girls give a number of hours each week to the State School for the Blind and to Dorothea Dix State Hospital. They also give tutorial assistance to children from six to sixteen in the local schools.

The second Faculty Workshop was held at the Baptist State Convention Building, September 8-9, 1969, with Dr. Felix C. Robb, Director of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, as the keynote speaker.

Construction is continuing on the Weatherspoon Physical Education-Recreation Building made possible by a gift of $400,000 from the families of W. Herbert Weatherspoon and his brother the late James R. Weatherspoon.

Dr. L. M. Massey has made a gift which will make possible the construction of a President's home to be located near the edge of the campus.

Meredith's 1968-69 financial audit as of June 30, 1969, lists the total assets of the college at $9,505,061. The indebtedness as of that date included a loan of $546,000 from the Housing and Home Finance Agency for Poteat Dormitory and the Delia Dixon Carroll Infirmary and a $684,000 loan from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Office of Education, for the Carlyle Campbell Library. Both loans extend over a 40-year period and carry an interest rate of three percent.

The Meredith College Advancement Program, a capital campaign with stated objective of five million dollars, is continuing with current gifts and pledges totaling approximately $3,200,000.

Investments are being invited through campaign activities throughout the state, including corporation, foundation, alumnae and other interested friends of the college.

Meredith College received during the 1968-69 fiscal year $241-863.63 from the Cooperative Program. The total gifts to the college amounted to $755,361.56, of which $450,686.15 went for capital operations and $304,675.41 for current operations. Meredith alumnae support continued to be substantial with over 50% participation. Alumnae annual giving totaled $45,891.44 in addition to over $378,000 in gifts and pledges to the capital campaign.

Although the college is concentrating maximum effort toward meeting the five-million capital program, efforts are continuing to secure necessary resources for support of its scholarship programs and instructional program requirements.

WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY

JAMES RALPH SCALES, President

The 1968-69 academic year was a year of continued growth and expansion in a number of areas at Wake Forest University.

Construction was completed on the Charles H. Babcock School of Business Administration building, and the school moved into its new $1 million home at the beginning of the 1969 fall term.

A decision was reached during the year to phase out the undergraduate business program in favor of graduate work. Leading the new program is Dr. Robert S. Carlson, former member of the Harvard Business School faculty, who was elected dean of the Babcock School during the spring.

Grants totaling $1,370,000 were awarded in November to the University and Bowman Gray School of Medicine by the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation. One of the gifts, $120,000, will be paid to the University each year and is the equivalent of $3 million in endowment. It raises to $620,000 the amount the foundation gives Wake Forest annually. The other grants are one of $750,000 to be paid to the University over a five-year period to improve faculty salaries and $500,000 toward the cost of the Medical Center, to which the foundation previously has made $1½ million in grants.

Wake Forest University continues to be grateful for the annual support which it receives from the Convention. The amount appropriated this year is $411,725.

The year also was marked by the activities of two institutes the trustees established last year. The Ecumenical Institute held its first major event during the spring when it sponsored a three-day "dialogue" of Southern Baptists and Catholics. The Urban Affairs Institute conducted a training program in police-community relations during the fall and in February agreed to sponsor Winston-Salem's new Youth Services Bureau which provides professional help to potential youthful offenders.

Student concern for areas outside the campus was evidenced by such projects as "Fast for Biafra," in which more than $3,000 was raised for food and medical supplies, and a national symposium on student reaction to the urban crisis, which was organized, directed, and financed by Wake Forest students.

Several new scholarship funds have been established at the University.

Announcement of the Junius Calvin Brown Fellowships, in Law was made at the opening convocation for the 1969-70 year. The University is a principal beneficiary in the will of Mr. Brown, a Madison attorney, who died December 31. The Eliza Pratt Brown Scholarship Fund, which Mr. Brown established in 1957 in honor of his wife, now is valued at more than $100,000 and is the third largest undergraduate scholarship fund at the University.

Dr. James B. Willis, retired Baptist minister of Hamlet, gave $40,000 in November to establish two scholarship funds, one in the Department of Music and one for the A. C. Reid Philosophy Fund.

John R. Knott, Charlotte businessman and former president of the Alumni Association, established a scholarship fund of $38,000 before his death in June. Additional gifts in his honor have been made since then.

A new stimulus to faculty research is the Reynolds Industries Endowment for Professorial Leaves, which will make available two research leaves each year.

The university community was saddened by the deaths of several close friends of the university. They included Laura Elizabeth Scales, daughter of President and Mrs. Scales; J. Wilbur Bunn of Raleigh, former General Counsel to the Trustees; the Rev. Gilmer H. Cross of Goldsboro, a member of the Board of Trustees; Dr. George C. Mackie of Wake Forest, former college physician and former professor of physiology and pharmacology; Dr. Taylor N. Dodson, professor of physical education, and Dr. Ora C. Bradbury, professor emeritus of biology.

Enrollment this year is 3,184, slightly more than last year. This includes 2,511 students in the College of Arts and Sciences and School of Business Administration, 249 in the School of Medicine, 189 in the School of Law and 235 in the Graduate School.

A record budget of $18,905,000 has been adopted by the University for the 1969-70 fiscal year. This represents an increase of $2,095,608 over the previous year. The figure includes $75,000 for redecorating Reynolda Hall to allow for additional student activities. The School of Medicine's portion of the budget is $8,798,116.

Following is an analysis of the University's outstanding loans as of June 30, 1969:

Date	Original Amount	Interest Payable	Purpose	Dates of Maturity	Security Pledged	Principal Balance
3-1-55	$3,000,000	3¾ %	Construction of Dorms	10-1-75	Dormitories	$1,125,000

W. T. HARRIS, President of Board of Trustees
BUDD E. SMITH, President

For the year 1969-70, the enrollment of Wingate College is 1,607. These students came from nineteen different states and twelve foreign countries. Approximately fifty percent of the students belong to Baptist churches, and others are divided between more than twenty religious denominations. There are ninety faculty members, and these represent study in more than one hundred and twenty graduate schools in America.

The budget for 1969-70 is $3,965,000.

Principal Balance	Date	Interest Rate	Purpose	Maturity	Security
$ 21,488	11-1-56	2¾%	Housing	11-1-76	Dormitory
$260,548	7-1-64	6%	Housing	7-1-74	Dormitory

The average compensation for teachers is approximately $9,000 for nine months. Fringe benefits include hospitalization, insurance, retirement, social security, tuition payments for graduate study, fellowships, moving expenses, free tuition for children of employees, and travel expense to professional meetings.

Wingate College Library now has more than 44,000 volumes and is considered one of the outstanding junior college libraries of the country. The librarians have been serving as co-editors of definitive publications for building junior college libraries. The budget for library operation during 1968-69 was $81,000. Three professional librarians and twenty scholarship students carry on an effective program for service to the students and faculty.

Under construction on the campus at the present time is a textile-engineering building, and it will cost approximately $500,000. This building has been made possible through a gift of $500,000 by Mr. Charles A. Cannon. The building will house textiles, engineering, physics, and mathematics. Shop areas will be available for instruction in basic textiles and other business-related fields, particularly for industry. It is the hope of the college trustees and administrators that an effective curriculum can be developed that will help meet the personnel needs of the industrial community surrounding the college.

Also under construction are a dormitory for 277 students, a nine-hole golf course, and new all-weather tennis courts. In addition, a radio station has been approved by the Federal Communications Commission, and construction will begin during the year. It will be an FM station with stereo facilities.

The number of commuting students for Wingate College is continuing to drop at approximately fifty to one hundred each year. This gain points up the importance of Wingate's serving a primarily resident community. The trustees have planned for 1,500 beds on the campus and will hold the enrollment around 1,600.

There are approximately two hundred employees of the college, and each is keenly aware of the relationship between the Convention and the College. This relationship is carefully explained to every new student, and it is believed that everyone is cooperating fully in the promotion of the Cooperative Program and the total Convention program. We are deeply grateful to every Baptist in North Carolina for the encouragement and for an investment in our program of Christian Higher Education. Our philosophy is that "An investment in a young person is an investment in eternity," and our business is education of the whole person.

H. DIVISION OF CHRISTIAN SOCIAL SERVICES

1. Baptist Children's Homes of North Carolina, Incorporated

OLIN T. BINKLEY, Chairman Board of Trustees
W. R. WAGONER, President

The Baptist Children's Homes of North Carolina, Incorporated provides a variety of quality services for the care and development of dependent children and for strengthening family life. Having moved progressively to meet the challenge of a changing socio-economic order it has become a family service agency. This is accomplished by members of a well trained staff who provide leadership for group care programs, foster home care, family services, consultation with churches in preschool programs and planning for higher education for children who have been in care. This program unfolds on the various campuses and through the work of regional casework centers throughout the state.

More requests for services are now coming to the Homes than at any time in previous history. Agency beds are filled and all available money is being utilized. This agency, too, has been caught in the rising costs of living and in an inflationary economy. A wider variety of quality services are being demanded to meet the needs of children who are the products of today's complex society. Present economic conditions make it necessary to have additional operating income with which to maintain the current program before any appreciable expansion of services can be undertaken.

Two cottages have been under construction on the Mills Home Campus during the past year and are scheduled to be completed in early 1970. The Stokes Cottage is being provided by Colin Stokes of Winston-Salem in memory of his father, the late Henry S. Stokes and in honor of Mrs. Stokes, his mother. The Craver Cottage is being built as a memorial to the late Spurgeon J. Craver of Winston-Salem, who left the residue of his estate to the Children's Homes.

Two buildings are to be erected at Kennedy Home during the coming year. An infirmary is being made possible by the late W. H. Jones of Kinston and his wife Mrs. Lula B. Jones. A recreation center is being provided through the estate of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Robinson of Clinton, North Carolina.

Friends of the Children's Homes, in Western North Carolina, have responded generously to the Founders and Builders Program to raise funds with which to establish the Broyhill Home to serve children in the western part of the state. This is the first public capital funds campaign ever promoted by the Homes during eighty-four years of service. Response has been encouraging, sufficiently to assure completion of the project within three to five years. When the campus has been completed provision will have been made for four cottages for children, a multi-purpose administration and activities building and a home for the superintendent. Work is now in progress on this Home.

With the support and cooperation of Baptists and other friends in Asheville and Buncombe County another ministry is soon to be provided by the Children's Homes. A residence has been purchased in Asheville in which to make provision for the care of unwed mothers. It is hoped that this program can be started in early 1970 when the Home has been renovated, furnished and readied for occupancy.

The contribution of our Baptist people through the Cooperative Program, the Thanksgiving Offering and special gifts are essential to our continued operation and are received with deep appreciation. An increasing number of friends are finding rewarding stewardship opportunities through the establishment of trusts for the Homes and by means of wills and estate planning for the needs of dependent children. Members of the staff are available for consultation in estate planning and the preparation of wills.

2. North Carolina Baptist Homes for the Aging

WILLIAM A. POOLE, Superintendent

Never before have your Baptist Homes for the Aging been more conscious of the Lord's Presence and of His Goodness than during the past year. At a time when the economy of the Homes was at its lowest ebb, with a sizeable deficit looming larger by the moment, when the weather was at its severest on the 3rd Sunday of February, the day of the Special Offering, the churches came through with an offering that was one of the greatest in the Homes' history, of $130,-434.53, as of our fiscal year, October 1, 1968, through September 30, 1969. The Lord, who is in charge of the weather and in charge of the Baptist Homes for the Aging, has surely rewarded our faith and moved upon our Baptist people to see the urgency of our needs, and we are grateful.

Ours shall continue to be a relationship of trust in the Lord and faith in our Baptist people. We earnestly hope that a continued and sustained effort will be made by our churches to increase and strengthen the amount of the two main means of support for our ministry to the Aging—the Special Offering, and the Cooperative Program. Through these two sources, one-third of the total income for the Homes is derived, and 85% of the residents, who are financially dependent, are cared for and supplemented. If we are to continue to assist these many needy persons, and if we are to reduce the deficit in the operation of the Homes, brought about by the rising cost of living, we must have more liberal support from our churches.

We do not believe that our Baptist people would want to curtail any of the vital ministries of the Homes and that they will respond to this urgent appeal.

Since last year, the Yanceyville Home, our newest Home, has been filled to capacity, and we now have almost 200 deserving older men and women living in our midst there and in our other four Homes, Resthaven and Hayes Home in Winston-Salem, the Albemarle Home in Albemarle, and the Hamilton Home in Hamilton. These wonderful people are finding much happiness in Christian companionship with persons their age, and great security in knowing that they will be loved and cared for in sickness as well as in health.

It is a deeply rewarding experience to see the light and joy of Christ on an older person's face and to hear words of deep appreciation almost daily for the Christian love and nurture that North Carolina Baptists are making possible through this ministry. We believe, therefore, that our Baptist people will want to have an ever-increasing part in so worthy a labor of love in the Master's Name. We know that the Lord will not fail us, and we also believe that our people will want to be as faithful as possible.

3. North Carolina Baptist Hospitals, Inc.

COLIN STOKES, Chairman, Board of Trustees
REID T. HOLMES, President and Chief Executive Officer

Your hospital acts as a referral center for complicated and obscure diseases for people all over the state of North Carolina. Approximately 150,000 patients are seen in the service clinics and the private clinics housed in your hospital and medical center. These sick people came from every one of the one hundred counties in North Carolina and from nearby states. Approximately 20,000 of these people were admitted to the hospital for special care and treatment.

Your Baptist Hospital is the teaching hospital for the Bowman Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest University, and as such is expected to have the latest medical and surgical techniques and the newest equipment and devices available for curing obscure diseases. Practically all of our patients are referred to the hospital by local family physicians.

During this year construction of the Paramedical School building for nursing students and the School of Allied Health Sciences, operated in connection with the Bowman Gray School of Medicine, was completed and is now in operation. There are approximately ten different paramedical programs being taught to produce health personnel. We are very proud of this particular facility which will contribute so much to the production of trained health personnel, not only for our needs but for the state and region at large. Approximately $1,000,000 of the cost of this $2,500,000 building program is being underwritten by the Cooperative Program receipts from the Baptist State Convention.

Since your last annual meeting we have been busy in other building expansion programs. We have finished a new Power Plant to serve the medical center, and a five-story addition to the Medical School and an auditorium are nearing completion for their use. We have increased the number of parking spaces significantly available to patients and personnel around the two institutions. A new road has been completed from the East-West Expressway to the front of the new patient tower, which is just beginning to be built after several months of excavation and placing of footings for the fourteen-story building.

Exclusive of the Paramedical School, we have a fund raising goal for the joint medical school - hospital physical building program of $30,000,000. We are still approximately $6,000,000 short of our goal and have plans to intensify our fund raising efforts so that we will not have to borrow more money than we have already been authorized to borrow by the Convention.

Hospital costs, and therefore charges to patients, have been greatly increased over the last four to five years due to inflation and shortage of medical personnel. It has been increasingly difficult for sick patients, whether private or service, to pay their hospital and doctor bills. Consequently, there is a major problem in hospital financing. We are grateful for the Mother's Day offering, and there is a great need in light of present circumstances for the Mother's Day gifts to double. In addition, the Cooperative Program funds for the hospital should be doubled to help keep us financially sound and able to perform our charitable mission. There are many people who are medically indigent in the sense that they have enough money to live, but if an illness occurs in the family, they have no means of paying more than a part if any of the hospital costs.

We wish to acknowledge the work of the Board of Visitors of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine, in particular, Albert Butler as Chairman, and John Watlington the Chairman of the fund raising efforts for our Medical Center Development Program. This board has done a monumental task in helping us to raise money to provide buildings for our expanded programs in the North Carolina Baptist Hospital and the Bowman Gray School of Medicine.

Highlights of the Year

Last year was an eventful one, within and without our denomination, and the Recorder endeavored to cover it as completely as possible.

In Baptist life, it was the year of the Crusade of the Americas and the year that a book by Dr. W. A. Criswell caused considerable discussion. It was also the year in which "reparations" were demanded by James Forman, Negro activist.

It also was the year that the United States Supreme Court said it would rule on a case from New York State that could affect the tax-exempt status of all churches. The Recorder ran a four part editorial series on this subject in addition to numerous news articles and interpretive pieces.

Outstanding gatherings during the year included the Southern Baptist Convention in New Orleans in June and the U. S. Congress on Evangelism in Minneapolis, Minn., in September. The Recorder gave extensive coverage to both meetings.

Perhaps the biggest story of the year was the liquor by the drink battle in the 1969 General Assembly. The Recorder had a part in four straight roll call defeats in the House—votes which turned back the stiff challenge of the North Carolina Travel Council and others who were pushing for liberalization of the state liquor laws. These same forces will be back in the 1971 General Assembly, in addition to those who probably will be pressing for parimutuel betting. As in the past year, the Recorder will be on the scene to report what's going on in the state capitol.

In the Recorder family, the retirement of C. W. Bazemore at the end of 1968 concluded an 18-year record of service as an associate in circulation and promotion. Editor Marse Grant completed his 10th year in that position.

The accompanying financial statement looks good on the surface but the favorable balance was achieved by the staff's doubling up to fill the vacancy created by Mr. Bazemore's retirement. When and if additional financial resources are available, a new associate probably will be added to the staff. In the meantime, the editor and associate Toby Druin—with the help of the entire staff—will do the job.

Without the support of its nearly 90,000 readers, the Recorder could not carry on its ministry. Because of its consistent support through the years, the Recorder will begin its 137th year of service on January 18, 1970. As do other agencies in Southern Baptist life, the Recorder looks to the 70s with great anticipation and optimism.

V. REPORT OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BAPTIST FOUNDATION, INC.

C. Gordon Maddrey, Executive Secretary

During the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1968, and ending June 30, 1969, the total productive assets of the Baptist Foundation amounted to $542,963.92 and on these assets, we had a yield of 5.3 per cent. The income collected amounted to $28,966.08 and at the time of the report, $20,313.56 had been paid to beneficiaries or invested as the contract with donors required. The Foundation owns non-yielding assets in the amount of approximately $500,000. According to our reports from our Fiscal Agent, Wachovia Bank & Trust Company, The North Carolina Baptist Foundation, Inc. now has total assets of over a million and one-half dollars. The total assets of the Foundation when it was reactivated in 1961 were approximately $350,000. Peyton J. Brown of Raleigh was serving at that time on a voluntary basis and has continued to give unselfish service. The present Executive Secretary was hired on a full-time basis in June 1962. As the above report shows, the work of the Foundation in terms of dollars and cents has been steadily increasing during these last years.

In the promotion work conducted by the Foundation, many will clinics have been held in our churches throughout our state. There seems to be a growing awareness that Christians particularly are under obligation to leave a Christian will. Just what final results will accrue from these will clinics, only time will tell. The Foundation does have evidence that more of our people are making wills and that they are remembering in these wills Christian causes and frequently are using the Foundation as the vehicle of service to continue their stewardship in perpetuity for the cause or causes they desire to serve. The desirability for a will becomes even more pressing when statistics indicate that only three out of ten adults have a will.

The Foundation welcomes the opportunity to visit the churches in our Convention and is anxious to be used in will making clinics, individual conferences, personal counseling, and in any way we can be of service. We are grateful for the cooperation that we have received from pastors, associational missionaries, church representatives, and numerous friends for their help in the promotion of the aims and objects of the Baptist Foundation.

VI. REPORT ON CONVENTION COMMITTEES

A. COMMITTEE ON MEMORIALS

Man desires to be remembered. It is said that between the charges of the second battle of Cold Harbor, June, 1864, the officers passing through the union ranks saw the men sitting on the grass, under the trees, or in the thickets, sewing their names on the sleeves of their coats. Why? They expected to die in the next charge and they wanted somebody to know who they were, how they died, when and where.

No, we would not forget, but would—in the words of Robert Louis Stevenson—"like a bird singing in the rain, let grateful memories survive in times of sorrow."

It is wonderful to come to the end of a full, fruitful day and lie down to a well deserved rest. Some of our number have come to the end of a full life, have heard the call of their heavenly Father, and entered into their eternal labors. Here one often becomes tired and weary of body, mind, and spirit. There, their labors are ever refreshing. Maltbie Babcock, in the poem "Death," said it this way,

"This is the death of death, to breathe away a breath
And know the end of strife, and taste the deathless life,

And joy without a fear, and smile without a tear;
And work, nor care to rest, and find the last the best."

They have labored well and their "works do follow them." The world is a better place in which to live, our lives are richer, and heaven is brighter because they have lived and labored among us and are now casting their reflected rays down the corridors of heaven.

Lest we forget, let us write their names in the records of time. Let us here and now, in these moments, call them to memory and rejoice with them that they have heard the commending call from the Master himself: "Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." C. REPORT OF HISTORICAL COMMITTEE

HENRY STROUPE, Chairman

The Historical Committee is pleased to report that the plan whereby the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina and Wake Forest University combine their resources for the collection and preservation of Baptist historical materials has had a good year. From April 1968 until September 1969, Mr. John R. Woodard, Director of the Baptist Historical Collection, was on active duty with the United States Army. In his absence the Collection was under the direction of Mrs. Jeanette Smith, a professional librarian who has now become a member of the staff of the Wake Forest University Library.

During the past year, the Baptist Historical Collection has served its public in a variety of ways. A total of 149 researchers used the library in person and several of them visited it many times. Among those who came were people from Blowing Rock, Boone, Burnsville, Duke University, Piedmont Bible College, Southeastern Seminary, University of Maryland, University of North Carolina, and University of Virginia. In response to requests for information from all over the United States, the Acting Director wrote 70 letters based on research which she did in person. Another form of service is Interlibrary Loan, by means of which books were sent to the libraries of 23 institutions for the use of scholars there.

The staff of the Collection has completed two projects in cooperation with the Southern Baptist Historical Commission of Nashville, Tennessee. One was to compile a list of North Carolina highway markers relating to Baptist history and the other was the beginning of a list of all Baptist-connected art work in North Carolina. The list of art work fills 16 pages, with portraits and photo portraits of leaders in denominational life constituting the bulk of the content.

At the time of this writing, the pilot volume of the Biblical Recorder Index has just been completed by Mrs. Smith and is ready for printing. Copies are expected within a few weeks. The Baptist Historical Collection has an almost complete file of the Biblical Recorder from 1835 to the present. An index is almost a necessity for doing research in a publication of such enormous size.

Accessions to the Collection continued at a steady pace throughout the year. Among the printed materials added were 222 books, 81 associational minutes, and 171 titles on microfilm. More than 7000 items were added to the vertical file, with newspaper clippings on Baptist affairs the most numerous category. The manuscript records of the following four Baptist churches were received: Fairview (also called Pine Creek and Bear Creek) of Madison County, 1832-1876; Winter Park at Wilmington, 1911-1968; Rockingham at Rockingham, 1879-1962; Hester at Oxford, 1837-1967.

Several churches across the state are in the process of writing their histories. The Historical Committee commends this type of activity and urges other Baptist bodies to preserve the records of their past. All institutions and organizations are the product of their histories and must understand the past if they are to plan intelligently for the future. Not only churches but associations, agencies, and institutions are urged to write their histories. Many biographies of North Carolina Baptists, laymen as well as ministers, also need to be written.

Particular attention is called to the fact that the following church histories were published last year:

Hales Chapel Baptist Church, 50th Anniversary, 1919-1968.

Hocutt, H. M., Toils and Tears, History of Oakdale Baptist Church.

Jackson, John Lea, History of Worthville Baptist Church in Randolph County, N. C.

Mt. Calvary Baptist Church, 30th Anniversary, September 29, 1968.

Oak Ridge Baptist Church, Sandy Ridge, N. C., 100th Anniversary, 1866-1966.

Pleasant Hill Baptist Church, 1868-1968.

Sanford First Baptist Church, Historical Sketch of First Baptist Church of Sanford, N. C.

Ward, Pearl, Fifteenth Anniversary Celebration for Spilman Memorial Baptist Church, June 23, 1968.

VII. REPORT OF TRUSTEES OF CONVENTION

Trustees of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, Incorporated, is the Convention's corporation and body corporate, and it is the holder of title and conduit of the Convention's property. The corporation's sole purpose is to serve the Convention, and it acts only under and according to instructions from the Convention, its General Board or its Executive Committee, or by authority granted in Article VII of the Constitution of the Convention.

The corporation's actions include the execution of deeds of conveyance, deeds of trust, contracts and other instruments. This corporation's actions during 1969 include:

1. The Trustees of the Convention, composed of Emery B. Denny, James W. Reid, and Claude F. Gaddy, was organized with Emery B. Denny, President, and James W. Reid, Secretary. Acknowledgment was made of the long record of unselfish service rendered by former President R. L. McMillan, who resigned in 1968 after having served as a Trustee since 1931. Appreciation was voiced also for services performed by T. Lacy Williams, Secretary, who likewise tendered his resignation, and for N. M. Gurley, who died during his term of office.

2. Executed contract with the Brunswick County Board of Education granting the use of the facilities at the North Carolina Baptist Assembly because of a fire which destroyed the school building at Southport.

3. Reviewed insurance contract and approved the values of all property held by the Trustees of the Convention.

4. Approved surety bond on General Board employees and the General Secretary-Treasurer in the amount of $10,000 each with excess coverage of $90,000 for the General Secretary-Treasurer, $90,000 for the Comptroller-Business Manager, $15,000 for the Manager of the North Carolina Baptist Assembly, and $15,000 for the Director of Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute and Conference Center.

5. Executed contract with Shaw University, Raleigh, setting forth terms and conditions for special services and use of certain facilities at the North Carolina Baptist Assembly whereby the University will conduct its Peace Corps Training Program during the latter part of 1969.

6. Executed quitclaim deed to E. J. Poppins covering property used by the Pantego Baptist Church (formerly known as the Missionary Baptist Church of Luckville, Beaufort County, North Carolina) until the congregation was dissolved more than twenty-five years ago.

Respectfully submitted,

TRUSTEES OF THE BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION OF NORTH CAROLINA, INCORPORATED

EMERY B. DENNY, President
JAMES W. REID, Secretary

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF 20 TO BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION OF NORTH CAROLINA

Annual Session November 10-12, 1969
Fayetteville, North Carolina

INTRODUCTION

The Baptist State Convention, during its annual session in 1967, appointed a Committee of 20 to make a special study of Baptist Higher Education, and instructed the Committee to make a full report to the Convention at its annual session in 1968. However, the Committee of 20, feeling that more time was needed for the study, requested that the report be delayed until the annual session of the Convention in 1969. This request was unanimously approved.

The Committee was asked specifically to "study the present serious problems facing our Baptist colleges such as their financial needs, capital improvements and operations, their problems of maintaining top level educational facilities and faculties, future cooperation with state and federal government and future relations with the Baptist State Convention." The Committee was further instructed to "confer with the leadership of the Convention, with the administrative leadership of our Baptist colleges, and with any other sources that would help with a solution to the problems of our colleges and the Convention."

In keeping with Convention instructions, your Committee has offered opportunities for all to be heard, consulted with administrative officers of our Baptist colleges, and studied the areas which you asked us to investigate in the Convention directive in 1967.

The following report is the result of many months of study and research. The findings and recommendations in this report have been distilled from more than thirty separate documents. Copies of all written research materials, surveys and reports have been bound and may be examined in the library of the Baptist Building on Hillsborough Street in Raleigh.

Before going into the specific areas of the report, the Committee would like to make some further introductory statements. First, the Committee asked each Baptist college president to state in writing the desires of his institution concerning its future relationship with the North Carolina Baptist State Convention. Without exception, each president reported that his institution wanted to continue the present relationship with North Carolina Baptists. Each president, on behalf of his institution, also expressed appreciation for the financial support which our colleges receive through the Cooperative Program and through the Baptist College Day offering.

In fairness, it should also be said that among others appearing before the Committee there were some who raised questions with reference to whether Baptists ought to continue to support any colleges. Almost every conceivable type of opinion was expressed to the Committee, ranging from supporting no Baptist colleges to supporting a limited number of institutions. However, it is the firm conviction of your Committee that the vast majority of North Carolina Baptists wish to continue to give support to Christian higher education.

Another great concern, and one about which a variety of views were expressed, was public aid to higher education. The whole problem of public monies and church-related colleges is extremely complex. However, after careful consideration, it is the opinion of the Committee that Section XI, Article D of our Constitution is a flexible instrument which at the same time provides adequate safeguards in the matter of separation of church and state. The Committee also concluded that the guidelines set up by the Committee of 25 and adopted by the Convention in 1958 are sound.* At the same time the Committee recognized the need for equal application of the Constitutional provisions and guidelines, already approved by the Convention, for all institutions and agencies.

At first glance, the financial requirements of the Baptist colleges for the next ten years seem enormous. An estimated $200,000,000 is needed for capital improvements, current operations, and endowment. However, it should be noted that the immediate capital needs approximate $27,000,000, of which a large proportion is necessary to meet the minimum requirements for instructional facilities.

However, when one considers that during the past ten years the operating budgets of these institutions have moved from approximately $6,000,000 to $30,000,000, and that more than $50,000,000 has been raised and spent for capital needs, the picture is brought into better perspective.

As important as the relationships of our colleges to the Convention and our financial needs are, the Committee hopes that these two concerns will not over-shadow many other important parts of their report, including the complex area of student-college relations, the vital matter of accreditation, the importance of rapidly developing inter-institutional co-operation as a viable means of greater economy in operation and enrichment of curricula, and the significance, for our own Baptist institutions, of the development of strong departments of religion on state college and university campuses.

Finally, the Committee wishes to express its appreciation to the many persons who gave endless hours of study and research in preparing the materials upon which this report and the recommendations are based. The Committee does not claim that it has either recognized or recommended solutions to all of the problems; it does feel, however, that there is overwhelming evidence of renewed appreciation for the contribution of the church-related college by both church and society.

One of the greatest endorsements ever given private higher education is contained in the recent long-range planning report on North Carolina higher education of the State Board of Higher Education.† Of further significance is the fact that the North Carolina Foundation of Church Related Colleges in 1968 gave approximately $700,000 to church-related colleges in the State.

† Planning for Higher Education in North Carolina. (Raleigh: North Carolina Board of Higher Education, November 26, 1968.) 496 pages.

Your Committee is convinced that this is not a time for retreat and retrenchment, but a time of challenge and change when a united Convention, through its Cooperative Program, should move concertedly to strengthen and advance every phase of its work, including higher education.

GOALS AND RELATIONS

In a swiftly changing world, stability depends on flexibility and roots. To keep minds open to new truths and yet to provide the deep and lasting supports of old truths — this is the challenge to Christian higher education in the crisis of today's world. The best way to prepare students for an unknown tomorrow is surely this combination of openness and depth. The teachings of Jesus summon men to change, even to rebirth; yet they also counsel men to hold firmly to that which does not change.

The Christian college seeks to follow these teachings, and the churches which have founded the colleges must expect that even as individuals and churches grow in grace, the colleges will also be exercising the power to become, which is at the heart of the Gospel.

Any rigid structure, personal or institutional, is precarious and joyless. A rigid Christian church or college is unresponsive to Christ and His work in the world. Faithful Christian presence calls for flexibility and rootage. Our doctrine of church is sufficiently flexible to allow unity in diversity. The several hundred churches in our Convention work together without being alike. Our concept of colleges requires just such a flexibility. Our several colleges are different in history, heritage, and the means they employ in carrying out their purposes. In order to function effectively as educational institutions, they need the freedom to operate within this diversity, a freedom which our Baptist churches already exercise among themselves.

The Purposes of the Christian College

In spite of obvious differences in North Carolina Baptist colleges, even casual study reveals that they all are committed to a basic Christian purpose. This basic purpose is built upon several presuppositions.

The Christian college seeks to discover, preserve, and transmit truth. It does this with the conviction that all knowledge is of God and that Jesus Christ, as revealed in the Bible, is the integrating center of all truth.

Moreover, Christian colleges are committed to the idea that truth has ethical dimensions. They approach all knowledge from the frame of reference of the Christian view of God, man, and the world. They measure all values in terms of the highest standard of value, namely, the life and principles of Jesus Christ. This is done without forcing unexamined beliefs on students and without encouraging mere verbal conformity.

In the Christian college, this search for truth never limits free inquiry nor does it discourage the questing spirit. It completely supports freedom for responsible study on the part of both students and faculty. An important ethical dimension of truth requires our colleges to maintain high educational standards.

Since the goal of the Christian college is to minister to the total person, including the religious dimension, this goal is carried out, in part, through a curriculum which provides courses of study in Bible, church history and related subjects; through chapel services which provide a genuine worship experience for both students and faculty; and through the personal dedication and commitment of its teachers.

Of special concern to North Carolina Baptist colleges is the matter of Christian vocation. These institutions are deeply conscious of the need to produce intelligent, concerned and knowledgeable persons who will devote their lives to the services of the church through its many specialized ministries. These include pastors, missionaries, chaplains, directors of religious education, directors of church music and many others.

However, Baptist colleges are also aware that when the New Testament speaks of Christian vocation, it is speaking of all work that is honorable. Training lay leadership for society is a primary task of the Baptist college. Because of this special interest in an inclusive definition of Christian vocation, Baptist colleges show appropriate concern for Baptist students in their admission policies.

This two-year study by the Committee of 20 has revealed, among other things, that Baptist colleges are taking seriously the task of understanding and meeting their basic purposes and that the administrative officers and trustees are honestly seeking to work within the framework of their stated purposes and goals.

Because we live in a constantly changing society, it becomes necessary for each generation to re-evaluate its approach to Christian higher education and make adjustments. These adjustments must be made on the part of both the colleges and the churches.

Points of Tension

One of the things needed is for our Convention to face frankly the fact that there are tensions between our churches and our colleges and that, at least in part, these tensions arise out of a deep-seated misunderstanding of basic goals. In order to find a solution to this problem, we must begin by recognizing that a college is not a church and that, conversely, a church is not a college, but that both find their reason for being and unity of purpose in the Lordship of Jesus Christ. If this is recognized, it is possible for each to discover and discharge its responsibility in the Kingdom of God.

Furthermore, a realistic look needs to be taken at some of the primary differences between a college and a church. Some of these differences can be seen in purpose, method of approach, composition of membership and internal administration. It must be understood that a college and a church have their own unique characteristics and particular ministries.

While a primary task of the church is to preach and evangelize, the primary task of the college is to educate. The church and the college will use different methods in approaching their basic goals. But this does not mean that the church is never to educate nor the college never to preach or evangelize; it is rather a matter of emphasis.

The student body of a college and the members of a church are very different in composition. A Baptist church is composed of people who are Christians by profession of faith. A Baptist college, on the other hand, while properly concerned about a Christian faculty and Baptist students, also admits students from all other Christian denominations as well as some who are not Christian.

Having previously stated that the common ground on which Baptist churches in North Carolina and Baptist colleges may get together is that of a common need for deeper commitment and a better understanding of what each has to contribute at this particular time in history, it also needs to be noted that too often churches expect immediate results from their colleges and too often colleges are impatient with what they believe to be a lack of understanding on the part of the churches of some of the basic challenges of higher education. In evaluating the colleges the churches ought to consider other factors in addition to the number of students preparing for church-related vocations or the moral and religious climate on the campuses at any given moment. For just as a church has high and low moments in commitment and dedication, so does a college. Certainly these things are not unimportant; they are very important, but one must keep in mind that the contribution of a Christian college is very much like that of a church, being neither immediate nor as tangible as one might wish.

Our churches need also to keep in mind that the success or failure of a Christian college in the area of immediate goals and objectives, such as church-related vocations and student conduct, may well be a direct reflection of the success of the churches in these same areas. After all, it is in the churches that the students have been nurtured during the most formative years of their lives. In some instances when they come to the college campus, they bring with them negative attitudes towards the church and its traditional faith and moral concerns. This is another concrete demonstration of how badly the churches and colleges need to improve their communications in order to develop solutions to a common problem that is critical.

Finally, it would be unwise, if not dishonest, to fail to recognize that a certain amount of tension is inevitable because of the autonomous nature of Baptist life. Baptist institutions of higher learning must be on the frontier of learning and must always be exploring new truths, and sometimes new truth is not readily received by some members of the local congregation. On the other hand, our colleges—students, professors, and administrative officers —need to develop more patience and to achieve a better understanding of the Baptist people in North Carolina who make up local congregations. As we tolerate, by grace, the imperfections of our churches, we tolerate, by grace, the imperfections of our colleges.

The discipline at our colleges has oftentimes proved itself to be more effective and consistent than that practiced in our churches.

The Charter

Another significant difference between a church and a college is in the matter of a charter. A Baptist church does not have to have a charter; and the congregation is at liberty to operate on its own terms except for those minor regulations imposed by the government such as fire laws, zoning laws, sanitation and building safety codes. On the other hand, an institution such as a college, or a children's home, or a hospital, or a home for the aging, can operate only by and with permission of the state, and under numerous statutory and constitutional regulations which affect almost every phase of the operation of these institutions. Baptists have never operated nor can they operate their educational institutions and social service agencies solely on their own terms inasmuch as such institutions and agencies also serve a public function.

Simply stated, a charter is a document granted by the state to a business or non-profit corporation which enables the corporation to operate under its approved by-laws. The charter in North Carolina is granted by the Secretary of State and includes a statement of purpose of the institution or agency. Except for certain legal requirements, contents of a charter are determined by those who apply.

Constitution and By-laws of the Baptist State Convention

The Constitution and By-laws of the Baptist State Convention and the charters of Baptist colleges represent both a legal and a covenant relationship between Baptist institutions of higher learning and the Baptist State Convention. For this reason, the Committee of 20 has made a study of the charters and by-laws of the Baptist colleges and of the Constitution and By-laws of the Baptist State Convention.

Over the years the Constitution and By-laws of the State Convention have been revised and the charters of the colleges amended.

The Committee of 20 in making its study, has discovered that while there are no major conflicts, in many cases there is a lack of clarity of meaning in the present language in the Constitution and By-law of the Convention. Furthermore, there may be a conflict both in the Constitution of the Convention and in the charters of our colleges with Standard Two, Illustration Two, of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, the regional accrediting agency, which requires that procedural due process be followed in dismissing a trustee.*

* Excerpts from Illustration 2 of Standard II: "The board should be assured appropriate continuity and independence. Appropriate continuity is normally assured by express provision for individual terms of adequate length, reasonably staggered; and for removal from office only for cause, by procedures involving due process, desirably by the board itself. The board's independence is normally assured by an expression or an established tradition that the board is independent of outside control in determining policy for the institution. In practice the board has the responsibility to exercise its independent judgment in matters of institutional policy, and should not permit itself to be subject to undue outside pressures." Standards of the College Delegate Assembly of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

Other illustrations also demonstrate the complexity of the problem. For example, there is the statement, "The trustees and the director shall be responsible to the Convention for the operation of the institutions in accordance with Baptist principles." The question arises, What particular Baptist principles are to be considered? It is evident that there would be extreme difficulty in defining such principles, say, in a civil court, as well as on the Convention floor. Another statement says, "No change of policy shall be made without securing the prior approval of the Convention or its General Board." When this went into the Constitution, the writers apparently had in mind something concrete, but it is not so stated here.

Therefore, the Committee believes that a more thorough study ought to be made of the Constitution and By-laws of the Convention and also of the charters of our Baptist colleges.

Trustees

Trustees of North Carolina Baptist colleges are dedicated Baptists who give unstintingly of their time and energies in fulfilling their responsibilities to their institutions.

Your Committee wishes to commend the Annual Trustee Orientation Conference which is held each year for the trustees of all Baptist institutions and agencies. The Trustee Orientation Conference represents one of the concrete ways by which better communications have been established between our college trustees and the work of our Convention as a whole.

No group plays a more important role in denominational relations than the trustees of our colleges. These are responsible men and women democratically chosen and elected under the provisions of the State Convention's Constitution and By-laws by duly elected Messengers of our Baptist churches.

While our Convention has a long and honorable history of support of its trustees, there have been times when matters have been brought to the Convention floor which more appropriately should have gone first to the college administrators, trustees, or both.

Any Messenger to the Convention has the freedom to raise any kind of question about any institution or agency of the Convention. However, the Committee believes any Messenger to the Baptist State Convention has the prior responsibility to have stated the matter of his concern to the administration or trustees of the institution. We call the Convention's attention to the fact that this is a procedure which our Lord counsels in Matthew 18:15-16.

While the Convention by the very nature of Baptist polity must always be an open forum, it has wisely placed in the hands of the trustees and directors certain duties and responsibilities concerning its agencies and institutions. We have learned through the years that the Convention in session, while fulfilling certain administrative responsibilities for its institutions and agencies, cannot effectively function, however, as a super board in substitution for the respective and duly constituted boards of its individual institutions and agencies.

RECOMMENDATION 1

We recommend that the present relationship of our institutions of higher learning with the North Carolina Baptist State Convention be continued and strengthened.

RECOMMENDATION 2

We recommend that the Convention continue this Committee for an additional year so that it may engage in a more careful study of the Constitution and By-laws of the Baptist State Convention and the charters of our Baptist colleges for the purpose of recommending [Note: Carl E. Bates, in presenting this to the Convention, made the following change in wording: ". . . certain clarification in language, if necessary, to the Convention. . . ." It is in this form that the Recommendation was adopted.—LJB]. certain necessary clarification in language to the Convention at its annual meeting in November of 1970. We also recommend that a careful examination be made of the charters of the Baptist institutions of higher education and the Constitution of the Baptist State Convention to determine whether or not there are conflicts between constitutional and charter provisions with respect to procedural due process in dismissing trustees.

THE STUDENT

While it is not within the scope of this study to examine all of the complexities of student unrest, the Committee feels that it must express concern in at least two areas: student participation in college governance and the rights of students as citizens.

The current revolution sweeping campuses is a world-wide phenomenon. From Berkeley to Berlin, and from Madrid to Madras there have been massive and often violent student protests. While the majority of American college students has sought reform rather than revolution, a militant minority has spread havoc and terror on campus and in community. Under the guise of civil disobedience, militants have often resorted to anarchy, threatening not only the orderly process of education but democratic government under law.

This militant minority, however, ought not to blind those who are responsible for college and university governance to students' legitimate requests for needed reforms.

Participation in Governance

Among legitimate academic concerns of students are better teaching, updated curricula, a voice in college governance, and more regard for the student as a person. Another closely related problem is the constantly rising cost of a college education, which threatens to exclude many students who come from low and even middle income families.

While these by no means represent all the concerns about which students are protesting (e.g., the Vietnam war, race, higher education's responsibility for social reform, etc.), they are representative and reflect a unity of thought to be found among college students around the world.

While trustees and faculty must reserve the right to make final decisions in many matters, there should be established regular channels of communication through which students can speak and be taken seriously. Students must be made to feel not only that they will be heard but that, where indicated and where possible, prompt corrective action will be taken.

Colleges and universities are discovering that students can make valuable contributions as members of major faculty and administrative committees. Some colleges are experimenting with limited student representation on boards of trustees.

Since a major objective of the academic community is to create a climate of mutual trust, just to include students on faculty and administrative committees is not enough. This approach limits students to the level of problem-solving, and does not call for creative participation. What they need and want is a part in the development of educational policy, and the college should capitalize upon their constructive interests and avail itself of their services when possible.

The Student as Citizen

Until relatively recently, the doctrine of in loco parentis (the school acting as parent to the child away from home) prevailed on campuses of both public and private colleges and universities. Under this usually benevolent, sometimes autocratic system, the institution could expel, suspend, or otherwise punish at will. Student rights were rights conferred by the institution. The student as a person had only those privileges which the institution chose to grant him.

For a number of reasons, however, the doctine of in loco parentis has undergone considerable erosion, and since 1953 courts have tended to hold that a college education is now so important that no student can be deprived of it lightly, capriciously, or without evidences of procedural due process (e.g., stated charges, fair hearing, adequate counsel).

The courts also have held that a student may not be deprived of his constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and freedom of assembly. Nevertheless, it should be quickly noted that this does not mean that a student has the right to disrupt the orderly educational processes of the institution, destroy property, or violate the law.

Moreover, there has been considerable misunderstanding about the demise of the in loco parentis concept. The courts never have held that either a public or private institution cannot require reasonable codes of conduct both on and off the campus. What the courts are saying is that colleges and universities must spell out their rules, put them in writing, and hand them to the student at the time he is admitted.

Disruption of Orderly Operations

North Carolina Baptist colleges to date have been extremely fortunate in having had no major student confrontation, and while it is hoped that such a confrontation will not occur, the disruption of the orderly academic and administrative process, willful flouting of the law, and the destruction of property cannot be tolerated. Trustees have an obligation to back the faculty and the administration when disruptive groups threaten the essential operation of an institution.

RECOMMENDATION 3

We recommend that the administrators and trustees of each Baptist institution of higher learning in North Carolina re-examine its procedures from time to time to be sure that students have an appropriate channel through which they can be heard, and an opportunity to participate in the life of the academic community.

RECOMMENDATION 4

We recommend (1) that each Baptist institution of higher learning in North Carolina regularly re-examine its policies related to student conduct, in light of appropriate standards for a Christian college; (2) that each institution state these policies clearly and firmly in writing, particularly in the college catalogue and student handbook; and (3) that each college or university review at appropriate times procedures for dealing with violations.

RECOMMENDATION 5

We recommend that each institution be prepared to act swiftly and deal decisively with any student or group of students who interfere with orderly processes or seek to impose their will by force or violence; and, further, that each administration make clear its intent to use, as a last resort, all legal resources available, including injunctions and law enforcement agencies, to protect life, preserve order and prevent destruction of property.

ACCREDITATION

The accrediting agency for institutions in North Carolina is the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, a regional organization formed by the voluntary association of its member institutions. The accreditation of an institution indicates that it at least meets minimum acceptable standards in the quality of work accomplished. The study to determine whether a college can be accredited (termed an evaluation) is performed by the accrediting agency only upon the request of the college. The evaluation is made by representatives from member institutions of the Association, some of whom are usually from colleges similar in size and character to the institution being evaluated. Once an institution has been accredited, it is eligible for membership in the regional accrediting association. Accreditation is not permanent, nor are the requirements static and unchanging. The accreditation of an institution is reviewed every ten years on the basis of another evaluative study.

Accreditation signifies that an institution has reached and maintained standards related to eleven categories.*

* Standards of the College Delegate Assembly of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. (Atlanta: The Association, 1966.) 30 pages.

Purpose

Each institution is judged on how well it fulfills its own stated purpose and goals, and these are neither dictated nor questioned by the accrediting agency. For this reason, there are no minimum standards by which an institution's purposes are judged. It is important, however, that the faculty, financial resources, physical plant, and educational program be adequate and appropriate to meet the stated purpose of the institution.

Organization and Administration

The accrediting agency examines two items very closely: (a) the authority of the board of trustees, and (b) the absence of external budgetary control. It insists that control of the institution be vested in its board of trustees. Members of the board of trustees should be representative of the constituency of the institution; and, further, the board of trustees should have stability and continuity assured through the method of election. Major responsibilities of the board of trustees include establishing broad institutional policies, securing the necessary financial resources, and selecting the president. The board should not be subjected to undue pressure from political or religious groups, and it should protect the institution's administration from similar outside pressures. The accrediting agency further insists that there be no external budgetary control.

Educational Program

An institution is judged on its performance of its educational functions in accord with its stated purposes. Accreditation thus furnishes assurance to the faculty and administration that they are adhering to their defined tasks, to the students that they are receiving proper value for time and money invested, and to the supporters of the institution that their efforts are being invested in a worthwhile enterprise. Admissions policies, curricular offerings and instructional procedures should relate to and implement the purposes of the institution. Continuous evaluation and improvement of instruction are marks of institutional vitality. It is understandable that one of the first concerns expressed by prospective students is with respect to the accreditation of the institution. Accreditation gives at least minimum assurance that the institution can attract and retain qualified faculty and that students can transfer to comparable programs in other colleges and universities without loss of credit or question as to the quality of their education.

Financial Resources

The financial resources of a college determine, in part, the quality of its educational program. The reverse is also true, as a quality program attracts financial resources. The adequacy of financial resources is judged in relation to the basic purposes of the institution, the scope of its program, and the number of its students. Private and church-related institutions should have a history of diversified sources of income in order to indicate stability. Endowments are especially important to institutions which are not tax-supported. Minimum expenditures are prescribed based on degrees awarded at the institution and the number of students enrolled. No body outside the institution and its board of trustees should exercise any control over the expenditures of the institution, as such control is also control of the educational program. Such practices violate the principles set forth throughout the accreditation standards.

Faculty

The selection, development, and retention of a competent faculty at all academic levels is of major importance to all institutions. The relationship between faculty objectives and institutional purposes determines in large measure the effectiveness of the total educational program. The academic preparation and experience of the faculty are significant factors in determining the quality of the institution and should be such as to further the purposes of the institution. Faculty standards relate primarily to the educational attainments of faculty members (the proportions of faculty having master's, doctor's and other advanced degrees), and to institutional policies and practices concerning recruitment and selection, faculty organization, financial security, academic freedom and tenure, teaching loads and salary, promotions and other recognitions and rewards.

Library

The library is a vital instrument of instruction and should be considered a part of the academic program. The book and periodical collection should, by quality, size and nature, support and stimulate the entire educational program. In addition, standards of the accrediting agency deal mainly with budget, staff, the necessity for excellent library service, and the hours per week a library should be open, and buildings and equipment.

Student Personnel

The institution should seek to know as much as possible about the background of its students and this information should be properly safeguarded against unauthorized persons and uses; there should be a continuing concern for the total welfare of each student including his physical and mental health, development of capacities and talents, establishment of relationships with other persons, and motivation for progress in intellectual understanding. Accrediting standards relate to administration of student personnel services, academic and personal records, orientation, counseling, health, athletics, and alumni affairs.

Physical Plant

The physical facilities, including buildings, equipment, and campus, should be designed and maintained to serve the needs of the institution in relation to its stated purposes. A master plan for campus development should be maintained.

Special Activities

Special activities consist of supplemental and special educational programs related to the institution's objectives and the needs of its constituents, and include extension classes, correspondence and home study, foreign travel and study, conferences, workshops, special evening and summer classes, and television and radio. The standards of the accrediting agency apply directly to all programs involving academic credit. Special activities must be integral parts of the total educational program of the institution, and accreditation is affected by the quality of each program or course.

Graduate Program

Graduate programs are courses of study beyond the baccalaureate level usually leading to an advanced degree. Research and training in research are fundamental in all graduate programs. Graduate programs should not be undertaken by an institution unless the academic integrity of the undergraduate program can be maintained and financial support for superimposed graduate studies is unusually strong. Factors evaluated by the accrediting agency include administrative organization, competent faculty in the major and supporting fields, and adequate library and laboratory facilities for advanced study.

Research

Policies relative to research by members of the faculty or students should ensure conformity of this activity to the stated purposes of the institution, provide an appropriate balance between research and instruction, and guarantee control of administration of the research by the institution. At the same time, the investigator's freedom in research, including direction and communication of results, should be preserved.

For a Baptist institution to attract and retain students or faculty of high caliber, it is not only desirable but absolutely necessary that the institution obtain and keep its accreditation. More important, it is entirely in keeping with Christian doctrine that a Christian educational institution should not be satisfied with anything less than excellence within its field, and, Baptists, therefore, should not be content to support any institution of higher education which is not fully accredited.

RECOMMENDATION 6

We recommend that the administration and faculties of the Baptist institutions of higher learning in North Carolina be commended for maintaining accreditation by the regional accrediting agency.

RECOMMENDATION 7

We recommend that every effort be made through the Council on Christian Higher Education, through the public relations departments of Baptist colleges, through the "Biblical Recorder," through the Baptist Foundation, and through the churches to keep our people fully aware that increased financial support in the near future may be necessary in order to maintain accreditation, and that existing sources of support must be increased and new sources carefully explored.

INTER-INSTITUTIONAL COOPERATION

The primary purpose of inter-institutional cooperation is to improve and increase the quantity and quality of instructional services on the college level. Among the growing number of examples of inter-institutional cooperation among and between institutions are student exchange, faculty exchange, joint use of facilities, joint research, joint public service programs, joint administration, joint purchasing, and general services. Other participating agencies are industries, foundations, and agencies of local, state and federal government. Inter-institutional cooperation seems to be one of the answers to the problems of a small college on how, at minimum cost, to expand its curricula to meet the pressing demands of today.

During the past ten years cooperation between the colleges has been growing rapidly in North Carolina and throughout the nation. The U. S. Office of Education has recently inventoried more than 1000 arrangements of mutual cooperation between institutions of the nation. An example is a recently announced bi-lateral arrangement between Meredith College and North Carolina State University which permits students at Meredith College, a liberal arts women's institution, to share the University's advanced scientific and mathematics offerings, while the University's students take advantage of Meredith's music, art, and other academic opportunities.

Other illustrative agreements in North Carolina are the Council on Christian Higher Education of the Baptist State Convention (seven institutions), the Piedmont University Center (twenty institutions), the Association of Eastern North Carolina Colleges (twelve institutions), and the Coordinating Council of the Western North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church (four institutions).

Coming to the forefront for recognition are the agreements between colleges and private enterprise, whereby mutual advantages are had by research facilities and coordinating opportunities. For example, the North Carolina Computer Orientation Project (sponsored by the North Carolina Board of Higher Education) provides colleges across the state the use of a powerful 360/75 computer in the Triangle Universities Computation Center by means of telephone lines and remote terminals. No institution alone could afford such a facility.

At present there are 233 cooperative arrangements existing among the 75 North Carolina institutions of higher education. Suffice it to say, all of the senior institutions, state and private, are involved in this program.

RECOMMENDATION 8

We recommend that each Baptist college continue to explore possible cooperative arrangements with each other and with other institutions, public and private.

RECOMMENDATION 9

We recommend that the Committee on Correlation and Instruction of the Council on Christian Higher Education explore ways of utilizing the services of Wake Forest University to assist the faculty members of other Baptist colleges in securing graduate degrees, and further that the Council explore all avenues of cooperation with other colleges which might prove beneficial to Baptist institutions of higher learning.

RECOMMENDATION 10

We recommend also that North Carolina Baptist colleges work with the Council on Christian Higher Education in seeking to avoid expensive duplication of courses and programs in specialized fields of study.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF DEPARTMENTS OF RELIGION IN PUBLIC COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

One of the more significant developments in American higher education in recent years has been the quiet but steady growth of departments of religion on state college and university campuses. The study of religion, which was once the almost exclusive domain of private higher education, is now taking place in more than 135 public colleges and universities. Two of the best examples of this growth, both in the strength of faculty and in depth of curriculum, are to be found at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and at Florida State University.

There are a number of trenchant reasons why this development in American higher education has taken place: the growing disillusionment within American culture with the ability of a purely empirical science to meet two of man's most deep-seated needs, the need to find meaning in life and the need to arrive at some standard for making value judgments; changing patterns in the American home which tend to give less religious training than before and which has tended to lose its traditional identity with the church; recognition by teachers in other disciplines that without the study of religion, a vast area of human history, culture, and complex personality has been neglected; and, finally, the rapidly expanding university enrollment and the steady increase in the proportion of students attending public colleges and universities has generated a new interest in the study of religion as a legitimate academic discipline.

Therefore, with public colleges and universities now giving a new and high priority to the teaching of religion, how much more important it is that church-related colleges reconsider the value and place of the department of religion in its program of instruction.

Because Baptists place so much emphasis on both intellectual and soul freedom, Baptist colleges must avoid a doctrinaire stance which gives the student no options in the matter of discovering and developing his own faith. It should be kept in mind, however, that church-related colleges can take a legitimate religious stance which public colleges and universities cannot do.

The Danforth Commission Report,* based on a study of 800 church-related colleges, recommended "that church colleges make definite provision in their curricula for helping students develop a philosophy of life, a faith, a coherent and reasoned understanding of fundamental matters. It is now assumed by most colleges that this goal is attained indirectly and fortuitously, that it is not an objective toward the achievement of which the student can be assisted in an orderly way. This assumption is fallacious. The student is no more likely to arrive at a sound world view effortlessly and by chance than he is to master calculus as a by-product of studying psychology or music."

Your Committee, therefore, feels that, in keeping with their purposes, the Baptist colleges should develop the strongest departments of religion possible.

RECOMMENDATION 11

We recommend that each Baptist college at regular intervals review its program of religious instruction to insure that it has qualified and dedicated faculty, adequate facilities, and the necessary library holdings.

RECOMMENDATION 12

We recommend that each department of religion review from time to time at least the following areas: the role of the department in presenting to students the Christian world view and in training laymen for service in the church, its role in pre-theological education, in adult education, in working with local churches, and its role in relationship to other academic disciplines.

FINANCES

Our findings and recommendations concerning finances are based on more than fifteen surveys, research papers, and separate reports. We believe that the projections of financial needs of Baptist higher education are reasonably accurate, but point out that there are so many variables and contingencies that there will always be some uncertainty at best. The more unpredictable factors include the war in Vietnam, the national economy, public policies as related to higher education, building costs and student enrollments.

National Picture

American higher education is going through an unprecedented national crisis, affecting both public and private colleges and universities. Private higher education is in an extremely critical condition. Substantially endowed institutions such as Harvard University with a billion dollar endowment, are beginning to feel the pinch. At least twenty liberal arts colleges and universities in the nation with endowments totaling in excess of $1,600,000,000, estimate current annual operating deficits of $3,000,000, and by 1975 $45,000,000.

In 1967-68 more than 17 billion dollars was spent on higher education in the United States, and by 1975 this figure is expected to reach 34 to 40 billion. This rapid escalation of costs is due to increased enrollments, necessary improvements in facilities, soaring building costs, rising instructional costs and inflation.

Conservative estimates are that current operations will increase in cost 12 to 14 per cent per year for the next ten years. One of the most serious aspects of rapidly increasing costs in higher education is the estimate that by 1978 the average cost to a student in a public college or university will be $2600 per year and in a private institution $4900 per year. Both private and public colleges and universities are faced with the disturbing possibility of pricing themselves out of the market for low and middle income families.

North Carolina Baptist Colleges

At the present time, all North Carolina Baptist colleges are operating without deficits and have been able to reach the end of the 1968-69 academic year with small surpluses. These colleges are also meeting the minimum requirements of the regional accrediting agency with respect to expenditures per student. However, the relatively small operating surpluses are danger signals for the days ahead, both in the light of costs that are certain to escalate and the fact that more and more of these costs are being passed on to the students.

Income

With the exception of Wake Forest University, student charges are by far the greatest single source of income for Baptist higher education in North Carolina. Unfortunately, the Baptist colleges have been forced to pass on to the student and his parents more and more of the educational costs. Investment income or income from endowment accounts for a negligible proportion of the total income of Baptist colleges. The range is from a low of 1 per cent to a high of 10.3 per cent. Wake Forest University is the only Baptist institution possessing substantial endowment income. The Baptist State Convention of North Carolina provides the second largest source of income for all of the Baptist colleges, with the exception of Wake Forest University.

Current Expenditures

The North Carolina Baptist colleges follow closely the regional trend in increased expenditures. From the fiscal year ending in 1958 to the fiscal year ending in 1969, the current expenditures of our colleges jumped from $6,055,057 to an estimated $24,697,570, while during the same period enrollments increased from 6,648 to 12,122. Thus while operating costs increased by more than 245 per cent, enrollments increased by only 68 per cent.

Instructional salaries in the period 1963 to 1968 moved from $3,167,378 to $6,675,248. While student enrollments increased by about 22 per cent in this five-year period, instructional costs increased by almost 100 per cent.

Library expenditures between 1963 and 1968 increased from $441,120 to $1,212,335, or approximately 300 per cent. The cost for plant operation and maintenance increased during the same period from $958,048 to $2,079,257, or more than 100 per cent. Based on an annual increase in operating costs of 12 per cent, it is estimated that by 1978 a total of $48,855,000 will be needed to meet the current expenditures of the seven North Carolina Baptist higher educational institutions.

Capital Needs

In projecting capital needs for North Carolina Baptist institutions, the colleges were asked to submit capital needs figures for the periods 1968-1973 and 1973-1978, in order of priority. To insure a realistic picture of the future needs, they were asked to include in capital needs the estimates of both campus improvement and special equipment. The total capital needs estimate for Baptist colleges during the next ten years is approximately $58,000,000. While this may seem, at first, to be a startling figure, it is probably low. It should be kept in mind that during the past ten years these institutions have increased their plant investments by approximately $50,000,000. It is also to be noted that a very large proportion of projected capital needs is for instructional facilities. These are non-income producing buildings which are necessary to maintain academic standards.

Endowment

The Baptist institutions are projecting endowment needs of approximately $73,000,000 over the next ten years, $44,000,000 by Wake Forest University.* These projected needs are probably low, but realistic in terms of what they believe they can accomplish.

In summary, North Carolina Baptist colleges will require over the next ten-year period $57,933,000 for capital needs and $73,150,000 for endowment, or a total of $131,083,000. By 1978 current operation expenditures by the Baptist colleges are expected to exceed $48,000,000.*

The Committee has tried to examine realistically all possible sources of financial support, taking into consideration the present financial crisis in higher education in the United States and particularly that of private and church-related colleges. There is no question but that these institutions, in addition to striving for more economical operation and imposing some self limitations, will have to cultivate intensely all possible sources of income. With this in mind, we make recommendations in the following areas.

Alumni

A recent report from the Ford Foundation indicates that only 52 per cent of our college graduates nationally are aware that their alma mater has financial problems. Far fewer actually contribute anything to the support of the institution which they attend. Both business and foundations are tending more to favor colleges and universities which show unusually good annual alumni support, which still remains one of the greatest untapped sources of revenue. Alumni could in effect provide many additional millions of dollars of endowment by annual giving, and could also, from time to time, make special pledges to help meet capital needs.

* Bowman Gray School of Medicine not included.

RECOMMENDATION 13

We recommend that each Baptist college intensify its effort to locate, inform, and enlist alumni in annual giving programs, develop a broad basis of appeal sufficient to reach the interest of all alumni, and establish a centralized administration of all alumni appeals for funds in order to avoid group interest competition within the alumni association.

Bequests

It is likely that most large gifts in the future from individuals will be in the form of bequests. The trend of our tax laws makes it increasingly difficult for individuals to accumulate, hold and leave sizable estates to future generations of their families. Either the government or charitable institutions will be the ultimate recipients of the lion's share of these estates. Thus, exceptional but fast evaporating opportunities now exist for our institutions of higher learning.

RECOMMENDATION 14

We recommend that each of our Baptist colleges place strong emphasis upon bequests and obtain such personnel as needed to implement such a program effectively.

Cooperative Program

The Baptist State Convention Cooperative Program is now and will continue to be a financial lifeline for Baptist colleges. This financial vote of confidence by the Convention also has had a significant effect on private and corporate donations, particularly from Baptist laymen. If the present financial picture holds, however, neither the percentage increase of Cooperative Program funds nor the dollar increase will be sufficient to keep up with the rapidly rising costs in higher education. Nevertheless, this does not mean that the Cooperative Program income will lose its significance. As a matter of fact, Cooperative Program income, at least for the foreseeable future, will continue to be the largest single source of revenue for Baptist colleges apart from student charges.

The Baptist State Convention entered into a contract in 1946 with the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation in which the Convention agreed in perpetuity to contribute to Wake Forest University not less than 7.5 per cent of the total Cooperative Program distributable funds (less certain deductible items*), in return for which the Foundation agreed in perpetuity to Wake Forest University the sum of $350,000 per year, or the net income of the Foundation if less than $350,000. However, the Foundation is now contributing more than twice the promised amount. Since the inception of the agreement, the Foundation has increased its perpetual annual gift to $620,000 and is presently committed to give an additional annual gift of $120,000 for the years 1968 through 1972.

If the proportion of our state Cooperative Program distributable funds to our seven colleges is further reduced, the formula for distribution of funds to the colleges could well be destroyed. In view of the fact that the Wake Forest share of such funds was right at the irreducible minimum in 1968, if the percentage of distribution to the colleges as a whole is reduced below the 1968 level, the funds must be taken away from the other six colleges.

Inasmuch as a minimum of 33⅓ per cent of the distributable Cooperative Program dollar has been set as the amount which North Carolina Baptists must contribute each year to Southwide causes, and in light of the Convention contract with the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation to the effect that the Convention's contribution to Wake Forest cannot drop below 7.5 per cent of the total Cooperative Program funds, it is imperative that a floor be put under distribution of Cooperative Program funds to the other Baptist colleges in North Carolina.

RECOMMENDATION 15

We recommend that the Executive Committee and the General Board in making its annual budget request to the Convention keep in mind that should the percentage going to the Baptist colleges fall below the 1968 level, a most serious problem could be created. We further recommend that this percentage be increased as soon as possible in the light of the serious financial needs of our colleges.

Endowment Funds

National studies have recently indicated that most private colleges and universities are now receiving from one to one and one-half per cent less income from their investments than they should be realizing. Two reasons have been cited for this situation: over caution in investments and the absence of competent counsel and long-range planning.

RECOMMENDATION 16

We recommend that each Baptist college make use of professional consultants for reviewing procedures and principles of investment with the view to increasing endowment income.

Indebtedness

Most private, church-related institutions in recent years have been forced to borrow money to replace obsolete facilities and to build libraries and classroom facilities which will meet standards for accreditation. However, there is a point beyond which indebtedness can defeat the very purpose for which the money was borrowed.

RECOMMENDATION 17

We recommend that during this inflationary period and in the face of the increasing high rates of interest, all Baptist institutions of higher learning in North Carolina liquidate indebtedness as quickly as possible, and for the foreseeable future incur new debts with great caution.

Limited Enrollments

Finances and quality education are so bound up together that the matter of enrollment is extremely important. The consensus among knowledgeable educators is that small private colleges must watch expanding enrollments very carefully. Normally, when enrollments are expanded, both the operational costs and capital requirements expand sharply. Since, in most cases, we are now almost at the limit of costs that can be passed on to the student, the need for funds from outside sources will appreciably increase as enrollments grow.

RECOMMENDATION 18

We recommend that the administration and board of trustees of each of our colleges, with the assistance of professional consultants, give high priority to matching optimum enrollments with available resources and existing facilities.

Tuition Differential

Public colleges and universities are required by law to charge a tuition differential for out-of-state students, i.e., higher tuition than that charged North Carolina residents. Some of our Baptist colleges are already charging such a differential. A tuition differential does not necessarily decrease attendance of students from beyond the borders of this State, because even with the differential, tuition charges in North Carolina are a bargain when compared with charges in many other states. Those Baptist colleges which have already inaugurated this program report that they have experienced no adverse effects.

RECOMMENDATION 19

We recommend that each institution of higher learning give strong consideration to the possibility of charging proportionately higher tuition to out-of-state students.

Long-range Planning and Efficiency in Operation

Recent national studies have indicated that many private colleges and universities could effect substantial savings in both building costs and current operations by securing expert advice and counsel in long-range planning.

RECOMMENDATION 20

We recommend that each North Carolina Baptist institution of higher learning take full advantage of long-range planning both for current operations and in plant development, and that advice of experts in plant development, business management, investment of funds, and curriculum development be sought regularly, with the aim of achieving the most efficient operation possible.

Public Funds and Private Institutions of Higher Education

The issue of public funds for private institutions of higher education poses special problems for Baptists in the light of our historic witness to religious liberty as protected by the principle of separation of church and state. We must continue to champion the cause of the free, uncoerced religious conscience. And so we must stand firm on the principle that no public funds can be used as direct aid to religious institutions for the purely sectarian interests of such institutions. However, on the question of "indirect aid" or cooperative efforts on the part of church and state "for the public good" or for "services rendered," new interpretations of church-state relationships are needed in the light of our historical and cultural situation.

The elements which need further examination as we continue to protect that free religious conscience are as follows: (1) a clear understanding of the nature and extent of "indirect aid"; (2) a clear understanding of the nature and extent of what "services rendered" means; (3) the relation of the "separation principle" to individual religious liberty; and (4) a careful examination of the significant court cases that bear upon the whole matter.

The Issue of Indirect Aid. "Direct aid" to religious institutions for the propagation of religious beliefs and support of other distinctly religious functions is clearly in violation of the First Amendment of the Constitution of the United States.

"Indirect aid" to churches and religious institutions has been an inevitable part of church-state relations; such aid as the tax-exempt status of churches, fire and police protection, subsidized postal rates, and income tax deductions for contributions to churches and charities, to name but a few examples.

Quite clearly the enabling legislation making public funds available to private colleges looks upon such assistance as constituting not aid to religion but to the "national interest" and "common good" whose main beneficiary is the individual student.

Government sees its role as fulfilling its responsibility for the "health, education and welfare" of its citizens. The government recognizes what we have long overlooked: our colleges fulfill a dual function—the public function of general education and the sectarian function of religious education. The Congress has carefully written the Higher Education Acts so as to aid private colleges only in their public function; they prohibit "direct aid" to the religious functions of private institutions.

The Education Acts, while giving aid to the public function for the "common good," are not unmindful of the indirect aid which such funds provide; nor is such indirect aid prohibited. The principle of separation of church and state is not thereby violated since the basic freedom of the individual religious conscience is protected, as well as the freedom and integrity of religious institutions.

The Issue of "Services Rendered." The government looks upon funds expended for programs that are available to private colleges as expenditures for "services rendered." Many of the programs available are on a contractual basis. The government sees itself as purchasing services for the general welfare. The Congress is satisfied that the constitutional requirements have been met.

Again, the legislation specifically forbids such funds to be used for any direct sectarian purpose; they can be applied only to those areas in which private institutions already overlap the function of public institutions in serving the "public good."

The Higher Education Acts, therefore, are in harmony with Article XI, Section D of the Constitution of our Baptist State Convention.*

The Relation of the Separation Principle to Individual Religious Liberty. "Indirect aid" of many kinds has existed from the founding of the nation without violation of the First Amendment clauses related to religious liberty and religious institutions. Baptist churches and institutions have been inextricably involved in such "indirect aid," which in no instance has restricted personal religious liberty or the life and worship of local congregations, or the life of our religious institutions.

The major question concerns the protection of the individual conscience and the inviolate integrity of religious institutions. Where both are protected in any cooperative action with the state, such cooperation is both desirable and necessary.

To participate in such cooperative efforts is but to add the principle of "cooperation" to the complex subject of church-state relations. Nor does it mean the surrender of the "principle of separation" where that principle more aptly applies, as always in regard to the matter of "direct aid" to religious institutions. The New Testament principle is the freedom of the soul before God. The "separation principle" is a policy which protects such freedom under certain conditions in church-state relations. The "principle of cooperation" may be the better policy under another set of circumstances.

Denominations which have participated in the available Federal higher education programs produce no evidence of any instance where individual religious liberty has been infringed or coerced; no church has been closed or restricted in its worship or ministries, and no institution has been restricted in its distinctly religious purposes.

Church cooperation with the state in areas of mutual concern can strengthen service to the common good by both church and state, while still safeguarding the religious conscience in ways not possible through rigid insistence on absolute separation.

The government sees itself as a partner with the private sector in the educational enterprise. It sees clearly the wisdom and necessity of maintaining the dual system of education.

* Constitution, North Carolina Baptist State Convention, Article XI, Section D. "Neither the Convention, nor any institution or agency, owned or supported in whole or in part by the Convention, shall accept or receive, directly or indirectly, any gift, grant, or aid from the Federal or State governments or any governmental agency, except for definite and full services rendered by the institution or agency and by and with the approval of the Convention or its General Board.

The Supreme Court of the United States has recognized that (we are a religious people and that) religious institutions must be protected if our society is to remain free. "Cooperation" as well as "separation" can protect the freedom of the individual conscience in matters of religious conviction and practice. Likewise our religious institutions can be protected, since the agreements of cooperation are so written as to prohibit any control by the government over the institution's purposes, religious functions or any phase of the inner life of the institution.

An Examination of Significant Court Cases. Supreme Court cases in the past twenty years have clarified the following matters: the health, safety and general benefit of the individual can be met by public funds for the "common good" without violating the First Amendment (Everson, 1947); standing has been granted an individual to test the constitutionality of a law (Flast, 1968); textbooks can be supplied under certain conditions to students in private schools (Board of Education, 1968).

More recently, (Horace Mann League vs. Board of Public Works, 1967) the Supreme Court refused to hear a decision rendered by the appellate court of Maryland, in effect sustaining the Maryland Court which determined the "degree of religiosity" in granting public funds to one college while denying funds to three other colleges in Maryland. The relation of this court action to the Higher Education Acts is not yet clear. More significant is the case recently decided by the Supreme Court of the United States relating to a Vermont case similar to the Maryland one cited above. Under Rule 60, the Supreme Court dismissed the case, in effect sustaining the Vermont Supreme Court ruling that the Vermont Educational Buildings Financial Agency was constitutionally valid.

Further tests will likely have to be made to see how far the Maryland and Vermont decisions apply to all the Education Acts and programs of the Federal Government. Such testing may take a number of years, thus leaving the final clarification of the constitutionality of such acts hanging in the balance.

Colleges, both public and private, would be wise to avoid becoming too deeply involved in government programs until the constitutional question is finally resolved. The government, however, is in the educational enterprise to stay. It is not likely, therefore, that the Educational Acts in their entirety will be declared unconstitutional. The unavailability of funds for the various programs might well be more serious than the constitutional question.

Conclusion. We find the principle of "services rendered" to be the most valid one with respect to cooperative service with government in the mutual responsibility for education. We reaffirm, therefore, the findings of the Committee of Twenty-five of 1958 which gave us the principle of "services rendered." However, we call the attention of the Convention to two important matters:

1. The field of "services rendered" has been greatly broadened since 1958; and,

2. The Constitution of the Baptist State Convention allows the trustees of our institutions to proceed with freedom and caution to investigate any public aid program with the General Board under the principle of "services rendered."

The Convention Constitution, Article XI, Section D, allows Convention agencies, including the colleges, to accept and use public funds for "services rendered," subject to the approval of the General Board of the Convention. In 1958 the Convention approved the following guidelines for determining whether or not public funds are to be accepted under the authority of the Convention:

"Guidelines for Services Rendered"

"I. While we recognize that a church must operate within a state and that there is no absolute separation of church and state, we maintain that government should guarantee that a free church may function without ownership or operative control by the state.

"II. There are areas of mutual interest and concern to both church and state, and in such areas, there is both the possibility and the desirability of cooperation.

"III. We believe that cooperation must involve constant alertness to insure the integrity of both church and state and that this alertness must be practiced by each. Therefore, it is our policy that any cooperative enterprise between our Convention through any of its agencies or institutions and government shall meet the following requirements:

"1. There shall be no element of control of either by the other, either actual or implied.

"2. The Convention will enter no cooperative enterprise with government for the sole purpose of advancing its own interest.

"3. The Convention and/or its institutions and agencies may accept assistance from government only in such cases as will enable it or them to render services commensurate with that assistance.

"4. North Carolina Baptist recognize and reaffirm the principle that tax funds are collected from people of all faiths and should therefore never be used as an outright gift or dole to build or operate any denominational institution or further any sectarian interests; and North Carolina Baptists further believe that service for which government payment is received by any church-affiliated institution should always be service to humanity in general and never service that will further denominational or sectarian objectives."

The Committee of 20 believes that the procedures and safeguards of 1958 provided by our Constitution and the guidelines adopted by the Baptist State Convention in 1958 are proper and sufficient bases for determining the acceptance and use of public funds by Convention institutions and agencies. Essentially, the questions in a given case are: (1) whether the consideration for the funds is "service rendered," and (2) whether the recommended guidelines are satisfied. The determination of these matters is complex and deserves careful study by a qualified group.

RECOMMENDATION 21

We recommend that the Executive Committee of the General Board appoint a committee from the General Board (1) to study and make recommendations to the General Board concerning requests received from institutions and agencies with regard to the use of public funds and (2) in considering such requests to give continuing study to the implementation of the constitutional provisions and guidelines in regard to "services rendered" on an equitable basis for all institutions and agencies of the Convention.

In concluding this report, your Committee would like to express its appreciation to the many people who have contributed both directly and indirectly to this study. While the Committee makes no claim to having identified, much less solved, all the problems, we do feel that we are approaching the time when there can be a new understanding between the Convention and its institutions of higher learning. Your Committee, as the result of this study, is firmly convinced that there can be no great denomination without good colleges and universities. We believe that North Carolina Baptists have every right to be proud of the seven accredited institutions, which will in the future as in the past offer a special ministry to our young people.

Statistical Reports Associational and Convention

Prepared by The Department of Statistics and Survey
Ted W. Williams, Secretary
Mrs. Lafata Lusk, Office Secretary

The following information was supplied by the clerks of the eighty (80) Baptist Associations in North Carolina. We greatly appreciate the faithful service they have rendered in compiling the statistical data. These reports are based on the associational year, and the financial figures are not the same as those based on the calendar year reported by our Convention business office.

Items marked (*) give latest data available.

Items marked () give total expenditures.

Churches not reporting: Indicated by (1), (2), or (3)

(1) First year not reporting—previous year's report will be carried, except for baptisms, additions by letter, number of missions operated by church, and Vacation Bible School enrollment.

(2) Second consecutive year not reporting—latest total membership only will be carried.

(3) Third consecutive (and subsequent) year not reporting—no figures carried, but will be counted as a church. (A church will be counted until verification is received from the association that a subject church has been disaffiliated from said association.)

Auditor's Statement

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE
GENERAL BOARD OF THE
BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION OF NORTH CAROLINA
RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Gentlemen:

We have examined the balance sheet of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina as of December 31, 1969, and the related statements of income and changes in fund balances for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. The statements, which are a part of this report show the condition of the General, Education and Social Service Institutions Funds at December 31, 1969, and the results of the income and expenses for the year then ended. The statements of the North Carolina Baptist Assembly, the Fruitland Baptist Camp and the Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute cover the operations for the period of twelve months ended December 31, 1969 and, in addition give a reconciliation of cash. The funds shown as sent direct are taken from reports received by the Convention and were not otherwise verified by us.

All recorded cash receipts were found to be promptly deposited in the bank and disbursements were supported by cancelled checks, invoices or other evidence, with expenses properly classified. Our examination did not disclose any evidence of irregularities and we believe the funds have been carefully and honestly handled and accounted for.

In our opinion, the accompanying balance sheet and statements of income and expenses and fund balances present fairly the financial position of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina at December 31, 1969, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applicable to such organizations, applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Respectfully submitted,
A. T. ALLEN & COMPANY
Certified Public Accountants
